LABOR LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, WITH DECISIONS OF COURTS RELATING THERETO

INTRODUCTION

Labor laws enacted in the United States have been published from time to time in the form of special reports and in the bulletins of this Bureau. The first undertaking in the way of a compilation of all the laws comprised the Second Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor, which appeared in 1892. It included legislation in force at the close of the year 1890. Digests were made of mechanics' lien and apprenticeship laws, and a list of legal holidays was given. A somewhat more inclusive construction was given to the term "Labor Laws" than that now followed by the Bureau, but a volume of 507 pages of law text, i. e., omitting summaries, index, etc., embodied the total labor legislation of that date.

A revision of that report, including legislation up to the beginning of the year 1896, was the next compilation. In that volume mechanics' lien laws were reproduced at length, and such extension, together with new legislation, brought the number of pages of law text up to 1,178.

The third compilation appeared in 1904 and included the laws in force at the beginning of that year. A number of changes were introduced at that time, notably the incorporation of side notes as a guide to the material reproduced and the placing of annotations from court decisions in connection with the laws to which they relate instead of in an appendix, as was done in the edition of 1896. The classification of labor laws was made somewhat stricter, and digests were made of convict labor laws and mechanics' lien laws. This resulted in holding the law text to 1,296 pages despite the narrowing of the text page by the use of the side notes.

The growth of labor legislation in the following years led to a further economizing of space in the next revision, which included the legislation of 1907, by digesting the laws on added subjects. However, the volume grew to 1,419 pages of law text, besides 105 pages of digests and an index of 22 pages.

The next revision took place in 1913, embodying the legislation of that year. Though added laws were summarized or digested, the compilation was of such magnitude as to require two volumes aggregating 2,473 pages, while legislation subsequent to the year 1913 has added largely to the present bulletin.

The activity of the various State legislatures in the field of workmen's compensation, and the great length of the laws on this subject, has led to a continued separate presentation of this subject. However, the increasing bulk of the laws remaining to be considered has led to further condensation, two methods being used. One of these is that form of summarization already referred to, by which certain classes of laws were presented in a condensed form, or by representative statutes with citations to other legislation, such material being placed in a body as Part I of the compilation; while in the second part, made up of the text of the labor laws, an abridgment of several classes of laws has been practiced, notably mine regulations and laws regulating the employment of children. In both cases legislation is detailed and extensive, and is also very largely standardized, or at least similar in form and content. A representative law in each case is given in full, the laws of the other States being abridged, only the principal substantive provisions being noted. It was also thought desirable, to the end that the work may be reduced to a single volume, to discontinue the side headings, and place at the beginning of each section such analytical headings as seemed essential. The current revision, which is the sixth in order and the fourth by the present editor in direct charge of the work, therefore marks something of a departure from the compilations previously published. The legislation of 1824 is included, transitory laws and a few which appear obsolete or repetitious, even though appearing in the codes or compilations, being omitted.

The following table shows, for each jurisdiction, the date of the code, revision or compilation of laws used, and the date of the latest session laws examined:

PART I.—DIGESTS AND SUMMARIES OF CERTAIN CLASSES OF LAWS AFFECTING LABOR

APPRENTICES

Laws regulating industrial apprenticeship are clearly labor laws. However, the industrial importance of apprenticeship has so far diminished with the prevalence of machine industry that several States have no laws on the subject.[1] Alaska, Arizona, Idaho, Nebraska, and Wyoming seem never to have had any laws of this type. The laws of the other States named have been either repealed specifically or omitted in later codifications of their laws. Maine repealed its industrial law in 1915 (ch. 45), but retains some statutes that contemplate a kind of eleemosynary or corrective apprenticeship. A smaller number of States[2] have laws exclusively of this latter form; while as a rule the States having laws of an industrial aspect also make specific provision for pauper and delinquent children.

The present account is confined to such legislation as is directed to the apprenticeship of young persons for purposes of learning trades, except as it is inextricably mingled with provisions affecting orphans or the poor. The laws are mostly of a form comparatively old, some retaining their principal features unchanged since before the middle of the last century. A conspicuous exception is the law of Wisconsin, which was revised in 1915 (ch. 133), so as to establish a system of apprenticeship under State supervision. This statute is reproduced as purely industrial, and of a distinctive type. The law of the District of Columbia is a fairly recent enactment, embodying the fundamental principles of an apprenticeship law freed from ideas of the care of paupers or delinquents. It is also reproduced as a type of industrial legislation, embodying the more usual provisions as to terms and conditions found in the older laws.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—CODE OF 1911

SECTON 402. By whom bound.—A minor child may be bound as an apprentice by his guardian; or, if none, by his father; or, if neither father nor guardian, by his mother, with the consent, entered of record, of the probate court, or without such consent if the minor, being 14 years of age, agree in writing to be so bound; or by the probate court as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 403. Term.—The utmost term of any apprenticeship shall be until the apprentice attains the age of 21 if a boy, or 18 years if a girl.

SEC. 404. Contract.—The writing by which such minor is bound as apprentice shall specify his age and what art, trade, or business he is to be taught. The master shall be bound to teach the same, and also to teach him reading, writing, and common arithmetic, and to supply him with suitable clothing and maintenance, and pay such amount, if any, as may be agreed upon for his services and expressed in the contract. The writing by which any minor is bound shall be filed in the office of the register of wills, and until it be so filed the master shall not be entitled to the services of said apprentice.

SEC. 405. Complaints.—The probate court, during the term of any apprenticeship, may hear complaint of the apprentice, indentured child, or anyone in his behalf, against the master or person to whom indentured, for undeserved or excessive correction, want of instruction, insufficient allowance of food, clothing, or lodging, or nonpayment of what was agreed to be paid; or the complaint of the master or person to whom indentured against the apprentice or indentured child for desertion or other misconduct; and, after reasonable notice of the complaint to the party against whom it is made, may determine the matter in a summary way and discharge either party from the contract of apprenticeship, or make such order as the case may require.

SEC. 406. Removal of apprentice.—No master of an apprentice shall send or carry his apprentice out of the District, except in the case of mariners; and the said probate court, on being credibly informed that any master designs so to remove his apprentice, may require him to give bond conditioned against such removal, and on his refusal so to do may discharge the apprentice.

SEC. 407. Assignments.—The contract of apprenticeship, with the approbation of said court, may be assigned by the master, or, after his death, by his personal representatives, on such terms as the court may prescribe.

SEC. 408. Concealment.—If any person shall conceal, harbor, or facilitate the running away of an apprentice, he shall be liable to an action therefor by the master, either in the said supreme court or before any justice of the peace, according to the amount of damages claimed.

SEC. 409. Form of contract.—The form of the contract of apprenticeship shall be the following, or to the same effect:

This indenture witnesseth, that it is mutually agreed between ——— and ——— that ———, a minor, aged — years shall be taken and held as an apprentice for the term of ——— years, by the said ———; and the said ——— contracts and covenants with the said ——— to faithfully and carefully instruct the said ——— in all the handicraft of a ———. (And the said ——— further contracts and covenants that the said minor shall be allowed, as compensation for his services, at the rate of ———.)

Witness our hands and seals this ——— day of ———.

——— ——— [SEAL.]
——— ——— [SEAL.]

Acknowledged before me, a notary public (or justice of the peace), this ——— day of ———.

A. B., Notary Public.

SEC. 410. To whom money to be paid.—The money which the master is to pay shall be paid to the father or other party contracting with the master, or to the minor, in whole or in part, as said probate court may direct.

SEC. 411. Jurisdiction of probate court.—[This relates to orphans, abandoned children, etc.]

WISCONSIN STATUTES

SECTION 106.01. The term "apprentice" shall mean any minor, 16 years of age or over, who shall enter into any contract of service, express or implied, whereby he is to receive from or through his employer, in consideration for his services in whole or in part, instruction in any trade, craft, or business.

2. Every contract or agreement entered into by an apprentice with his employer shall be known as an indenture; such indenture shall be in writing and shall be executed in triplicate, one copy of which shall be delivered to the apprentice, one to be retained by the employer, and one to be filed with the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin at Madison.

3. Any minor 16 years of age or over may, by the execution of an indenture, bind himself as hereinafter provided for a term of service not less than one year.

4. Every indenture shall be signed:

(1) By the minor.
(2) By the father; and if the father be dead or legally incapable of giving consent or has abandoned his family, then
(3) By the mother; and if both the father and mother be dead or legally incapable of giving consent, then
(4) By the guardian of the minor, if any.
(5) If there be no parent or guardian with authority to sign, then by two justices of the peace of the county of the residence of the minor, or by a member of the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin or a deputy thereof.
(6) By the employer.

5. Every indenture shall contain:

(1) The names of the parties.
(2) The date of the birth of the minor.
(3) A statement of the trade, craft, or business which the minor is to be taught, and the time at which the apprenticeship shall begin and end.
(4) An agreement stating the number of hours to be spent in work, and the number of hours to be spent in instruction. During the first two years of his apprenticeship, his period of instruction shall be not less than four hours per week or the equivalent. If the apprenticeship is for a longer period than two years, the total hours of instruction shall be not less than 400 hours. The total number of hours of instruction and service shall not exceed 55 per week: Provided, That nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to forbid overtime work as provided in subsection 7 of section.
(5) An agreement as to the processes, methods, or plans to be taught, and the approximate time to be spent at each process, method, or plan.
(6) A statement of the compensation to be paid the apprentice.
(7) An agreement that a certificate shall be given the apprentice at the conclusion of his indenture, stating the terms of his indenture.

6. The employer shall pay for the time the apprentice is receiving instruction at the same rate per hour as for services. Attendance at school shall be certified by the teacher in charge and failure to attend school shall subject the apprentice to a penalty of loss of compensation for three hours for every hour such apprentice shall be absent without good cause.

7. An apprentice over 18 years of age may be allowed to work overtime not to exceed 30 hours in any one month. Overtime shall be considered all time over 10 hours in any one day, and in case the hours of labor are limited in the particular craft, industry, or business, and as to the particular employer, to less than 10 hours, overtime shall be figured as all time in any one day in excess of such limitation. For overtime the apprentice shall receive one and one-half times the rate per hour provided in his contract for regular time.

8. If either party to an indenture shall fail to perform any of the stipulations thereof, he shall forfeit not less than $1 nor more than $100, such forfeiture to be collected on complaint of the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin and paid into the State treasury. Any indenture may be annulled by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin upon application of either party and good cause shown.

9. It shall be the duty of the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to investigate, ascertain, determine, and fix such reasonable classifications and to issue rules and regulations and general or special orders as shall be necessary to carry out the intent and purposes of section 106.01 of the statutes. Such investigations, classifications, and orders and any action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order of said commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be made pursuant to the proceeding in sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes [relating to the duties and powers of the industrial commission as to places and conditions of employment], which are hereby made a part hereof, so far as not inconsistent with the provisions of section 106.01 of the statutes; and every order of the said industrial commission of Wisconsin shall have the same force and effect as the orders issued pursuant to said sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, and the penalties therein shall apply to and be imposed for any violations of section 106.01 of the statutes, excepting as to the penalties provided in subsection 8 of section 106.01.

10. It shall be the duty of all school officers and public-school teachers to cooperate with the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin and employers of apprentices to furnish, in a public school or any school supported in whole or in part by public moneys, such instruction as may be required to be given apprentices.

The foregoing reproductions indicate with adequate fullness the principal features of apprenticeship legislation. The relative unimportance of the subject from a legislative viewpoint and the extent to which the laws thereon are crystallized are indicated by the fact that, with the exception of repealing legislation, no act or amendment on the subject of industrial apprenticeship has been enacted in any other jurisdiction than Wisconsin for at least 10 years.

Following is a list of the States having laws on the subject, with citations. These omit the sections devoted to the binding out of orphan, pauper, or delinquent children by the courts or by institutions:

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

To meet the need of some form of mechanical training and thus in a sense to compensate for the decline of the apprenticeship system, there has come into existence quite generally a body of laws providing for vocational training.

STATE AND FEDERAL COOPERATION

The laws of the States are mainly a recognition of action initiated by the Federal Congress, which on February 23, 1917 (39 Stat. 929), created a board on vocational education consisting of the Secretaries of Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor, the United States Commissioner of Education, and three citizens, one representing manufacture and commerce, one representing agriculture, and one representing labor. This board is particularly charged with the encouragement of education in lines of agriculture, industry, and home economics. The plans for such education are to be formulated by the State authorities, the approval of the Federal board being required. An appropriation is made for the expenses of the Federal board and separate funds for cooperation with the States in the work in view. Allotments are to be made for instruction in agriculture in proportion to the rural population in the States and for instruction in industry and home economics in proportion to the urban population. The States are to meet the allotments by appropriations for the respective purposes equal to those made by the Federal Government, the allotments made to be increased from year to year until the maximum is reached in eight years. An act of March 10, 1924 (43 Stat. 17), extends the provisions of this law to the Territory of Hawaii.

This is not a labor law under strict classification, but closely borders the field. All of the States have accepted the provisions of this statute, some making specific appropriations, others pledging the good faith of the State to meet the allotments on the basis fixed by the Federal statute, still others directing a distribution of the educational funds of the State in accordance with the methods of administration laid down by the Federal law. In some States a separate board is designated as a board of vocational education, though more commonly the existing State board of education is authorized to act in this regard.

Following is a list of the laws by which the States have accepted the proffered cooperative system:

STATE SYSTEMS

Besides the foregoing there has been some independent legislation, a standardized law having been adopted in 1913 in Indiana, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania; while in New York, in the same year, a law embodying the same general principles, but differing in form, was also enacted. The laws of the first three States named also vary in detail, and that of Indiana has been considerably amended. The law of Pennsylvania (No. 92, acts of 1913) is here reproduced as setting forth the main provisions of this class of laws.

PENNSYLVANIA STATUTES

Employment of children—Vocational education

SECTION 5139. Definitions.—The following words and phrases as used in this act shall, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, have the following meaning:

1. "Vocational education" shall mean any education, the controlling purpose of which is to fit for profitable employment.

2. "Industrial education" shall mean that form of vocational education which fits for the trades, crafts, and manufacturing pursuits, including the occupations of girls and women, carried on in workshops.

3. "Agricultural education" shall mean that form of vocational education which fits for the occupations connected with the tillage of the soil, the care of domestic animals, forestry, and other wage earning or productive work on the farm.

4. "Household arts education" shall mean that form of vocational education which fits for occupations connected with the household.

5. "Industrial, agricultural, or household arts school or department," or "vocational school or department," shall mean a distinctive organization of courses, pupils, and teachers approved by the State board of education, designed to give their industrial, agricultural, or household arts education, as herein defined.

6. "Evening class," in an industrial agricultural school or department, shall mean a class giving such training as can be taken by persons already employed during the working-day, and which, in order to be called vocational, must in its instruction deal with the subject matter of, and be so carried on as to relate to, the day employment.

7. "Evening class," in a household arts school or department, shall mean a class giving training in home making to girls or women, over fourteen years of age, however they may be employed or engaged during the day.

8. "Part-time or continuation class," in an approved agricultural or household arts school or department, shall mean a vocational class for persons giving a part of their working-time to profitable employment, and receiving in the part-time school or department instruction complementary to the practical work carried on in such employment. To give "a part of their working time" such person must give part of each day, week, or longer period, to such part-time class during the period in which it is in session.

9. "Household arts school or department" shall mean a vocational school designed to develop, on a vocational basis, the capacity for household work, such as cooking, household service, and other occupations in the household.

SEC. 5140. Supervision.—The State board of education is hereby authorized and directed to investigate, and to aid in the introduction of, industrial, agricultural, and household arts education; to assist in the establishment of schools and departments for the aforesaid forms of education, and to inspect and approve such schools or departments as are hereinafter provided. The State board of education shall make a report annually to the governor and legislature describing the condition and progress of industrial, agricultural, and household arts education during the year, and making such recommendations as the board may deem advisable.

SEC. 5141. State superintendent to administer.—The State superintendent of public instruction shall be the executive officer of the State board of education for the administration of this act. He shall appoint, from time to time, with the approval of the State board of education, such expert assistants, other than those already provided for by law, as may be necessary in industrial, household arts, or agricultural education and all clerical and other agents necessary in carrying out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5142. Classes; age limit.—In order that instruction in the principles and the practice of arts may go on together, industrial, agricultural, and household arts schools or departments may offer instruction in day, part-time, and evening classes. Attendance upon such day, evening, or part-time classes shall be restricted to those over fourteen.

SEC. 5143. Local administration.—Any school district may, through its board of school directors, establish and maintain industrial, agricultural, and household arts schools or departments.

SEC. 5144. Joint schools.—Two or more districts may, as provided in article eighteen, sections one thousand eight hundred and one to one thousand eight hundred and eight, inclusive, of the School Laws of Pennsylvania of one thousand nine hundred and eleven, * * * through a joint school committee, establish and maintain industrial, agricultural, or household arts schools or departments, to be known as joint vocational schools or departments.

SEC. 5145. Advisory committee.—Local school boards and joint school committees administering approved industrial, agricultural, or household arts schools or departments, may, under a plan to be approved by the State board of education, appoint an advisory committee composed of members representing local trades, industries, and occupations. It shall be the duty of such a committee to counsel with and advise the local or joint board of trustees, and other school officials, having the management and supervision of such schools.

There is a measure of control of the relations of employer and employees in these laws, but they are in the main a branch of the educational activities of the State rather than industrial in their effect. They are but few, as follows:

California.—Acts of 1919, ch. 506.
Indiana.—A. S., secs. 6641a–6641k (am. 1919, ch. 132; 1921, ch. 173).
New Jersey.—Acts of 1913, ch. 294; 1916, ch. 242.
New York.—Acts of 1919, ch. 531 (am. 1921, ch. 386).
Pennsylvania.—Statutes, secs. 5139–5148.

SCHOOLS FOR EMPLOYED CHILDREN

Partly of the same intent as vocational training and partly to meet the educational needs of children in employment, a number of States have provided by law for so-called continuation schools for employed children, contemplating attendance for a part of the day or in the evening. Provision may also be made for aliens, minor or adult, and for illiterates beyond ordinary school age. The Illinois statute is representative of this class of laws:

ILLINOIS, ACTS OF 1919

Employed children—School attendance

(P. 919, am. 1921, p. 815)

SECTION 1. Schools to be established.—Part-time or continuation school or classes may be established and maintained as hereinafter provided. The board of education or school directors of each city and of each school district in which there are twenty or more minors above the age of fourteen years and below the age of sixteen years who are not in regular attendance upon all-day school may, at the discretion of the board of education or school directors of each city and each school district, beginning in September, 1921, establish and maintain part-time or continuation school or classes in which minors shall receive instruction, and such schools or classes may be established and maintained in each city or school district on and after September 1, 1923, in which there are twenty or more minors above the age of fourteen years and below the age of seventeen years who are not regular attendants upon all-day schools, and such schools or classes on and after September 1, 1925, may, at the discretion of the board of education or school directors of each city and school district, be established and maintained in each city or school district in which there are twenty or more minors above the age of fourteen years and below the age of eighteen years who are not in regular attendance upon all-day schools. Such schools or classes shall be established under the control and management of the board of education or school directors, as the case may be, and shall be a part of the public school system of the city or district which establishes and maintains them.

Such part-time or continuation schools or classes when established shall be maintained each year during the full period of time when the public schools of the city or district are in session. The sessions of such part-time or continuation schools or classes shall be held on the regular business days, except that they shall not be held on Saturday afternoon.

SEC. 2. Courses.—Such part-time or continuation schools or classes shall afford instruction in any one or in any combination or in all of the following subjects: (a) Those subjects usually taught in the public schools, so as to permit the students in the continuation school classes to continue their education from the point where they left it in order to go to work; (b) civic and vocational subjects; and (c) those subjects which supplement the daily occupations of the students.

SEC. 4. Attendance.—Every minor between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, who is regularly and lawfully employed in some occupation or service, unless such minor has completed a four-year secondary course of instruction, shall attend part-time or continuation school or class, when and where such school or class has been established and is maintained for the instruction of minors of such minor age, in the city or district in which such minor resides or may be employed after such school or class has been established therein. Such attendance shall be for not less than eight hours per week for at least thirty-six weeks each year, or three hundred hours if such attendance is confined to a period of three successive months. The attendance upon a part-time or continuation school or class shall be between the hours of eight o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon on regular business days except Saturday afternoons. The time spent in a part-time or continuation school or class by a minor shall be reckoned as a part of the time or number of hours said minor is permitted by law to work. A minor employed, or kept at home, in the service or assistance of any parent, guardian, or person having the control or custody of such minor shall be considered as a minor lawfully and regularly employed in some occupation or service.

SEC. 7. Duty of parents.—Every parent, guardian, or other person having the custody or control of a minor required under the provisions of this act to attend a part-time or continuation school or class shall cause such minor to attend such school or class. A parent, guardian, or other person who refuses or willfully fails to comply with this provision of the law shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 8. Duty of employers.—Any person, firm, or corporation employing a minor between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years required under the provisions of this act to attend a part-time or continuation school or class shall permit such minor to attend such school or class whenever such school or class shall have been established in the city or school district where the minor resides or may be employed; and any such person, firm, or corporation willfully violating this provision shall for each violation be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than two hundred dollars for each offense, at the discretion of the court. Any person, firm, or corporation employing any such minor who fails to attend part-time or continuation school or class as required herein shall immediately discontinue the services of such minor upon receiving from the school authorites written notice of the failure of such minor to attend such part-time or continuation school or class, and any person, firm, or corporation willfully violating this provision shall be subject to a fine of fifty dollars for each offense.

SEC. 9. Enforcement.—The school officials charged with the responsibility of enforcing the compulsory attendance laws of this State shall also be responsible for the enforcement of the attendance upon part-time or continuation schools or classes in accordance with the terms of this act.

SEC. 10. Teaching at home.—Nothing in this act contained shall be held, deemed, or construed as having any application to children or minors who attend private or parochial day schools or to children or minors who are receiving equivalent educational training or instruction in the homes of their parents or guardians either by said parents or guardians or by private tutors provided by said parents or guardians.

Laws of like tenor in other States may be summarized as follows.

Arizona.—If 15 or more employment certificates have been issued in any school district, a part-time school or class shall be established for not less than 150 hours per year, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., attendance to be compulsory to 16 and to count as work time. (Acts of 1919, ch. 113.)

California.—Any high-school district having 50 or more pupils enrolled must provide vocational training by part-time classes between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. for young persons of 14 to 18 not subject to the compulsory school attendance law; evening classes must be maintained if there are 20 or more persons, 18 to 21, who have not completed the sixth grade. Attendance is compulsory as to both age groups. Special classes are to be maintained for persons under 18 who can not speak, read, or write English. Vocational subjects, citizenship, and general educational courses are to be taught. Attendance counts as work time. (Acts of 1917, ch. 717; 1919, ch. 500.)

Connecticut.—Children 14 to 16 years of age who have not completed the eighth grade must attend continuation schools four hours per week during the school year, between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., attendance to count as working time. (Acts of 1921, ch. 259.)

Delaware.—Part-time schools and classes are to be maintained in all school districts where 15 or more children between 12 and 16 have employment certificates, instruction to be given in "general, civic or vocational subjects for such employed children." School hours are between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., except on Saturday, when they are between 8 a. m. and noon. Attendance for 4 hours per week for 36 weeks is compulsory, and counts as work time. (Acts of 1921, ch. 162.)

Florida.—If there are 15 or more children exempt from compulsory school attendance in any district, a part-time school must be established, to give instruction in "subjects designed to enlarge the civic or vocational intelligence of such children." Employers must permit attendance for 144 hours during the school year; but if there is a night school in the district, attendance thereon will be an equivalent. (Acts of 1921, ch. 8550.)

Illinois.—[See text of law, above.]

Indiana.—Part-time schools or classes, between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., may be established in the discretion of the school authorities. If established, regularly employed youths over 14 and under 16 may be required to attend not less than 4 nor more than 8 hours per week during the school term. (A. S., secs. 6641b–6641k, am. 1919, ch. 132, 1921, ch. 173.)

Iowa.—Part-time schools or classes may be organized in any school district where 15 or more young persons between 14 and 16 hold work certificates, or are employed in mercantile establishments and have not completed the eighth grade, or have completed the eighth grade and have not engaged in a useful occupation. Instruction is to enlarge civic or vocational intelligence. The hours are to be between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., and attendance is to be not less than 8 hours per week during the term of the public schools. (Acts of 1919, ch. 94.)

Maine.—Part-time continuation schools or classes are authorized, "to improve the industrial and civic efficiency of persons between the ages of 14 and 18 now engaged in industrial occupations," who have not completed an elementary school course. Classes are to be conducted for 144 hours during the year, and shall fall within the regular working hours of the person employed. (Acts of 1919, ch. 205.)

Massachusetts.—Towns in which 20 or more employment certificates have been issued to persons who have not completed the sixth grade must maintain evening schools for at least 40 evenings during the school year. Minors over 16 and under 21 can not be employed if they have not completed the sixth grade, unless they are in regular attendance on an evening or day school. Continuation schools must be provided between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. during the school term if 200 or more minors under 16 are employed not less than six hours per day. Attendance is compulsory for at least four hours per week, and is to be counted as work time. (G. L., ch. 71, secs. 18, 21–25; ch. 149, secs. 65 (amended 1921, ch. 351), 95.)

Michigan.—School districts of 5,000 population or more, having at least 50 children under 17, employed, or for other reasons ceasing to attend school, who have not completed two years of high school, must establish part-time vocational or general continuation schools; other school districts may do so. The term is to equal that of the public schools, and attendance is required for not less than 8 hours per week, "4 hours of which may consist of supervised instruction given under working conditions," approved by the superintendent of schools and the State board of control for vocational education. If the wages of a child are essential for support of self or family, attendance may be excused. (Acts of First Extra Session, 1921, No. 15.)

Missouri.—School districts in which 25 employment certificates are in force for children under 16 must establish part-time schools or classes for not less than four hours per week for a term not less than that of the regular school session. Attendance is compulsory, and counts as work time. When such schools exist, children under 18 who have not completed an elementary course must attend not more than four hours per week between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. (R. S., secs. 11285, 11328.)

Montana.—School districts, or districts of the first class in which a county high school is located, if not fewer than 15 children therein, between 14 and 18 years of age, have entered on employment, shall establish part-time schools or classes. Instruction may be supplemental to their work, of general educational value, or to "promote their civic or vocational intelligence," for not less than 4 hours per week, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., during the school term. Attendance is counted as work time, and is compulsory unless excused as provided by the school law. (R. C., secs. 1141–1155.)

Nebraska.—The public school board in any district in which 15 or more children between 14 and 16 years of age are regularly and legally employed shall establish a part-time school or class. Attendance is required for not less than 8 hours per week, unless a high-school course has been completed, or there is mental or physical incapacity for the work. (C. S., sec. 6566.)

Nevada.—Part-time schools or classes must be provided in school districts where at least 15 children between 14 and 18 reside or are employed. Instruction is to be not less than 4 hours per week, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., in general subjects or such as will promote civic and vocational intelligence. Attendance is compulsory unless eight grades of school work have been completed and attendance would jeopardize satisfactory employment, or the distance is too great, or the student is satisfactorily apprenticed, or is excusable under the compulsory attendance law. (R. L., 1919, pp. 2957–2959.)

New Hampshire.—Persons between 16 and 21 who can not read and speak English understandingly must, unless excused by the commissioner of education, attend an evening or special day school until a minimum course is completed. Persons over 16 engaged in cutting, harvesting, or driving pulpwood and those temporarily engaged in construction or agricultural work are excused. (Acts of 1921, ch. 85, Part III, secs. 6, 7.)

New Jersey.—Children between 14 and 16, employed under an age and schooling certificate, must attend a continuation school at least 6 hours per week for not less than 36 weeks per year. Such schools must be maintained where there are 20 or more such children. (Acts of 1919, chs. 35, 152.)

New York.—Part-time or continuation schools must be established in cities and school districts having a population of 5,000 or more, if there are 200 or more minors between 14 and 18 not in regular attendance on full-time day school instruction; also where there is a smaller number of minors if such action is properly authorized. These may be in factories or mercantile establishments, but must be under the control of the local school authorities.

Sessions must be maintained throughout the entire school year for such time between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. as may be necessary to meet the local needs. Courses shall be in history, citizenship, industrial subjects, and "such other subjects as will enlarge the vocational intelligence of such minors." Attendance is compulsory for not less than 4 nor more than 8 hours per week, unless a four-year secondary course of instruction has been completed. Employed minors, 16 to 21, not literate in the English language equivalent to the fifth grade of the public schools, must attend a day or evening school if physically and mentally fit. The employer may meet this requirement by conducting a class or classes in his establishment under the supervision of the local school authorities. Evening vocational schools are also to be provided, for pupils who are regularly and lawfully employed during the day, to "provide instruction in subjects related to the practical work carried on in such employment." (Con. L., ch. 16, secs. 94 (am. 1920, ch. 852), 600, 601 (am. 1924, ch. 524), 637 (added 1918, ch. 415).)

Ohio.—Part-time schools or classes may be established "for the further education of children who are employed on age and schooling certificates." A minimum of 4 hours per week, not less than 144 hours per year, between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m., is prescribed, excluding Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Employment certificates are required to 18 years of age. Attendance is compulsory unless an equivalent amount of work to that given in the part-time schools has been taken. (G. C., secs. 7647–1, 7762–5, 7767–7767–2 (am. 1921, p. 376).)

Oklahoma.—If 20 or more minors 16 to 18 years of age are employed in any school district a part-time school or class must be conducted for not less than 144 hours per year. Attendance is required unless at least 2 years of high school have been completed. (Acts of 1919, ch. 235.)

Oregon.—If not less than 15 children between the ages of 14 and 18 have entered employment in any school district, the school board shall establish part-time schools and classes unless excused by the State superintendent for reasons deemed by him valid. School shall be in session not less than 5 hours per week between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. during the term of the public school. Employed children must attend not less than 5 hours per week or 180 hours per year unless they have completed the eighth grade of the public-school work. Instruction is to be in lines of general education or "to promote their civic or vocational intelligence." Attendance counts as work time. (Laws, secs. 5100–5112.)

Pennsylvania.—Employed children between 14 and 16 years of age must attend school not less than 8 hours per week in a school approved by the State superintendent of public instruction. The school may be conducted in the establishment where the minor is employed or in a public-school building, or elsewhere as designated by the school directors of the district, but must be within reasonable access to the place of employment. The school hours must be between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., none on Saturday. (Statutes, sec. 13287.)

Utah.—Employed minors 16 to 18 years of age, and those under 16 legally excused to enter employment, must attend a part-time or continuation school at least 144 hours per year unless they have completed the high-school course, or are taught at home, or are physically or mentally incapacitated for attendance, or the school is too remote. Attendance counts as work time. Schools must be in session not less than 4 hours per week between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Instruction shall be either supplemental to the work of their employment, continuing their general education, or adapted to promote a civic and vocational intelligence. (Acts of 1919, ch. 92.)

Washington.—Part-time schools or classes may be established on written request of 25 or more adult residents if there are 15 or more minors 14 to 18 years of age resident or employed in any school district. These shall continue for at least 4 hours per week, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. on school days or between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12.30 p. m. on Saturdays during the school term. Attendance counts for work time. Instruction is to accord with the plans of the State board approved by the State board for vocational education. (Acts of 1919, ch. 151.)

West Virginia.—Part-time and evening schools and classes are authorized in cities of more than 10,000 population, and in cities, towns, or subdistricts in which 50 or more minors 14 to 16 years of age are not in regular attendance upon improved instruction. Sessions between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. must continue as many hours as necessary to provide the required instruction. Attendance of employed minors under 16 is required for not less than 4 nor more than 8 hours per week, not less than 144 hours for the school year unless 8 years of elementary schooling have been completed. (Acts of 1919, ch. 2, sec. 129, as amended 1921, ch. 4.)

Wisconsin.—Children employed under work certificates must attend an established day vocational school at least half time until 16, and after that 8 hours per week until 18, unless they have completed a four-year high school course. Attendance is to be deducted from work time, and must be for 8 months per year, or longer if the school term is longer. (Statutes, sec. 103.14.)

MOTHERS' PENSIONS

A measure of law that exists in most States of the Union provides for monthly allowances to mothers of needy children, usually under the age of employment. However, where an educational qualification for an employment certificate debars the issue of such certificate to a child otherwise eligible, the mother's pension affords support during the period of further school attendance. Relief is conditional on need, character, and citizenship, and is granted to widows, deserted mothers, the wives of incompetents or of husbands in detention for crime or insanity. It is clear that the provision is a form of out-door relief to avoid the necessity of institutional care or other breaking up of the home. However, there is an industrial aspect to such legislation in that it furnishes a constructive substitute for that provision of the child labor laws sometimes found that waives the age standard for the employment of any child in cases in which its labor "is necessary for the support of itself or to assist in the support of its family." Support also usually terminates when the age for legal employment is reached. Moreover, it is provided in many States that the mother must keep the home, so that it affects the employment of women as well.

There is a large degree of uniformity in the laws, the age limit and amounts varying somewhat in the different States, as well as the details of conditions precedent and the methods of administration. Thus funds may be provided by the county or municipality alone or the State may also contribute. Administration may be purely local or there may be a State agency to supervise and unify procedure or the State agency may be dominant. Sometimes existing poor-relief agencies administer the law, but more often there is a special agency for the purpose. In spite of such variations as exist, however, it is believed that the general similarity of the laws in principle and in fundamental provisions permits the fair use of a representative law as standing for such legislation generally; while the border-line character of the subject matter from the standpoint of labor likewise suggests a limited presentation thereof in this compilation. The subject has also received detailed consideration at the hands of the Children's Bureau.

The law of Minnesota is offered as illustrative of the provisions of such laws generally:

MINNESOTA—ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 223.—Mothers' pensions

SECTION 1 (am. 1919, ch. 328). Conditions; allowances.—Whenever any child under the age of 16 years who is not lawfully entitled to apply for and receive an employment certificate is found by juvenile court to be dependent the court shall, when requested to do so, and in the same proceeding, make its findings upon the following points:

(a) Whether the mother of the child is a widow;

(b) If her husband is living, whether he is an inmate of a penal institution under a sentence which will not terminate within three months after the date of such finding; or is an inmate of a State insane asylum or hospital, or of a State hospital for inebriates; or is unable to labor for the support of his family by reason of physical disabilities; or is and for one year has been under indictment for the crime of abandoning such child;

(c) Whether the dependency of the child is due to the poverty of the mother without neglect, improvidence or other fault on her part;

(d) Whether the mother is otherwise a proper person to have the custody of the child;

(e) Whether the welfare of the child will be subserved by permitting him to remain in the custody of the mother, if adequate means of support shall be provided;

(f) Whether the mother is a citizen of the United States or whether she or her husband has made declaration of intention to become a citizen and has resided two years in the State and one year in the county.

Upon the making and filing of findings that the mother is a widow or that support is not obtainable from her husband by reason of one of the alternatives specified in subdivision (b), together with findings in the affirmative upon the points specified in subdivisons (c), (d), (e), (f), the courts shall further find, and order the payment of the sum of money which it deems necessary for the county to allow the mother in order to enable her to bring up the child properly in her own home, not exceeding $15 per month for one child and not exceeding $10 per month for each additional child: Provided, however, That no allowance shall be made when the husband is under indictment for abandonment unless the court is satisfied that he is a fugitive from justice and that the mother has in good faith assisted and will continue to assist in all reasonable efforts to apprehend him.

The county attorney in small counties and salaried investigators appointed by judges of the juvenile courts in larger counties are to make the necessary investigations and findings as to elegibility of applicants, or county welfare boards may be requested to act. Orders filed with county auditors are their warrant, so long as in force and unmodified, for payments monthly of the amounts specified therein. No payments may be made in behalf of any child lawfully entitled to an employment certificate, or who has ceased to be under the immediate care of the mother.

The court may require the mother to do remunerative work outside her home if it can be done without detriment to health or neglect of family; it may also limit the number of days per week when she may be so employed.

SEC. 5. Investigations.—Before making any order or allowance under this act it shall be the duty of the court, either through the judge in person or through the county child welfare board and its agents or a probation officer designated for that purpose or an official investigator appointed as provided in section six of this act, to make inquiry as to all the points necessary to establish the right to such allowance; and particularly to inquire whether the surroundings of the household, including its other members, are such as to make for the good character of children growing up therein; to ascertain all the financial resources of the family, including the ability of its members of working age to contribute to its support and if need be to urge upon such members their proper contribution [;] to take all lawful means to secure support for the family from relatives under legal obligation to render such support; to ascertain the ability of other relatives to assist the family and to interview individuals, societies and other agencies which may be deemed appropriate sources of such assistance. Every family to which an allowance has been made shall be visited at its home by a representative of the court at least once in three months; and after each visit the person making the same shall make and keep on file as a part of the official record of the case a detailed statement of the condition of the home and family, and all other data which may assist in determining the wisdom of the allowance granted and the advisability of its continuance; and the court shall at least once in each year reconsider every case in which an allowance has been made, and take such action as the facts then existing shall warrant. All findings and orders provided for herein may be made upon the written reports of official investigators with like effect as if based upon competent testimony given in open court.

Any taxpayer may complain that recipients are receiving allowances unlawfully, whereupon evidence shall be heard and appropriate action taken. Fraudulently procuring or attempting to procure an allowance is a misdemeanor, unless the act is such as to constitute a felony.

If the court is of opinion that a child's interests would be best served by arranging for a home with a grandmother, the act is to be construed so as to permit such arrangement. The terms "father" and "mother" include stepfathers and stepmothers.

SEC. 8. What property a bar.—The ownership by a mother of personal property of the value of $100, exclusive of appropriate clothing and household furniture and of such tools, implements and domestic animals as in the opinion of the court it is expedient to retain for the purpose of reducing the expense or increasing the income of the family or of real estate not used as a home; or of real estate, when used as a home; [,] of a value disproportionate to the actual needs of the family, shall be a bar to any allowance under this act.

SEC. 12. State board of control.—It shall be the duty of the State board of control to promote efficiency and uniformity in the administration of this act. To that end it shall advise and cooperate with courts and shall supervise and direct county child welfare boards with respect to methods of investigation, oversight and record keeping; shall devise, recommend and distribute blank forms; shall by its agents visit and inspect families to which allowances have been made; shall have access to all records and other data kept by courts and other agencies concerning such allowances; and may require such reports from clerks of the courts, child welfare boards, probation officers and other official investigators as it shall deem necessary.

SEC. 15. Liberal construction.—This act shall be liberally construed with a view to accomplishing its purpose, which is hereby declared to be to enable the State and its several counties to cooperate with responsible mothers in rearing future citizens, when such cooperation is necessary on account of relatively permanent conditions, in order to keep the mother and children together in the same household, reasonably safeguard the health of the mother and secure to the children during their tender years her personal care and training.

EXAMINATION, LICENSING, ETC., OF WORKMEN

A number of States have laws requiring workmen to be licensed or registered before engaging in certain occupations, usually requiring them also to pass an examination or to give proof of competency. Such laws are obviously an interference with the absolute freedom of contract, restricting the employer as to the choice of workers whom he may employ, and establishing legislative qualifications which must be met by persons wishing to engage in the occupations affected. The subjects legislated on in the various States vary considerably, the underlying reasons for the legislation being also widely different. In some instances the public safety is involved, as where stationary engineers are required to prove competency before being entrusted with the control of dangerous and widely used instrumentalities; or the aspect and nature of the vocation may differ as widely from the above as does the occupation of horseshoeing or barbering; though this latter type of law is likewise construed as affecting the public safety in view of its purpose to protect the public health.

In a number of cases the validity of legislation thus interfering with the freedom of contract has been contested, and in some instances the courts have ruled against it as unwarranted and unjustifiable; or technical requirements have been found violated so that the legislation did not stand. In other cases the constitutionality has been asserted on the ground that there was a proper exercise of the police power of the State in behalf of the public welfare. Only those laws are cited under the various headings below that have been declared valid, or against which no adverse decision has been recorded. Reference will be made under the appropriate headings to findings of unconstitutionality and the grounds therefor.

HORSESHOERS

In a few States laws have been enacted requiring the examination and licensing of horseshoers. Such laws have been condemned in some instances as unwarranted interferences with the liberty of the citizen to choose and follow a calling not requiring regulation on grounds of public health and comfort; nor are they justifiable as revenue laws; and no necessity for regulation appearing, they were declared void. Such was the finding of the courts of Illinois (Bessette v. People (1901), 193 Ill. 334, 62 N. E. 215), New York (People v. Beattie (1904), 89 N. Y. Supp. 193, 96 App. Div. 383), and Washington (In re Aubrey (1904), 36 Wash. 308, 78 Pac. 900).

The legislature of Illinois in 1915, however, enacted a new law on the subject, which seems not to have been challenged. No later enactment has been made in any State, though the law of Hawaii was amended in 1919.

The States having such laws are:

Hawaii.—R. L., secs. 2038, 2039 (am. 1919, No. 75).
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 66, secs. 13–26.
Maryland.—Acts of 1898, ch. 491.
Michigan.—Com. L., secs. 6850–6856.
Minnesota.—G. S., secs. 5068–5070.

The statute of Minnesota is representative, though some laws require a knowledge of the anatomy of the horse's foot and leg. It is as follows:

MINNESOTA—GENERAL STATUTES

Examination and licensing of horseshoers

SECTION 2354. State board.—The horseshoers' board of examiners shall consist of five members, residents of the State, appointed by the governor, each for the term of five years and until his successor qualifies. Two shall be master horseshoers, two journeyman horseshoers, and one a veterinarian. Each vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term from the class to which the retiring member belonged. The board shall elect from its members a secretary, who shall record its proceedings, and it shall carry out the provisions of this subdivision. At least once a year, in every city of the first class, the board shall examine applicants for certificates of qualification to practice horseshoeing, and issue such certificates to those found qualified. A fee of two dollars shall be paid to the secretary by every person taking such examination, and such fees shall be used to defray the expenses of the board and pay its members. The secretary shall give public notice of every examination at least thirty days prior thereto. No person shall be entitled to take such examination or receive such certificate unless he shall have had three years' experience as a horseshoer, or have served three years as a learner or apprentice under a master.

SEC. 2355. Certificates.—All certificates shall be filed with the city clerk, and registered by him in a book kept for that purpose, upon receipt of a fee of twenty-five cents. Any person so registered shall be entitled to registration in any other city to which he may have removed, upon filing with the clerk thereof a certified copy of such certificate, the fee for which copy shall be fifty cents, and for filing the same twenty-five cents. Persons who were duly registered prior to the taking effect of the Revised Laws shall be exempt from examination.

SEC. 2356. Registration required.—No person shall practice horseshoeing in any such city, otherwise than as a learner or apprentice under a master horseshoer, unless he is registered in accordance with this subdivision. Any person who shall present to a city clerk any certificate which has been fraudulently obtained, or who shall violate, or neglect to comply with, any provision of this subdivision, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Scope.—The law of Maryland specifically relates to Baltimore only, while that of Colorado is restricted by a population limitation to Denver. In Michigan the law applies only in cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants, and in Minnesota only in cities of the first class.

Boards; issue.—The examining board is appointed by the governor and in Colorado, Maryland, Michigan, and Minnesota consists of 5 persons. One member is to be a veterinary surgeon and the others horseshoers of prescribed experience. In Illinois the department of registration and education conducts examinations and issues licenses; while in Hawaii the examining is done by a veterinary surgeon.

The examination is to be a practical one, and boards may fix necessary regulations, etc. Examinations are to be held five times a year in Illinois, twice a year in Maryland and Michigan, at least once a year in Minnesota, and as often as necessary in Colorado.

Fees.—The fee for examination and license is $5 in Hawaii and Illinois, $3 in Michigan, and $2 in Colorado, Maryland, and Minnesota. A registration fee of 25 cents in the city or county is required in Colorado, Maryland, and Minnesota. The license fee of $5 must be paid annually in Hawaii, while an annual renewal fee of $1 is required in Illinois and Michigan.

Age, etc.—No age limit is fixed for applicants except in Michigan, where it is 18 years. Apprentices must serve not more than 3 years in Colorado, and 3 years in Illinois, Maryland, and Minnesota.

STEAM ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, ETC.

The employees considered under this head are stationary engineers and firemen, and certain employees on steamboats. Such laws are valid as designed to secure the public safety (Hyvonen v. Hector Iron Co. (1908), 103 Minn. 331, 115 N. W. 167); but they must not be arbitrary or confer autocratic and unregulated power on the examiner (Harmon v. State (1902), 66 Ohio St. 249, 64 N. E. 117). Employees on railroads and engineers in mines are not included here, the laws relating to them being noted under the respective headings.

STATIONARY ENGINEERS

Stationary engineers are required to be licensed in the following jurisdictions:

District of Columbia.—Act of Feb. 28, 1887 (24 Stat. 427).
Florida.—R. G. S., secs. 1940–1945, 5851, 5852.
Georgia.—Acts of 1910, page 112 (am. 1912, p. 158).
Maryland.—Public Local Laws, art. 4, sec. 427 (am. 1910, p. 615).
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 146, secs. 46–51, 56–59, 64–67.
Minnesota.—G. S., secs. 4750 (am. 1919, ch. 113), 4751, 4752, 4753 (am. 1919, ch. 240).
Missouri.—R. S., secs. 10967, 10968.
Montana.—R. C., secs. 2719–2728.
Nevada.—Acts of 1921, ch. 213 (am. 1923, ch. 18).
New Jersey.—Acts of 1913, ch. 363 (am. 1918, ch. 213; 1919, ch. 151).
Ohio.—G. C. of 1910, sections 1039–1057 (am. 1910, p. 361; 1911, p. 494; 1913, p. 95; 1919, p. 1237).
Pennsylvania.—Stats., secs. 2925–2940, 3507–3521.

Scope.—The laws of Georgia, Massachusetts, Montana, and New Jersey include firemen in their provisions; while a statute of Ohio (General Code, secs. 1058–1 to 1058–5, added 1910, p. 324, amended 1919, p. 1237) contains provisions for persons in charge of steam boilers, and a law of New York (acts of 1901, ch. 733) regulates the employment of firemen in New York City. The law of Montana requires engineers of traction engines to be licensed; while that of Nevada relates to hoisting engineers only.

The law of Florida authorizes cities of over 5,000 inhabitants to require licenses, that of Georgia applying only in counties having a population of 70,000 or above, that of Massachusetts excepting agricultural engines, heating boilers of not over 15 pounds pressure, and engines of less than 9 horsepower; while the law of Missouri applies only in cities of over 20,000 population, and that of Pennsylvania in cities of the second and third classes.

In some States licenses are classified according to the power, etc., of the engine or boiler to be operated. Thus there are 6 grades of engineers' licenses and 4 grades of firemen's licenses in Massachusetts, 4 grades of engineers' licenses in Maryland, Minnesota, and Montana, 3 in Nevada, and 2 in Pennsylvania.

Issue.—The examiners are State boards in Maryland, district inspectors in Minnesota, the State industrial commission through district examiners of steam engineers in Ohio, the chief and boiler inspectors of the department of public safety in Massachusetts, a bureau of the department of labor in New Jersey, county boards in Georgia and district boards in Nevada, a board designated by the commissioners in the District of Columbia, a State boiler inspector in Montana, city boiler inspectors in Florida and in Pennsylvania, and local incorporated associations in Missouri.

No time seems to be fixed for the holding of examinations except in Maryland, where weekly meetings of the board are prescribed in Baltimore. Other laws provide for examinations on application, or at times fixed by the boards.

Fees.—The fee for an examination is $5 in Nevada and Ohio; $3 in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania; and $1 in Massachusetts and Missouri. In Minnesota the fee for chief engineer's examination is $7; first class, $5; second class, $3; and special, $2. In Montana $7.50 is the fee for a license of the first class, $5 for one of the second class, $3 for one of the third class, and $2 for a low-pressure engineer. The fee is fixed by the city in Florida, and by the board in Georgia and in New Jersey (not over $2).

Term.—The term is not limited in a number of States, but is fixed at one year in Maryland, Montana, Nevada, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, and two years in Minnesota.

The fee for renewal is $2.50 in Nevada, $2 in Ohio, $1.50 in Maryland, and $1 in Minnesota, Montana, and Pennsylvania.

Qualifications.—The qualifications of applicants are not specifically indicated in most cases, the subject of fitness being usually left to the test of examination, which is to be practical, including technical subjects in a number of States, especially for licenses of the higher grades. Experience of from one to three years is required in several laws, and in a few instances an age limit is fixed.

Moral character, with special reference to temperate habits, is mentioned in some laws; while that of Nevada requires a medical certificate as to the condition of heart, sight, and hearing.

Forfeiture of license on account of negligence, intoxication, violations of laws or regulations, etc., is quite generally provided for.

EMPLOYEES ON VESSELS

The employees on steam vessels, etc., required to be licensed before taking employment are engineers, captains, masters, and pilots on steam vessels, and operators of electric, naphtha or gasoline launches or boats serving as common carriers, the classes included varying in the different States.

The States, etc., having laws on this subject are:

Maine.—Acts of 1923, ch. 149.
Michigan.—C. L. 5390, 5401, 5413.
Minnesota.—G. S., sec. 4743.

New Hampshire.—Acts of 1913, ch. 185.
New Jersey.—C. S., pp. 3707, 3709; acts of 1919, ch. 233 (am. 1924, ch. 83).
New York.—Con. L., ch. 37, secs. 4, 17 (am. 1918, ch. 190), 33, 34.
Philippine Islands.—Laws of U. S. Philippine Commission, 1902, Act No. 780 (am. by Nos. 1025, 1317, 1522, 1602).
Washington.—C. and S., secs. 8226, 8233, 8238.
United States.—C. S., secs. 8138, 8200–8209.

Scope.—The law applies to masters, pilots, and engineers in Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, and Washington; to captains, masters, pilots, and engineers of steam vessels, and to operators of electric, naphtha, gasoline, etc., boats used as common carriers in New Hampshire; to masters, mates, patrons, and engineers in the Philippine Islands; and masters, chief mates, second and third mates if in charge of a watch, engineers and pilots of all steam vessels, masters of sail vessels of over 700 gross tons and of all other vessels of over 100 gross tons carrying passengers for hire, in the United States. The laws of the States generally except in terms those persons who are holders of a Federal license.

Issue.—The examiners are boards of steamboat inspectors in New Jersey, New York, Philippine Islands, and the United States; the public utilities commission in Maine; the public service commission in New Hampshire; the State boiler inspectors in Minnesota; and the State commissioner of labor in Michigan.

The frequency of examinations is not prescribed except that in the Philippine Islands they are to be held monthly in Manila.

Fees.—In several cases the fees charged are not indicated, being presumably fixed by the boards in their power to make regulations. There are grades of licenses prescribed in some laws, while in others but a single class seems to be contemplated.

The fee for an examination is $10 for an engineer in the Philippine Islands, and $5 for mates, patrons, and assistant engineers; $5 in Michigan, New Jersey, New York, and Washington; $2 in Maine, New Hampshire ($1 for special license restricted to employment on a single vessel); and $1 in Minnesota. The Federal law forbids the collection of any fee for licenses thereunder.

Term.—The term of the license is one year in Maine, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Philippine Islands, Washington, and the United States (for engineers and pilots); 2 years in Minnesota; and 5 years in the United States for masters and mates.

The renewal fee is designated as $1 in Minnesota, $2 in Maine, and $3 in New Jersey and New York, and is apparently $5 in Michigan.

Age, etc.—Where the age limit is fixed it is usually 21 years, though 18 and 19 years are set by the Philippine Commission as the ages at which certain classes of employees may secure licenses. Experience of from one to three years, varying with the class of license applied for, and fit habits and character are also qualifications prescribed.

Licenses may be revoked for intemperance, incompetence, or violation of the laws.

CHAUFFEURS

Provisions requiring the registration and licensing of chauffeurs are embodied in the laws of most jurisdictions regulating the operation and registration of motor vehicles. So far as appears, the entire subject is without legislative control in a few States; while in the District of Columbia it is the subject of regulation by the District Commissioners.

A distinction is very commonly made between chauffeurs operating for hire and operators who may be owners or members of the owner's family not receiving pay for such services, though the difference is not uniformly made. Where it exists, the age limit for chauffeurs is frequently higher than for operators, and the fee charged is greater.

Following are the States having laws on the subject of licensing:

Alabama.—Acts of 1923, No. 290.
Arizona.—R. S., sec. 5136.
Arkansas..—Digest, secs. 7430, 7431.

Vermont.—G. L., secs. 4686, 4687, 4691 (am. 1919, No. 119).
Virginia.—Code, sec. 2129 (am. Extra Sess., 1919, ch. 35), 2137.
Washington.—Acts of 1921, ch. 108.
West Virginia.—Acts of 1921, ch. 112, sees. 84, 85.

Who issue licenses.—Licenses are issued or registration made by the county judge of probate in Alabama and by the secretary of State in Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Ohio, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, and Virginia. The State highway authorities receive and pass upon applications in Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, and West Virginia; the commissioner, registrar, or division of motor vehicles in California, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and New York; the director of licenses in Washington; the commissioner of interior in Porto Rico; the tax commission in Kentucky; the comptroller in Florida; an examining board, appointed by the sheriff, subject to a board of supervisors, in Hawaii; the department of law enforcement, through the county assessor, in Idaho; the board of examiners, appointed by the governor, in Minnesota; and the director of public works in the Philippine Islands.

Qualifications.—The provisions as to qualifications are generally indefinite, although the tendency is toward stricter rules and regulations. Some provide that the applicant must demonstrate his ability, others that he give evidence of qualifications or pass such examination as may be required; while some require only a statement by the applicant as to his ability, either with or without supporting affidavits of other parties. Applicants must be 18 years of age in Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Porto Rico, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Philippine Islands; 17 years of age in New Jersey; 16 years of age in California (18 on public vehicles), Delaware (21 for public service permit), Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island; and 15 years of age in Hawaii and Washington (21 years if transporting passengers for hire). Hawaii provides that the applicant must be free from such physical defects as epilepsy, heart disease, excessive fainting tendency, feebleness, insanity, or other similar defects. Michigan will refuse license if applicant is addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors or drugs.

Badges.—Badges must be worn by employed chauffeurs in a majority of the States, though Maryland provides specifically that no license badge shall be worn. Photographs are also required in a few States.

Fees.—The fee for a license is $5 in Alabama, Arizona, Hawaii, Illinois, Louisiana, Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Porto Rico, and Virginia; $3 in Connecticut, Delaware ($4 for public service vehicles), Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Vermont, and West Virginia; $2 in California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Oregon, Pennsylvania ($1 if no examination required), Rhode Island, and Utah; and $1.50 in Minnesota; $1 in Arkansas (called registration and record fee) and Washington; and 2 pesos ($1) in the Philippine Islands. The term of license is usually one year, though in Idaho, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Virginia, and Washington no limitation is indicated. The law of Georgia provides for no fee for examination or license.

Renewals.—Renewals require the payment of a fee of $5 in Alabama, Louisiana, and Virginia; $3 in Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Vermont, and West Virginia; $2 in California, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, and Utah; $1 in Arkansas, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and Washington (two-year term); and 2 pesos ($1) in the Philippine Islands.

Suspension, etc.—Licenses may be suspended or revoked for cause, and specifically for incompetence, intoxication, or violation of the motor-vehicle law. Operating a car while a license is suspended or revoked is usually declared a misdemeanor.

Reciprocity.—Reciprocity between the States is general, sometimes for fixed periods, ranging from two weeks to three months, sometimes for such period as the State of residence recognizes local credentials, and sometimes without fixed limit. Maryland and Massachusetts provide for exemptions of nonresident chauffeurs, but in case of violation of any motor-vehicle law they must immediately register according to the provisions of the law.

PLUMBERS

The number of jurisdictions requiring plumbers to be registered, usually after examination, is larger than that for any of the occupations already considered except chauffeurs. In several States the power of regulation is vested by law in the various municipal authorities. The list of specific laws is as follows:

Arkansas.—Digest, secs. 7624–7631.
Colorado.—C. L., secs. 4829–4851.
Delaware.—Acts of 1913, ch. 209.
District of Columbia.—Act of June 18, 1898 (30 Stat. 477).
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 109a, secs. 1–9.
Kansas.—G. S., secs. 985–991.
Kentucky.—Statutes, sec. 3037f (am. 1924, ch. 90).
Louisiana.—Acts of 1924, No. 248.
Maine.—R. S., ch. 19, secs. 116–119.
Maryland.—A. C., art. 43, secs. 223–229
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 17, sec. 10 (am. 1922, ch. 481); ch. 142, secs. 1–16.
Michigan.—C. L., secs. 6857–6871.
Missouri.—R. S., secs. 8825–8832; Acts of 1921, p. 558.

The law of the State of Kansas is reproduced as fairly representative of laws of this class.

KANSAS—GENERAL STATUTES

Examination and licensing of plumbers

SECTION 985. License required.—Any person now or hereafter engaging or working at the business of plumbing in cities of seven thousand population or more in this State, either as master plumber or employing plumber or as a journeyman plumber, shall first receive a certificate thereof in accordance with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 986. Examination.—Any person desiring to engage in or work at the business of plumbing, either as a master plumber or employing plumber or as a journeyman plumber, in cities having a population of seven thousand or more and a system of water supply or sewerage, shall make application to a board of examiners hereinafter provided for, and shall at such times and place as said board may designate be compelled to pass such examination as to his qualifications as said board may direct. Said examination may be made in whole or in part in writing and shall be of a practical and elementary character, but sufficiently strict to test the qualifications of the applicant.

SEC. 987. Boards of examiners.—There shall be in every city of seven thousand inhabitants or more a board of examiners of plumbers consisting of three members, one of which shall be chairman of the board of health, who shall be ex officio chairman of said board of examiners; a second member, who shall be a master plumber; and a third member, who shall be a journeyman plumber. Said second and third members shall be appointed by the mayor and approved by the council of said city within three months after the passage of this act, for the term of one year from the 1st day of May in the year of appointment, thereafter annually before the 1st day of May, and shall be paid from the treasury of said city the same as other officers, in such sum as the authorities may designate.

SEC. 988. Duties of boards.—Said board of examiners shall, as soon as may be after their appointment, meet, and shall then designate the times and places for examination of all applicants desiring to engage in or work at the business of plumbing within their respective jurisdiction. Said board shall examine said applicants as to the practical knowledge of plumbing, house drainage, and plumbing ventilation, and, if satisfied of the competency of such applicants, shall thereupon issue a certificate to such applicant, authorizing him to engage in or work at the business of plumbing, either as master plumber or employing plumber or as a journeyman plumber. The fee for a certificate for a master plumber or employing plumber shall be five dollars; for a journeyman plumber it shall be two dollars. Said certificate shall be valid and have force throughout the State; and all fees received for said certificates shall be paid into the treasury of the city where such certificates are issued.

SEC. 989. [Requires certain cities to pass ordinances as to plumbing construction and inspection.]

SEC. 990. Place of examination.—All persons who are required by this act to take examinations and procure a certificate as required by this act shall apply to the board in the city where they reside, or to the board nearest their places of residence.

Scope.—These laws vary greatly in their scope, the laws of Colorado, District of Columbia, Maryland, and Porto Rico applying generally within the respective jurisdictions; that of New York to all cities, with a special law for the city of New York, while village boards of trustees may establish license regulations within their respective jurisdictions; that of Massachusetts and New Hampshire to all cities and to all towns accepting its provisions; that of Maine to all cities and towns having municipal waterworks; that of Arkansas to cities of the first and second class; that of Kentucky to cities of the first class; that of Pennsylvania to cities of the first, second, and third class; that of Delaware to the city of Wilmington only; while in a number of the States the law applies where the population of the city or town reaches a certain minimum. This minimum is 10,000 in Illinois; 7,000 in Kansas; 10,000 in Louisiana; 15,000 in Michigan; 15,000 for towns and cities (with a separate act for St. Louis County) in Missouri; 3,000 in Montana; 40,000 in Nebraska; 2,000 in Oklahoma; 4,000 in Oregon; 15,000 in South Carolina; 25,000 in Tennessee; 5,000 in Texas; and 3,000 in Wisconsin. The laws of Delaware and Nebraska relate only to journeymen, and that of New York to masters. Apprentices must be registered in Delaware and Montana.

Boards.—The boards are generally local, being appointed by the mayor in most instances, with the consent of the council, and usually consist of representatives of master plumbers and of journeymen plumbers and an inspector of plumbing or other official of the city or town. Boards acting throughout the entire jurisdiction exist in Colorado, the District of Columbia, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, and Porto Rico.

Examinations.—Examinations are to be held in most States at the discretion of the board, but must be held once a month in Delaware and Tennessee; at least quarterly under the law of Michigan; at least once a year in the city of Baltimore, Md.; whenever there are three requests on file in Porto Rico; "frequent examinations" in the city of Boston, and twice each year in five other cities of Massachusetts.

Fees.—The fees charged are usually different for masters and for journeymen. The fee for masters is $50 in Illinois; $25 in Tennessee and Wisconsin; $10 in Colorado and Montana; $5 in Kansas, Missouri, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, and South Carolina; $3 in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Texas; and $2 in Massachusetts. Fees for journeymen are $2 in Colorado, Kansas, Maryland, Montana, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Wisconsin; $1 in Delaware, Illinois, Missouri ($1.50 in St. Louis County), Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Oregon; 50 cents in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

States making no difference in the fees for masters and for journeymen are Arkansas and Kentucky, where the amount is $5, renewable every 5 years; Michigan $2; New Hampshire and Oregon $1. In Louisiana the matter of fees is left to the board of examiners.

Term.—The term of the license is not indicated in a number of States and would not seem to be limited in them. It is fixed at five years in Arkansas and Kentucky, and at one year in Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Wisconsin.

Renewal.—Masters' licenses may be renewed on payment of $15 in Wisconsin; $10 in Illinois and Tennessee; $5 in Colorado, Missouri (cities), New York, and Oklahoma; $2.50 in Montana; $1 in Missouri (St. Louis County) and Pennsylvania. For journeymen the fee is $1 in Colorado, Illinois, Missouri, Montana, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Wisconsin; 50 cents in Delaware and Nebraska, and 25 cents in Pennsylvania. The fee is the same for both classes in the following States: Arkansas and Kentucky, $5, every five years; $1 in Maryland and Oregon; 50 cents in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and South Carolina. No fee is indicated for renewals in Michigan and Texas.

Qualifications.—The requirements as to examinations are not explicit in the laws. The examinations are to be "practical," or "theoretical and practical," or "satisfactory." Good character is mentioned as a qualification in a few instances; and a minimum age limit of 21 years is fixed in the District of Columbia, and of 18 years for journeymen and 21 years for masters in Porto Rico. A number of laws state that licenses may be revoked for cause.

New York and Pennsylvania require master or employing plumbers to have a plate or sign on their place of business, showing that they are "licensed plumbers," while in Oregon proprietors of plumbing shops must register such shop or place of business.

BARBERS

The laws of 16 States provide for an examination and registration of persons following the occupation of barber. Such laws are constitutional as relating to public health. People v. Logan (Ill. 1918), 193 N. E. 913. In some of these States the laws include the regulation of schools for the instruction of barbers as well as prescribing the qualifications of practicing barbers. Sanitary conditions of the shop, tools, etc., are also usually prescribed or placed under the power of the board of barber examiners. Following is a list of the States having such laws:

Colorado.—C. L., secs. 4739–4755.
Connecticut.—G. S., secs. 2971–2981.
Delaware.—R. C., secs. 920–931.
Georgia.—Acts of 1914, p. 75 (am. 1920, p. 109).
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 16b (am. 1923, p. 165).
Kansas.—G. S., secs. 10326–10336.
Maryland.—A. C., art. XLIII, secs. 209–222.
Michigan.—C. L., secs. 6828–6848 (am. 1917, No. 178; 1921, No. 127).
Minnesota.—Acts of 1921, ch. 424 (am. 1923, ch. 243).
Missouri.—Acts of 1921, p. 156.
North Dakota.—R. C., secs. 349–363; Acts of 1909, ch. 46.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 8267–8278.
Rhode Island.—G. L., ch. 156, secs. 1–16.
Utah.—C. L., secs. 360–378 (am. 1919, ch. 3; 1921, ch. 5).
Washington.—Acts of 1923, ch. 75.
Wisconsin.—Statutes, secs. 158.01–158.11.

The law of Illinois (R. S., ch. 16b) is representative of this class of legislation. Examinations are conducted and certificates of registration issued by the State department of registration and education, superseding the State board of examiners named in the original act. The essential sections follow:

ILLINOIS—REVISED STATUTES

CHAPTER 16b.—Examination, etc., of barbers

SECTION 7. Applications for examination.—Any person desiring to obtain a certificate of registration under this act shall make application to such board therefor, pay to the treasurer of said board an examination fee of three (3) dollars, present himself at the next regular meeting of the board for the examination of applicants, and if he shows that he has studied and practiced the trade for three (3) years as an apprentice under one or more practicing barbers, or for at least three (3) years in a properly appointed and conducted barber school under the instructions of a competent barber, or practiced the trade for at least three (3) years in this State or other States, and that he is possessed of the requisite skill in such trade to properly perform all the duties thereof, including his ability in the preparation of the tools, shaving, hair cutting, and all the duties and services incident thereto, and has sufficient knowledge concerning the common diseases of the face and skin to avoid the aggravation and spreading thereof in the practice of said trade, his name shall be entered by the board in the register hereafter provided for, and a certificate of registration shall be issued to him authorizing him to practice said trade in this State. All persons making application for examination under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to practice the occupation of barbering until the next meeting of the board, and the board shall issue a permit authorizing him to practice said trade until the next meeting of the board.

SEC. 8. Apprentices and students.—Nothing in this act shall prohibit any person from serving as an apprentice in said trade under a barber authorized to practice the same under this act, or from serving as a student in any barber school for the training of students in such trade under the training of a qualified barber: Provided, That such apprentice or student shall apply to said board to have his name registered with said board in a book which shall be kept by the board for the registering of apprentices and students and secure a permit to practice as an apprentice or student under the instructions of a qualified barber. After having practiced the trade for three (3) years under a qualified barber such apprentice or student shall be eligible to become a registered barber and present himself at the next meeting of the board held nearest to him for the examination of applicants, and pay the fee of three (3) dollars for examination as provided in section 7.

SEC. 9. Cards.—Said board shall furnish to each person to whom a certificate of registration is issued a card or an insignia bearing the seal of the board and the signature of its president and secretary, certifying that the holder thereof is entitled to practice the occupation of barber in this State, and it shall be the duty of the holder of such card or insignia to post the same in a conspicuous place in front of his working chair where it may readily be seen by all persons whom he may serve. Said card or insignia shall be renewed on or before the first day of July in each year, and the holder of said certificate of registration shall pay to the treasurer of said board the sum of one (1) dollar for said renewal card or insignia. Upon failure of any holder of a certificate of registration to apply for a renewal of his card or insignia on or before the first day of July in each year, his said certificate of registration may be revoked by said board, subject to the provisions of section 11 of this act.

SEC. 10. Register.—Said board shall keep a register in which shall be entered the names of all persons to whom certificates are issued under this act, and said register shall be at all times open to public inspection.

SEC. 11. Rules for sanitation.—Said board shall be authorized to adopt reasonable rules providing for the sanitary regulation of barber shops, subject to the approval of the State board of health, and shall have the power to enter any barber shop during business hours for the purpose of inspection of such shops. If any shop be found in an unsanitary condition, or if any barber working therein has been charged with imparting any contagious or infectious disease, the board shall immediately notify the health officer thereof, and such shop shall be quarantined and the barber so charged shall not practice his occupation until such quarantine shall be removed by the health officers. Said board shall have the power to revoke any certificate of registration granted by it under this act, for conviction of crime, habitual drunkenness for six months immediately before a charge duly made, gross incompetency, failure to comply with the sanitary rules approved by the State board of health, or for having imparted any contagious or infectious disease: Provided, That before any certificate shall be so revoked, the holder thereof shall have notice in writing of the charge or charges against him, and at a day specified in said notice at least five (5) days after the service [of] notice thereof, be given a public hearing and be given an opportunity to present testimony in his behalf, and to confront the witnesses against him. Any person whose certificate has been revoked may after the expiration of ninety (90) days apply to have his certificate regranted, and the same shall be regranted to him upon his giving satisfactory proof that his disqualification has ceased to exist.

SEC. 12 (am. 1923, p. 165). [Defines barbering].

SEC. 13 (am. 1923, p. 165). [Prescribes penalties for acting without license or for fraud or violations.]

The laws are usually of uniform application throughout the State. The law of Delaware, however, applies only to the city of Wilmington, that of Georgia and of Missouri to cities and towns having a population of 5,000 or more, while the law of Rhode Island applies only to cities and to such towns as adopt its provisions by action of the town council.

The principal features of the laws of the various States are noted under the following heads.

Examiners.—State boards of examiners are provided for in practically every State, appointment to be made by the governor. In Maryland, local boards, and in Michigan, deputies, may be appointed by the State board. In Kansas the State board of health passes on the qualifications of the members, while in Wisconsin appointments are made by a similar body.

Examinations.—The most usual provision is for at least four examinations per year in as many localities in the State, times and places and additional examinations being within the discretion of the board. Only one examination per year is required by the law of Delaware, while in Maryland examinations are to be held at such times and places as the State board determines.

Fees.—The fee for examination is $5 in most instances, but is $3 in Illinois, while in Wisconsin it is $5 for a journeyman's license and $2 for a master's license, the examination to be taken only by the holder of a journeyman's license.

Barbers practicing at the time the laws come into effect are usually allowed to register without examination on the payment of a fee, sometimes equal to the fee for renewal and sometimes larger but less than for examination.

Certified barbers from other States may be registered on the payment of a fee of $1 in Connecticut, $3 in Michigan, and $5 in Minnesota and Washington.

In most States the license must be renewed annually, the most frequent charge being $1. In Wisconsin the fee for renewal of a master's license is $2, and it is apparently expected that journeymen will take a master's examination before the expiration of their first certificate. In Michigan a barber whose license has lapsed must pay $2 for a renewal. No provision for expiration or renewal appears in the Maryland law.

Apprentices.—The registration of apprentices is required in Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, and Wisconsin. The number is limited by law to one in each shop in Colorado and Oregon, one to each barber in Delaware, and one to each two barbers in Minnesota, Missouri, and North Dakota, though at least one may be employed in each shop. No fee for their registration seems to be contemplated in Colorado, Illinois, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Washington, and Wisconsin. A fee of 50 cents is required in Delaware and Georgia, $1 in Michigan and Oregon, $2 in Missouri and North Dakota, $2.50 in Utah with $1 renewal, and $5 in Washington, which apparently entitles to examination after six months and within one year.

Qualifications of applicants.—Common requirements are that applicants must be at least 19 years of age, free from infectious, contagious, or blood diseases (a few States require a physician's certificate), of good moral character, have studied in a recognized school or served an apprenticeship under a competent barber for three years, or practiced the occupation for the same length of time in another State, be skilled in the use, care, and disinfection of tools, and have a knowledge of skin diseases sufficient to avoid their aggravation or spread.

Utah admits applicants of the age of 18 years. The Illinois, Michigan, North Dakota, and Washington laws make no mention of age.

The term of apprenticeship may be as short as one year in Kansas, Utah, and Washington, and two years in Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin. Where instruction is given in a barber school the board may be authorized to judge of the school's competency and the sufficiency of the instruction given; or the law may require that the instruction be given in a "recognized" or "properly organized" barber school.

Forfeiture of license.—Licenses may be revoked under the laws of nearly every State for conviction of crime, habitual drunkenness, gross incompetency, failure to comply with sanitary or other regulations, or for having or imparting an infectious or contagious disease. Such licenses may be renewed, usually after a fixed period, on proof that the disqualifying cause has been removed.

Sanitary requirements.—Provisions classifiable under this head vary more widely than any of the above, varying from requirements of a detailed nature embodied in the law to a simple authorization of the board to devise and enforce suitable regulations. The law of Maryland makes no reference to the subject. Specific provisions are found prohibiting the employment or continuance in employment of any person afflicted with any communicable disease, requiring tools to be sterilized after using, and that towels be boiled and laundered before a second usage, that blood be stopped by the use of a liquid or powder only, and that shops be not used for sleeping purposes. Shaving persons with inflamed or erupted faces is forbidden in some States.

Besides the States listed above, the following have sanitary regulations for the conduct of barber shops, embodying provisions similar to those noted:

Alabama.—Code, secs. 1117–1132.
Nevada.—R. L. 1919, pp. 2641, 2642.
New Hampshire.—Acts of 1907, ch. 142.
Vermont.—G. L., secs. 6255–6257.

OPERATORS OF MOVING PICTURE MACHINES

License to operate cinematographs or similar apparatus is required in several States, issue to be preceded by such a test of the applicant's knowledge as will satisfy the authorities of his competency. States having such laws are:

Maine.—R. S., ch. 32, sec. 16.
Maryland.—Acts of 1910, ch. 693 (am. 1912, ch. 814; 1918, ch. 195).
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 143, secs. 75–81.
Michigan.—C. L., secs. 7175, 7176.
New Jersey.—Acts of 1912, ch. 331.
New York.—Acts of 1911, ch. 252 (am. 1916, ch. 184).
Rhode Island.—G. L., ch. 174, sec. 3.
South Dakota.—R. C., sec. 9141.

Scope.—These laws are usually brief and simple in form, but present considerable variety. In New York they relate to cities of the first class, in Maryland to Baltimore only, and in New Jersey to certain cities adopting specific governmental requirements, any action with regard to moving picture operators being optional.

Issue.—Licenses are granted by the municipal officers in Maine, by a board appointed by the governor in Maryland, by an inspector of public safety in Massachusetts, by local licensing officers designated by the mayor in New York, and by fire commissioners or fire wardens in Rhode Island. In Michigan the State fire marshal and in South Dakota the commissioner of insurance is authorized to inquire into the competency of any operator and require him to cease employment until any discovered incompetency is removed; no provision is made in these States for the granting of a license.

Fees, etc.—The fee charged may not exceed $5 annually in Maine, is fixed at $10 in Maryland with a renewal fee of $5, is $3 in Massachusetts with $1 as renewal fee, and $1 in Rhode Island, the fee for renewals being the same. No mention is made of a fee in the New York law, the subject being probably left within the power of the licensing officer as to rules and regulations. The term of licenses is uniformly one year. Operators must be 18 years of age in Maine, Michigan, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and South Dakota, 21 in Maryland, Massachusetts, and New York. Six months' experience is required in Maryland and New York. Licenses may be revoked for cause.

AVIATORS

The operation of airplanes is so attendant with possibilities of hazard, public as well as private, that legislation regulating the privilege would seem fully warranted. Steps in this direction were first taken in Connecticut in 1911, the owners of aircraft being required to register and operators to procure a license after examination or proof of skill. Laws are now in effect as follows:

California.—Acts of 1921, ch. 783.
Connecticut.—Acts of 1921, ch. 207 (am. 1923, ch. 243).
Hawaii.—Acts of 1923, No. 109.
Maine.—Acts of 1921, ch. 161.
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 90, secs. 35–42. (am. 1922, ch. 534.)
Oregon.—Acts of 1921, ch. 45 (am. 1923, ch. 202).

Scope, issue.—While the increase in the number of airplanes is undoubtedly the occasion of the enactment of these laws, some of them also refer to balloons, free as well as dirigible. License is granted by the motor-vehicle department in California, Connecticut, and Massachusetts, by special boards or individuals appointed by the governor in Hawaii and Oregon, and by the secretary of State in Maine. In Massachusetts the examination is conducted by a board of experts headed by the registrar of the motor-vehicle department.

Fees.—The fee for examinations is not over $25 in California and Connecticut, and $5 in Massachusetts and Oregon. An added fee of $5 for license is charged in Massachusetts and $10 in Oregon. No mention is made of a fee in other jurisdictions. Persons shown to be qualified without examination, as by holding certificates from associations interested in aeronautics, may receive licenses in California and Connecticut on the payment of a fee of $2. Licenses are valid for one year in California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Massachusetts, and Oregon, no reference to term being made in Maine. The fee for renewal is $5 in Massachusetts and $10 in Oregon, no charge being noted in the other jurisdictions.

Age, etc.—The age of applicants is mentioned only in California, where it is 19 years, and in Oregon, where 18 years is the minimum. The examinations determine qualifications, both technical and practical; and licenses may be revoked for cause.

ELECTRICIANS

Persons engaging in the business of installing wires and equipment for the conveyance and use of electric current must secure licenses, after examination, in the following States:

Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 141 (am. 1921, ch. 221).
Minnesota.—G. S. sec. 5082–5089.
Tennessee.—Code, secs. 2202a–2202a–18.
Washington.—Acts of 1919, ch. 204.

Who to issue.—Examinations and the granting of licenses are in the hands of the board of State examiners in Massachusetts and Minnesota, of local boards in cities of over 35,000 in Tennessee, and of the secretary of state in Washington, where the law is restricted in its application to cities of the first, second, and third class.

Fees.—In Massachusetts two grades of license are issued—masters' and journeymen's. The fee for the former for examination and original license is $25 and for the latter $5. The Minnesota law provides for three classes of license—masters, journeymen, and special, the last being available for persons employed to operate electric light or power apparatus and keep the same in repair. Only masters' licenses are issued in Tennessee, while in Washington a license is required for every person, firm, or corporation desiring to engage or continue in the business of installing wires to convey electric current or electric apparatus to be operated by such current. The fee in Minnesota is $5 for master's certificate, $3 for a journeyman, and $2 for a special license; in Tennessee the fee is $25 and in Washington, $15.

Term, etc.—Licenses have annual terms in Massachusetts, Tennessee, and Washington and biennial terms in Minnesota. The fees for renewal are $15 in Massachusetts for a master's license and $1 for a journeyman's; in Minnesota, apparently, and in Washington, by specific designation, the fee is the same as for an original issue; while in Tennessee the fee for renewal is $10. Reference to age is made only in Minnesota, where masters and journeymen must be at least 21 and have had three years' experience. Special licenses may be issued to persons under 21 years of age who have had two years' experience. In Tennessee three years' experience is required.

MISCELLANEOUS

Automobile mechanics.—An Oregon statute (Laws, secs. 6804–6813) creates a "board of automobile mechanics' examiners" charged with the duty of examining and licensing persons who work for hire and hold themselves out to work for hire upon any automobile or auto truck. Engaging in such work without a license is forbidden, except that licensed mechanics may each have one helper or apprentice who need not be licensed but must work only under the direction of such duly licensed automobile mechanic. The fee for examination and licensing is $5, annual renewals being made on the payment of a similar sum. Licenses may be revoked for incompetency or any other good and sufficient cause.

Beauty parlors.—The inspection of beauty parlors is provided for by a Wisconsin law (Stats., secs. 159.01–159.05). No person may be a manager, operator, or apprentice of any such parlor without a license, a board of examiners for this purpose being appointed by the State board of health. Apprentices may be licensed upon application without charge. After 6 months' practice under the supervision of a licensed manager they may receive an operator's license on the proof of such practice and the payment of $2. An operator may be licensed as a manager after one year's service under a licensed manager on passing an examination, submitting proof of education equivalent to the eighth grade, and the payment of a license fee of $15. Annual renewals are made for $2 for operators' fees and $10 for managers' licenses.

A law of Louisiana (No. 135, acts of 1924) creates a board of cosmetic therapy, with power to adopt rules and regulations for the sterilization and sanitation of places and equipment used for and in the practice of cosmetic therapy or beauty culture. Examination and licensing are prescribed, applicants to be at least 18 years of age, of good moral character, have an education at least equivalent to first year high school, and have taken a course in an approved school of cosmetic therapy, or passed a satisfactory examination showing fitness to become a registered cosmetician. Apprentices must be registered. Trained nurses and barbers are exempt, as are physicians and commissioned surgical officers of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Hospital Service. Prior practitioners or graduates are exempt from examination, but must pay the fee for registration, which is $5 for residents of the State, and $15 for nonresidents; renewals cost $1. The fee for an examination is $5, and for apprentice registration $1.

Elevator operators.—In the State of Minnesota (G. S., sec. 1432) persons desiring to operate passenger elevators in cities of the first class must be licensed by a building inspector. The fee for issuing a license is 25 cents after proof of experience and ability and an examination on the subject of the construction of elevators.

Hoisting-machine operators.—According to a law of Massachusetts (G. L., ch. 146, secs. 53, 55–59, 64, 65) all persons operating derricks, cableways, machinery for discharging cargoes, and temporary elevator cars used in excavation work or hoisting building material where mechanical power other than steam is employed must secure a license. Licenses are issued after a practical examination by a member of the boiler inspectors' department of the district police. A fee of $1 is charged. The license continues in force until suspended or revoked for cause.

Mason contractors.—In cities of Illinois having a population of 150,000 inhabitants or over, mason contractors or employing masons must obtain a license after a practical examination by a local board of examiners (R. S., ch. 48, secs. 177–183). Licenses thus issued are valid throughout the State for a period of one year. Fees for examination and for renewal are fixed by the common council of the cities to which the law applies.

PEDDLERS' LICENSE—EXEMPTION OF MECHANICS

The States which require peddlers generally to procure a license before engaging in their business, but which exempt persons selling goods of their own manufacture from this requirement, are as follows:

EMIGRANT AGENTS

The activities of agencies recruiting labor in one State for employment in another have been subject to restrictive legislation in Hawaii, Philippine Islands, and in several Southern States for a number of years. Most drastic and sweeping in its terms is the act passed by the Legislature of Alabama in 1923, which fixes the license fee at $5,000 per annum for each county in which such an emigrant agent does business. Every agent or employee of such agent must have a license, for which the same amount is paid; $5,000 must also be paid for each county through which the agent or a representative accompanies the recruited laborers in any conveyance to their destination. A bond and references are also required. The law of Virginia requires such agents to comply with the State law as to employment agencies. Labor organizations directing their members to places of employment are exempt. Fairly representative is the law of Mississippi, which was declared constitutional by the supreme court of the State (Garbutt v. State, 77 So. 189). The text of the law follows:

MISSISSIPPI—ACTS OF 1912

CHAPTER 94.—Emigrant agent

SECTION 1. License fee.—Each emigrant or employment agent, or person engaged in hiring laborers, or soliciting emigrants or laborers in this State to go beyond the limits of the State, must pay an annual license of five hundred dollars ($500) in every county in which he operates or solicits emigrants or laborers, which amount must be paid into the State treasury for the use of the State.

SEC. 2. Acting without license.—Any person doing the business of emigrant or employment agent without having first obtained a license, as required by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500) and not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), or may be imprisoned in the county jail, or sentenced to hard labor for the county for not less than one month nor more than six months, within the discretion of the court.

MECHANICS' LIENS

CHATTELS

The common law gave a mechanic or artisan making or repairing any article of personal property at the request of the owner or other properly authorized person a lien thereon for the value of his services. Where there is a contract price, recovery is limited to that amount. In many States statutes have been enacted providing specifically for the enforcement and discharge of such liens, separate laws being frequently enacted for specific classes of objects, as work on vehicles, on watches and jewelry, for horseshoeing, blacksmith work, automobiles, etc. In some jurisdictions, however, the common law lien is the sole recourse in cases of this nature; while in others a general law prescribes the processes to be observed in all cases of chattel liens.

Illustrative of the chattel lien law is that of Illinois, which is of general application. It is as follows:

ILLINOIS—ACTS OF 1921

(P. 508)

SECTION 1. Who may have liens.—Every person, firm, or corporation who has expended labor, skill, or materials upon any chattel, or has furnished storage for said chattel, at the request of its owner, reputed owner, or authorized agent of the owner, or lawful possessor thereof, shall have a lien upon such chattel beginning on the date of the commencement of such expenditure of labor, skill, and materials or of such storage for the contract price for all such expenditure of labor, skill, or materials, or for all such storage, or in the absence of such contract price, for the reasonable worth of such expenditure of labor, skill, and materials, or of such storage, for a period of one year from and after the completion of such expenditure of labor, skill, or materials, or of such storage notwithstanding the fact that the possession of such chattel has been surrendered to the owner, or lawful possessor thereof.

SEC. 2. Limitation; notice.—Such lien shall cease at the expiration of 60 days from the date of delivery of such chattel to the owner thereof, or his duly authorized agent, unless the lien claimant shall within said 60 days, file in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county in which said labor, skill, and materials were expended on such chattel, or storage furnished for such chattel, a lien notice, which notice shall state the name of the claimant, the name of the owner or reputed owner, a description of the chattel sufficient for identification, upon which the claimant has expended labor, skill, and material, or has furnished storage, the amount for which the lien is claimed, and the date upon which such expenditure or storage was completed, which notice shall be verified by the oath of the claimant, or by some one in his behalf, having personal knowledge of the facts, and may be in substantially the following form:

_____Claimant v._____ Defendant.

Notice is hereby given that_____claims a lien upon_____(describe the property) for, and on account of labor, skill, and materials expended upon, and storage furnished for the_____(property); that the name of the owner or reputed owner, is———; that the said labor, skill, and materials were expended, or storage furnished upon the said property between the_____day of _____, and the_____day of_____, and the rendition of the labor, skill, and materials so expended, or storage furnished by the claimant above named was completed on the_____day of_____; that 60 days have not elapsed since that time; that the amount claimant demands for said labor, skill, and materials so expended, or storage furnished, is $_____; that no part thereof has been paid except $_____; and that there is now due and remaining unpaid thereon, after deducting all just credits and offsets, the sum of $_____, in which amount he claims a lien upon said property.

SEC. 3. Recording.—Upon presentation of such notice to the recorder of deeds of any county, it shall be the duty of the said recorder of deeds to file the same in his office and to index the same in a book to be kept by him for that purpose and called "index of liens upon chattels." The recorder of deeds shall be entitled to charge and receive from the person filing such a notice of lien the same fee received by him for the recording of other written instruments.

SEC. 4. Rank.—The lien created by this act shall be subject to the lien of any bona fide chattel mortgage upon the same chattel recorded prior to the commencement of any lien herein created, but said lien herein created shall be in addition to, and shall not exclude, any lien now existing at common law.

SEC. 5. Discharge.—Any lien provided for in this act may be released and discharged by the lien claimant, or his agent, filing for record with the recorder of deeds a satisfaction piece, which shall be acknowledged in the same manner as provided by law for the acknowledgment of deeds, which shall also be indexed in the "index of liens upon chattels." The owner of said chattel may also file with the recorder of deeds any written document which would show or tend to show the nonexistence, satisfaction, or termination of such lien, which written document shall also be indexed in the "index of liens upon chattels."

SEC. 6. [Provides in detail a method of procedure for foreclosing liens. See sec. 8.]

SEC. 7. Costs.—In all cases where suit is brought in the circuit court of any county in the State of Illinois for the purpose of foreclosing the lien herein provided, the court shall, upon entering judgment for the complainant, allow as a part of the costs in said suit all moneys paid, if any, for the foreclosure by advertisement and sale of the chattel under section 6 of this act, together with the costs of filing and recording such lien and certified copies thereof.

SEC. 8. Validity, enforcement.—The invalidity of any section or sections of this act shall not affect the validity of the remainder of this act. If for any reason section 6 of this act shall be held to be invalid, the liens provided for in this act may be foreclosed by bill in equity in the circuit court of any county in the State of Illinois having jurisdiction of the persons or the subject matter.

LIENS ON REALTY

In the various States of the Union a lien is charged by statute on the real estate benefited by the erection or repair of buildings or by other improvements, to secure to laborers, contractors, subcontractors, and material men the payment of the wages or other sums due them for labor done or materials furnished under proper contract, oral, or written.

As fairly representative of such statutes, the law enacted by the Congress of the United States to control the subject of liens in the District of Columbia is here reproduced, certain sections relating to proceedings in court and to the liens of innkeepers and liverymen being omitted.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—CODE

Liens on real estate

SECTION 1237. Lien given for what.—Every building erected, improved, added to, or repaired by the owner or his agent, and the lot of ground on which the same is erected, being all the ground used or intended to be used in connection therewith, or necessary to the use and enjoyment thereof, to the extent of the right, title, and interest, at that time existing, of such owner, whether owner in fee or of a less estate, or lessee for a term of years, or vendee in possession under a contract of sale, shall be subject to a lien in favor of the contractor with such owner or his duly authorized agent for the contract price agreed upon between them, or, in the absence of an express contract, for the reasonable value of the work and materials furnished for and about the erection, construction, improvement, or repair of or addition to such building, or the placing of any engine, machinery, or other thing therein or in connection therewith so as to become a fixture, though capable of being detached: Provided, That the person claiming the lien shall file the notice herein prescribed.

SEC. 1238. Filing notice.—Any such contractor wishing to avail himself of the provision aforesaid, whether his claim be due or not, shall file in the office of the clerk of the supreme court of the District during the construction or within three months after the completion of such building, improvement, repairs, or addition, or the placing therein or in connection therewith of any engine, machinery, or other thing so as to become a fixture, a notice of his intention to hold a lien on the property hereby declared liable to such lien for the amount due or to become due to him, specifically setting forth the amount claimed, the name of the party against whose interest a lien is claimed, and a description of the property to be charged, and the said clerk shall file said notice and record the same in a book to be kept for the purpose.

SEC. 1239. Subcontractors, etc.—Any person directly employed by the original contractor, whether as subcontractor, material man, or laborer, to furnish work or materials for the completion of the work contracted for as aforesaid, shall be entitled to a similar lien to that of the original contractor upon his filing a similar notice with the clerk of the supreme court of the District to that above mentioned, subject, however, to the conditions set forth in the following sections.

SEC. 1240. Scope of lien.—All such liens in favor of parties so employed by the contractor shall be subject to the terms and conditions of the original contract except such as shall relate to the waiver of liens and shall be limited to the amount to become due to the original contractor and be satisfied, in whole or in part, out of said amount only; and if said original contractor, by reason of any breach of the contract on his part, shall be entitled to recover less than the amount agreed upon in his contract, the liens of said parties so employed by him shall be enforceable only for said reduced amount, and if said original contractor shall be entitled to recover nothing said liens shall not be enforceable at all.

SEC. 1241. Notice to owner.—The said subcontractor or other person employed by the contractor as aforesaid, besides filing a notice with the clerk of the supreme court as aforesaid, shall serve the same upon the owner of the property upon which the lien is claimed, by leaving a copy thereof with said owner or his agent, if said owner or agent be a resident of the District, or if neither can be found, by posting the same on the premises; and on his failure to do so, or until he shall do so, the said owner may make payments to his contractor according to the terms of his contract and to the extent of such payments the lien of the principal contractor shall be discharged and the amount for which the property shall be chargeable in favor of the parties so employed by him reduced.

SEC. 1242. Owner bound.—After notice shall be filed by said party employed under the original contractor and a copy thereof served upon the owner or his agent as aforesaid, the owner shall be bound to retain out of any subsequent payments becoming due to the contractor a sufficient amount to satisfy any indebtedness due from said contractor to the said subcontractor, or other persons so employed by him, secured by lien as aforesaid, otherwise the said party shall be entitled to enforce his lien to the extent of the amount so accruing to the principal contractor.

SEC. 1243. Statement of terms.—Any subcontractor or other person employed by the contractor as aforesaid shall be entitled to demand of the owner or his authorized agent a statement of the terms under which the work contracted for is being done and the amount due or to become due to the contractor executing the same, and if the owner or his agent shall fail or refuse to give the said information, or willfully state falsely the terms of the contract or the amounts due or unpaid thereunder, the said property shall be liable to the lien of the said party demanding said information, in the same manner as if no payments had been made to the contractor before notice served on the owner as aforesaid.

SEC. 1244. Advance payments.—If the owner, for the purpose of avoiding the provisions hereof, and defeating the lien of the subcontractor or other person employed by the contractor, as aforesaid, shall make payments to the contractor in advance of the time agreed upon therefor in the contract, and the amount still due or to become due to the contractor shall be insufficient to satisfy the liens of the subcontractors or others so employed by the contractor, the property shall remain subject to said liens in the same manner as if such payments had not been made.

SEC. 1245. Rank of lien.—The lien hereby given shall be preferred to all judgments, mortgages, deeds of trusts, liens, and incumbrances which attach upon the building or ground affected by said lien subsequently to the commencement of the work upon the building, as well as to conveyances executed, but not recorded, before that time, to which recording is necessary, as to third persons; except that nothing herein shall affect the priority of a mortgage or deed of trust given to secure the purchase money for the land, if the same be recorded within ten days from the date of the acknowledgment thereof. When a mortgage or deed of trust of real estate securing advances thereafter to be made for the purpose of erecting buildings and improvements thereon is given, or when an owner of lands contracts with a builder for the sale of lots and the erection of buildings thereon, and agrees to advance moneys toward the erection of such buildings, the lien hereinbefore authorized shall have priority to all advances made after the filing of said notices of lien, and the lien shall attach to the right, title, and interest of the owner in said building and land to the extent of all advances which shall have become due after the filing of such notice of such lien, and shall also attach to and be a lien on the right, title, and interest of the person so agreeing to purchase said land at the time of the filing of said notices of lien. When a building shall be erected or repaired by a lessee or tenant for life or years, or a person having an equitable estate or interest in such building or land on which it stands, the lien created by this act shall only extend to and cover the interest or estate of such lessee, tenant, or equitable owner.

SEC. 1246. Enforcement.—The proceeding to enforce the lien hereby given shall be a bill in equity, which shall contain a brief statement of the contract on which the claim is founded, the amount due thereon, the time when the notice was filed with the clerk, and a copy thereof served on the owner or his agent, if so served, and the time when the building or the work thereon was completed, with a description of the premises and other material facts; and shall pray that the premises be sold and the proceeds of sale applied to the satisfaction of the lien. If such suit be brought by any person entitled, other than the principal contractor, the latter shall be made a party defendant, as well as all other persons who may have filed notices of liens, as aforesaid. All or any number of persons having liens on the same property may join in one suit, their respective claims being distinctly stated in separate paragraphs; and if several suits are brought by different claimants and are pending at the same time, the court may order them to be consolidated.

SEC. 1248. What liens first satisfied.—If the original contractor and the persons contracting or employed under him shall both have filed notices of liens, as aforesaid, the latter shall first be satisfied out of the proceeds of sale before the original contractor, but not in excess of the amount due him, and the balance, if any, of said amount shall be paid to him.

SEC. 1249. Distribution of proceeds of sale.—If one, or some only, of the persons employed under the original contractor shall have served notice on the owner, as aforesaid, before payments made by him to the original contractor, said party or parties shall be entitled to priority of satisfaction out of said proceeds to the amount of such payments; but, subject to this provision, if the proceeds of sale, after paying thereout the costs of the suit, shall be insufficient to satisfy the liens of said parties employed under the original contractor the said proceeds shall be distributed ratably among them to the extent of the payments accruing to the original contractor subsequently to the service of notice on the owner by said parties, as aforesaid.

SEC. 1250. Labor on two or more buildings.—In case of labor done or materials furnished for the erection or repair of two or more buildings joined together and owned by the same person or persons, it shall not be necessary to determine the amount of work done or materials furnished for each separate building, but only the aggregate amount upon all the buildings so joined, and the decree may be for the sale of all the buildings and the land on which they are erected as one building, or they may be sold separately if it shall seem best to the court.

SEC. 1251. Limitation.—Any person entitled to a lien, as aforesaid, may commence his suit to enforce the same at any time within a year from and after the filing of the notice aforesaid or within six months from the completion of the building or repairs aforesaid, on his failure to do which the said lien shall cease to exist, unless his said claim be not due at the expiration of said periods, in which case the action must be commenced within three months after the said claim shall have become due.

SEC. 1252. Contests as to ground.—If there be any contest as to the dimensions of the ground claimed to be subjected to the lien aforesaid, the court shall determine the same upon the evidence and describe the same in the decree of sale.

SEC. 1253. Entry of satisfaction.—Whenever any person having a lien by virtue hereof shall have received satisfaction of his claim and cost, he shall, on the demand, and at the cost of the person interested, enter said claim satisfied, in the clerk's office aforesaid, and on his failure or refusal so to do he shall forfeit fifty dollars to the party aggrieved, and all damages that the latter may have sustained by reason of such failure or refusal.

SEC. 1257. Personal judgments.—No subcontractor, material man, or workman employed under the original contractor shall be entitled to a personal judgment or decree against the owner of the premises for the amount due to him from said original contractor, except upon a special promise of such owner, in writing, for a sufficient consideration, to be answerable for the same.

SEC. 1258. Same subject.—In any suit brought to enforce a lien by virtue of the provisions aforesaid, if the proceeds of the property affected thereby shall be insufficient to satisfy such lien, a personal judgment for the deficiency may be given in favor of the lien or against the owner of the premises or the original contractor, as the case may be, whichever contracted with him for the labor or materials furnished by him, provided such person be a party to the suit and shall have been personally served with process therein.

SEC. 1259. Wharves.—Any person who shall furnish materials or labor in filling up any lot or in constructing any wharf thereon, or dredging the channel of the river in front of any wharf, under any contract with the owner, shall be entitled to a lien for the value of such work or materials on said lot and wharf upon the same conditions and to be enforced in the same manner as in the case of work done in the erection of buildings, as hereinbefore provided.

SCOPE OF LAWS

The following brief summary indicates the subject matter of the laws of the various jurisdictions, covering both real and personal property. Subject to lien are, as indicated above, the chattel worked upon and the realty improved; products of mines, quarries, oil and other wells, and the properties themselves; vessels built, repaired, operated, etc.; canals, bridges, roads, railroads, tramways, rolling stock, and franchises; logs, timber, lumber, etc.; animals shod; crops produced; and, in general, the article improved, produced, or otherwise affected by the labor for which the claim is made, together with the necessary adjunct or appurtenant property necessary to make it a severable, transferable unit. In some States a lien of laborers and subcontractors attaches to the fund from which the contractor is to be paid; or the principal may be authorized or directed to retain funds due contractors, on notice from such claimants. These provisions vary, of course, in the different States, as do details of methods of securing the lien, the time of filing, times and methods of enforcement, and the amounts that must be at stake to warrant procedure. The laws reproduced above are illustrative in most if not all these respects, while the abridgments and references given below furnish citations to the statutes on all phases of the subject.

Alabama.—To persons, firms, or corporations doing work or furnishing materials, fixtures, etc., for buildings, or repairing, altering, or beautifying the same, the improvement of real estate, etc. (Code, secs. 8832–8861.)

To blacksmiths and wood workmen. (Secs. 8863–8867.)

To jewelers, watchmakers, and silversmiths. (Secs. 8868, 8869.)

To masters, laborers, stevedores, victualers, outfitters, shipbuilders, etc., on vessels, for wages, value of supplies, etc. (Secs. 8870, 8871.)

To farm laborers working crops on shares. (Secs. 8872, 8873.)

To railroad laborers and employees, on all property and credits of the company. (Sec. 8878.)

To agricultural laborers and superintendents. (Secs. 8879–8889.)

To laborers and employees getting out or manufacturing lumber and timber. (Secs. 8901–8904.)

Alaska.—To laborers, contractors, subcontractors, and material men on railroads, tramways, or wagon roads, for labor and materials. (C. L., sec. 51.)

To miners, laborers, cooks, engineers, etc., on gold, gold dust, or other minerals. (Secs. 164–174.)

To mechanics, laborers, contractors, teamsters, material men, etc., for labor and materials for buildings, wharves, bridges, flumes, tunnels, mines, etc., "or any structure or superstructure," or for grading streets. (Secs. 691–704.)

To any person making, repairing, or bestowing labor on "any article of personal property." (Secs. 705–708.)

To any person performing labor at the instance of the owner of any mine or mine operation, repair or operation of any dredge, steam shovel, mill, etc., or any ditch, flume, tramway, road, or trail adjunct to mine operation, or on the products and equipment of the mine. (Acts of 1915, ch. 13.)

To persons performing labor upon or assisting in procuring saw logs, spars, piles, cordwood, bolts, or other timber, to owners of boats, teams, engines, etc., employed in moving or transporting same, and to cooks, teamsters, etc., on such logs, etc., for work and labor done. (Acts of 1921, ch. 6.)

On gas wells, oil wells, and other wells, and on pipe lines, for work done or material furnished in digging, drilling, repairing, operating, etc., the same. (Acts of 1921, ch. 38.)

To persons contributing by furnishing material or labor to the preparation of fish or other aquatic animals for food, fish meal, fertilizer, oil, or other article of commerce, on the products and on the plant or establishment and its equipment. (Acts of 1923, ch. 53.)

Arizona.—To laborers, material men, etc., on realty for labor and materials for erection, repair, etc., of buildings, or other structure or improvement. (R. S., secs. 3639–3650, 3658–3663.)

To contractors, laborers, teamsters, etc., on railroads and their equipment, for labor and materials employed in construction or repair; also for boarding, etc., of men and animals engaged thereon. (Secs. 3651, 3652.)

To persons furnishing labor or material for canals, ditches, aqueducts, bridges, fences, etc. (Sec. 3653.)

To miners, laborers, etc., on mine or mining claim, for labor, material, or merchandise furnished. (Sec. 3654 (amended 1915, ch. 67).)

For filling or otherwise improving city lot or adjoining street. (Sec. 3655.)

For construction, alteration, repairs, or carrying on of mill, factory, or hoisting works. (Sec. 3656.)

For cutting, etc., cordwood, logs, ties. (Sec. 3657.)

For labor and material furnished for repairs, etc., of domestic vessels, on the vessel and equipment and on freight money. (Sec. 3664.)

To workmen repairing any article, implement, utensil, or vehicle. (Secs. 3673–3676.)

Arkansas.—To laborers, on products of labor, or on object, material, or property worked on. (Digest, secs. 6848–6865.)

To blacksmiths, horseshoers, wheelwrights, and automobile repair men, on objects and animals worked on, for labor and materials. (Secs. 6866–6888.)

To laborers, mechanics, builders, etc., on realty or on boat or vessel, for labor and materials for any building, improvement, repair work, etc. (Secs. 6906, (amended 1923, No. 563), 6907–6936.)

To miners and quarrymen, on output, and also on tools and machinery. (Sec. 7293.)

To any person or persons working in or about the drilling or operation of any oil or gas well. (Acts of 1923, No. 513.)

To any person, corporation, firm, association, etc., performing labor or furnishing fuel, material, supplies, or machinery used in digging, drilling, torpedoing, operating, maintaining, or repairing any oil or gas well, water well, mine or quarry, oil or gas pipe line, including tanks and other receptacles. (Acts of 1923, No. 615.)

California.—To laborers, repair men, mariners, boatmen, supply or material men, on steamers, vessels, or boats, for services and supplies. (C. Civ. Pro., secs. 813–825.)

PROTECTION OF WAGES OF EMPLOYEES, ETC., OF CONTRACTORS

Supplemental to the liens granted as set forth in the foregoing digest, a number of States provide for a form of protection of the wages due employees of contractors and of the amounts owing persons supplying materials, etc., to such contractors, which differs in some important respects from such liens.

This relates most frequently but not exclusively to public works, and requires that contractors shall, prior to entering upon the work, give a bond to the companies or officials with whom the contract is made. This is to run to the contracting company or official or board, or to the State, as the law may direct, and is for the use of persons claiming as laborers or material men to whom the contractor is indebted. These laws are quite uniform in their provisions and a single one will serve as a sufficient presentation of their form and scope. The law of the State of Washington relating to contracts for public works contains the customary provisions, except that in some States a special limitation is provided, while in others the general law as to limitations of actions is relied on. The law of Washington follows:

WASHINGTON—CODES AND STATUTES

Security for wages of employees on public works—Contractors' bonds

SECTION 1159 (amended 1915, ch. 28). Bond to be required.—Whenever any board, council, commission, trustees or body acting for the State or any county or municipality or any public body shall contract with any person or corporation to do any work for the State, county or municipality, or other public body, city, town or district, such board, council, commission, trustees or body shall require the person or persons with whom such contract is made to make, execute and deliver to such board, council, commission, trustees or body a good and sufficient bond, with two or more sureties, or with a surety company as surety, conditioned that such person or persons shall faithfully perform all the provisions of such contract and pay all laborers, mechanics and subcontractors and material men, and all persons who shall supply such person or persons, or subcontractors, with provisions and supplies for the carrying on of such work, which bond shall be filed with the county auditor of the county where such work is performed or improvement made, except in cases of cities and towns, in which cases such bond shall be filed with the clerk or comptroller thereof, and any person or persons performing such services or furnishing material to any subcontractor shall have the same right under the provisions of such bond as if such work, services or material was furnished to the original contractor: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any money loaned or advanced to any such contractor, subcontractor, or other person in the performance of any such work.

SEC. 1160. Failure to require bond.—If any board of county commissioners of any county or mayor and common council of any incorporated city or town, or tribunal transacting the business of any municipal corporation shall fail to take such bond as herein required, such county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation, shall be liable to the persons mentioned in the last preceding section, to the full extent and for the full amount of all such debts so contracted by such contractor.

SEC. 1161 (amended 1915, ch. 28). Amount; who may claim benefit; notice.—The bond mentioned in section 1159 shall be in an amount equal to the full contract price agreed to be paid for such work or improvement, and shall be to the State of Washington, except in cases of cities and towns, in which cases such municipalities may by general ordinance fix and determine the amount of such bond and to whom such bond shall run: Provided, That the same shall not be for a less amount than 25 per cent of the contract price of any such improvement, and may designate that the same shall be payable to such city, and not to the State of Washington, and all such persons mentioned in said section 1159 shall have a right of action in his, her, or their own name or names on such bond for work done by such laborers or mechanics, and for materials furnished or provisions and goods supplied and furnished in the prosecution of such work, or the making of such improvements: Provided, That such persons shall not have any right of action on such bond for any sum whatever, unless within 30 days from and after the completion of the contract with an acceptance of the work by the affirmative action of the board, council, commission, trustees, officer, or body acting for the State, county, or municipality, or other public body, city, town, or district, and laborer, mechanic, or subcontractor, or material man, or person claiming to have supplied materials, provisions or goods for the prosecution of such work, or the making of such improvement, shall present to and file with such board, council, commission, trustees, or body acting for the State, county, or municipality, or other public body, city, town, or district, a notice in writing. * * *

Such notice shall be signed by the person or corporation making the claim or giving the notice, and said notice, after being presented and filed, shall be a public record open to inspection by any person, * * * . [Attorneys' fees may also be recovered on suits timely brought.]

Tennessee.—Corporations generally, Code, sec. 2076a8. A number of classes of corporations are also designated in separate laws.

Wisconsin.—Every corporation other than railroads, Statutes, sec. 182.23.

ASSIGNMENT OF WAGES—WAGE BROKERS

A fairly standardized law specifically regulating the business of making loans on the security of wages to be earned subsequently to the contract is found in a few States. These are:

Colorado.—C. L., secs. 4246–4256.
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 32, secs. 218–230
Indiana.—A. S., secs. 7996–8001b.
Montana.—R. C., secs. 4173–4182.
New York.—Con. L., ch. 41, sec. 42 (am. 1911, ch. 626).
Texas.—Acts of 1915, ch. 28.

Fairly representative of the foregoing laws is that of Indiana, with the exception that the interest rate therein fixed is unusually low, as would appear from the analysis following the text of that statute, herewith reproduced.

INDIANA—ANNOTATED STATUTES

Assignment of wages—Wage brokers

SECTION 7996. Definition.—Any person, company, corporation, or association loaning money directly or indirectly to any employee or wage-earner upon the security of or in consideration of any assignment of the wages or salary of such employee or wage-earner, shall be defined and held to be a wage broker and subject to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7997. Assignments limited.—No assignment of his or her wages or salary by any employee or wage-earner to any wage broker or any other person for his benefit shall be valid or enforceable, nor shall any employer or debtor recognize or honor such assignment for any purpose whatever, unless it be for a fixed and definite part of the wages or salary earned or to be earned during a period not exceeding thirty days immediately following the date of the assignment. Any assignment which shall be postdated or dated on any other date than that of its actual execution shall be void and of no effect for any purpose whatever.

SEC. 7998. Rate of interest.—No wage broker shall ask, demand or receive, either as compensation or interest, or in any other manner directly or indirectly, any compensation or interest for the use of money advanced or loaned by him to any employee or wage-earner in excess of the rate of eight per cent per year, and said compensation or rate of interest shall be computed upon the amount actually advanced to and received by the borrower, and no commission, compensation or charges in addition to the interest above named shall be asked, demanded or received by said wage broker or any other person for making or securing said advancement or loan.

SEC. 7999. Assignments by married men.—No assignment of his wages or salary by a married man, who shall be the head of a family residing in this State, shall be valid or enforceable without the consent of his wife, evidenced by her signature to said assignment executed and acknowledged before a notary public or other officer empowered to take acknowledgments of conveyances, and no wage broker or person connected with him directly or indirectly shall be authorized to take any such acknowledgment.

SEC. 8000. Employer to have notice.—No assignment of wages or salary shall be valid or enforceable unless notice in writing of the same accompanied by a copy of the assignments, shall be given to the employer or debtor within ten days from the date of its execution.

SEC. 8001. Status of purchased assignments.—Every purchase of a wage broker of an assignment of the wages or salary of any employee or wage-earner shall be held and considered to be the loan in the sum and of the amount actually paid to and received by such employee or wage-earner.

SEC. 8001a. Violations.—Any person, company, corporation or association, or the officers, members, agents, or employees thereof, violating any or either of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be liable to a fine in the sum of not less than twenty ($20) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars for each offense, or to imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed ninety days, or both.

SEC. 8001b. What notes, etc., void.—Any note, bill or other evidence of indebtedness and any assignment of wages or salary given to or received by any wage broker or any other person in violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be null and void and of no effect; and upon conviction, any and all moneys advanced or loaned by said wage broker in violation of any of the provisions of this act and all interest thereon shall be forfeited.

The assent of the wife is required in all the States named except Illinois and New York. All the laws likewise require that the employer receive notice of the assignment except in Illinois and Texas. The interest rate permitted is 2 per cent per month in Colorado, 3 per cent in Illinois, 12 per cent per year in Montana, 18 per cent in New York, and the amount contracted for in Texas.

Laws relating to the same subject but less detailed in their requirements are found in—

Kentucky.—Statutes, sec. 4758a (am. 1918, ch. 36.)
Maryland.—A. C., art. 8, secs. 11–17.
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 154.
Minnesota.—G. S., secs. 3858 (am. 1917, ch. 321), 3859–3861.
Rhode Island.—G. L., ch. 304, secs. 1–7.

These laws vary in form, but embody various details, as of statements of account, consent of employer and of sponse, limit of the term of the assignment and the proportion of wages assignable, the recording of assignments, etc.

Apparently coming into the field somewhat later, and of broader scope, is a uniform small-loans act, which covers personal loans, usually up to $300, for the security of which chattels or wages are mortgaged or assigned. Such laws have been enacted in—

Arizona.—Acts of 1919, ch. 91.
Colorado.—C. L., secs. 3781–3801.
Connecticut.—Acts of 1919, ch. 219 (am. 1923, ch. 223).
Georgia.—Acts of 1920, p. 215.
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 74, secs. 14–17.
Iowa.—Acts of 1921, ch. 35.

Maine.—Acts of 1917, ch. 298.
Maryland.—Acts of 1918, ch. 88 (am. 1924, ch. 115).
Michigan.—C. L., secs. 6031–6038.
New Jersey.—Acts of 1914, ch. 49.
Rhode Island.—Acts of 1923, ch. 2312.
Utah.—C. L., secs. 4380–4389.
Virginia.—Acts of 1918, ch. 402 (am. 1920, ch. 299).

These laws require the procuring of a license by persons, firms, or corporations desiring to engage in the business of making small loans; the giving of a bond running to the benefit of the person injured by violations of the law, etc., on the part of the office; and the giving of specific statements as to the loan and receipts of payments, quite similar to the wage-brokers' act. There is uniformly a specific reference to loans secured by the assignment of wages. Where the assignor is a married person, the assent of the spouse is required in the States named with the exception of Illinois. Notice must also be given to the employer except in Iowa and Utah; while in New Jersey the assignment is not valid until the employer accepts it.

Interest charges are limited to 3 per cent per month in Michigan for loans under $100 and 2 per cent per month for loans from $100 to $300; to 3 per cent in New Jersey and Utah, and to 3½ per cent in Arizona, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Rhode Island, and Virginia; in the last-named State, however, a rate of 5 per cent may be charged on loans under $50. The rate in Colorado is 12 per cent per annum.

The amount collectible is limited in some States, the maximum being 10 per cent of the monthly wage in Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Iowa, Maryland, Rhode Island, and Virginia, and 50 per cent in Illinois. It may be added that the small-loans act of Illinois is declared not to apply to loans made under the wage-brokers' act.

There is a third group of laws which regulate the assignment of wages as security for loans of a less uniform type and of rather more general application than the foregoing. The following are citations of these laws:

Minnesota.—G. S., secs. 5811, 5812.
Mississippi.—Acts of 1914, ch. 112.
Nebraska.—C. S., secs. 2459, 2845–2856.
New York.—Acts of 1914, ch. 518.
Ohio.—G. C., secs. 6346–1, 6346–10 (added 1911, p. 469; am. 1915, p. 281; 1917, p. 509; 1923, p. 209).
Tennessee.—Code, secs. 3522A– 3522A–14.

Like the small-loans act, the foregoing statutes cover loans on other security than wages, but all make specific mention of loans on wage security, and contain various provisions as to statements of account, consent of spouse, etc. In Minnesota, where the loan does not exceed $200 a rate of interest not to exceed 1 per cent per month may be charged. The Mississippi law is restrictive in the sense that where more than 20 per cent per annum is charged a license fee of $2,000 must be paid. The Nebraska statute permits the collection of 10 per cent per annum interest and a fee of 10 per cent of the loan. The laws of New York and Ohio limit the interest to 3 per cent per month, the latter also requiring a notice to the employer. In Tennessee an interest rate of 6 per cent is allowed, but a fee may be charged for closing the transaction, ranging from 25 cents on loans of $5 or less to $1 on loans of from $25 to $60; 2 per cent may be charged on loans over $60. A fee may be charged not only for making the transaction but for each renewal, but no renewal may be made oftener than once in 30 days.

The amount collectible monthly under the contracts is limited to 10 per cent in New York and 50 per cent in Ohio.

The business of wage brokerage is taxed in Georgia (acts of 1918, p. 43) and Louisiana (acts of 1920, No. 233), but these acts contain no regulatory provisions.

EARNINGS OF MINORS

The individual earnings of minors may, by statute, be paid by the employer to the minor, unless the parent or guardian gives prior notice to the employer and makes claim for the wages, in the following jurisdictions:

California.—Civ. C., sec. 212.
Idaho.—C. S., secs. 4663, 4678.
Iowa.—Code, sec. 3191.
Kansas.—G. S., sec. 6360.
Minnesota.—G. S., sec. 3857.
Montana.—R. C., sec. 5849.
New York.—Con. L., ch. 14, sec. 72.
North Dakota.—R. C., sec. 4105.
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 4381.
Porto Rico.—R. S., sec. 3295.
South Carolina.—Civ. C., sec. 3788.
South Dakota.—R. C., sec. 197.
Utah.—C. L., sec. 3958.
Washington.—C. and S., sec. 5295.

The earnings of minor children are in general exempt from executions against the parents.

EARNINGS OF MARRIED WOMEN

The individual earnings of married women are by statute secured to their personal disposition and control in the following jurisdictions:

Alabama.—Code, sec. 8262.

Wisconsin.—Statutes, sec. 2343.
Wyoming.—C. S., sec. 3912.

SUNDAY LABOR

All the States and Territories, with the exception of the District of Columbia and the Philippine Islands, have legislation prohibiting various kinds of work on Sunday, though the observance of another day of the week usually secures exemption. Arizona and Oregon confine their laws to the trade of barbering; but the laws generally prohibit "laboring at any trade or calling or employing apprentices or servants in labor or other business, except in household or other work of necessity or charity," or make like provision, with exceptions as to the operation of street railways, railroad trains carrying passengers or perishable goods, and usually the sale of newspapers, drugs, tobacco, milk, ice, and the like. In a few States, however, all such sales are illegal; train movements are also limited in some.

Laws forbidding Sunday labor have been condemned as a violation of the principle of religious freedom (Ex parte Newman (1858), 9 Calif. 502); but they are now universally upheld as being rather social and economic in their effect and a valid expression of public policy with regard to the well-being and general welfare of persons within the State (Hennington v. Georgia (1896), 163 U. S. 299, 16 Sup. Ct. 1086). Laws singling out special places of employment, as barber shops or bakeries, have been held discriminatory and invalid (City of Marengo v. Rowland (1914), 263 Ill. 531, 105 N. E. 285 (barbers); Ex parte Westerfield (1880), 55 Calif. 550, 36 Am. Rep. 47 (bakeries)).

The restriction of the operation of freight trains generally is not such an interference with interstate commerce as to be outside the power of a State legislature (Hennington v. Georgia, supra), though but few States have laws with this provision.

Following are the citations of Sunday labor laws in the various jurisdictions:

RAILROADS

State laws affecting railroad operations must of necessity be considered in their relation to Federal legislation in this field, since the power of Congress to legislate as to interstate commerce is para-

[5] Nonjudicial day.

[7] Other States also provide by law for an arbor day, but do not make it a legal holiday, except in a few cases for school children.

[8] The first Friday after the first day of February in some counties, and the first Friday after the first day of April in others.

[9] April 22.

[10] Second Friday in May.

[11] April 15.

[12] Day to be set by governor.

[13] Afternoon only.

[14] In cities or towns wherein there are carnival associations.

[15] In the Parish of Orleans.

[16] Cities of 25,000 population or over, during the months of June, July, and August.

[17] Applies only to Newcastle and Kent counties. In the city of Wilmington the law applies every Saturday in the year, in the rest of the county only from June to September, inclusive.

[18] In cities of 200,000 inhabitants or over.

[19] Cities and towns of over 10,000 population.

[20] In Baltimore, Annapolis, Baltimore County, Harford County, and Montgomery County.

[21] Cities of over 300,000 population.

[22] In Charleston and Richland Counties only.

[23] Cities and counties of the first class.

[24] In Mississippi, the last Thursday in November.

[25] In counties where the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society holds an annual fair.

mount.[1] This fact gives to State laws a sort of existence on sufferance, in so far as their application goes to affect interstate commerce, whether the subject be one of equipment or construction of tracks, rolling stock, etc., or of terms or conditions of employment. They are valid where not in conflict with Federal laws, but can not piece out such legislation in an occupied field.[2] The controlling status of Federal legislation occasions its publication at length; while State laws on the same or correlative subjects are abridged or summarized. State laws affecting local conditions, as bridges and wires over tracks, structures near tracks, shelters for workmen, etc., appear in Part II of this compilation, as do laws as to qualifications of employees on railroads, interfering with employment, etc.

SAFETY APPLIANCES

The safety appliance laws of the United States are shown as printed in the Compiled Statutes, 1916–1923:

UNITED STATES—COMPILED STATUTES, 1916–1923

Railroads—Safety appliances, etc.

(Acts of March 2, 1893, April 1, 1896, March 2, 1903, May 30, 1908, April 14 and May 6, 1910, February 17 and March 4, 1911, March 4, 1915, June 26, 1918, June 7, 1924.)

SECTION 8605. Power brakes.—From and after the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, it shall be unlawful for any common carrier engaged in interstate commerce by railroad to use on its line any locomotive engine in moving interstate traffic not equipped with a power driving-wheel brake and appliances for operating the train-brake system, or to run any train in such traffic after said date that has not a sufficient number of cars in it so equipped with power or train brakes that the engineer on the locomotive drawing such train can control its speed without requiring brakemen to use the common hand brake for that purpose.

SEC. 8606. Automatic couplers.—On and after the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, it shall be unlawful for any such common carrier to haul or permit to be hauled or used on its line any car used in moving interstate traffic not equipped with couplers coupling automatically by impact, and which can be uncoupled without the necessity of men going between the ends of the cars.

The benefits of this section are not restricted to employees engaged in coupling or uncoupling cars, but reach to any employee who is injured in the scope of his duty by reason of defects in the prescribed equipment. Chicago Junction R. Co. v. King, 169 Fed. 372.

The statute requires both ends of a car to be equipped with effective couplers, and the fact that a defective coupler was in contact with an effective one so that couplings could be made from one side of the train but not the other does not relieve the company of its liability to a penalty. Central Vermont R. Co. v. U. S., 205 Fed. 40.

SEC. 8607. Cars without equipment.—When any person, firm, company, or corporation engaged in interstate commerce by railroad shall have equipped a sufficient number of its cars so as to comply with the provisions of section one of this act, it may lawfully refuse to receive from connecting lines of road or shippers any cars not equipped sufficiently, in accordance with the first section of this act, with such power or train brakes as will work and readily interchange with the brakes in use on its own cars, as required by this act.

[1] "The relative supremacy of the State and national power need not be commented upon. Where there is a conflict the State legislation must give way. Indeed, when Congress acts in such a way as to manifest its purpose to exercise its constitutional authority the regulating power of the State ceases to exist." Erie R. Co. v. New York (1914), 233 U. S. 671, 34 Sup. Ct. 756.

[2] Northern Pacific R. Co. v. Washington (1912), 222 U. S. 370, 32 Sup. Ct. 1601; Erie R. Co. v. New York, supra; Southern R. Co. v. Railroad Commission (1915), 236 U. S. 439, 35 Sup. Ct. 304 (see p. 76).

SEC. 8608. Grab irons.—From and after the first day of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, until otherwise ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it shall be unlawful for any railroad company to use any car in interstate commerce that is not provided with secure grab irons or handholds in the ends and sides of each car for greater security to men in coupling and uncoupling cars.

SEC. 8609. Height of drawbars.—Within ninety days from the passage of this act the American Railway Association is authorized hereby to designate to the Interstate Commerce Commission the standard height of drawbars for freight cars, measured perpendicular from the level of the tops of the rails to the centers of the drawbars, for each of the several gauges of railroads in use in the United States, and shall fix a maximum variation from such standard height to be allowed between the drawbars of empty and loaded cars. Upon their determination being certified to the Interstate Commerce Commission, said Commission shall at once give notice of the standard fixed upon to all common carriers, owners, or lessees engaged in interstate commerce in the United States by such means as the Commission may deem proper. But should said association fail to determine a standard as above provided, it shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to do so, before July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, and immediately to give notice thereof as aforesaid, And after July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, no cars either loaded or unloaded, shall be used in interstate traffic which do not comply with the standard above provided for.

This section is constitutional. The duty of maintaining the couplers in the prescribed condition is an absolute one, which can not be discharged by the use merely of reasonable care or by its delegation to competent persons. St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v. Taylor, 210 U. S 281, 28 Sup. Ct. 616.

SEC. 8610 (as amended by act of April 1, 1896). Penalty.—Any such common carrier using any locomotive engine, running any train, or hauling or permitting to be hauled or used on its line any car in violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars for each and every such violation, to be recovered in a suit or suits to be brought by the United States district attorney in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction in the locality where such violation shall have been committed; and it shall be the duty of such district attorney to bring such suits upon duly verified information being lodged with him of such violation having occurred; and it shall also be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to lodge with the proper district attorneys information of any such violations as may come to its knowledge: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall apply to trains composed of four-wheel cars or to trains composed of eight-wheel standard logging cars where the height of such car from top of rail to center of coupling does not exceed twenty-five inches, or to locomotives used in hauling such trains when such cars or locomotives are exclusively used for the transportation of logs.

SEC. 8611. Extension of time.—The Interstate Commerce Commission may from time to time upon full hearing and for good cause extend the period within which any common carrier shall comply with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 8612. Employees do not assume risk, when.—Any employee of any such common carrier who may be injured by any locomotive, car, or train in use contrary to the provisions of this act shall not be deemed thereby to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned, although continuing in the employment of such carrier after the unlawful use of such locomotive, car, or train had been brought to his knowledge.

Courts will take official cognizance of the effect of this statute, though the plaintiff in no way indicates that he relies on it for recovery. Couplers which have become worn and inoperative are not a compliance with the requirements of this act, though of proper form and style. A car designed for use in interstate traffic, though empty, is within the provisions of the statute. Voelkin v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 116 Fed. 867.

Failure by a railroad company to equip its cars with couplers as required by this statute is negligence per se, and the defense of contributory negligence can not be made against an employee injured because of such failure, even if the employee was thus negligent; and an employee remaining in service does not assume the risk. Greenlee v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 977, 30 S. E. 115.

A locomotive is a car requiring automatic couplers under this statute. Not only must the couplers provided work automatically with others of the same make, but the different kinds used must couple automatically one with another. Johnson v. Southern Pac. Co., 196 U. S. 1, 25 Sup. Ct. 158.

The purpose of this act is to promote a high degree of care and diligence for the protection of employees. Knowledge is not an element of an offense. United States v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 156 Fed. 180.

SEC. 8613. Application of law of 1893.—The provisions and requirements of * * * [secs. 8605–8612], shall be held to apply to common carriers by railroads in the Territories and the District of Columbia, and shall apply in all cases, whether or not the couplers brought together are of the same kind, make, or type; and the provisions and requirements hereof and of said acts relating to train brakes, automatic couplers, grab irons, and the height of drawbars shall be held to apply to all trains, locomotives, tenders, cars, and similar vehicles used on any railroad engaged in interstate commerce, and in the Territories and the District of Columbia, and to all other locomotives, tenders, cars, and similar vehicles used in connection therewith, excepting those trains, cars, and locomotives exempted by the provisions of section * * * [8610], or which are used upon street railways.

SEC. 8614. Fifty per cent of cars to be equipped.—Whenever, as provided in said act, any train is operated with power or train brakes, not less than fifty per centum of the cars in such train shall have their brakes used and operated by the engineer of the locomotive drawing such train; and all power-braked cars in such train which are associated together with said fifty per centum shall have their brakes so used and operated; and, to more fully carry into effect the objects of said act, the Interstate Commerce Commission may, from time to time, after full hearing, increase the minimum percentage of cars in any train required to be operated with power or train brakes which must have their brakes used and operated as aforesaid; and failure to comply with any such requirements of the said Interstate Commerce Commission shall be subject to the like penalty as failure to comply with any requirement of this section.

SEC. 8615. Act construed.—The provisions of this act shall not take effect until September first, nineteen hundred and three. Nothing in this act shall be held or construed to relieve any common carrier, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or any United States district attorney from any of the provisions, powers, duties, liabilities, or requirements of said act * * * [secs. 8605–8612]; and all of the provisions, powers, duties, requirements and liabilities of said act * * * shall, except as specifically amended by this act, apply to this act.

SEC. 8616. * * * Mail cars.—Hereafter all inspectors employed for the enforcement of said act [secs. 8605–8612] shall also be required to make examination of the construction, adaptability, design, and condition of all mail cars used on any railroad in the United States and make report thereon, a copy of which report shall be transmitted to the Postmaster General.

SEC. 8617. Application of law.—The provisions of this act [secs. 8617–8623] shall apply to every common carrier and every vehicle subject to the act * * * [secs. 8605–8612].

SEC. 8618. Equipment required.—On and after July first, nineteen hundred and eleven, it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to haul, or permit to be hauled or used on its line any car subject to the provisions of this act not equipped with appliances provided for in this act, to wit: All cars must be equipped with secure sill steps and efficient hand brakes; all cars requiring secure ladders and secure running boards shall be equipped with such ladders and running boards, and all cars having ladders shall also be equipped with secure handholds or grab irons on their roofs at the tops of such ladders: Provided, That in the loading and hauling of long commodities, requiring more than one car, the hand brakes may be omitted on all save one of the cars while they are thus combined for such purpose.

SEC. 8619. Number, style, etc., of appliances.—Within six months from the passage of this act the Interstate Commerce Commission, after hearing, shall designate the number, dimensions, location, and manner of application of the appliances provided for by section two of this act and section four of the act of March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, and shall give notice of such designation to all common carriers subject to the provisions of this act by such means as the commission may deem proper, and thereafter said number, location, dimensions, and manner of application as designated by said commission shall remain as the standards of equipment to be used on all cars subject to the provisions of this act, unless changed by an order of said Interstate Commerce Commission, to be made after full hearing and for good cause shown; and failure to comply with any such requirement of the Interstate Commerce Commission shall be subject to a like penalty as failure to comply with any requirement of this act: Provided, That the Interstate Commerce Commission may, upon full hearing and for good cause, extend the period within which any common carrier shall comply with the provision of this section with respect to the equipment of cars actually in service upon the date of the passage of this act. Said commission is hereby given authority, after hearing, to modify or change, and to prescribe the standard height of drawbars and to fix the time within which such modification or change shall become effective and obligatory, and prior to the time so fixed it shall be unlawful to use any car or vehicle in interstate or foreign traffic which does not comply with the standard now fixed or the standard so prescribed, and after the time so fixed it shall be unlawful to use any car or vehicle in interstate or foreign traffic which does not comply with the standard so prescribed by the commission.

SEC. 8621. Violations.—Any common carrier subject to this act using, hauling, or permitting to be used or hauled on its line, any car subject to the requirements of this act not equipped as provided in this act, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars for each and every such violation, to be recovered as provided in section six of the act of March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, as amended April first, eighteen hundred and ninety-six: Provided, That where any car shall have been properly equipped, as provided in this act and the other acts mentioned herein, and such equipment shall have become defective or insecure while such car was being used by such carrier upon its line of railroad, such car may be hauled from the place where such equipment was first discovered to be defective or insecure to the nearest available point where such car can be repaired, without liability for the penalties imposed by section four of this act or section six of the act of March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-three as amended by the act of April first, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, if such movement is necessary to make such repairs and such repairs can not be made except at such repair point; and such movement or hauling of such car shall be at the sole risk of the carrier, and nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve such carrier from liability in any remedial action for the death or injury of any railroad employee caused to such employee by reason of or in connection with the movement or hauling of such car with equipment which is defective or insecure or which is not maintained in accordance with the requirements of this act and the other acts herein referred to; and nothing in this proviso shall be construed to permit the hauling of defective cars by means of chains instead of drawbars, in revenue trains or in association with other cars that are commercially used, unless such defective cars contain live stock or "perishable" freight.

SEC. 8622. Construction of act.—Except that, within the limits specified in the preceding section of this act, the movement of a car with defective or insecure equipment may be made without incurring the penalty provided by the Statutes, but shall in all other respects be unlawful, nothing in this act shall be held or construed to relieve any common carrier, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or any United States attorney from any of the provisions, powers, duties, liabilities, or requirements of said act * * * [secs. 8605–8612]; and, except as aforesaid, all of the provisions, powers, duties, requirements, and liabilities of said act * * * shall apply to this act.

SEC. 8623. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of this act, and all powers heretofore granted to said commission are hereby extended to it for the purpose of the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 8624. Ash pans.—On and after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and ten, it shall be unlawful for any common carrier engaged in interstate or foreign commerce by railroad to use any locomotive in moving interstate or foreign traffic, not equipped with an ash pan, which can be dumped or emptied and cleaned without the necessity of any employee going under such locomotive.

SEC. 8625. For use in Territories, etc.—On and after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and ten, it shall be unlawful for any common carrier by railroad in any Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia to use any locomotive not equipped with an ash pan, which can be dumped or emptied and cleaned without the necessity of any employee going under such locomotive.

SEC. 8626. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of $200, suit to be brought by the United States district attorney. Interstate Commerce Commission to give notice of violations coming to its knowledge.]

SEC. 8627. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of this act, and all powers heretofore granted to said Commission are hereby extended to it for the purpose of the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 8628. Definition.—The term "common carrier" as used in this act shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier.

SEC. 8629. Application.—Nothing in this act contained shall apply to any locomotive upon which, by reason of the use of oil, electricity, or other such agency, an ash pan is not necessary.

SEC. 8630 (as amended June 7, 1924). Scope of law.—When used in this act [secs. 8630–8638] the terms "carrier" and "common carrier" mean a common carrier by railroad, or partly by railroad and partly by water, within the continental United States, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, excluding street, suburban, and interurban electric railways unless operated as a part of a general railroad system of transportation. The term "railroad" as used in this act shall include all the roads in use by any common carrier operating a railroad, whether owned or operated under a contract, agreement, or lease, and the terms "employees" as used in this act shall be held to mean persons actually engaged in or connected with the movement of any train.

SEC. 8631 (as amended June 7, 1924). Boilers, etc., to be safe.—It shall be unlawful for any carrier to use or permit to be used on its line any locomotive unless said locomotive, its boiler, tender, and all parts and appurtenances thereof are in proper condition and safe to operate in the service to which the same are put, that the same may be employed in the active service of such carrier without unnecessary peril to life or limb, and unless said locomotive, its boiler, tender, and all parts and appurtenances thereof have been inspected from time to time in accordance with the provisions of this act and are able to withstand such test or tests as may be prescribed in the rules and regulations hereinafter provided for.

SECS. 8632–8638 (as amended June 7, 1924). Inspectors.—[The President appoints a chief inspector of locomotive boilers and two assistant chiefs, the former at $6,000 and the latter at $5,000 each per year. These supervise the activities of not more than 65 inspectors appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission from registers made up of persons who have passed examinations held by the Civil Service Commission. Such inspectors are assigned to districts by the chief inspector and receive a salary of $3,600, traveling expenses, and not over $1,000 per annum for office rent, clerical assistance, etc. District inspectors must become familiar, so far as practicable, with the condition of each locomotive boiler ordinarily housed or repaired in his district; and if any boiler or apparatus is found not to conform to the requirements of the law or of the rules and regulations approved by the chief inspector and the Interstate Commerce Commission, the carrier must be notified and its use discontinued, unless on appeal to the chief inspector a reexamination discloses the boiler to be in a serviceable condition.

In case of serious injury or death due to the failure of a locomotive boiler or its appurtenances, an immediate report in writing must be made, and the facts investigated and reported to the chief inspector. The chief inspector makes annual reports of the work done.]

SECS. 8642–8647. Reports of accidents.—[The general manager or other proper officer of railroads in interstate commerce must report monthly to the Interstate Commerce Commission all accidents resulting in injury to persons, equipment, or roadbed. The commission has authority to investigate such accidents, and may publish reports thereon, with such recommendations as it deems proper. Neither the reports of accidents nor of the investigation shall be received as evidence in any action for damages.]

Laws of several States cover many if not all the points named in the Federal statutes, while matters of detail are added in a number of cases, notably as regards locomotives. Some of these relate to the physical comfort of engineers and firemen rather than to personal or public safety, but all are brought together as showing the extent to which train equipment has been the subject of statutory regulation. Headlights on locomotives and switch lights are matters of interest to the public as well as to employees; while the blocking of frogs or switch points to prevent the catching of feet therein is directed mainly to the protection of employees.

The subjects covered by the various States in this field are noted below.

Alabama.—Locomotives must have headlights of 1,500 candlepower. (Code, secs. 5349, 9963.)

Arizona.—Locomotives which permit steam to escape so as to obstruct the view of its operators may not be used. (R. S. sec. 2165.) Electric headlights of 1,500 candlepower are required. (Secs. 2169, 2170.)

Arkansas.—Locomotives are required to have electric headlights, 1,500 candlepower. (Digest, sec. 8493.)

Switch lights required. (Sec. 8496.)

Locomotives of "Wooton fire-box type," or "Mother Hubbard," or "Double cab," or "Camelback" type must permit the fireman and engineer to work at all times under the same roof of cab, roof not to be over 14 feet long and to cover deck or gangway. (Secs. 8587, 8588.)

California.—Locomotives to have headlights capable of disclosing a dark object the size of a man at 800 feet on a dark clear night, engine running 30 miles per hour. (Acts of 1913, ch. 284.)

Equipment with water glasses of the "solid water glass" type required. (Acts of 1915, ch. 499.)

Handrails are required along the top of each side of engine cabs, extending from front to rear; also footboards if there are not front windows at least 14 by 42 inches. (Acts of 1921, ch. 900.)

On locomotives of the Vanderbilt or similar types of construction, where the clearance between the roof of the engine cab and the tender is less than 28 inches, there must be an opening, not less than 24 inches square, in the cab roof of the tender. (Acts of 1921, ch. 902.)

Colorado.—Switch lights must be provided at all switches connecting with a main line. (C. L., sec. 2882.)

Switch rails, frogs, etc., are required to be safely and securely blocked. (Sec. 2885.)

Headlights of not less than 1,200 candlepower must be supplied on locomotives used at night. (Sec. 2887.)

Connecticut.—Freight cars must be equipped with safety couplers of a type and hung at a height approved by the commission. (G. S., secs. 3768, 3770.)

Delaware.—Passenger trains must be equipped with air brakes under the control of the engineer. (R. C., secs. 2038, 2039.)

Florida.—Locomotives must be equipped with headlights of not less than 1,500 candlepower. (R. G. S., sec. 4531.)

Georgia.—Locomotives used after dark must have headlights consuming not less than 300 watts at the arc, with a reflector not less than 23 inches in diameter, tramroads, mill roads, and railroads engaged principally in lumber and logging transportation excepted. (Civil Code, secs. 2697, 2698.)

Automatic doors must be provided on locomotives of 125,000 pounds weight or over, other than those used on logging or tram roads. (Acts of 1924, p. 173.)

Illinois.—Inspectors of automatic couplers must inspect the couplers, power brakes, and grab irons or handholds and other portions of cars and engines used on railroads. Power driving-wheel brakes under the control of the engineer must be installed, and automatic couplers provided. Grab irons or handholds must be furnished on locomotives, cars, etc., and drawbars placed at a prescribed height. (R. S., ch. 114, secs. 222–232.)

Indiana.—Switch engines must be equipped with footboards, headlights, and grab irons at both ends. (A. S., secs. 5277a–5277b.)

Ash pans which can be emptied and cleaned without requiring employees to go under the locomotive must be provided, except on engines using oil, electricity, etc. (Secs. 5277d–5277h.)

Automatic doors must be provided for the fire boxes of steam locomotives, capable of operation by the use of a push button or other appliance. (Sec. 5277i.)

Locomotive road engines must have both front windows in the cabs equipped with storm windows so as to permit a clear and unobstructed view under all climatic conditions. (Sec. 5277k.)

A boiler inspector is to be appointed, charged with the inspection, under the direction of the railroad commission, of any locomotive boiler or boilers. If found unsafe or inconvenient for operation, locomotives must not be used until repaired. Standard construction, equipment, and arrangement are prescribed; and engineers are required to report defective construction or conditions. (Secs. 5277n–5277u.) Power driving-wheel brakes, automatic couplers, grab irons on the sides and ends of locomotives, cars, and tenders, and drawbars at a prescribed height are required. Street railroads and interurban and suburban roads are excluded from these provisions. (Secs. 5278–5282.)[1]

Motor cars on interurban railways operated by electric power must be supplied with power air brakes under the control of the motorman. At least 50 per cent of the cars must also be supplied with an approved system of air brakes, while on steam roads 75 per cent of the freight and passenger cars must be so equipped. These percentages may be increased for good cause shown by the railroad commission. (Secs. 5283–5287.)

The railroad commission may investigate the construction of locomotive engines, which must be so built as to permit the engineer and fireman to be in plain view and sight of each other at all times, without intervening obstruction by machinery, partitions, or appliances. There must also be a clear and unobstructed view ahead from the front cab windows; while the tank and tender of switch engines must be so constructed as to permit a clear view along the track both front and rear. (Secs. 5533a–5533d.)

The commission may also investigate the construction and efficiency of locomotive headlights, prescribing a standard equipment and requiring its adoption. (Sec. 5533f.)

[1] The State courts have held this law as not an interference with the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce, but as merely imposing an additional penalty for lack of equipment which the Federal law requires. (Southern Ry. v. Indiana, 100 N. E. 337.) This case was taken to the Supreme Court, where it was held that although the freight movement in the case was entirely between points wholly within the State of Indiana, the railroad was one engaged in interstate commerce, so that the Federal statutes applied. The State decision was therefore reversed, because when Congress acts such action "is exclusive, and ipso facto supersedes existing State legislation on the same subject." (Southern Ry. Co. v. Railroad Commission, 236 U. S. 439, 35 Sup. Ct. 304.)

Iowa.—Cars must be equipped with safety automatic couplers and with power brakes under the control of the engineer. (Code of 1897, Supp. 1913, secs. 2079–2082.)

Locomotives in use in switching or yard service must be equipped with headlights, front and rear, and with substantial and secure footboards and grab rails of convenient height. (Sec. 2083c.)

Engine cabs in use between November 1 and April 1 must have frost glass in front of the seats of the engineer and fireman, the same to be not less than 8 inches in width and 18 inches in length. (Sec. 2083e.)

Locomotive headlights must be such as to enable operatives to plainly discern an object the size of a man lying on the track at a distance of 1,100 feet in clear weather. Engines operated exclusively for switching purposes or for daytime use are not covered. (Sec. 2083g.)

Kansas.—Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be filled, blocked, and guarded "in a practical manner" to guard against injury to employees. (G. S. sec. 8503.)

Locomotive headlights must be such as to render plainly visible at a distance of 800 feet the figure of a man on or adjacent to the track; switching engines are excepted. (Sec. 8515.)

Kentucky.—Passenger trains must be supplied with air brakes or equally effective appliances under the control of the engineer. (Statutes, sec. 778.)

Frogs must be blocked to prevent the feet of employees from being caught therein. (Sec. 780.)

Louisiana.—All railroads other than logging or plantation roads must fill or block angles in frogs and crossings and in yards, etc., so as to prevent the feet of employees and others being caught therein. (Acts of 1912, No. 177.)

Maine.—Filling or blocking of frogs and guard rails is required. (R. S., ch. 57, sec. 75.)

Massachusetts.—Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be blocked by a method approved by the Department of Public Safety. (G. L., ch. 160, sec. 133.)

Brakes must be supplied on all passenger cars and freight cars except four-wheeled cars. Locomotives must be equipped with power driving-wheel brakes and appliances to operate the train-brake system. (Ch. 160, secs. 154, 155.)

Freight cars must be equipped with automatic couplers, also with grab irons or handholds, with the exception of flat cars. The height of drawbars is prescribed. (Secs. 156–159.)

The board of railroad commissioners may provide for the inspection and testing of locomotive boilers used in the State. (Sec. 168.)

Michigan.—Passenger trains must have air brakes under the control of engineers, and all locomotive engines and tenders must be equipped with suitable driver and tender brakes of approved pattern. (C. L., sec. 8290.)

Cars must be provided with automatic couplers, four-wheeled cars and trains on logging cars where the coupling is not over 25 inches in height excepted. (Sec. 8353.)

Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be blocked so as to prevent the feet of employees or other persons from being caught therein. (Sec. 8326.)

Headlights on locomotives must be of sufficient candlepower to render visible whistling posts and other warning signs at a distance of 350 feet. (Sec. 8378.)

The railroad commission may regulate the height of all couplers on cars used on interurban railroads. (Acts of 1919, No. 401.)

Locomotives used between December 1 and April 1 must be equipped with suitable cab curtains, vestibule cabs, housing, or other devices for the safety and health of locomotive enginemen as may be required by the public utilities commission. Housings need not be placed over the coal tender unless the locomotive is to be used north of the Straits of Mackinac. (Acts of 1921, No. 139, amended 1923, No. 127.)

Minnesota.—Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be blocked. (G. S., sec. 4254.)

Freight cars are required to have automatic couplers and grab irons or handholds. (Secs. 4411, 4412.)

Power driving-wheel brakes are required on all locomotives, with a train-brake system under the control of the engineer; 75 per cent of the cars must be so equipped, subject to increase by the railroad commission. Drawbars must be of a prescribed standard height. (Secs. 4413–4420.)

Headlights of 1,500 candlepower are required on locomotives, except on branch lines of less than 25 miles in length, logging roads, and switch engines. Switch engines must have lights of at least 50 candlepower on both engine and tender and be equipped with classification signal lights. (Sec. 4421, amended 1923, ch. 392.)

Mississippi.—Locomotives used at night must have headlights that consume not less than 300 watts at the arc, with a reflector not less than 18 inches in diameter. (Acts of 1912, ch. 153.)

Missouri.—Switches, frogs, and guard rails must be blocked to prevent the catching of the feet of employees. (R. S., sec. 9964.)

Locomotives must be equipped with power drive-wheel brakes and air-brake appliances. Grab irons or handholds, automatic couplers, and drawbars of standard height are required, 75 per cent of the cars to be so equipped. Logging roads and street railways are exempt. (Secs. 9966–9971.)

Locomotives may not be used unless the cab and running boards are secured so as to prevent vibration, and the braces, brackets, and fastenings are secure; nor if steam escapes within or without the cab so as to obstruct the vision of the engineer or fireman. Cabs must be warmed during the winter months and be provided with suitable padded or cushioned seats. Headlights of not less than 1,500 candlepower and classification signals not less than 6 candlepower are required. (Secs. 10025–10034.)

Lights must be maintained between sunset and sunrise on main line switches and lead switches in yards. (Sec. 10041.)

Montana.—Locomotives other than switch engines must have headlights of at least 1,500 candlepower. (R. C., sec. 6609.)

Nebraska.—Lights must be provided on all switches leading from main tracks except those equipped with automatic block signals. (C. S., sec. 5385.)

Locomotives used at night must have headlights capable of disclosing the figure of a man on or adjacent to the track at a distance of 600 feet, switch engines and those on lines not over 10 miles in length excepted. (Sec. 5387.)

Cars must be equipped with automatic couplers and with train brakes under the control of the engineer. (Secs. 5457–5460.)

Nevada.—Locomotives used at night must have headlights of 1,500 candlepower, or such as will enable one to distinguish the figure of a man at 1,000 feet on a dark clear night, switch engines excepted. (R. L. 1919, sec. 1, p. 2978.)

New Mexico.—Locomotives other than those used in yard service or on roads less than 16 miles in length must be equipped with headlights that will disclose an object the size of a man at 800 feet. (Acts of 1915, ch. 37.)

New York.—Safety switches must be laid in new or replacement work. Freight cars must be equipped with automatic couplers, and passenger cars with automatic air brakes or other form of safety power brakes. (Con. L., ch. 49, sec. 71.)

The inspection, care, maintenance, and equipment of locomotives is regulated, with provision for the appointment of a State inspector. (Secs. 72 (amended 1922, ch. 601), 73 (amended 1920, ch. 867), 74, 75.)

Locomotives must be equipped with power driving-wheel brakes and a train-control system, mechanically operated doors to the fire box, operated by steam, compressed air, or otherwise, and vestibuled cabs of a type deemed best by the officers of the road. (Sec. 77, amended 1918, ch. 649.)

Freight trains must contain a sufficient number of cars equipped with power or air brakes to enable the engineer to control the same. (Sec. 79.)

North Carolina.—Locomotives must be equipped with headlights of at least 1,500 candlepower, short lines excepted. (Con. S., sec. 3479.)

North Dakota.—Locomotives used at night in main-line service must have headlights of at least 1,200 candle power. (Acts of 1913, ch. 233.)

Locomotives must be supplied with curtains closing the opening between the cab and tender. Front windows of cabs must be equipped with frost glass in winter. (Acts of 1921, ch. 102.)

Ohio.—Footboards must be placed on locomotives regularly assigned to mine run, drop, or package local freight, or switching service, dimensions, location, etc., to be determined by the public utilities commission. (G. C., sec. 8915–4, added 1923, p. 142.)

Self-cleaning ash dump pans of approved pattern are required on all locomotives where practicable. This does not apply where engineers and firemen are not required to go under engines to remove ashes except in cases of emergency. (Sec. 8944.)

Headlights capable of rendering signposts, etc., visible at a distance of 350 feet must be installed on locomotives other than for yard use only. (Sec. 8945–1, added 1910, p. 330.)

Automatic couplers must be placed on all cars and air brakes on prescribed percentages; also grab irons and handholds on locomotives, cars, and tenders. (Secs. 8946–8951, amended 1913, p. 117.)

Automatic or foot-power doors are required on locomotives. (Sec. 8951–1, added 1917, p. 560.)

Drawbars must be of a prescribed height. (Sec. 8952.)

Inspection of couplers, brakes, and appliances is provided for by a State Inspector; also of locomotive boilers and appurtenances. (Secs. 8957–8965, amended 1913, p. 192; 8965–1–8965–9, added 1910, p. 328.)

Angles in frogs, switches, and crossings must be blocked or filled with sheet steel or other metallic appliances. (Sec. 9009, amended 1910, p. 325.)

Penalty and enforcement provisions as to ash pans, couplers, etc. (Secs. 12558, 12559, 12562.)

Oklahoma.—Headlights of at least 1,500 candlepower must be installed on locomotives used at night, other than switch engines. (R. L., sec. 1433.)

Oregon.—Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be blocked. (Laws, sec. 5928.)

Locomotives other than switch engines must have headlights to disclose an object the size of a man at a distance of 800 feet in clear weather. (Sec. 5942.)

South Carolina.—Brakes are required in all passenger cars and on all freight cars other than four-wheeled cars. (Code, sec. 3217.)

Headlights of 10,000 candlepower with the aid of a reflector, or that will disclose a man at 800 feet under normal conditions must be installed on locomotives. (Acts of 1912, No. 452.)

South Dakota.—Locomotives in road service must have headlights of at least 1,500 candlepower. (R. C., sec. 9683.)

Good and sufficient lights must be placed on all main-line switches over which trains are operated at night. (Sec. 9693.)

Texas.—Locomotives must have headlights of 1,500 candlepower. (Sec. 6565.)

Lights must be placed on main-line switches unless all locomotives on the road have electric headlights. (R. Civ. S., sec. 6567.)

Derailing switches are required on main-line switches where cars are left standing on the sidings. (Sec. 6568.)

All locomotives must be equipped with self-dumping ash pans. (Sec. 6577.)

Power brakes under control of the engineer, automatic couplers, drawbars of a prescribed height, and grab irons, handholds, and foot stirrups are required. (Secs. 6709–6713.)

Vermont.—Frogs, switches, and guard rails must be blocked, and ladders or steps installed leading to the tops of cars, the same not to be on the sides of cars. (G. L., secs. 5208–5210.)

Power brakes operated by the engineer must be furnished. (Sec. 5240.)

Locomotive headlights and cab lights must be supplied, as the public service commission may determine. (Sec. 5242.)

Virginia.—Locomotives must have headlights of at least 500 candlepower with the aid of a reflector. (A. C. sec. 3976.)

All passenger trains must be equipped with air brakes or an equally effective appliance; and the State corporation commission may require all other trains to be so equipped. (Sec. 3989.)

Washington.—The public service commission has general control of inspection and regulation of railroads. Locomotives must be equipped with power driving-wheel brakes and connections; automatic couplers, proper flanges, sill steps and grab irons, and electric headlights of approved design and capacity are required; escape of steam so as to obscure vision must be avoided; and switch engines must be supplied with proper footboards and toe boards and lights at each end. Cars must have automatic couplers, brakes, ladders, running boards, grab irons, etc. Frogs, switches and guard rails must be blocked. (Acts of 1911, ch. 117, secs. 65–68.)

Wisconsin.—Frogs must be guarded or blocked, front and rear. (Statutes, sec. 192.28.)

Headlights on locomotives must enable enginemen to discern an object the size of a man at a distance of 800 feet in clear weather. (Sec. 192.45.)

Hand-fired locomotives of 100,000 pounds weight or over on the drivers must have mechanically operated fire doors; and those of 200,000 pounds weight or more must be equipped with power reverse gear. (Secs. 192.455, 192.456.)

Switch engines must have footboards both front and rear. (Sec. 192.47.)

Locomotives over 100,000 pounds in weight may not run on trunk lines unless equipped with independent or straight air-brake valves. (Sec. 192.79.)

Cab curtains are required on all locomotives between November 15 and April 1. (Sec. 192.80.)

CABOOSE CARS

A law looking toward the safety and comfort of the crews of freight trains by establishing standards of strength, construction, and equipment of caboose cars is found in 20 States.

That of Indiana is generally representative.

INDIANA ANNOTATED STATUTES

Construction, etc., of caboose cars

SECTION 5271a. Application of law.—The provisions of this act shall apply to any corporation or to any person or persons while engaged as common carriers in the transportation by railroad of passengers or property within this State to which the regulative power of this State extends.

SEC. 5271b. Construction and equipment.—From and after the first day of June, 1914, it shall be unlawful except as otherwise provided in this act, for any such common carrier by railroad to use on its line any caboose car or other car used for like purposes unless such caboose or other car shall be at least twenty-four (24) feet in length exclusive of the platforms and equipped with two four-wheel trucks and said caboose car or other car shall be of constructive strength equal to that of the sixty thousand pounds capacity freight cars, and shall be provided with a door in each end thereof and an outside platform across each end of said car; each platform shall not be less than twenty-four inches in width and shall be equipped with proper guardrails and with grab irons and steps for the safety of persons getting on and off said car. Said steps shall be equipped with a suitable rod, board, or other guard at each end and at the back thereof properly designed to prevent slipping from said step. Said caboose shall have cupola, necessary closets, and windows.

SEC. 5271d. Exceptions.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to the use of caboose cars operated in yards and in transfer service, and in case of unusual and unforeseen demands of traffic caboose cars not constructed in compliance with this act may be used temporarily: Provided, That the railroad company desiring to use the same shall apply to and obtain an order from the railroad commission granting the privilege to temporarily use the same.

SEC. 5271e. Height of cars.—The State railroad commission shall have the power to limit or prescribe the maximum height of any caboose to be used upon any railroad operating in or through the State * * *.

HOURS OF SERVICE

The laws under this head are limited to those employees who are involved in the movement of trains, including, as a rule, the crew, telegraph operators, and train dispatchers. Congress has acted in this field, and it has been held that this debars valid State legislation, since it controls absolutely in the field of interstate commerce, and the separation of this from intrastate operations is impracticable.[1] On the other hand, it has been said that a State law may exist coordinately if not in conflict with the Federal statutes.[2] The Federal legislation is reproduced in Part II.

TRAIN CREWS

A number of States have laws regulating the minimum number of employees required for the operation of trains of different classes and numbers of cars, and some also for switching operations. The details vary somewhat, though there has been an effort at standardization. Instead of a statutory fixing of the numbers, some States provide for a determination by the railroad or similar commission of the State; and in a few recent instances laws fixing numbers have been repealed and the matter placed in the hands of the commission for action after investigation. Indiana repealed its existing laws in 1921 (chs. 81, 82) without enacting any substitute. A similar fate met the law of Missouri by referendum in 1914, the legislature also declaring its repeal in 1919 (p. 247).

The law of Oregon is fairly representative of the statutes on this subject. It is as follows:

OREGON—LAWS

Sufficient crews for trains

Section 5944. Passenger, etc., trains.—It shall be unlawful for any person, corporation, company, or officer of court operating any steam railroad or railway in the State of Oregon and engaged as a common carrier in the transporation of freight or passengers to operate over its road, or any part thereof, in excess of fifteen continuous miles, or suffer or permit to be run over the same, outside of yard limits, any passenger, mail or express train consisting of four or more cars with less than a full passenger crew consisting of five men, to wit: One engineer, one fireman, one conductor, one brakeman, and one flagman (such flagman to have had at least six months' experience in train service) and none of said crew shall be required or permitted to perform the duties of train baggageman or express messenger while on such road.

Sec. 5945. Freight trains.—It shall be unlawful for any person, corporation, company, or officer of court operating any steam railroad or railway in the State of Oregon, and engaged as a common carrier in the transportation of freight or passengers to operate over its road or any part thereof in excess of fifteen continuous miles, or suffer or permit to be run over the same outside of yard limits, any freight train consisting of forty or more cars, exclusive of locomotive and caboose, with less than a full train crew consisting of six men, to wit: One engineer, one fireman, one conductor, two brakemen and one flagman (such flagman to have had at least six months' experience in train service): Provided, however, That all main line local freight trains shall have a full crew consisting of six men, to wit: One engineer, one fireman, one conductor, two brakemen, and one flagman (such flagman to have had at least six months' experience in train service): Provided further, That light engines operated outside of yard limits will be provided with a full crew of three men, to wit: One engineer, one fireman, and one pilot, but this provision is not to apply to helper engines within helper districts.

Sec. 5946. Violations.—[Violations entail penalty of fine, $20 to $100 for each offense.]

SEAMEN

Though several States have laws relating to seamen, the fact of the Federal control of maritime contracts and actions (Patterson v. The Eudora (1903), 190 U. S. 169, 23 Sup. Ct. 821; Knickerbocker Ice Co. v. Stewart (1920), 253 U. S. 149, 40 Sup. Ct. 438) gives to such laws only a secondary importance. The Federal statutes are given at length in Part II, and only citations of the State laws follow:

[1] A United States district court says of sections 3661, 3662, which provide for the imprisonment of seamen for desertion, that they "can not be effective" in the face of provisions of the Seamen's Act of 1915 (38 Stat. 1164), which "if not expressly, certainly by strong implication, prohibit the punishment by imprisonment for deserting seamen," State laws in this field necessarily giving way to Federal enactments. CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF ELECTRIC INSTALLATIONS

A few States have passed laws relating to electrical construction and maintenance, with regard to the safety of workmen. The Oregon statute merely authorizes the public-service commission of the State to formulate rules and regulations. The industrial board of the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Pennsylvania has a comprehensive and technical body of such regulations, prepared in cooperation with the National Bureau of Standards.

New York limits its requirements to the placing of rubber mats in front of switchboards for the protection of workers; while the law of Massachusetts only mentions the insulation of poles and other structures used for the support of electric wires.

The law of the State of Washington is devoted mainly to installations in generating and transforming plants and the like, and that of Montana more largely to the erection and guarding of wires and cables for carrying electricity; the Nevada statute more nearly resembles that of Montana.

The safety provisions of the Montana statute follow:

MONTANA—ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 171.—Safety of employees—Electrical construction and maintenance

SECTION 1. Climbing space.—Any person, company, or corporation owning or using any pole or appliance on which is run, placed, erected, or maintained in the State of Montana any wire or cable used or to be used to conduct or carry electricity for the purpose of light, heat, or power, shall provide and maintain an unobstructed climbing space adjacent to any such pole or appliance, so that persons shall be able to ascend any such pole or appliance with reasonable safety and convenience up to and through the wires, connections, attachments, and structures of any such pole or appliance, and all cases where any "buck" or reverse arm is used or where special construction is used there shall be provided and maintained unobstructed climbing space of not less than twenty-two inches square, omitting the area of any pole or appliance.

SEC. 2. Space for high-voltage wires.—At least one standard pole gain, or the equivalent of four feet, shall be left vacant between the nearest cross arm on which is placed or maintained any wire or cable conducting or carrying more than four hundred and forty volts of electricity and any cross arm occupied by or used for wires or cables carrying four hundred and forty volts or less.

The said standard pole gain shall be spaced not less than twenty-four inches center to center, except that one "buck" or reverse arm may be placed not more than twelve inches below any cross arm: And provided, That this section shall be held not to apply to bridge construction: And further provided, That it shall be held not to apply to primary taps to transformers on poles: And provided further, That all such primary taps leading to transformers on poles shall be of double braid, rubber-covered wire of at least twenty-two hundred volts insulation.

SEC. 3. Cross arms.—All cross arms shall be made from clear, straight-grained wood, or standardized material. The cross section of wood arms shall be not less than three and one-half by four and one-half inches. The pin spacing shall be, for six pin arms, not less than thirty-inch center for pole pin spacing, fourteen-inch side spacing, and five-inch end spacing; and four pin arms, not less than thirty-inch center for pole pin spacing, fourteen-inch side spacing, and five-inch end spacing.

SEC. 8. Guy wires.—Guy wires shall be attached to poles so as to interfere as little as possible with workmen climbing or working thereon. * * *

SEC. 13. Provisions not applicable, where.—None of the provisions of sections one, two, and three shall be held to apply to direct current wire carrying nominally six hundred volts of electricity and used for street railway purposes: Provided, however, That an unobstructed climbing space not less than twenty-six inches in a horizontal line shall at all times be provided and maintained.

SEC. 15. Climbing space.—Any person, company, or corporation owning or using any pole or appliance used exclusively for telephone, telegraph, or other signal wires shall provide and maintain an unobstructed climbing space of not less than sixteen inches.

Whenever "buck" or reverse arms are used an unobstructed climbing space shall be left adjacent to the pole or appliance at least twenty inches square, omitting the area of any such pole or appliance. [;] any wire or cable attached to the pole in such buck-arm construction not less than forty inches from the nearest cross arm shall be held not to be an obstruction to the climbing space as herein provided.

SEC. 19. Same; poles jointly used.—All telephone, telegraph, or other signal wires placed on poles jointly used for electric light, heat, and power wires shall have an unobstructed climbing space of not less than twenty-six inches. All telephone, telegraph, or other signal wires placed on poles jointly used for light, heat, or power wires shall be placed and maintained on cross arms, except that brackets may be maintained on one side of the pole not nearer than two feet below the lowest cross arm for the purpose of carrying duplex wires or cables to distribute telephone, telegraph, or signal wires.

SEC. 21. Same; two pole lines.—In all cases where there are two or more pole lines used for telephone, telegraph or other signal wires, on the same side of any street, alley or public highway, provided such lines are not parallel on a horizontal plane, the cross arms shall have an unobstructed climbing space of not less than twenty-six inches.

SEC. 27. Records.—In every generating and substation used for light, heat, or power, there shall be kept a log book or record showing the changes in the condition of operation, including the starting and stopping of electrical supply equipment, the name of each foreman or workman locally in charge of work, and all unusual occurrences and accidents.

The log book or record shall be signed by the person in charge before being relieved. He shall keep within sight an operating diagram or equivalent device indicating whether electrical supply circuits are open or closed and where work is being performed. On circuits carrying normally in excess of seventy-five hundred volts the operator in charge shall place "Men at work" tags upon switches controlling any circuits upon which men are known to be working and it shall be his duty to enforce the safety rules and permit only authorized persons to approach the equipment or lines.

This section shall not apply to isolated plants, generating current for telegraph, telephone and signaling purposes.

SEC. 28. Provisions for accident.—There shall be provided in conspicuous and suitable places in electrical stations and shops a suitable and sufficient supply of first-aid and protective devices, all of approved kinds and qualities; the kinds and number of such devices will depend on the requirements of each case, as may be from time to time prescribed by the State industrial accident board, and it shall be the duty of the said State industrial accident board to prescribe such necessary protective devices. All such prescribed devices shall be kept, when not in use, in their regular location and in good working order.

SEC. 29. Switches in certain circuits.—All circuits of four hundred and forty volts, or more where originating or terminating in any enclosure or building or is used for underground, shall be provided with air gap switches or other approved devices, [;] if any of the above circuits are of seven and one-half kilowatts or more capacity they shall, in addition, be provided with an oil break switch or other approved device which will safely open the circuit under the load. There shall be no less than two experienced electricians employed on any work or maintenance to be performed on any electrical wires or equipment connected therewith carrying nominally [sic] six hundred volts or more: Provided, however, That this shall not apply to the operation of electrical equipment nor in cases of emergency.

Direct current feeders of two hundred and fifty volts or over shall be protected by approved circuit-breaking devices.

SEC. 30. Fuses.—All fuses shall be inclosed, or expulsion type, or other approved "National Electrical Code" standards.

SEC. 31. Grounding; head room, etc.—Where necessary all forms of electrical apparatus shall be effectively grounded for the protection of persons.

Wherever wires or conductors are installed within enclosures or buildings, in and about switchboards and other appliances where conductors are run, placed or erected, a clear headroom of six and one-half feet above the floor or surface must be maintained, or the wires be effectively guarded. All apparatus, passages, manways, and other places where persons may enter into must be protected with efficient guards in accordance with standard practice: Provided, This shall not be held to apply to electrical machinery and auxiliary devices carrying six hundred volts or less.

When lines or wires carrying seventy-five hundred volts or more are disconnected from their source of power for work to be performed thereon, said lines or wires shall be effectively grounded for the protection of workmen.

SEC. 32. Manholes.—The opening to outer air for any manhole used for light, heat or power, shall be circular in shape, and shall be not less than twenty four inches in diameter.

The opening to outer air for any manhole used for telephone, telegraph or other signal wires shall be circular in shape and shall not be less than twenty inches in diameter.

Whenever persons are working in any manhole whose opening to the outer air is less than three feet from the rail of any railway or street car track, a watchman or attendant shall be stationed on the surface at the entrance of such manhole at all times while work is being performed therein.

BAKERIES AND THE PREPARATION, DISTRIBUTION, ETC., OF FOOD PRODUCTS

Laws regulating the conditions of employment in bakeries, confectioneries, ice-cream factories, dairies, canneries, and the like, combine the industrial factor with ideas of the protection of the public health, and provisions stressing the latter aspect are valid (Benz v. Kremer, 142 Wis. 1, 125 N. W. 99). It follows from the nature of the industries affected that the welfare of the employee is frequently only a secondary aim in the enactment of the laws, the restrictions laid upon him frequently being less for his own welfare than to secure the cleanliness and wholesomeness of the product.

The laws are varied but include some or all of the following provisions: That the establishment shall be properly lighted, drained, plumbed, and ventilated; that screens must be provided for the doors and windows and the food and materials protected from flies, etc.; that the clothing of all operatives must be clean and sanitary; that the interior walls must be washed, whitewashed, or painted at reasonable intervals; that suitable and separate toilets be kept for each sex and that they be maintained in a sanitary condition and that washing facilities be supplied and used; that cuspidors must be provided, the same to be cleaned daily; that smoking and expectoration be prohibited; that no one be allowed to use any workroom as a sleeping room; that no persons suffering with any communicable disease be employed; and that employees with infected wounds be prohibited from handling food until the wound is healed. The law of New York is representative. It is as follows.

NEW YORK—ACTS OF 1921

SECTION 330. Definitions.—Whenever used in this chapter:

1. "Bakery" means a building, room, or place used for making, preparing, or baking bread, biscuits, pastry, cakes, doughnuts, crullers, noodles, macaroni, or spaghetti to be sold or consumed on or off the premises, except kitchens in hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, and private residences, wherein all such products are consumed exclusively on the premises; and with respect to the provisions of this chapter relating to machinery, safety devices and sanitary conditions includes hotel bakeries. A bakery is a factory within the meaning of this chapter.

2. "Cellar" means a room or part of a building which is more than one-half its height below the level of the curb or ground adjoining the building, excluding areaways.

3. "Owner" means the owner of the premises, the lessee of the whole thereof, or the agent in charge.

4. "Occupier" means the person in possession of the premises and conducting the bakery therein.

SEC. 331. Equipment.—1. A bakery shall have proper and sufficient drains, sinks, clean running water, and properly ventilated water-closets. The water-closets shall be apart from and shall not open directly into the bake room or rooms where the raw material or manufactured product thereof is stored or sold.

2. A bakery shall have adequate windows, and, if required by the rules of the board, hoods and pipes or other means for ventilating ovens and ashpits.

3. A bakery shall be at least eight feet in height measured from the surface of the finished floor to the under side of the ceiling, except that any cellar or basement of less height which was used for a bakery on the second day of May, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, need not conform to this provision.

4. The flooring shall be of smooth even cement, or tiles laid in cement, or wood, and shall be free from crevices and holes. The side walls and ceilings shall be either plastered, ceiled, or wainscoted.

SEC. 332. Maintenance.—1. Every part of a bakery, its equipment, plumbing, and the yards and areaways adjoining shall be kept in good repair, in sanitary condition, and free from vermin. All furniture, troughs, and utensils shall be so constructed and arranged as not to prevent cleaning them or any part of the bakery. All interior woodwork, walls, and ceilings shall be painted or limewashed once every three months, where so required by the commissioner.

2. Sanitary receptacles shall be used for coal, ashes, refuse, and garbage. The contents of the receptacles for refuse and garbage shall be removed daily. Mechanical means of ventilation, when provided, shall be effectively used and operated. Windows, doors, and other openings shall be properly screened. Lockers shall be provided for the street clothes of employees.

3. No person shall use or be permitted to use tobacco in any form in a bakery or room where the raw material or manufactured product of the bakery is stored or sold.

4. No person shall sleep or be permitted to sleep and no domestic animals, except cats, and no birds, shall be allowed to remain in a bakery or room where the raw material or manufactured product of the bakery is stored or sold.

5. Every person while engaged in the manufacture and handling of bakery products shall wear a clean suit and clean shoes or slippers. The suit shall be of washable material and used for that work only.

SEC. 333. Diseased persons.—No person who has a communicable disease shall work or be permitted to work in a bakery. Whenever required by a medical inspector of the department, a person working in a bakery shall submit to a physical examination by such inspector. No person who refuses to submit to such examination shall work or be permitted to work in a bakery.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING LAUNDRIES

Regulations affecting employment conditions in laundries have regard to the public health rather than to the welfare of the employees themselves. Sanitation, ventilation, and cleanliness are required, and the use of workrooms as sleeping rooms is forbidden, as is the employment of persons affected with infectious or contagious diseases.

The States having laws covering some or all of the above provisions are:

Arizona.—Penal C., sec. 715.
Connecticut.—Acts of 1921, ch. 227.
Delaware.—R. C., sec. 746A (added 1915, ch. 59).
New York.—Acts of 1921, ch. 50, sec. 296.
Virginia.—A. C., sec. 1545.

RIGHT OF ACTION FOR INJURIES CAUSING DEATH BY WRONGFUL ACT

Under the common law, while an injured person who survived an accident might recover damages from the person or persons whose negligence or wrong caused the same, no recovery was allowed where the injury resulted in death. The reason given was that "there is no mode of estimating compensation for the death of a man." An English law of 1846, known as "Lord Campbell's Act," gave to surviving beneficiaries a right to sue for damages suffered by the death of the injured person, and laws of this kind now exist in all jurisdictions of the United States. While not labor laws in form, a very important application has been to cases of fatally injured employees whose surviving dependents are given thereby a right of action, though their importance has been affected by the general enactment of workmen's compensation laws. As to interstate commerce, the Federal liability law controls.

The legislatures of the several States are not uniform as to whether or not punitive or exemplary damages are recoverable, but only such rights can be enforced as the statutes provide. The amount recoverable is limited by the statutes of some States, while New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, and Wyoming each declares in its constitution that the amount shall not be restricted; but, except in Oklahoma, amendments permit the operation of workmen's compensation acts with fixed awards. Expressions frequently used are "such damages as may be fair and just," or "such damages as the jury may assess." Porto Rico has a limit of $3,000 in cases involving employer and employee. The largest amount is $10,000, named in the laws of Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Missouri, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia. In Minnesota and Oregon the maximum is $7,500 and in New Hampshire $7,000; while in Colorado and Maine it is $5,000. In other States no sum is named.

The time within which the action must be brought is generally limited, ranging from 6 months in Porto Rico to 6 years in South Carolina. Four States have a limitation of three years, 25 of two years, and 16 of one year.

Persons properly classified as beneficiaries must be found to bring the action, the persons so named by the English act being the wife, husband, parent, or child of the deceased person. In most States, however, the use of the words "personal representatives" implies a less restricted class of beneficiaries, though the action is for the benefit of the heirs, and the amount recovered is in most instances not liable for the debts of the decedent.

The law of the District of Columbia on this subject is presented in full as a type of this class of laws:

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—CODE

Injuries causing death

SECTION 1301. Right of action.—Whenever by any injury done or happening within the limits of the District of Columbia the death of a person shall be caused by the wrongful act, neglect, or default of any person or corporation, and the act, neglect, or default is such as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured, or if the person injured be a married woman, have entitled her husband, either separately or by joining with the wife, to maintain an action and recover damages, the person who or corporation which would have been liable if death had not ensued shall be liable to an action for damages for such death, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, even though the death shall have been caused under circumstances which constitute a felony; and such damages shall be assessed with reference to the injury resulting from such act, neglect, or default causing such death, to the widow and next of kin of such deceased person: Provided, That in no case shall the recovery under this act exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars: And provided further, That no action shall be maintained under this chapter in any case when the party injured by such wrongful act, neglect, or default has recovered damages therefor during the life of such party.

SEC. 1302. Limitation.—Every such action shall be brought by and in the name of the personal representative of such deceased person, and within one year after the death of the party injured.

SEC. 1303. Distribution.—The damages recovered in such action shall not be appropriated to the payment of the debts or liabilities of such deceased person, but shall inure to the benefit of his or her family and be distributed according to the provisions of the statute of distribution in force in the said District of Columbia.

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION—STATE AND FEDERAL COOPERATION

The more humane and responsible attitude toward injured workers embodied in the workmen's compensation laws, and the successful rehabilitation activities in connection with the wounded soldiers are doubtless jointly responsible for the recent rapid extension of the idea of retraining injured industrial workers for a resumption of self-supporting and self-respecting employment. The Federal statute of June 2, 1920 (41 Stat. 735, C. S. secs. 8932¼–8932¼k), appears in its proper sequence in the texts of laws printed in Part II. The provision for State cooperation on the basis of at least equal contributions to expenses has been accepted by most States of the Union. The legislation by the States is quite uniform, and that of Arizona may be accepted as representative. It is as follows:

ARIZONA—ACTS OF 1921

CHAPTER 78.—Vocational rehabilitation—State and Federal cooperation

SECTION 1. Act accepted.—The State of Arizona does hereby, through its legislative authority, accept the provisions and benefits of the act of Congress, entitled "An act to provide for the promotion of vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise and their return to civil employment," approved June 2, 1920, and will observe and comply with all requirements of such act.

SEC. 2. Custody of funds.—The State treasurer is hereby designated and appointed custodian of all moneys received by the State from appropriations made by the Congress of the United States for the vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise, and is authorized to receive and provide for the proper custody of the same and make disbursements therefrom upon the order of the State board herein designated.

SEC. 3. Board.—The board heretofore designated as the State board of vocational education to cooperate with the Federal Board for Vocational Education in the administration of the provisions of the vocational education act, approved February 23, 1917, is hereby designated as the State board for the purpose of cooperating with the said Federal board in carrying out the provisions and purposes of said Federal act providing for the vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise and is empowered and directed to cooperate with the said Federal board in the administration of said act of Congress; to prescribe and provide such courses of vocational training as may be necessary for the vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise and provide for the supervision of such training; to appoint such assistants as may be necessary to administer this act and said act of Congress in this State; to fix the compensation of such assistants and to direct the disbursement and administer the use of all funds provided by the Federal Government and this State for the vocational rehabilitation of such persons.

SEC. 4. Gifts, etc.—The State board designated to cooperate as aforesaid in the administration of the Federal act, is hereby authorized and empowered to receive such gifts and donations, either from public or private sources, as may be offered unconditionally or under such conditions related to the vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise as in the judgment of the State board are proper and consistent with the provisions of this act. All the moneys received as gifts or donations shall be deposited in the State treasury and shall constitute a permanent fund to be called the special fund for the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons, to be used by the said board to defray the expenses of vocational rehabilitation in special cases, including the payment of necessary expenses of persons undergoing training. A full report of all gifts and donations offered and accepted, together with the names of the donors and the respective amounts contributed by each, and all disbursements therefrom shall be submitted annually to the governor of the State by the State board.

SEC. 5. Appropriation.—There shall be appropriated a sum of money available for each fiscal year not less than the maximum sum which may be allotted to the State for the purposes set forth in said Federal act, and there is hereby appropriated for such purposes out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, the sum of $5,000.

A few States accepted the act prior to its enactment, anticipating the action of Congress in this respect. But few legislatures were in session in the year 1920, subsequent to the date of the action by Congress, but in 1921 there was a very general acceptance, other States coming in in succeeding years. No action has been taken in 17 jurisdictions, while Tennessee by an act of 1923 (ch. 74) withdrew its acceptance of 1921, and is now one of the noncooperative States. Following is a list of the States, showing the year of enactment and the number of the chapter or act by which cooperation is provided:

Alabama.—Acts of 1920, No. 86.
Arizona.—Acts of 1921, ch. 78.
Arkansas.—Acts of 1923, No. 70.
California.—Acts of 1921, ch. 758.

West Virginia.—Acts of 1921, ch. 19.
Wisconsin.—Statutes, sec. 41.215.
Wyoming.—Acts of 1921, ch. 109.
United States.—Acts of 1920, 41 Stat., 735.

Besides accepting the cooperative system, the following States have statutes providing for independent action:

California.—Acts of 1919, ch. 183.
Illinois.—Acts of 1919, p. 534.
Michigan.—Acts of 1921, No. 211.
Minnesota.—Acts of 1919, ch. 365.
New Jersey.—Acts of 1919, ch. 74.
New York.—Acts of 1920, ch. 760.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 6655–6659.
Pennsylvania.—Statutes, secs. 13671–13678.
Rhode Island.—G. L., ch. 79, secs. 1–5.
Virginia.—Acts of 1920, ch. 392.
Wisconsin.—Statutes, sec. 41.215.
Wyoming.—Acts of 1921, ch. 110 (am. 1923, ch. 24).

Specific provision for rehabilitation is also made in the workmen's compensation laws of California, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Statutes providing for pensions for aged persons are not strictly industrial laws, although they accomplish ends frequently sought by contributory schemes in which employers and employees cooperate in other countries. But little legislation on this subject has been enacted in the United States. It is thus far strictly noncontributory, or supported by taxation, as are those forms of relief that are provided for poverty and sickness in various forms of poor relief.

An early statute in this field was one of Arizona, an initiated act of 1914, proposing to abolish almshouses, superseding them by monthly allowances to "aged people and people incapable of earning a livelihood by reason of physical infirmities," etc. The supreme court of that State found the law lacking in "a clear statement of the means and method of its enforcement;" technical defects also vitiated the act, so that its was declared void (State Board of Control v. Buckstegge (1916), 18 Ariz. 277, 158 Pac. 837).

Congress in 1906 (act of May 14, 24 Stat. 192) provided that all moneys received for liquor licenses and occupation and trade licenses, outside of the incorporated towns, of Alaska be held as a separate fund to be known as the "Alaska Fund." An amendment of 1913 devoted 10 per cent of such fund to the relief of "persons in Alaska who are indigent and incapacitated through nonage, oldage, sickness, or accident." The Alaska Legislature of the same year (1913, ch. 80) provided for an "Alaska Pioneers' Home" in which residents of five years' standing might be cared for if in need of aid because of physical disability or otherwise. In 1915 pioneers at least 65 years of age and 10 years in residence might be given an outdoor allowance not to exceed $12.50 per month in lieu of residence in the home. In 1923 (ch. 46) men 65 years of age and women 60 years of age, 15 consecutive years in residence immediately prior to application, were given the benefits of this law, allowances being advanced to $25 per month for men and $45 per month for women. Any estate of the beneficiary is subject to a preferred claim in behalf of the fund if there is no widow or minor child under 18.

In Montana (ch. 72, acts of 1923) the county old-age pension board or commission may receive applications from persons 70 years of age, citizens of the United States and residents of the State of Montana for at least 15 years. Disqualifications are the abandonment of a wife by a husband without just cause, failure to render support to wife or children under 15 years of age within the 15 years preceding, or being a professional tramp or beggar within the preceding year. Benefits may not exceed $25 per month.

A Nevada law (ch. 70, acts of 1923) closely resembles the above except that the minimum age is 60 years, while the benefits, taken together with other resources, may not bring the income to above $1 per day.

Pennsylvania is the final State to be noted, an act of 1923 (No. 141) resembling in its main provisions the laws of Montana and Nevada already noted.[1] A State commission and county boards cooperate; a minimum age of 70 years and minimum residence of 15 years are required. Benefits and other resources may not exceed $1 per day, and possession of property, alone or jointly with a spouse, exceeding $3,000 in value is a bar. Disqualifications are similar to those noted under the Montana law.

RETIREMENT OF PUBLIC EMPLOYEES

The laws under this head relate entirely to public employment, and therefore are not industrial in their main aspects. However, they indicate a steady if slow growth of the idea of retirement after long-continued service, though most of the legislation recently has been amendatory. In most cases contributions by employees are provided for.

[1] This statute has been declared unconstitutional by the State courts, as violating sec. 18, Art. III of the State constitution, which forbids appropriations for charitable or benevolent purposes except pensions or gratuities for military service. Busser v. Snyder, 128 Atl. 80.

Teachers' and policemen's funds are not noted here. As the laws are not industrial, only illustrative summaries are given.

In California a contributory system may be adopted for county employees by a four-fifths vote of the county supervisors. Employees may be retired after 35 years of service regardless of age, if for the good of the service, or at 60 years of age after 10 years of service, or for permanent disability. Separation from the service is automatic at the age of 70 years unless an extension is secured. Contributions are $4 monthly from employees for not more than 25 years, the county contributing an equal amount. The annuity is determined by the amount of these contributions, plus interest, according to tables adopted by the board of retirement.

A rather elaborate system is provided for Minnesota, applicable to cities of 50,000 population or above not under a home-rule charter. The system is contributory, and the age of retirement is from 60 to 65 years for men and 58 to 63 years for women. The maximum allowance is paid after 30 years of service, and 20 years service is necessary to secure retirement. Amounts range from 40 to 60 per cent of the average salary for the 10 years preceding, not over $600 in any case, or $500 in the labor class. Provision is made for disability retirement and individual accounts are kept. Deductions range from 3 to 8 per cent of the salary according to the age at entrance upon the service.

The United States retirement system applies to Federal employees in the classified civil service.

The system is contributory, the employees giving 2½ per cent of their salary. Age of retirement is 70 years after not less than 15 years of service, though mechanics, city and rural letter carriers, and post-office clerks are eligible at 65 years, and railway postal clerks at 62 years, all after 15 years' service. The maximum annuity is $720, payable after 30 years of service, and varying with the salary received.

Following is a list of the laws, their scope, and whether contributory or noncontributory:

Connecticut.—Acts of 1923, ch. 119 (am. 1923, ch. 217). State employees; noncontributory.

Illinois.—R. S., ch. 24, secs. 741–750; ch. 34, secs. 157–167 (am. 1921, p. 388); Acts of 1921, p. 203 (am. 1923, p. 204). Employees of municipalities of over 100,000 population; of counties of over 150,000 population; of cities of over 200,000 population; all contributory.

Indiana.—Acts of 1923, ch. 10. Employees of public utilities in cities of second class of over 50,000 inhabitants; contributory.

Maine.—Acts of 1919, ch. 38 (am. 1923, ch. 199). State employees; noncontributory.

Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 32 (am. 1921, chs. 439, 487; 1923, chs. 190, 205, 426, 458; 1924, ch. 264). Employees of State, of counties, and of cities and towns; contributory.

Minnesota.—Acts of 1919, ch. 522. Employees of cities of 50,000 or over; contributory.

New Jersey.—Acts of 1915, ch. 234 (am. 1917, ch. 91). Acts of 1921, ch. 109 (am. 1923, chs. 103, 139; 1924, chs. 170, 261). Employees of counties, cities, towns, boroughs, villages, and of the State; contributory.

New York.—Acts of 1920, ch. 427; ch. 741 (am. 1921, chs. 207, 365; 1924, chs. 618, 619, 620). Employees of the city of Greater New York; civil service employees of the State; contributory. Acts of 1922, ch. 591 (am. 1923, ch. 708; 1924, ch. 48). Employees of counties, cities, towns, and villages; contributory.

Pennsylvania.—Statutes, secs. 3142–3153; 3920–3931; Acts of 1923, No. 331. Employees of cities of the first class; of cities of the second class; and of the State; contributory.

Philippine Islands.—Acts of 1916, No. 2589. Civil service employees; non-contributory.

Rhode Island.—Acts of 1923, ch. 2374. Employees of the City of Providence; contributory.

United States.—C. S., 1916, 1923 Supp., secs. 3287½–3287½vv. Employees in the classified civil service; contributory.

COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS

Many States have special laws providing for the formation of cooperative associations for profit. So far as productive associations are concerned, the intention of these laws is to provide for the formation of industrial undertakings by groups of persons associated to manage a business in corporate form, the labor of which shall be furnished largely or exclusively by the members themselves. The laws of the various States vary considerably in detail, but the essential features are so similar that no summary or digest is necessary.

There has been a great increase in later years in the number of cooperative associations created for the purpose of marketing and distributing farm produce and general merchandise. However, as these associations, though formed for profit, do not bring up the relation of employer and employee in such a sense as do the industrial cooperative associations, they have been omitted from this compilation.

As fairly representative of the industrial class of laws, the characteristic provisions of the law of Illinois are reproduced below:

ILLINOIS—REVISED STATUTES

CHAPTER 32.—Cooperative associations

SECTION 103. Mode of incorporation.—Whenever any number of persons not less than three nor more than seven, may desire to become incorporated as a cooperative association for the purpose of prosecuting any branch of industry, they shall make a statement to that effect under their hands and seals, duly acknowledged before some officer in the manner provided for the ackuowledgment of deeds, setting forth the name of the proposed corporation, its capital stock, its location, and duration of the association, and the particular branch of industry which they intend to prosecute, which statement shall be filed in the office of the secretary of State. The secretary of state shall thereupon issue to such persons a license as commissioners to open books for subscription to the capital stock of such association, at such time and place as they may determine. No license shall be issued to two associations of the same name. The name of the city, village or town in which the association may be located shall form no part of the name.

SEC. 104. But one share of stock to be held.—No person shall be permitted to subscribe more nor less than one share to the capital stock of such association, nor shall any person be permitted in any manner to own or control more or less than one share in such association.

SEC. 105. Organization.—As soon as ten shares or more of the capital stock shall be subscribed, the commissioners shall convene a meeting of the subscribers for the purpose of electing directors, adopting by-laws and transacting such other business as shall properly come before them. * * *

SEC. 107. Powers.—Associations formed under this act shall be bodies corporate and politic for the period for which they are organized, may sue and be sued, may have a common seal, which they may alter or renew at pleasure; may own, possess and enjoy so much real and personal estate as shall be necessary for the transaction of their business, and may sell and dispose of the same when, in the opinion of the shareholders, it is not required for the uses of the association. They may borrow money at legal rates of interest, and pledge their property, both real and personal, to secure payment thereof, and may have and exercise all powers necessary and requisite to carry into effect the objects for which they may be formed.

SEC. 108. Board of directors.—The corporate powers shall be exercised by a board of directors, the number of which shall be fixed by the by-laws of the association, but the number may be increased or diminished by a majority of the shareholders at any properly called meeting. The officers of the association shall consist of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, to be elected by the shareholders at their annual meeting as may be provided for in the by-laws of the association; who shall be elected at some regular meeting of the shareholders as may be by by-laws provided. All by-laws of the association shall be adopted by the shareholders of the association.

SEC. 110. Value of shares.—The shares of stock shall not be less than $50 nor more than $2,000 per share, and subscriptions therefor shall be made payable to the association, and in installments, and at such time or times as shall be determined by the shareholders, and an action may be maintained in the name of the association to recover any installment which shall remain due and unpaid for the period of thirty days after personal demand therefor; * * * Whenever a share of stock shall be forfeited, such share shall then become the property of the association and may be reissued to any person not already holding a share. But any proceeds received from such reissue over and above the amount due on said share by the association shall be paid to the delinquent shareholder.

SEC. 111. Assignments, liability, etc.—Every assignment or transfer of stock on which there remains any portion unpaid shall be recorded in the books of the association, and each shareholder shall be liable jointly with the association as well as severally for the debts of the association to the extent of the amount that may be unpaid upon the share held by him. No assignor of a share shall be released from any such indebtedness by reason of any assignment of his share, but shall remain liable therefor jointly with the assignee and the association, or severally, until the stock is fully paid up. Every assignee of a share shall be liable for the amount unpaid thereon, the same as if he had been an original shareholder. No assignment shall be made to any person who already holds a share. No assignee or transferee of stock shall have any equitable or legal title in the same, or have the right to vote at any shareholders' meeting until such assignment or transfer shall be recorded as above provided for. On no question shall any shareholder have more than one vote.

SEC. 112. Division of profits.—All dividends of profits made by any association incorporated under this act shall be made in proportion to the amount of work performed, or product produced by each shareholder, and the association shall decide by by-law whether each shareholder's work or product shall be measured by the piece, or by the day or hour, or may classify the work, and measure some by the piece, some by the day, and some by the hour, as the exigencies of the case may demand. The association shall also provide by by-law how different kinds of piecework shall be rated, and how piecework shall be rated with day or hour work; shall provide how and by whom all kinds of work shall be received as properly executed from the shareholders for the association; shall provide the manner of giving out material to the different shareholders with which to work, and as to what position or location shall be assigned to each shareholder and by whom. Should any shareholder be dissatisfied with the decision upon his work, or with the material given him, or the position or location assigned him, he may appeal to the association at some regular meeting of the shareholders, whose decision shall be final. The association may provide by by-law how such appeal may be conducted. If in any kind of industry it should be impossible to assign all shareholders to equally advantageous positions or locations in work, the association may provide that shareholders shall periodically change places, or provide any other method of equalizing such matters in accordance with justice and equity.

SEC. 113. Employment of labor.—It shall be unlawful for the association to hire any person to engage in the principal business for which the association was organized to prosecute, it being the intent of this act that such labor shall be performed by the shareholders of the association to preserve the cooperative feature. It shall be lawful for any shareholder, in case he shall be detained from work by sickness of self or family, or very urgent business, to employ and furnish a competent substitute to perform such labor as would be assigned to the absent shareholder; and in such case the dividends shall be made to such shareholder the same as if he was present performing his labor himself. The association shall not be liable in any manner for the pay of such substitute.

SEC. 114. Death of shareholder.—Whenever any shareholder may die, his share shall become a personal asset of his estate, and may be sold by his legal representative to any person, or may be awarded as a dividend of the estate to any person competent to work the share, or to any devisee or legatee competent to work the share, not already a shareholder, and the same may be assigned or transferred in the same manner, and subject to the same regulations prescribed in section 9 [111] of this act. * * *

SEC. 123. Meeting of directors.—The board of directors shall hold stated meetings not less frequent than once each month, as may be provided by the by-laws, and when such officers shall be present at any meeting, however called or notified, or shall sign a written consent on the record of such meeting, the acts of such meeting shall be as valid as if legally called and notified. All directors' meetings must be held within the limits of this State.

SEC. 124. Meetings of shareholders.—The shareholders of every association shall hold regular meetings not less frequently than once each month as may be provided by the by-laws, * * *.

SEC. 125. By-laws, voting, etc.—No by-law shall be adopted, amended, or repealed, except by an affirmative vote of a majority of all the shareholders entitled to vote. * * *.

Wyoming.—Const., art. 10, sec. 10; acts of 1915, ch. 145.

CREDIT UNIONS

Voluntary associations exist in considerable numbers providing for a loan fund for the benefit of members, the fund being maintained by their own contributions. The law of New Jersey (ch. 48, acts of 1924) provides for the incorporation and regulation of such unions, the membership to be "composed exclusively of employees having a common employer and whose place of employment is located within a county of this State." However, the law can not be classed as a labor law, as it contemplates no interchange of responsibility or interest between the employer and the employees entering into the organization. Supervision is in the hands of the commissioner of banking and insurance of the State, the organization being a financial corporation of restricted membership and prescribed capacities.

A Mississippi statute on the same subject approximates the idea as to membership by prescribing that such organizations shall be formed "only within groups which have a common bond of occupation, association, or residence within a well defined neighborhood, small community, or rural district." (Ch. 177, acts of 1924.) A like law of Louisiana contains a similar limitation. (No. 40, acts of 1924.) The laws of the other States lack even so much of a labor aspect.

STATE CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

Laws authorizing the States to engage in lines of business ordinarily left to private enterprise are not labor laws in the sense of affecting the relation or status of employers and employees; however, they have a direct industrial aspect and the few existing laws in this field are therefore noted.

No decision as to their constitutionality is at hand, and it is not at all certain that decisions as to the authority of the municipalities to engage in business are in point, as such political subdivisions lack the sovereign power that inheres in the States. However, it may be noted that ordinances looking toward the maintenance of a municipal ice plant in Kansas City, Mo., which would also sell to private consumers; of the city of Waycross, Ga., authorizing the city to engage in the plumbing business and furnish supplies for the operation of a municipal waterworks system; of a city in Virgina proposing to operate a stone quarry in connection with the construction and maintenance of its streets; and of cities in Massachusetts and Michigan looking toward the establishment of municipal fuel plants, have all been declared unconstitutional, the ground being that municipal corporations may not engage in private business or use public money in business ventures in fields of customarily private undertakings. In the Missouri case it was said that even though the city charter might have permitted the action, both the common law and the constitution of the State forbade the levying and collection of taxes by a city for any private purpose or business. (State v. Orear, 277 Mo. 303, 210 S. W. 392; Keen v. Mayor of Waycross, 101 Ga. 588, 29 S. E. 42; Bradford v. Clark, 113 Va. 199, 73 S. E. 571; In re Municipal Fuel Plants, 182 Mass. 605, 66 N. E. 25; Baker v. Grand Rapids, 142 Mich. 687, 106 N. W. 208.)

On the other hand the Supreme Court of Maine upheld a law authorizing the operation of fuel yards by cities and towns (Laughlin v. City of Portland, 111 Me. 486, 90 Atl. 318); while the Supreme Court of Georgia upheld the establishment of an ice factory to be operated in connection with a going municipal lighting plant (Holton v. City of Camilla, 134 Ga. 560, 68 S. E. 472).

The State laws on the subject are:

Arizona.—Initiated act of 1914, p. 19, appendix to session laws of 1915.
Kansas.—Acts of extra session 1920, ch. 29 (sec. 20).
North Dakota.—Acts of 1919, ch. 151; extra session, 1919, ch. 43.
South Dakota.—Constitution, art. 13, secs. 9–16; art. 29, sec. 1.

The Arizona statute is general, authorizing the State board of control to use the general fund of the State whenever in its judgment it shall be for the best interest of the State to establish and operate any manufacturing establishment or institution to manufacture and market any natural product existing in or upon the public lands of the State; to operate water plants, gas plants, printing plants, etc., all work thereon and on other State constructions to be done without the letting of contracts, but by the State, "by days' pay."

The Kansas laws is a single provision of the Industrial Court Act, undertaking to authorize the industrial court to take over and operate the industries, employments, public utilities, and common carriers to which the act applies in case of the suspension, limitation, or cessation of such operation if it shall appear to the court that the public welfare and public peace or public health are endangered by such suspension, etc.

In North Dakota an industrial commission is created with authority to manage, operate, control, and govern all utilities, industries, enterprises, and business projects of the State except those carried on in penal, charitable, and educational institutions. An appropriation is made available for the commission to use according to its judgment. An act of the special session of 1919 authorized the governor to operate coal mines and public utilities where the cessation of such operation on account of strikes or lockouts threatened to endanger the life and property of the people of the State.

In South Dakota the authorization is entirely in the constitution, amendments thereto having been proposed by the special session of 1918, and subsequently adopted by the people of the State. The legislature, by a two-thirds vote, may authorize the construction and maintenance of good roads and the supply of coal; the manufacture, distribution, and sale of cement and cement products, together with the operation of such means of transportation, etc., as are necessary to enable the business to be carried on; the manufacture, distribution, and sale of electric current for heating, lighting, and power purposes; or engaging in any work of public improvement; also the legislature may appropriate money for the construction and operation of elevators and warehouses, and may construct and operate flour mills and packing houses within the State if in its judgment the public necessities may so require.

PREFERENCE FOR LOCAL LABOR AND DOMESTIC MATERIALS ON PUBLIC WORKS

Expressive of a purpose to benefit local labor and industries are the laws of several States declaring a preference for the employment of citizens and the purchase of domestic products in the prosecution of public works or procuring public supplies. Such laws may even prohibit the employment of aliens (in some States specifically of Chinese), a provision which would be invalid if applied to private employments (Truax v. Raich (1915), 239 U. S. 33, 36 Sup. Ct. 7); and it has even been so held when public employment was under consideration, on the ground that the statute denied the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the fourteenth amendment to all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States regardless of nationality (Ex parte Case (1911), 20 Idaho 128, 116 Pac. 1037); but on the ground that the States are units of which those not citizens are not members, and that they may dictate the terms on which they will expend their own money, it is authoritatively held that laws containing such restrictions are valid as regards contracts for public works (Heim v. McCall (1915), 239 U. S. 175, 36 Sup. Ct. 78). In expending public funds, the legislature may have contemplated the employment of local labor as tending to prevent pauperism within the State, and was within its powers in so providing (People v. Crane (1915), 214 N. Y. 154, 108 N. E. 427; Aff. 239 U. S. 195, 36 Sup. Ct. 85).

Laws of this class exist in the following jurisdictions:

Materials

Florida.—Acts 1923, ch. 9146.
Minnesota.—Acts of 1915, ch. 211.
Missouri.—R. S. 10390.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 2992–2994.
Porto Rico.—Acts of 1915, No. 13.

Maine.—R. S., ch. 49, sec. 36.
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 149, sec, 26, 179a (added 1922, ch. 517).
Nevada.—R. L. 1919, p. 2965.
New Hampshire.—Acts 1915, ch. 45.
New Jersey.—C. S., p. 3023, sec. 15.
New York.—Acts of 1921, ch. 50, sec. 222.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 2995–3000.
Pennsylvania.—Statutes, sec. 18268.
Utah.—C. L., sec. 4865.
Washington.—Acts of 1919, ch. 111.
Wyoming.—Const., Art. XIX, secs. 1, 2.
United States.—C. S., secs. 6859, 6876, 6879.

The prohibition against the employment of aliens, or at least those who have not declared their intentions of citizenship, is absolute in Arizona, California (emergencies due to fire, flood, or other calamity due to natural causes excepted), Idaho, New Jersey, and Wyoming.

PUBLIC PRINTING TO BE DONE WITHIN THE STATE

Like the above, the provision found in the laws of a number of States requiring public printing to be done within the State is doubtless intended in part to favor local industry. The practice is much wider than the statutory requirement. In some States a proviso is added allowing bids from outside the State to be secured where the difference in cost would seem to warrant, or where there appears to be a combination in the State to maintain prices and prevent free competition. The Mississippi statute was held constitutional by the supreme court of that State. (Dixon-Paul Printing Co. v. Board (1918), 77 So. 908).

The following States have laws directing printing to be done within the State:

Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 9207.
Florida.—R. G. S., sec. 1304.
Idaho.—C. S., secs. 2335–2337.
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 127, sec. 16.
Kentucky.—Statutes, sec. 3954.
Minnesota.—G. S., sec. 4936.
Mississippi.—Code, sec. 3739 (am. 1916, ch. 135.)
Missouri.—R. S., sec. 9700.
New Hampshire.—Acts, 1901, ch. 84 (am. 1913, ch. 132).
New Jersey.—C. S., 4205, sec. 3.
North Dakota.—R. C., secs. 2282 (am. 1907, ch. 185).
Ohio.—G. C., sec. 763 (am. 1911, p. 448).
Tennessee.—Code, sec. 39a.
Texas.—R. S., art. 6340.

Of these States, the following make provision for bids from outside the State when one or both the conditions named above exist:

Arkansas, Idaho, New Hampshire, North Dakota (allows a difference of 15 per cent), and Tennessee.

The following States, etc., have provided for public printing offices:

California.—Pol. C., secs. 526–540.
Iowa.—Code, sec. 117; Supp., secs. 118–144d.
Kansas.—Const., art. 15, sec. 256; G. S., secs. 10792–10820.
Nevada.—R. L., secs. 4305–4340.
Oregon.—Const., Art. XII, sec. 1; Laws, secs. 2780–2795.
Philippine Islands.—Acts of Phil. Com., No. 296.
Porto Rico.—Pol. C., sec. 2718.

RATES OF WAGES OF EMPLOYEES ON PUBLIC WORKS

Laws designating the rates of wages to be paid employees on public works are significant as an attempt on the part of the State to regulate employment conditions. Such laws may either name a fixed sum or direct that not less than current rates be paid. Some of these laws have been declared unconstitutional by the courts, either because of their infringing on the right to contract or because they were discriminatory in their nature.

In a New York case (People ex. rel. Rodgers v. Coler (1901), 166 N. Y. 1, 59 N. E. 716), a contractor sued to compel payment on a contract for work done, in the performance of which he had paid less than the current wages. The act of the legislature requiring that rates of wages on public work be not less than the prevailing rates in similar employments in the locality in which the work was done was declared unconstitutional as invading the rights of liberty and property, denying to the city and to contractors the right to agree with their employees as to the amount of compensation to be paid. The statute was also condemned as penalizing acts that are in themselves innocent and harmless. Later (Ryan v. City of New York (1904), 177 N. Y. 271, 69 N. E. 599), the attitude indicated above was modified to the extent of holding that the city was governed by this law in so far as it related to direct employment by the municipalities, though it was void as to contractors, who must simply effect specified results, and who are at liberty to make contracts freely with their workmen. The Supreme Court of Indiana in 1903 took the view expressed in the Rodgers case above, holding that cities, etc., might also contract without interference by the statute (Street v. Varney Elec. Co., 60 Ind. 338, 66 N. E. 895).

The foregoing decisions are opposed to a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States (Atkin v. Kansas (1903), 191 U. S. 207, 24 Sup. Ct. 124), to the effect that municipalities are but the agent of the State for the performance of certain duties best attended to locally, and that it rests with the State to make such conditions for contractors as it may choose, the contractor being free or not to accept such terms; but if he undertakes work for the State or a municipality, both he and the municipality must conform to the conditions laid down by the State. The people of the State of New York later adopted an amendment to the constitution conferring on the legislature power to act in the manner previously attempted, regulating the conditions of employment, whether the work be done by the city directly or by a contractor. The legislature then passed another law which has since been declared constitutional. (People ex rel. Williams Eng. and Const. Co. v. Metz (1908), 193 N. Y. 148, 85 N. E. 1070).

The doctrine of the Atkin Case was not found to apply in a case involving the constitutionality of an act of the Legislature of Nebraska (ch. 17, acts of 1909) which undertook to regulate the conditions of employment on the public works of cities of a designated class, naming $2 as the rate of daily pay. This was given as one of the reasons for holding the act unconstitutional, since "no fixed rate of wages should be provided by the legislature without reference to the going wages for that kind of work at the time and place where it is to be performed" (Wright v. Hoctor (1914), 95 Nebr. 342, 145 N. W. 704). This was on the ground that the law favored one citizen at the expense of another, taking the property of the latter without due process of law. Another decision falling in this group is one of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania declaring invalid a stipulation in a contract of the city of Reading fixing $1.50 as the minimum daily wage to be paid by contractors for public works (Frame v. Felix (1895), 167 Pa. 47, 31 Atl. 375). It was held that this provision was a violation of the law that required such contracts to be let to the lowest responsible bidder, wages being one of the essential elements of the work, every part of which must be subject to competition. It is recognized under the decision in the Atkin Case, however, that a law properly based and enacted, fixing rates of wages on public works is valid legislation.

The States having laws on this subject are (laws relating only to highway labor omitted) the following:

Arizona.—R. S., sec. 3103.
California.—Code, G. L., No. 2894.
Hawaii.—Acts of 1919, No. 218.
Maryland.—P. L. L. (Baltimore), Art. 4, sec. 31a (am. 1910, p. 642).
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 149, secs. 26, 27.

New York.—Acts of 1921, ch. 50, sec. 220 (am. 1921, ch. 642).
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 3757.
Porto Rico.—Acts of 1923, No. 11.
United States.—C. S., sec. 6765.

HOURS OF LABOR ON PUBLIC ROADS

The laws designating the hours of labor on public roads apply principally to the working out of taxes and relate less to the employment of labor than to regulations adopted by the people through their representatives for the determination of the time of their own service in this particular. They are significant, however, as indicating what is considered a day's labor in a form of public work, though they establish a minimum day rather than fix a limit beyond which labor is forbidden.

The hours of labor prescribed by the laws of the various States, etc., which have laws on this subject are as follows:

Eight hours

Alaska.—C. L., sec. 36.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 5348.
California.—Acts of 1917, ch. 52, sec. 35.
Indiana.—Acts of 1923, ch. 194, sec. 3.
Iowa.—Code, sec. 1535.
Kentucky.—Statutes, sec. 4329 (am. 1918, ch. 23).
Mississippi.—Code, sec. 4416 (am. 1922, ch. 242).
Nevada.—R. L., sec. 3035.
New Jersey.—C. S., p. 4444, sec. 53; p. 4448, sec. 66a–5.
North Dakota.—R. C., sec. 1431.
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 7566.
Philippine Islands.—Acts of Phil. Com., No. 1511.
Texas.—Acts of 1913, ch. 68.
Wyoming.—C. S., sec. 2562.

Not less than 7 nor more than 10 hours

North Carolina.—Con. L., sec. 3808.

Nine hours

Tennessee.—Code, sec. 1671.

Ten hours

South Carolina.—Civ. C., sec. 1977.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYERS FOR TAXES OF EMPLOYEES

Eleven jurisdictions have in their tax laws provisions making employers liable for certain taxes of their employees. The law may require such payment on notice, or it may provide for proceedings in the nature of garnishment before liability attaches. The amounts paid are of course to be deducted from the wages.

In Alaska and Louisiana the laws refer to school taxes only; in Nevada and Washington to poll taxes for general State or local benefit; in North Carolina all taxes are included; in Pennsylvania (sec. 4817) to occupation taxes of employees generally for school purposes, another section (20728) relating to all taxes assessed on alien employees. In the other five States only road taxes are included in the laws.

The list is as follows:

Alaska.—Acts of 1919, ch. 29, sec. 8.
California.—Pol. C., sec. 2671.
Georgia.—Pol. C., sec. 670.
Idaho.—C. S., sec. 1344.
Louisiana.—Acts of 1902, No. 213.
Montana.—R. C., sec. 1620.
Nevada.—R. L., sec. 3718.
North Carolina.—Con. S., sec. 8004.
Pennsylvania.—Statutes, secs. 4817, 20728.
Washington.—Acts of 1921, ch. 174.
Wyoming.—C. S., sec. 2558.

EMPLOYERS TO FURNISH NAMES OF EMPLOYEES TO TAX OFFICIALS

In line with the foregoing legislation is a method adopted in a few States, by which employers are required to furnish the names of their employees to officials of the county, etc., for purposes of taxation. This also is a tax measure rather than a labor law, but imposes a certain duty upon the employer because of his status. The law of Alaska refers to school taxes only, that of Montana, South Carolina, and Wyoming only to road taxes, the laws of the other jurisdictions being more general in their application.

The list of laws of this class is as follows:

Alaska.—Acts of 1919, ch. 29, sec. 8.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 10550.
California.—Penal C., sec. 434.
Hawaii.—R. L., sec. 1253.
Idaho.—C. S., sec. 8384.
Montana.—R. C., sec. 1619.
North Carolina.—Con. S., sec. 8004.
South Carolina.—Cr. C., sec. 638.
Washington.—Acts of 1921, ch. 174.
Wyoming.—C. S., sec. 2558.

INTOXICATION, NEGLIGENCE, ETC., OF EMPLOYEES

Several States have laws penalizing the negligence of employees, especially where such negligence involves danger to the public. The common-law liability of the employer for his employee's negligence is not affected, but there is usually a definite penalty attached to the specific act which is enforceable against the employer; while in some cases criminal proceedings against the employee are authorized.

INTEMPERATE EMPLOYEES—INTOXICATION

Laws penalizing employers for having in their service as drivers of public conveyances persons addicted to drunkenness are found in the States named below. The laws also generally require immediate discharge of a driver on complaint of his intoxication.

California.—Pol. Code, secs. 2932, 2933.
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 121, secs. 146, 147.
Michigan.—C. L., secs. 4594, 4595.
Montana.—R. C., secs. 1745, 1746.
Nebraska.—C. S., secs. 2771, 2772.
New Jersey.—C. S., p. 5652, sec. 9.
New York.—Con. L., ch. 25, secs. 322, 323.
North Dakota.—R. C., sec. 1461.
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 7637.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 2253–3, 2253–4.
Wisconsin.—Statutes, secs. 85.19, 85.20.

Similar laws relative to employees on railroads are found in—

Michigan.—C. L., sec. 8294.
New York.—Con. L., ch. 40, sec. 1913.
Ohio.—G. S., secs. 9005, 9006.
Vermont.—G. L., secs. 5252, 5253.

The following-named sections of State laws relate to common carriers and provide penalties on the employees themselves for their intoxication, and may also declare them liable for damages incurred by reason of such intoxication:

Alabama.—Code, sec. 4628.
Arizona.—R. S., P. C., sec. 398.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 8590.
California.—Penal C., secs. 369f, 391.
Connecticut.—G. S., sec. 6191.
Florida.—R. G. S., sec. 5574.
Idaho.—C. S., sec. 8349.
Indiana.—A. S., sec. 5301.
Maine.—R. S., ch. 57, sec. 64.
Michigan.—C. L., sec. 8295.
Minnesota.—G. S., sec. 8775.
Mississippi.—Code, sec. 1350.
Missouri.—R. S., secs. 3242, 3243.
Montana.—R. C., sec. 11253.
Nebraska.—C. S., sec. 5414.
Nevada.—R. L., secs. 3564, 6583.
New Jersey.—C. S., p. 4244, sec. 50.
New Mexico.—A. S., sec. 4714.
New York.—Con. L., ch. 40, sec. 1984.
North Carolina.—Con. S., sec. 4420.
North Dakota.—R. C., sec. 9061.
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 2537.
Porto Rico.—P. C., sec. 344.
South Dakota.—R. C., sec. 3987.
Utah.—C. L., sec. 8202.
Virginia.—A. C., sec. 4722.
Washington.—C. and S., sec. 2527 (am. 1915, ch. 165).
West Virginia.—Code, sec. 5232.

More general than the above are laws applicable to employees of common carriers, penalizing the racing of steamboats, creating an unsafe amount of steam in boilers, violating rules, or willfully omitting the performance of duty whereby life or safety is endangered or property destroyed. Such conduct is a misdemeanor, and is punishable as such, or by a special penalty; while if actual personal injury results the offense may be a felony.

Laws of this class are found in most jurisdictions, as follows:

Alabama.—Code, secs. 5334, 5533–5536.
Arizona.—R. S., secs. 382, 400.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 2363.
California.—Penal Code, secs. 348, 349, 368, 369, 393.

SABOTAGE AND CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM

Laws penalizing criminal syndicalism, which is defined as "the doctrine which advocates crime, sabotage, or unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political reform," are of recent enactment in the United States. They are classifiable as criminal laws, severe penalties being provided for the commission of forbidden acts; but as they are directed to the regulation of methods of "industrial reform," while sabotage is defined as "malicious damage or injury to the property of an employer by an employee," they must be considered, in some degree at least, as labor legislation.

The first statutes of this type were enacted in 1917, Idaho (March 14) antedating Minnesota (April 13) by about a month. The constitutionality of this class of statutes has been challenged, but they have been upheld by various courts. Perhaps the earliest decision was by the Supreme Court of Minnesota in State v. Moilen (April 19, 1918), 167 N. W. 345. The California law was also upheld, People v. Malley, 194 Pac. 48, as well as others.

Most of the laws enacted are of a standardized form, of which the Minnesota statute may be accepted as representative. It is as follows:

CHAPTER 215.—Criminal syndicalism

SECTION 1. Definition.—Criminal syndicalism is hereby defined as the doctrine which advocates crime, sabotage, (this word as used in this bill meaning malicious damage or injury to the property of an employer by an employee) violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political ends. The advocacy of such doctrine, whether by word of mouth or writing is a felony punishable as in this act otherwise provided.

SEC. 2. Offenses.—Any person who by word of mouth or writing, advocates or teaches the duty, necessity or propriety of crime. sabotage, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political ends, or prints, publishes, edits, issues or knowingly circulates, sells, distributes or publicly displays any book, paper, document or written matter in any form, containing or advocating, advising or teaching the doctrine that industrial or political ends should be brought about by crime, sabotage, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism; or openly, willfully and deliberately justifies by word of mouth or writing, the commission or the attempt to commit crime, sabotage, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism with intent to exemplify, spread or advocate propriety of the doctrines of criminal syndicalism, or organizes or helps to organize or becomes a member or voluntarily assembles with any society, group or assemblage of persons formed to teach or advocate the doctrine of criminal syndicalism, is guilty of a felony and punishable by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than five years or by a fine of not more than $1,000 or both.

SEC. 3. Assembling.—Wherever two or more persons assemble for the purpose of advocating or teaching the doctrines of criminal syndicalism defined in this act, such an assemblage is unlawful and every person voluntarily participating therein by his presence, aid or instigation is guilty of a felony and punishable by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than ten years or by a fine of not more than $5,000 or both.

SEC. 4. Permitting assemblages.—The owner, agent, superintendent, or occupant of any place, building or rooms who willfully and knowingly permits therein any assemblage of persons prohibited by the provisions of section three of this act, or who, after notification that the premises are so used, permits such use to be continued, is guilty of a gross misdemeanor and punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or by a fine of not more than $500 or both.

Laws of this type, or embodying similar provisions are found in—

Alabama.—Code, secs. 3452–3455.
Alaska.—Acts of 1919, ch. 6.
Arizona.—Extra session, 1918, ch. 13.
California.—Acts of 1919, ch. 188.
Hawaii.—Acts of 1919, No. 186.
Idaho.—C. S., secs. 8580–8583.
Iowa.—Acts of 1919, ch. 382.
Kansas.—Extra session, 1920, ch. 37.
Michigan.—Acts of 1919, No. 255.
Minnesota.—Acts of 1917, ch. 215.

Montana.—R. C., secs. 10740–10744.
Nebraska.—C. S., secs. 9755–9757.
Nevada.—R. L., 1919, p. 3375.
Ohio.—Acts of 1919, p. 189.
Oklahoma.—Acts of 1919, ch. 70.
Oregon.—Acts of 1921, ch. 34.
South Dakota.—R. C., secs. 3644–3647.
Utah.—Acts of 1919, ch. 127.
Washington.—Acts of 1919, chs. 173, 174.

Other laws that may be noted in this connection are one of Hawaii, No. 216, acts of 1921, which is addressed to the subject of publications, etc., intended to advocate or incite the commission of acts of violence, sabotage, etc., directed to the intimidation or coercion of persons engaged in lawful business or of the enjoyment of rights of liberty and property. Foreign-language newspapers must file a copy of each and every such paper or printed document in the office of the attorney general; while books, papers, pamphlets, circulars, and the like relating to the Government or laws of the United States or of the Territory of Hawaii, or to the rights of persons or property, or to racial, industrial, or class questions or conditions, shall be filed in the office of the attorney general of the Territory together with a true and correct English translation thereof, and the name or names and addresses of the author or authors and of the publisher; one of Indiana (acts of 1919, ch. 125) which omits the provisions of the standard law as to the formation and encouragement of organizations, and is directed more specifically to the idea of the general strike; and one of Wyoming (acts of 1919, ch. 76), which also omitted reference to organizations, but provides penalties for inciting or encouraging crime as a means of coercion for the accomplishment of political and industrial changes "in any manner or by any means."

INDUSTRIAL POLICE

The appointment of special police at the request of individuals and corporations for the purpose of the preservation of order in or about specified places or for the protection of property is authorized by law in several States. Such police are to be appointed by the governor or other official, and are usually required to wear a badge bearing the words "Railroad Police," "Steamboat Police," "Coal and Iron Police," or the like, except when engaged in detective service. They are to be paid by the parties requesting their appointment, but are subject to the orders of the State or local authorities. Such persons may or may not be employees of the person or corporation applying for their appointment as police officers.

Laws conferring on railroad conductors, etc., the power of making arrests of disorderly persons on their trains, and laws providing for the appointment on motion of the proper authorities of added officers of the peace in time of riot or other disorder are not considered under this head.

The provisions of the statute of Connecticut as to the appointment of special officers for the protection of industrial property and the maintenance of order in the vicinity, are here reproduced as representative of this class of laws:

CONNECTICUT—GENERAL STATUTES

SECTION 80. Public service corporations.—The governor may upon the application of any electric, gas, telephone, telegraph, or water company owning, leasing, maintaining, managing, or controlling any property, plant, or equipment, in this State, commission, during his pleasure, one or more persons designated by such company who, having been sworn, may act at the expense of such company as policemen upon the premises used or occupied by such company in its business, or upon any highway adjacent to such premises, for the proper protection of such plant or property, and every policeman so appointed may arrest any person in his precincts for any offense committed therein, and take such person before some proper authority. The superintendent of State police may exercise such supervision and direction over any policeman appointed as herein provided as he may deem necessary. When any commission is issued to any such policeman, or revoked, the executive secretary shall notify the clerk of the superior court of each county in which it is intended that such policeman shall act.

SEC. 81. Railroads, etc.—[This section makes identical provision with the above for appointments on the application of railroad, street railway, or steamboat companies, or of corporations owning or having control of the roads in any private residence park.]

SEC. 82. Shield.—Every such policeman shall, when on duty, wear, in plain view, a shield bearing the words "railroad police," "street railway police," or "steamboat police," as the case may be, and the name of the company for which he is commissioned.

SEC. 357. To be citizens.—No person not a citizen of this State shall be appointed a special constable or policeman. But this provision shall not be construed to prevent the governor appointing any regular employee of any railroad or steamboat company a special officer.

The person or other agency procuring the appointment may be made responsible for any abuse of authority; or the appointee may be required to give bond to cover such liability. Following is a list of the States having laws on this subject, with a statement of their application, and the provision for liability, if any:

Alabama.—Code, secs. 9993–10003. Railroads and street railways. Governor appoints. Appointees give bond.

California.—Penal Code, p. 652. Railroad and steamboat companies. Governor appoints. Employers liable.

Florida.—Acts of 1921, ch. 8539. Common carriers. Governor appoints. Appointees give bond.

Indiana.—A. S., sec. 8783. Any person or corporation. Commissioners of public safety appoint.

Maryland.—A. C., art. 23, secs. 406–411. Railroad, steamboat, canal, furnace, colliery, or rolling mill corporations. Governor appoints.

Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 159, secs. 89–95. Railroad, street railway, and steamboat companies. Mayor or selectmen appoint. Employers liable.

Nevada.—Acts of 1921, ch. 163. Railroad companies. Governor appoints. Employers liable.

New Jersey.—C. S., p. 369, sec. 4 (am. 1922, ch. 153). Railroad, street railway, canal, or steamboat companies. Governor appoints.

New Mexico.—Acts of 1921, ch. 141. Railroad companies. Governor appoints. Bond required and employers liable.

New York.—Con. L., ch. 49, sec. 88 (am. 1924, ch. 668). Railroad and steamboat companies. Superintendent of State police appoints.

North Carolina.—Con. S., secs. 3484–3488 (am. 1923, ch. 23). Steam and electric roads, electric, water-power, construction, or manufacturing companies. Governor appoints. Appointees give bond.

North Dakota.—R. C., secs. 9750, 9751. Railroad companies. Company appoints.

Ohio.—G. C., secs. 9150–9155 (am. 1921, p. 40). Banks, building and loan associations, railroad, street railway, suburban and interurban railroad companies. Governor appoints.

Oregon.—Laws, secs. 5969, 5970. Railroad and steamboat companies. Governor appoints. Employers liable.

ARMED GUARDS

In line with legislation authorizing the appointment of special or industrial police at the request of individuals and corporations for the purpose of the preservation of order in or about specified places or for the protection of property, is another form of legislation forbidding the hiring or employing of armed guards for the same purpose, unless they are citizens or residents of the State, or have secured special permits for the purpose. Only nine States have such laws, and no legislation has been enacted since 1913.

The law of the State of Colorado on this subject is reproduced herewith as being fairly representative of laws of this class:

COLORADO—COMPILED LAWS

SECTION 4158. Hiring armed guards.—Any person or persons who shall hire, aid, abet or assist in hiring, through agencies or otherwise, persons to guard with arms or deadly weapons of any kind other persons or property in this State, or any person or persons who shall come into the State armed with deadly weapons of any kind for any such purpose, without a permit in writing from the governor of this State, shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to interfere with the right of any person, persons, or company, corporation, society, association or organization in guarding or protecting their private property or private interests, as is now provided by law; but this act shall be construed only to apply in cases where workmen are brought into this State, or induced to go from one place to another in this State, by any false pretenses, false advertising or deceptive representations, or brought into this State under arms, or removed from one place to another in this State, under arms.

The foregoing is practically the language of the laws of Alaska, Oklahoma, and Tennessee on this subject, being a part of a statute penalizing employment under misrepresentation or fraud. In the other jurisdictions the provision is an independent one and is directed simply to the importation or employment of others than citizens as guards, unless they are regular employees.

The following States have laws of this class:

Alaska.—Acts of 1913, ch. 36, sec. 3.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 2793.
Colorado.—C. L., sec. 4158.
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 149, secs. 176, 177.

Missouri.—R. S., sec. 3484
Oklahoma.—R. L., sec. 3767.
Tennessee.—Code, sec. 4338a–3.

TRADE-MARKS OF TRADE-UNIONS

The laws of 43 States secure to labor organizations the right to register, use, and protect from counterfeit or unauthorized use the trade-marks or labels chosen by them to distinguish the products of union labor from other goods or manufactured articles.

The law of the State of Connecticut on this subject is reproduced herewith, as being fairly representative of laws of this class:

CONNECTICUT—GENERAL STATUTES

SECTION 4815. Imitation: penalty.—Whenever any person, or any association or union of workingmen, has adopted or used, or shall adopt or use, any label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement for the purpose of designating, making known, or distinguishing any goods, wares, merchandise, or other product of labor as having been made, manufactured, produced, prepared, packed, worked upon, or put on sale by such person or association or union of workingmen, or by a member or members of such association or union, and shall have recorded such label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement as provided in section 4816, it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to counterfeit or imitate such label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement, or to use, sell, offer for sale, or in any way utter or circulate, any counterfeit or imitation of such label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement. Every person willfully and knowingly violating any provision of this section shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200 or imprisoned not less than three months nor more than one year or both.

SEC. 4816. Label to be filed with secretary.—Every such person, association, or union that has adopted or shall adopt a label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement may file the same for record in the office of the secretary of the state by leaving two copies, counterparts or facsimiles thereof, with the secretary of the state. Said secretary shall deliver to such person, association, or union so filing the same a duly attested certificate of the record of the same. Such certificate of record, or a duly certified copy thereof, shall, in all suits and prosecutions under sections 4815, 4819, 4820, and 4821, be sufficient proof of the adoption of such label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement, and of the right of said person, association, or union to adopt the same. No label shall be recorded that would probably be mistaken for a label already of record.

SEC. 4817. Regulation to be made.—The insignia, flag, ribbon, badge, rosette, seal, button, or emblem of any society, association, labor union, or incorporated club may be filed and registered in the office of the secretary of the State, in the manner and subject to the provisions of section 4816 so far as the same are applicable, and the secretary of the State may make regulations and prescribe forms for such registration.

SEC. 4819. Injunction against wrongful use of label.—Every such person, association or union adopting a label, trade-mark, term, design, device or form of advertisement and having duly recorded the same as hereinbefore provided may enjoin the manufacture, use, display or sale of any counterfeit or imitation thereof, or the sale of goods bearing any counterfeit or imitation thereof, either in its identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as is calculated or liable to deceive; and all courts having jurisdiction thereof shall grant injunctions to restrain such manufacture, use, display, or sale, and shall award the complainant in such suit, such damages, resulting from such wrongful manufacture, use, display, or sale, as may by said court be deemed just and reasonable and shall require the defendants to pay to such person, association, or union the profits derived from such wrongful manufacture, use, display, or sale; and such court shall also order that all such counterfeits or imitations in the possession or under the control of any defendant in such case be delivered to an officer of the court or to the complainant to be destroyed.

SEC. 4820. Unauthorized use of label.—Every person who shall use or display the genuine label, trade-mark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement of any such person, association, or union, which shall have been duly recorded as hereinbefore provided, in any manner not authorized by such person, union, or association, knowing that such use or display is not so authorized, shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200 or imprisoned not less than three months nor more than one year or both. In all cases where such association or union is not incorporated suits under sections 4815, 4819, and 4821 and this section may be commenced and prosecuted by any officer or member of such association or union, in behalf of and for the use of such association or union.

SEC. 4821. Unauthorized use of name or seal.—Every person who shall in any way use the name or seal of any such person, association, or union, or officer thereof, in and about the sale of goods or otherwise, not being authorized so to use the same, and knowing that such use is unauthorized, shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200 or imprisoned not less than three months nor more than one year or both.

The courts have differed as to the effect of this class of legislation, though its constitutionality has been repeatedly sustained (Cohn v. People (1894), 149 Ill. 486, 37 N. E. 60; State v. Bishop (1895), 128 Mo. 373, 31 S. W. 9; Perkins v. Heert (1899), 158 N. Y. 306, 53 N. E. 18). Whether or not the union label can be classed as a trade-mark rests with the definition given the latter term. In Connecticut, Indiana, Massachusetts, and New York the language of the law defining trade-marks is broad enough to include the union label. In Minnesota (Cigar Makers v. Conhaim, 40 Minn. 243, 41 N. W. 943) it was said that the union label can not be protected as it does not indicate any individual manufacturer nor point distinctly to the origin or ownership of the article to which it is applied. A similar conclusion was reached by the courts of Pennsylvania (McVey v. Brendel, 144 Pa. St. 235, 22 Atl. 912) and Massachusetts (Weener v. Brayton, 152 Mass. 101, 25 N. E. 46), the court in the latter case saying that as the mark or label is not itself property the officers and members of a union could not have an injunction against its unauthorized use. On the other hand, it has been ruled that since the label is a symbol of the reputation of the goods on which it is placed it partakes of the character of property and may therefore receive legislative protection (State v. Bishop, 128 Mo. 373, 31 S. W. 9; People v. Dantuma, 252 Ill. 561, 96 N. E., 1087). In general it may be said that the laws are operative and effective, contentions that they are class legislation or discriminatory being overruled by the courts.

UNION LABEL ON PUBLIC PRINTING

A requirement that the union label be borne on public printing is found in three States. The constitutionality of such a provision is doubtful, as several decisions of courts are to the effect that city ordinances of similar tenor are void as interfering with the common statutory requirement that contracts shall go to the lowest responsible bidder; also because they limit employment to a certain class of persons, violating common rights and tending to create a monopoly. (Holden v. City of Alton (1899), 179 Ill. 318, 53 N. E. 556; Paterson Chronicle Co. v. Paterson (1901), 66 N. J. L. 129, 48 Atl. 589.)

The States having such laws are:

Maryland.—An. C., art. 78, sec. 9.
Montana.—R. C., sec. 260.
Nevada.—R. L., sec. 4309.

PROTECTION OF EMPLOYEES AS MEMBERS OF LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Laws have been enacted in a number of States forbidding employers to discharge workmen on account of their membership in labor organizations, or to require, as a condition of employment, that they shall not be or become members of such organizations. Such laws have been declared unconstitutional in 11 States and by the Supreme Court of the United States. Though not the earliest decision, the decision of the Supreme Court is controlling. There is little variety in the reasons given for the holding of unconstitutionality. It is said to be the right of employers and employees to continue their mutual relations so long as agreeable to both, but that either may terminate the contract at will, subject only to such conditions as are contained therein, or as are enacted by the State, applicable to all persons in like conditions. The employer can not insist that the employee remain against his will, nor can the employee insist on retaining employment with an unwilling employer. In the absence of contract or legal requirement to the contrary, contracts may be terminated by either party "for any reason or no reason," and laws singling out one reason for which discharge will not be permitted are discriminatory and an interference with the rights of the parties (Adair v. United States (1908), 208 U. S. 161, 28 Sup. Ct. 277).

The foregoing decision related to a Federal statute; the Supreme Court also passed upon a Kansas law of similar content, reversing the State supreme court, which had upheld the State law as constitutional (Coppage v. Kansas (1915), 236 U. S. 1, 35 Sup. Ct. 240). With the exception of this decision and those of the United States courts holding the California and Nevada statutes invalid, the decisions as to unconstitutionality of State laws have been rendered by the courts of the States.

In Wisconsin, a statute which provides that "any two or more persons * * * who are employers of labor * * * who shall coerce or compel agreements as to membership in labor organizations" as a condition of securing employment or continuing therein was in existence at the time of the declaration of unconstitutionality of the act of 1899. So far as is known its validity has not been challenged, and it continues to appear in the current compilations of the laws of the State. No decision under this provision (sec. 4466b) is at hand, and it is possible that the element of combination or conspiracy apparently contemplated by the section will be regarded as a proper subject for legislation. In New York, however (Con. L., ch. 40, sec. 531), there is a reproduction of a law, apparently an enactment of the legislature of 1909, which embodies the identical principles of section 171a of the Political Code declared by the court of appeals of the State to be unconstitutional in 1906 (People v. Marcus, 185 N. Y. 257, 77 N. E. 1073). No decision construing this later law is at hand.

A converse idea is represented by a provision found in the law of Utah (C. L., sec. 8329), which makes it unlawful for any person to induce another by threats or coercion to join any organization.

The validity of the laws forbidding discharge, etc., on account of membership is necessarily subject to question in view of the uniform finding of unconstitutionality where the question has been taken to the courts. The jurisdictions having laws of this class which have not been thus tested, are:

Connecticut.—G. S., sec. 6359.
Idaho.—C. S., sec. 2321.
Indiana.—A. S., sec. 2683.
Louisiana.—Acts of 1914, No. 294.
Massachusetts.—G. L., ch. 149, sec. 20.
Mississippi.—Acts of 1908, ch. 93 (telegraphers only).
New Hampshire.—Acts of 1913, ch. 208.

New York.—Con. L., ch. 40, sec. 531.
Oregon.—Laws, sec. 2181.
Porto Rico.—Acts of 1917, No. 42.

Wisconsin.—Statutes, sec. 4466b.

TIME TO VOTE TO BE ALLOWED EMPLOYEES

In line with election-day holidays such as are in force in several of the States, are laws guaranteeing the exercise of civil rights of employees. The majority of these laws provide that the employer must, upon prior notification, permit employees to leave the establishment, some time between the opening and closing of the polls, for the purpose of voting and that the employee shall not be subject to any penalty because of the exercise of the privilege.

An Illinois statute (R. S. of 1917, ch. 46, sec. 312), including a provision that the employee should not be subject to any penalty or deduction of wages, was declared unconstitutional in so far as this provision is concerned in the case of People v. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R. Co. (1923), 138 N. E. 155. The court held that it was an unlawful attempt to regulate private contracts, that it was not a proper exercise of the police power, and that it was taking property without the due process of law. The provision for absence was declared valid.

The following States have laws on this subject:

Alaska.—Acts of 1915, ch. 25, sec. 40.
Arizona.—R. S., sec. 2969.
Arkansas.—Digest, sec. 3818.
California.—Pol. Code, sec. 1212.

ABSENT VOTERS

A form of legislation that seems to have originated in a desire to permit railroad employees to exercise their franchise right at some point most convenient for them, whether in their home precinct or not, has received such an extension as to be of practically general application. These "absent voters" laws, as they are commonly called, have received attention as labor legislation; and although the labor aspect has in a sense been swallowed up in the more general provisions, yet railroad and similar employees may still enjoy the benefits.

A majority of the States have extended legislation to such a point that practically all absent voters or electors may vote by mail and in many instances may even register by mail. States permitting voting outside their boundaries are:

Alabama.—Code, secs. 405–412, 677–684.
Arizona.—Acts of 1921, ch. 117.
Delaware.—Acts of 1923, ch. 103..
Georgia.—Acts of 1924, p. 186.
Idaho.—C. S., secs. 609–618 (am. 1923, ch. 57).
Illinois.—R. S., ch. 46, secs. 555–565 (am. 1921, p. 351).
Indiana.—Acts of 1917, ch. 100 (am. 1919, ch. 156).
Iowa.—Supp. 1915, secs. 1137b–1137o (am. 1917, ch. 419).

North Carolina.—Con. S., secs. 5960–5968.
North Dakota.—Acts of 1913, ch. 155 (am. Extra Session 1919, ch. 32; 1923, ch. 202).
Ohio.—Acts of 1917, p. 52.
Oregon.—Laws, secs. 4080–4094 (am. 1923, ch. 53).
Pennsylvania.—Acts of 1923, No. 201.
South Carolina.—Acts of 1924, ch. 540. (Primary elections only.)
South Dakota.—R. C., secs. 7226–7230.
Tennessee.—Code, secs. 1169a–1169a–20.
Texas.—R. Civ. S., sec. 2939 (am. 1923, ch. 149).
Utah.—Acts of 1919, ch. 42 (am. 1923, ch. 99).
Vermont.—Acts of 1919, ch. 7 (am. 1921, ch. 4).
Virginia.—Code, secs. 202–220 (am. 1922, ch. 505, 1924, chs. 420, 425).
Washington.—Acts of 1915, ch. 189 (am. 1923, ch. 58).
West Virginia.—Acts of 1921, ch. 55.
Wisconsin.—Statutes, secs. 11.54, 11.68.
Wyoming.—Acts of 1923, ch. 101.

Michigan, Missouri, and Oregon specifically indicate that their laws were enacted with a view to employees of railroad companies and similar employees, although the laws in all the States mentioned in the preceding paragraph cover employees as well as others.

A smaller group of States permit absentee voting, but limit it to voting within the State itself; in these States the laws are more of the nature of labor legislation than in those which extend the law to other jurisdictions. Of this class are:

Arkansas.—Digest, secs. 3810–3817.
California.—Acts of 1923, ch. 283.
Colorado.—C. L., secs. 7727–7733.
Florida.—R. G. S., secs. 368–373.
Louisiana.—Acts of 1921, No. 61.
New Mexico.—Acts of 1917, ch. 89, sec. 14.
Oklahoma.—Acts of Extra Session, 1916, ch. 25.

In this connection mention may be made of a law of Hawaii (acts of 1923, No. 263) that permits employees on steamboats to vote the day before election if they are compelled to leave their voting place on that day.

A new phase of the "absent voters" law, that has developed very recently, is the provision for physically disabled voters to vote by mail in the same manner and under the same regulations as the absent voter. States whose laws contain this provision are Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, and Nevada.

The following States and Territories have no laws covering absentee voting: Alaska, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and South Carolina.

Practically all States have legislation to enable soldiers and sailors to vote when absent from their legal residence.

PROTECTION OF EMPLOYEES AS MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD

In several jurisdictions all persons are prohibited from willfully obstructing members of the National Guard in respect to their trade or business or depriving them of employment because of such membership; and in some jurisdictions also all labor and other organizations, clubs, and societies are prohibited from discriminating against persons because of such membership:

CONVICT LABOR

The United States and every political division thereof have by legislative action adopted regulations and directions as to the employment of convicts during the term of their detention. The question of such employment and its nature has been the subject of extended controversy from an economic standpoint, but there has been little legal discussion. The State is within its powers in appropriating funds for the establishment of manufacturing industries for the employment of convicts, and the constituted agencies may exercise a proper discretion in determining the employments to be provided for. (Pollock v. Mabey (Utah), 226 Pac. 186.) But where the contracting of the labor of convicts is forbidden, it was held not to be permissible to allow a manufacturing company to install machinery in a State prison for the use of the State as a factory, the products to be for State institutions, and the excess to be sold to the company, or to others only on its permission. This was said to be a contracting of the labor of the convicts, and void. (Price v. Mabey (Utah), 218 Pac. 724.)

Laws have been enacted in a number of States to prevent or minify competition between the products of prison labor with those of free labor. These require either that prison-made goods be so marked before being offered for sale, or that dealers in convict-made goods procure and conspicuously post a license therefor, or both requirements may exist. Where goods so made enter interstate commerce, such requirements are a limitation in a field belonging exclusively to Congress, and are void. (People v. Hawkins, 157 N. Y. 1, 51 N. E. 257; Arnold v. Yanders, 56 Ohio St. 417, 47 N. E. 50; In re Opinion of Justices, 211 Mass. 605, 98 N. E. 334.) Furthermore, the requirement as to dealers' licenses is one based on the origin of the goods and not on their nature or quality, and is not a proper classification. (People v. Raynes, 198 N. Y. 539, 622, 92 N. E. 1097.)

Six systems of employment are generally recognized, as follows:

The lease system.—Under this system the contractors assume practically the entire control of the convicts, including their maintenance and discipline, subject, however, to the regulations fixed by statute. In general, the prisoners are removed from the prisons and are employed in outdoor labor, such as mining, agriculture, railroad construction, etc., though manufacturing is sometimes carried on. The nature and duration of the employment are, within the restrictions of the law, fixed by the lease.

The contract system.—The employment under this system is usually within the prison shops or yards, discipline and control remaining in the hands of the officers, only the labor of the convicts being let to and directed by the contractors for manufacturing purposes. The State usually furnishes shop room, and sometimes also provides power and machinery.

The piece-price system.—Not only the discipline of the convicts, but the direction of their labor as well, is retained by the State under this system, the contractors furnishing the material to be made up and receiving the finished product, an agreed price per piece being paid for the labor bestowed.

The public-account system.—There is no intervention of outside parties under this system, the employment of the convicts being in all respects directed by the State, and the products of their labor being sold for its benefit.

The State-use system.—This system is similar to the above, except that such articles are produced as will be of service to the State in supplying and maintaining its various institutions, and are appropriated to such use instead of being put on the general market.

The public-works-and-ways system.—Under this system convicts are employed in the construction and repair of public buildings, streets, highways, and other public works.

In the following pages the system in use and the kinds of work provided for are given, together with a summary of such regulations as affect the industrial aspects of the employment of convicts. The term "county convicts" is used with reference to those sentenced to terms in a county jail or workhouse, and "State convicts" to those serving terms in a State institution, or placed by the State in the care of the counties for detention.[1] The separate employment of females is generally provided for, and particularly as regards labor on highways, etc.

ALABAMA

Systems of employment.—State use; public account; public works and ways; leasing (unlawful for State convicts after March 31, 1927).

Kinds of work.—In coal mines of the State or of lessees; on public roads and bridges; in quarries, gravel pits, and plants for production of road material; and on convict farms. No woman may be employed on public roads, but may prepare meals for convict crews.

TEXT AND ABRIDGMENT OF LABOR LAWS

TEXT AND ABRIDGMENT OF LABOR LAWS [1]

ALABAMA

CODE OF 1923

Child welfare department

SECTION 103. Department established.—[A child welfare department is created with the powers and functions prescribed.]

SEC. 104. Powers, etc.—[Among the powers and duties of the commission are those of enforcing laws as to the employment of children, with full power of visitation and inspection.]

SECS. 105–108. Organization.—[The commission consists of the governor, superintendent of education, the State health officer, ex officio, and six persons appointed for terms of six years each, two to expire every two years. No member receives compensation for services, but is reimbursed for traveling and other expenses. They may elect a director and other employees, and fix their compensation, establish rules, and do such other acts as are necessary to carry out the purposes of the act.]

SEC. 109. Director.—[The director is chosen for a term of six years and receives a salary of $3,000 per annum. He has full control and direction of the work and operations of the department.]

SEC. 116. Appropriation.—[The sum of $50,000 annually is appropriated for the use of the commission.]

SEC. 151. County superintendents.—[County superintendents of child welfare cooperate with the State child labor inspector in enforcing laws relating to the employment of children.]

Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTION 1601. Inspectors.—[It is the duty of the governor to appoint an inspector for each two and a half million tons of coal mined, or a majority fraction thereof, one to be chief and the others associate mine inspectors. The chief must be a mining engineer. Their terms are three years.]

SEC. 1602. Salaries.—[The chief inspector receives $4,000 per annum, and the associates $3,000.]

SECS. 1603, 1604. Bonds; reports.—[The chief inspector may be required to give bond for the faithful discharge of his duties and accounting for license fees, etc. Annual reports as to money collected are required.]

SEC. 1605. Qualifications.—[Chiefs must have eight years' experience and associates five years; all must hold first-class foremen's certificates. Associates must reside in their district, and no inspector or inspector's wife may own or operate a mine.]

SEC. 1606. Other employment.—[Inspectors may not be otherwise employed by the State, except that the chief inspector is ex officio a professor of mining engineering in the State University.]

SECS. 1607–1609. Duties.—[Inspectors must give full time to their duties; must inspect all coal mines and all working places therein, as far as possible, every 3 months, with special reference to works and machinery, the ventilation, drainage, general security, etc. Records are to be kept of inspections, and of accidents, employment, etc., and reports of inspections made to the superintendent or operator.]

SEC. 1610. Accidents.—[Accidents to employees causing serious injury or death must be promptly investigated.]

[1] As already stated, abridgments are made of several classes of laws, of which only the substantive provisions are presented, and usually only in a summary form. Representative statutes are reproduced at length, for the purpose of a fuller presentation of the requirements, procedure, etc., in the case of laws governing the employment of children (Wisconsin, Statutes, secs. 103.5–103.15, 103.19–103.36), coal mines (Indiana, Acts of 1923, ch. 177), and private employment offices (Illinois, R. S., ch. 48, secs. 67a–67k).

SECS. 1611–1613. Witnesses.—[Witnesses may be subpœnaed and examined under oath by any member of the board of examiners. The customary fees are allowed. Courts are charged with the duty of enforcing appearance.]

SEC. 1614. Reports.—[The chief inspector must make written report to the governor, prior to each session of the legislature, as to the condition of the industry, with statistics, suggestions, etc.]

SECS. 1615, 1616. Supplies.—[The State must furnish needed instruments for measuring the air and for testing scales, etc.]

SEC. 1617–1621. Dangerous mines.—[The chief inspector, two associates concurring, may order a mine to stop operations if the conditions as to gas or dust are such as to cause explosions and endanger life. An appeal may be taken to the court.]

SEC. 1622. Notices.—[Inspectors must be notified of accidents causing serious or fatal injuries, of the abandonment or reopening of any mine, of the appearance of dangerous accumulations of fire damp, of the approach of workings of abandoned mines containing water or gas, of the closing or abandonment of ways to exits. Reports of accidents shall not be divulged except in a legal proceeding, or to a member of the injured man's family, or to his or their legal representative.]

SEC. 1623. Investigation of accidents.—[Serious or fatal accidents and gas or dust explosions must be investigated, and a file kept of accidents causing death or serious injury to employees.]

SEC. 1624. Ventilation.—[The owner or operator of any mine must report the amount of ventilation and pressure gauge readings whenever required by the chief mine inspector.]

SEC. 1625. Annual reports.—[Operators must make annual reports of kind and quantity of coal mined, and other data as required.]

SEC. 1626. Removal of inspectors.—[The governor may remove chief or associate inspectors with or without cause, and may fill all vacancies.]

SEC. 1627. Noncompliance with orders.—[Failure to comply within reasonable time with any order or direction of the chief mine inspector may be referred to the county judge of probate, before whom a hearing shall be held, and if the order is sustained, and no appeal is taken, it must be complied with under penalty of a fine not exceeding $1,000.]

SECS. 1628–1642. Licensing foremen, etc.—[The chief inspector, two miners, two operators and a mining engineer, all appointed by the governor, constitute an examining board to examine and license mine foremen and fire bosses. The fees are $5 and $3, respectively. Duplicate certificates, in case of loss or destruction, issue at a cost of $1. Forgery of certificates, false statements, etc., are misdemeanors.

Mine foremen must be 23 years of age, with 5 years practical experience, 3 years after the age of 15. Two grades of certificates are issued; foremen in gaseous or dusty mines must hold first-class certificates. Fire bosses must be 21, with at least 3 years' experience after the age of 15. Both must be of good moral character and temperate habits, as certified by 10 reputable citizens. Holders of first-class foremen's certificates may serve as fire bosses. If no licensed person is available, any trustworthy and experienced man may act as foreman or fire boss for not over 60 days. Licenses may be revoked for violation of the law, intemperance, etc. Persons complained of must have 30 days' notice in writing, and be allowed a hearing.]

SECS. 1643, 1644. Duties.—[The foreman must carry on his duties as prescribed in the act, and anyone causing him to do otherwise is amenable therefor. An assistant may act during the foreman's absence, not to exceed one week.]

SEC. 1645. Sprinkling.—[Dust likely to ignite or explode must be sprayed or sprinkled.]

SECS. 1646, 1647. Fire bosses.—[A certificated fire boss must be employed in mines in which gas exists in quantities sufficient to ignite or explode, and he must examine all working places before the workmen are permitted to enter. A safety lamp must be used, and a mark made if dangerous quantities are found.]

SECS. 1648–1723. Safety provisions.—[A detailed code of safety provisions forbids injury to works, equipment, etc., regulates ventilation, the supply of timbers, exits, fencing, use of safety lamps, hoisting of workmen, maps, approach to other workings, the use of illuminants, oils, etc., tamping and blasting, use and storage of powder and other explosives, the weighing of coal, first aid provisions, underground stables, electrical installations, etc. Intoxicated persons and intoxicants are not permitted in or about mines. Employees must report unsafe conditions when known to them.]

SEC. 1724. Women and children.—[No boy under 14 and no female may work in or about any coal mine.]

SEC. 1725. Posting.—[An abstract of this law and the rules, furnished by the chief mine inspector, must be conspicuously posted at or near the mines, so as to be read by the employees.]

SEC. 1726. Injunction.—[In case an operator fails to comply with the law, the State's attorney for the county shall proceed against him by injunction.]

SECS. 1729–1731. Oil; regulations; inspection.—[Only nonexplosive oils, free from deleterious odors or fumes, may be used except in safety lamps or under permission of the mine inspectors. Containers must be marked so as to show name of manufacturer and date of manufacture and of inspection. Inspection is by a mine inspector, before sale by the manufacturer.]

Boycotting, blacklisting, etc.

SECTION 3447. Interference with employment.—Two or more persons who, without a just cause or legal excuse for so doing, enter into any combination, conspiracy, agreement, arrangement, or understanding for the purpose of hindering, delaying, or preventing any other persons, firms, corporation, or association of persons from carrying on any lawful business shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3448. Picketing.—Any person or persons who, without a just cause or legal excuse therefor, go near to or loiter about the premises or place of business of any other person, firm, corporation, or association of people, engaged in a lawful business, for the purpose or with the intent of influencing or inducing other persons not to trade with, buy from, sell to, have business dealing with, or be employed by such persons, firm, corporation, or association, or who picket the works or place of business of such other persons, firms, corporations, or associations of persons, for the purposes of hindering, delaying, or interfering with, or injuring any lawful business or enterprise of another, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; but nothing herein shall prevent any person from soliciting trade or business for a competitive business.

SEC. 3449. Boycotting.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who prints or circulates any notice of boycott, boycott cards, stickers, dodgers, or unfair lists, publishing or declaring that a boycott or ban exists or has existed or is contemplated against any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons doing a lawful business, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3450. Intimidation.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who uses force, threats, intimidation, or other unlawful means to prevent any other person, firm, corporation, or association of persons from engaging in any lawful occupation or business shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3451. Blacklist.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who maintains what is commonly called a blacklist or notifies any other person, firm, corporation, or association that any person has been blacklisted by such person, firm, corporation, or association; or who uses any other similar means to prevent any person from receiving employment from whomsoever he desires to be employed by shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3452. Obstructing business.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who without a just cause or legal excuse willfully or wantonly does any act with the intent, or with reason to believe that such act will injure, interfere with, hinder, delay, or obstruct any lawful business or enterprise in which persons are employed for wages; or who shall willfully or wantonly injure, destroy, attempt to destroy, or threaten to injure or destroy any property of another; or who shall willfully or wantonly derange, or attempt, or threaten to derange any mechanics, appliances, or devices, of another used in any lawful business or enterprise, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3453. Taking control.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who without a just cause or legal excuse, but with the intent to supplant, nullify, or impair the owner's, operator's, or manager's control of any lawful business or enterprise, or who without just cause or legal excuse shall take, retain, attempt or threaten to take or retain, possession or control of any property of another or any instrumentality used in any lawful business or enterprise of another shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3454. Inciting acts.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who, without a just cause or legal excuse shall advise, encourage, or teach the necessity, duty, propriety, or expediency of doing or practicing any of the acts or things made unlawful by this act; or who print, publish, audit, issue, or knowingly circulate, distribute, or display any book, pamphlet, paper, handbill, document, or written or printed matter of any form advertising, advising, teaching, or encouraging such necessity, duty, propriety, or expediency of violating or disregarding any of the provisions of this act; or who organizes or helps to organize, gives aid or comfort to, or becomes a member of any group of persons formed to advocate, advise, or teach the necessity, duty, propriety, or expediency of violating or disregarding any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3455. Violations.—[Any violations of the preceding sections entail a penalty of a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 and also imprisonment for not more than 6 months for the first conviction and not less than 3 nor more than 6 months on second conviction.]

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 3494. Age limit.—[No child under 14 years of age shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work at any gainful occupation except agriculture and domestic service, except as hereinafter provided in this chapter.]

SEC. 3495. Hours of labor.—[Six days and 48 hours per week, and 8 hours per day is the maximum work time for children under 16, except in agricultural and domestic service. Work between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. is forbidden. Presence is prima facie evidence of employment.]

SEC. 3496. Hours to be posted.—[Employers must post a schedule of work time in all places of employment of children under 16.]

SECS. 3497, 3498. Messenger service.—[No person under 18 may be employed in messenger or delivery service between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.; nor under 21 in any pool or billiard room.]

SECS. 3499–3501. Dangerous occupations.—[No child under 16 may be employed in designated dangerous occupations or processes. For a similar list see Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148. The State board of health may declare any place or occupation dangerous or injurious to the health or morals of a child under 16.]

SECS. 3502–3511. Certificates.—[Certificates issued by the school authorities are required for children under 16. No employment during school hours is permitted for children under 14. A statement of the employer's intention to employ, schooling equal to completion of the fifth grade (sixth grade after Sept. 1, 1926), evidence of age, and a medical certificate of physical fitness are required. Vacation permits for children over 12 require no certificates of schooling. Personal appearance of the applicant is required. Certificate must be returned to the issuing officer within 10 days after employment ceases. Age certificates are required for children between 16 and 17 years of age.]

SECS. 3512–3517. Street trades.—[Engaging in street trades is forbidden to boys under 12 and girls under 18, except that boys 10 or over may deliver newspapers on routes. Boys under 16 may not be engaged between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m., unless 14 and qualified for an employment certificate; nor without a badge issued by the school authorities. This is required annually, on proof of age and a deposit of 50 cents, to be returned on surrender of the badge. Replacement of lost badges is made on payment of 25 cents.]

SECS. 3518, 3519. Enforcement.—[The director of the child welfare department and his assistants must inspect places of employment of minors to enforce the provisions of this act, acting as State child labor inspector and deputy inspectors. School attendance officers and probation officers must report known violations.]

SECS. 3520, 3521. Sanitary provisions.—[Every person, firm, or corporation, owning or controlling any establishment wherein minors are employed, subject to the provisions of this act, shall keep such establishment in a sanitary condition, shall provide suitable water-closets or privies, separate for each sex; also shall provide sanitary drinking fountains where twenty or more persons are employed. It is the duty of inspectors to compel compliance with this provision.]

SECS. 3522, 3523. Inspection.—[Any person who refuses to allow the inspector to have free access to any establishment and every part thereof wherein minors are or may be employed, or hinders or obstructs, or makes false statement to the inspector in connection with the establishment, or who violates section 15 of this act shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $100 and on second conviction not more than $200. It is the duty of the inspector to remove any child found in any establishment, working or detained therein contrary to law or who is afflicted with a communicable disease.]

Secs. 3524, 3525. Violations.—[Employers violating this act or permitting children to work contrary thereto, or failing to comply with lawful and reasonable orders may be fined from $10 to $100, and for subsequent offenses from $100 to $500. Parents and others in charge of children are similarly punishable for violations. For making a false affidavit the penalty is from $5 to $20 fine, and for a second offense, imprisonment not over 90 days.]

Sec. 3542. Unlawful employment.—[Employing or encouraging the employment of children under the age of 16 in violation of the child labor act is regarded as contributing to delinquency, and is a misdemeanor.]

Protection of employees as voters

Section 3922. Coercion, etc., by employers.—Any employer who attempts by coercion, intimidation, threats to discharge or to lessen the remuneration of an employee, to influence his vote in any election, or who requires or demands an examination or inspection by himself or another of an employee's ballot, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars.

Sec. 3923. By officers or agents.—Any officer, or agent of a corporation, or other person with authority to discharge employees, who shall attempt by coercion, intimidation, threats to discharge or to lessen the remuneration of any employee, to influence his vote in any election, or who requires or demands an examination or inspection by himself or another of any employee's ballot, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars.

Enticing employees, apprentices, etc.

Section 3985. Enticement from service.—Any person who entices, decoys, or persuades any apprentice or servant to leave the service or employment of his master must, on conviction, be fined not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars; and may also be imprisoned in the county jail, or sentenced to hard labor for the county for not more than three months.

Sec. 3986. Interference, etc.—Any person who knowingly interferes with, hires, employs, entices away, or induces to leave the service of another, or attempts to hire, employ, entice away, or induce to leave the service of another, any laborer, or servant, renter, or share cropper, who has contracted in writing to serve such other person for any given time, not to exceed one year, before the expiration of the time so contracted for, or who persuades or induces or attempts to persuade or induce any person to abandon a crop he has begun before it is made or gathered, the natural or probable effect of which will be to injure a third person, or who knowingly interferes with, hires, entices away, or induces any minor to leave the service of any person to whom such service is lawfully due, without the consent of the party employing, or to whom such service is due, given in writing, or in presence of some credible person, must, on conviction, be fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, at the discretion of the jury, and in no case less than double the damage sustained by the party whom such laborer or servant was induced to leave or against whose interest such crop was induced to be abandoned; one-half to the party sustaining such damage, and the other half to the county.

The statute is not unconstitutional in attempting to punish criminally for violation of contract. 79 Ala. 271.

Nor is it in violation of the Federal "Civil rights bill." 44 Ala. 367.

It is plainly violative of the State constitution, being class legislation, since it imposes on laborers and renters a different penalty for breach of contract from that imposed on other citizens. 123 Fed. 671.

Knowledge of previous subsisting contract is not essential to conviction. 44 Ala. 368.

Section 6849 embraces all laborers, whether under written contract or not; the fine provided for is of no benefit to the employer. Section 6850 relates only to employment under written contracts, and provides for the recovery of damages. 52 So. 597.

Section 6850 is constitutional, and is directed to the tortious mischief of knowingly interfering with or interrupting contract relations. Knowledge is of the essence of the offense. 51 So. 754.

Sec. 3987. Evidence.—When any laborer or servant, renter, or share cropper, having contracted as provided in the preceding section, is afterwards found in the service or employment of another before the termination of such contract, that fact is prima facie evidence that such person is guilty of a violation of that section, if he fail and refuse to forthwith discharge such laborer or servant, after having been notified and informed of such former contract or employment.

Intimidation of employees, etc.

SECTION 3990. Preventing employment.—Any person who, by force or threats of violence to person or property, prevents, or seeks to prevent, another from doing work or furnishing materials, or from contracting to do work or furnish materials, for or to any person engaged in any lawful business, or who disturbs, interferes with, or prevents, or in any manner attempts to prevent the peaceable exercise of any lawful industry, business, or calling by any other person, must, on conviction, be fined not less than ten nor more than five hundred dollars, and may also be imprisoned in the county jail, or sentenced to hard labor for the county for not more than twelve months.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 3991. Seats to be provided.—Any person owning or controlling a store or shop in which any girl or woman is employed as a clerk or saleswoman, who fails to provide such girl or woman with proper accommodations for sitting and resting when not actively engaged in the work of her employment, or who fails to permit her to do so when not so engaged, or who shall not have in such building, or conveniently thereto, separate water-closets for the use of such girls or women, must, on conviction, be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTIONS 4048, 4049. Where required.—[Owners of factories, etc., over two stories in height must provide good and sufficient fire escapes or ladders, securely fixed and conveniently arranged, accessible to the persons working therein, under penalty of a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500.]

Contracts of employment—Repayment of advances

SECTION 4152. Procuring advances on written contract.—Any person who with intent to defraud his employer enters into a contract in writing for the performance of an act or service and with like intent obtains from such employer money or other personal property shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction must be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, and any person who with intent to injure or defraud his landlord enters into any contract for the rent of land and with like intent thereby obtains from said landlord money or other personal property shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction must be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars.

This act is constitutional. It punishes for swindling by the use of false pretenses. The fact that the contract is voidable by reason of the minority of the employee was held not to be a defense. Thomas v. State, 69 So. 908.

Employment of unlicensed engineers on steamboats

SECTION 4461. Loss of life from explosion.—In case of the loss of life from the explosion of a boiler, or any apparatus connected therewith, on any steamboat navigating the waters of this State, and the person acting thereon as engineer has not obtained a certificate to act as such engineer, or is acting out of the grade therein specified, or is knowingly employed after the revocation of his certificate, the captain or owner employing such person, and the person so employed or acting, are guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

Mine regulations—Violations

SECTIONS 4987–5000. Offenses, negligence, etc.—[Willfully injuring any shaft, safety lamp, instrument, air course, or obstructing any airway, carrying matches or pipes, etc., into forbidden areas, leaving open doors required to be closed, or committing other acts that endanger health or security, or neglecting to perform any prescribed duty, is punishable by fine or imprisonment. Failure to have coal or ore weighed where weight is the basis of payment, violating orders of inspectors, forging or counterfeiting certificates or making false statements under the mining law, failing to perform duty as fire boss, entering mines or places where gas exists in dangerous quantities, using impure oil or explosives, defacing danger signals, entering a mine in an intoxicated condition, soliciting payments to foremen, etc., as a condition to procuring or continuing in employment or selling or permitting the use of uninspected illuminating oils, are punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.]

Railroads—Unlicensed employees

SECTION 5323. Employment forbidden.—Any person or corporation operating a railroad in this State who employs any person as engineer, fireman, train dispatcher, conductor, flagman, brakeman, or switchman, who has not been examined and licensed as provided by sections 9960, 9961, 9962 of this code, must, on conviction, be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

Employment of children to support parents in idleness

SECTIONS 5571–5574. Vagrancy.—[Able-bodied parents without sufficient property for their support, who do not work, but hire out their children or permit them to hire out, are classed as vagrants, subject to a fine of not over $500 and imprisonment at hard labor not over 12 months. If it is shown that the parent is able-bodied and does not work and the child is hired out, the burden of proving the possession of adequate means is on the parent. The foregoing provisions do not apply where idleness is due to strikes or lockouts.]

Labor organizations, etc.—Suits

SECTION 5723. How action brought.—An action or suit may be maintained by and in the name of any unincorporated organization or association.

SEC. 5724. What suits allowed.—Actions or suits may be maintained against and in the name of any unincorporated organization or association for any cause of action for or upon which the plaintiff therein may maintain such an action against the members of such organization or association.

SEC. 5725. Service of process.—Service of process in such action against such organization or association shall be had by service upon any officer or official member of such organization or association or upon any officer or official member of any branch or local of such organization or association: Provided, That any such organization or association may file with the secretary of state a designated officer or agent upon whom service shall be had and his residence within the State, and if such designation is so made and filed service of process shall be had only on the officer or agent so designated if he can be found within the State.

SEC. 5726. Actions.—Such organization or association shall be suable in any action now pending, or any cause of action now existing or hereafter arising. Such action may be maintained in any county where such organization or association does business or has in existence a branch or local organization.

SEC. 5727. Judgments.—Where a judgment in such actions is rendered in favor of the plaintiff against such organizations or associations the property of such organization or association shall be liable to the satisfaction of such judgment.

SEC. 5728. Provisions severable.—In case for any reason any paragraph or any provision of this act shall be questioned in any court of last resort and shall be held by such court to be unconstitutional or invalid, the same shall not be held to affect any other paragraph or provision of this act.

NOTE.—This act is not unconstitutional as impairing obligation of contracts or affecting vested rights. Grand International B. of L. E. v. Green (1923), 98 So. 569.

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 5822. Rank.—[Wages of employees for services rendered the year of the death of the decedent rank next after the funeral expenses, the costs of administration, expenses of last sickness, and taxes.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 7598. When action may be brought.—Except as otherwise provided by law, when a personal injury is received by a servant or employee in the service or business of the master or employer, the master or employer is liable to answer in damages to such servant or employee, as if he were a stranger, and not engaged in such service or employment, provided such liability is enforced in a court of competent jurisdiction within the State of Alabama, and not elsewhere, in the cases following:

(1) When the injury is caused by reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant connected with, or used in the business of the master or employer. (2) When the injury is caused by reason of the negligence of any person in the service or employment of the master or employer who has any superintendence intrusted to him, whilst in the exercise of such superintendence. (3) When such injury is caused by reason of the negligence of any person in the service or employment of the master or employer, to whose orders or directions the servant or employee at the time of the injury, was bound to conform, and did conform, if such injuries resulted from his having so conformed. (4) When such injury is caused by reason of the act or omission of any person in the service or employment of the master or employer, done or made in obedience to the rules and regulations or by-laws of the master or employer, or in obedience to particular instructions given by any person delegated with the authority of the master or employer in that behalf. (5) When such injury is caused by reason of the negligence of any person in the service or employment of the master or employer, who has the charge or control of any signal, points, locomotive, engine, electric motor, switch, car, or train, upon a railway, or of any part of the track of a railway. The master or employer is not liable under this section, if the servant or employee knew of the defect or negligence causing the injury and failed in a reasonable time to give information thereof to the master or employer, or to some person superior to himself engaged in the service or employment of the master or employer, unless the master or employer, or such superior, already knew of such defect or negligence; nor is the master or employer liable under subdivision 1, unless the defect therein mentioned arose from, or had not been discovered or remedied, owing to the negligence of the master or employer, or of some person in the service of the master or employer, and intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works, machinery, or plant were in proper condition; but that in no event shall it be contributory negligence or an assumption of the risk on the part of a servant to remain in the employment of the master or employer after knowledge of the defect or negligence, causing the injury, unless he be a servant whose duty it is to remedy the defect or who committed the negligent act causing the injury complained of.

In order for recovery there must be actual employment; volunteer service or service outside the line of duty is not protected. 85 Ala. 203.

Liability is based on the fact of employment and not on contract, and can not be avoided by a contract or rule attempting to place the risk on the employee. 97 Ala. 126.

The statute does not apply to known risks and dangers of the service against which human skill and caution can not provide, nor to accidents incident to the business. 94 Ala. 199.

This section does not abrogate the defense of contributory negligence: a negligent employee can not recover under its provisions. 8 So. 357.

But if a fellow-servant acted so recklessly or wantonly as to raise the imputation of a willful or intentional injury, with knowledge that injury would probably result from his conduct, contributory negligence is not a defense. 85 Ala. 269.

Injury alone does not raise a presumption of negligence. 97 Ala. 171.

Causal connection must be shown between negligence and injury. 91 Ala. 496.

Jury may infer such connection from circumstances. 95 Ala. 397.

Damages recoverable are compensatory and not punitive, and do not include exemplary damages or damages for pain, suffering, or loss of society. 91 Ala. 548.

The employe must have notice or knowledge of rules to make their violation contributory negligence. 112 Ala. 216.

Custom and practice can not justify negligence. 94 Ala. 277.

But the employer may acquiesce in breach of rule. 100 Ala. 232.

Or waive its observance by inconsistent requirements. 111 Ala. 275.

A defect in ways must be of an inherent part: a movable object temporarily on the track is not within the statute. 110 Ala. 185.

Superintendence is not necessarily that exercised over the injured person, but if the negligence of a superintendent results in injury to any servant of the common master, the latter is liable. 97 Ala. 240.

The action of a superintendent put over a gang of laborers by a city can not be repudiated on the ground that his appointment was illegal when an employee brings action for injuries received through the superintendent's negligence. 14 So. 357.

The provisions of subsection 5 do not apply to the engineer of a stationary engine moving cars in a mine by the use of a cable and a drum. 26 So. 124.

The phrase "signal, points" means simply an apparatus for giving signals. It does not refer to locality, and is to be read without regard to the comma. 214 So. 683.

Street railways are within this section; 51 So. 424; and private roads, as in mines, etc. 54 So. 566.

SEC. 7599. Damages exempt.—Damages recovered by the servant or employee, of and from the master or employer, are not subject to the payment of debts, or any legal liabilities incurred by him.

SEC. 7600. Suits to be brought within State.—If such injury results in the death of the servant or employee, his personal representative is entitled to maintain an action therefor, in a court of competent jurisdiction within the State of Alabama and not elsewhere, and the damages recovered are not subject to the payment of debts or liabilities, but shall be distributed according to the statute of distributions.

When the injury results in death, no one but the personal representative can sue. 83 Ala. 493.
Damages are recoverable if injury was contributing cause of death. 91 Ala. 496.
If deceased left no next of kin, only nominal damages will be awarded. 92 Ala. 231.
That the deceased was a minor makes no difference under this statute. 90 Ala. 13.

SEC. 7601. Contracts, etc., no bar to action.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death entered into by or on behalf of any employe, nor the acceptance of any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages for personal injuries to or death of such employee; but upon the trial of such action against any employer, the defendant may set off therein any sum he (or it) has contributed toward any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or, in case of death, to his personal representative.

Arbitration of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 7602. Appointment of board.—Within thirty days after this act takes effect the governor shall appoint three persons constituting what shall be known as the State board of mediation and arbitration. The terms of office of each member of said board shall be two years from the time of appointment, or until their successors are appointed; but the governor at any time may remove any member thereof from said office and appoint a successor thereto, should such member become in any manner incompetent to perform the duties of said office. One member of said board shall be known as chairman thereof and shall be so designated by the governor in making said appointment.

SEC. 7603. Duties of board.—The duty of said State board of mediation and arbitration shall be as follows: Whenever a strike or lockout occurs in the State of Alabama, or when such strike or lockout is seriously threatened, and the governor deem it advisable, he shall notify the chairman of said board and one of the members thereof shall proceed promptly to the locality of such strike or lockout and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable adjustment of the controversy. If the governor deem it advisable he shall cause the chairman of said board to call all the members thereof to the locality of such strike or lockout to inquire into the cause thereof and for that purpose said board shall have all the powers conferred upon it in the case of a controversy submitted to it for arbitration.

SEC. 7604. Meetings.—Two members of such board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business and may hold meetings at any time or place within the State when for any purpose, pertaining to the duties of said board, the governor deems it advisable. Examinations or investigations may be held and taken by and before any of their number, but a decision rendered in such a case shall not be deemed conclusive until approved by the board.

SEC. 7605. Submission of grievances.—A grievance or dispute between an employer and his employees may be submitted to said State board of mediation and arbitration for their determination and settlement. Such submission shall be in writing and contain a statement in detail of the grievance or dispute, and the cause thereof, and also an agreement to abide [by] the determination of the board, and, during the investigation, to continue in business or at work without a lockout or strike. Upon such submission, the board shall examine the matter in controversy. For the purpose of such inquiry they may subpœna witnesses, compel their attendance, take and hear testimony and call for and examine books, papers and documents of any parties to the controversy. Subpœnas shall be issued by any member of the board and served by any person appointed for that purpose by the member issuing same, and who shall receive the same fees for his services as witnesses. Witnesses shall be allowed the same fee as in the circuit court of the State. The decisions of the board must be rendered within ten days after the completion of the investigation.

SEC. 7606. Decision.—Within ten days after the completion of every arbitration the board or a majority thereof shall render a decision, stating such details as will clearly show the nature of the controversy and the points disposed of by them, and make a written report of their findings of fact and of their recommendations to each party to the controversy. Every decision and report shall be filed in the office of the governor, and a copy thereof served upon each party to the controversy.

SEC. 7607. Reports.—The chairman of said State board shall make a report in writing of each and every arbitration had by them, or investigation made by them, and the results and effects thereof, to the legislature.

SEC. 7608. Local boards.—A grievance or dispute between an employer and his employees may be submitted to a local board of arbitrators consisting of three persons for hearing and settlement. When the employees concerned are members in good standing of a labor organization, one arbitrator may be appointed by such organizaton and one by the employer. The two so designated shall appoint a third who shall be chairman of the board. If such employees are not members of a labor organization, a majority thereof at a meeting duly called for that purpose may designate one arbitrator for such board.

SEC. 7609. Consent of arbitrators.—Before entering upon his duties each arbitrator so selected shall sign a consent to act and take and subscribe an oath to faithfully and impartially discharge his duties as such arbitrator, which consent and oath shall be filed in the clerk's office of the county or counties where the controversy arose. When such board is ready for the transaction of business it shall select one of its members to act as secretary and notice of the time, of place and hearing shall be given to the parties to the controversy. The local board may, through its chairman, subpœna witnesses, compel their attendance, and take and hear testimony as is provided herein for the State board of mediation and arbitration.

SEC. 7610. Compensation of local board.—Each member of such local board shall receive as compensation for his services four dollars ($4) for each day actually engaged in such hearing.

SEC. 7611. Decision.—The local board shall within ten days after the close of the hearing render a written decision signed by them giving such details as clearly show the nature of the controversy and the questions decided by them. One copy of the decision shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county, or counties, where the controversy arose, one copy forwarded to the chairman of the State board of mediation and arbitration, one copy to the governor, and one copy each to the parties of the controversy.

SEC. 7612. Compensation and expenses.—The members of the State board shall receive as compensation for their services six dollars ($6) each per day while engaged in the duties of the office as herein defined and railway fare expended in the performance of such duties, said compensation to be paid out of the State treasury; all cost of witnesses as herein provided shall be taxed, in cases of arbitration of matters voluntarily submitted to said State board, and the cost of local arbitration, including witness fees and fees of local arbitrators as herein provided, against the parties to said arbitrations, equally. All witness costs in making investigations by the State board in controversies not voluntarily submitted shall be paid out of the State treasury.

Exemption of wages from garnishment, etc.

SECTION 7887. Amount.—[Wages in the amount of $25 per month are exempt from levy under writs of garnishment, etc.]

NOTE.—This provision is constitutional, and a waiver of exemption rights is void. Richardson v. Kaufman, 143 Ala. 243, 39 So. 368.

Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 7923. Payment to widow, etc.—Whenever an employee of another shall die intestate and there shall be due him as wages or salary a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, the debtor may discharge himself from liability therefor by paying such amount to the widow of the deceased employee, or, if there be no widow, to the person having the actual custody and control of his minor child or children, or either, as the case may be, who may sue for and recover the same as part of the one thousand dollars in personalty exempted to them.

Garnishment of wages, etc., of public employees

SECTIONS 8088–8091. Service.—[Money due officials or employees in public service as salaries or wages may be garnisheed by service of a writ on the person authorized to make payment of the same, but only after final judgment or decree, and not on judgments issued ex delicto.]

SECS. 8092, 8093. Payment.—[Answers must show assent of person on whom the writ is served, who must thereafter draw no warrant or check for the wages or salary due until the garnishment proceedings have terminated, unless the writ is legally dissolved. After final judgment, the money must be paid into the court rendering the judgment.]

Accidents on railroads—Reports

SECTION 9848. Reports required.—Every person, corporation, company, or association operating a railroad shall give notice to the [railroad] commission of every accident happening on any portion of its line in this State, which is attended with death or maiming or other serious injury to the person of anyone, within five days thereafter, giving facts and circumstances of such accident, which any one or more of the commission may investigate, and the result of such injury, with such details as they may deem necessary, shall be entered upon the record of the proceedings of the commission.

Examination and licensing of railroad employees

SECTION 9960. Examination required.—It shall be the duty of every person or corporation operating a railroad in this State, before employing any person as train dispatcher, engineer, conductor, fireman, flagman, brakeman, trackman, or switchman, to subject the applicant for employment to a thorough examination respecting his capacity to fill the position applied for, his moral character and reputation, his sobriety and previous record, his knowledge of the rules and regulations governing the employees of the railroad, the knowledge which may be necessary or proper for the skillful performance of his duties, and shall subject the applicant for employment to a thorough examination respecting his ability and capacity to see and distinguish objects and color, commonly called color-blind examination, and respecting his sense of hearing.

SEC. 9961. By whom made.—The examination required in the preceding section must be made by the superintendent of the road or by the master of trains, or master mechanic of the railroad, and shall be reduced to writing on blanks provided for that purpose. If the applicant shall be found qualified in all respects for the position, the approved application papers shall be filed in the office of the superintendent in this State, or if there be no such superintendent, then in the principal office of such railroad in this State. Such examination papers, when certified by the officer having custody of them, shall be evidence of their contents and of the fact of such examination without further proof.

SEC. 9962. License.—If the applicant, upon examination, shall be found competent, and his examination papers are approved by the general manager or other chief executive officer, the superintendent, or other person selected by him to conduct such examination, shall issue without charge a license to the applicant to engage in the occupation about which he has been examined.

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships

SECTION 10122. Amount.—[Wages or salaries for three months, not over $300, owed by corporations or partnerships going into the hands of receivers, are to be paid first.]

Exemption of wages—Set-offs

SECTION 10172. Written agreements required.— * * * the wages or hire of any head of a family in this State, not having property liable to levy and sale under execution, can not be defeated or abated by any set-off of a money demand acquired by the person contracting to pay such wages by assignment or transfer, unless the parties otherwise agree in writing.

ALASKA

COMPILED LAWS—1913

Alien labor—Employment in fisheries

SECTION 254. Aliens not to fish.—It shall be unlawful for any person not a citizen of the United States, or who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and is not a bona fide resident therein, or for any company, corporation, or association not organized or authorized to transact business under the laws of the United States or under the laws of any State, Territory, or District thereof, or for any person not a native of Alaska, to catch or kill, or attempt to catch or kill, except with rod, spear, or gaff, any fish of any kind or species whatsoever in any of the waters of Alaska, under the jurisdiction of the United States: * * * And provided further, That nothing contained in this act shall prevent any person, firm, corporation, or association lawfully entitled to fish in the waters of Alaska from employing as laborers any aliens who can now be lawfully employed under the existing laws of the United States either at stated wages or by piecework, or both, in connection with Alaskan fisheries, or with the canning, salting or otherwise preserving of fish.

Wages—Exemption—Preference

SECTION 1105. Sixty days' earnings exempt, when.— * * * The following property shall be exempt from execution if selected and reserved by the judgment debtor or his agent at the time of the levy, or as soon thereafter before sale thereof as the same shall be known to him, and not otherwise:

First. The earnings of the judgment debtor, for his personal services rendered at any time within sixty days next preceding the levy of execution or attachment, when it appears by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise that such earnings are necessary for the use of his family supported in whole or in part by his labor;

SEC. 1704. Order of payment of demands.—The charges and claims against the estate * * * shall be paid in the following order, * * * : First, funeral charges; second, taxes of whatever nature due the United States; third, expenses of last sickness; fourth, all other taxes of whatever nature; fifth, debts preferred by the laws of the United States; sixth, debts which at the death of the deceased were a lien upon his property or any right or interest therein according to the priority of their several liens; seventh, debts due employee of decedent for wages earned within ninety days immediately preceding the death of the decedent; eighth, all other claims against the estate.

CHAPTER 7.—Hours of labor on public works—Eight-hour day

SECTION 1. Eight hours a day's work.—Hereafter, eight hours in any calendar day, shall constitute a day's work on any work done for the Territory or any municipality within the Territory, subject to the following conditions:

SEC. 2. Contracts for public works, etc.—All work done by contract or subcontract on any building or improvements, or work on roads, bridges, streets, alleys or buildings for the Territory or any municipality within the Territory, shall be done under the provisions of this act: Provided, That in cases of extraordinary emergency such as danger to life or property, the hours for work may be extended. And for this purpose this act is made a part of all contracts, subcontracts or agreements for work done for the Territory or any municipality within the Territory.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Any contractor, subcontractor, or agent of same, or employer, violating this act, shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisoned not less than 10 nor more than 90 days, or both.]

CHAPTER 9.—Protection of employees as traders, etc.

SECTION 1. Coercion as to boarding or trading.—It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to compel by threats or intimidation, or threats of discharge, or to use any means to compel an employee against his will to board at any particular hotel, boarding house or other place where lodging or board may be provided, or to require an employee to purchase goods and supplies at any particular store.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—[Violations of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment for not less than ten nor more than thirty days, or both.]

CHAPTER 36.—Employment of labor—False representations

SECTION 1. False statements.—It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, company, corporation, society, association or organization of any kind doing business in this Territory, by himself, themselves, his, its, or their agents or attorneys to induce, influence, persuade or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this Territory, to bring workmen of any class or calling into this Territory to work in any of the departments of labor in this Territory, through or by means of false or deceptive representations, false advertising, or false pretenses concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amount and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of their employment.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—[Violations of section one or any part thereof shall be liable to a fine of not more than $2,000, or confinement in the Federal jail not more than one year, or both.]

SEC. 3. Hiring armed guards.—Any person or persons who shall, in this Territory, or any other Territory or State, hire, aid, abet or assist in hiring through agencies or otherwise, persons to guard with arms or deadly weapon of any kind other persons or property in this Territory, or any person or persons who shall come into this Territory armed with deadly weapons of any kind for any such purpose without a permit from the governor of this Territory in writing shall be guilty of felony and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the Federal jail not less than one year nor more than five years: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to interefere [interfere] with the right of any person, persons, or company, corporation, society, association or organization in guarding or protecting their private property, or private interest as is now provided by law; but this act shall be construed only to apply in cases where workmen are brought into this Territory, or induced to go from one place to another in this Territory by any false pretenses, false advertising, or deceptive representations, or brought into this Territory under arms, or removed from one place to another in this Territory under arms.

SEC. 4. Recovery of damages.—Any workmen of this Territory, or any workmen of another Territory or State who have been or shall be influenced, induced or persuaded to engage with any persons mentioned in section one of this act through or by means of any of the things herein prohibited, each of such workmen shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that each such workman has sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representations, false advertising and false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment, against any person or persons, corporations, companies or associations, directly or indirectly causing such damages; and in addition to all actual damages such workmen may have sustained, shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney's fees as the court shall fix, to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

CHAPTER 45.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 1. Liability.—Every person, association, or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing, mining, constructing, building, or other business or occupation carried on by means of machinery or mechanical appliances shall be liable to any of its employees, or, in the event of his death, to his personal representative for the benefit of his widow and children, if any, if none, then for his parents, if none, then for his next of kin dependent upon him, for all damages which may result from negligence of any of its or his or their officers, agents, or employees, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its or their negligence in the machinery, appliances and works

SEC. 2. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against a master or employer such as is mentioned in the first section hereof, to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery where his contributory negligence was slight and that of the employer was gross in comparison, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee. All questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

SEC. 3. Contracts of exemption not a bar.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death entered into by or on behalf of any employee, nor the acceptance of any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages or personal injuries to or death of any employee: Provided, however, That upon the trial of such action the defendant may set off therein any sum contributed by such employer toward any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to such employee, or in case of his death to his personal representative.

And provided further, That any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity furnished by the master and paid for by contributions exacted from, or paid by his employee shall not be allowed as set-off.

SEC. 4. Limitations.—No action shall be maintained under this act unless it be shown that there exist beneficiaries as provided in section 1 hereof; nor unless such action be brought within two years from the time the cause of action accrued.

CHAPTER 70.—Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 1. Governor to offer mediation.—Whenever a controversy concerning wages, hours of labor, or conditions of employment shall arise between an employer and his employees, seriously interrupting or threatening to interrupt the business of the employer, the governor shall, upon the request of either party to the controversy, with all practicable expedition, put himself in communication with the parties to such controversy, and shall use his best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to amicably settle the same. He may either exercise such powers of conciliation himself, or appoint a commission for such purpose. If such efforts of conciliation shall be unsuccessful, the governor shall at once endeavor to bring about an arbitration of such controversy in accordance with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. Board of arbitration.—Whenever such controversy shall arise between an employer and his employees which can not be settled by mediation and conciliation in the manner provided in the proceding section, such controversy, may, with the consent of the parties to the controversy, be submitted to the arbitration of a board of three persons who shall be chosen in the manner following: One shall be named by the employer directly interested; the other by the labor organization to which the employees directly interested belong, or if they belong to more than one, such arbitrator shall be agreed upon and designated by the concurrent action of all such labor organizations. The two thus chosen shall select the third commissioner of arbitration, who shall be a person disinterested in the controversy, but in the event of their failure to name such arbitrator within five days after their first meeting, the submission to arbitration shall be recalled. A majority of said arbitrators shall be competent to make a binding and valid award under the provisions hereof. The submission shall be in writing, shall be signed by the employer and by the labor organization or organizations representing employees, shall specify the time and place of meeting of such board of arbitration, shall state the questions to be decided, and shall contain appropriate provisions by which the respective parties shall stipulate as follows:

First. That the board of arbitration shall commence their hearings within ten days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator, and shall find and file their award within thirty days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator; and that pending the arbitration the status existing immediately prior to the dispute shall not be changed: Provided, That no employee shall be compelled to render personal service without his consent.

Second. That the award and the papers and proceedings including the testimony relating thereto certified under the hands of the arbitrators, shall be filed in the clerk's office of the district court for the division wherein controversy arises or the arbitration is entered into, and shall be final and conclusive upon both parties, unless set aside for error of law apparent on the record.

Third. That the respective parties to the award will each faithfully execute the same, and that the same may be specifically enforced in equity so far as the powers of a court of equity permit: Provided, That no injunction or other legal process shall be issued which shall compel the performance by any laborer against his will of a contract for personal labor or service.

Fourth. That employees dissatisfied with the award shall not by reason of such dissatisfaction quit the service of the employer before the expiration of three months from and after the making of such award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of their intention so to quit. Nor shall the employer dissatisfied with such award dismiss any employee or employees on account of such dissatisfaction before the expiration of three months from and after the making of such award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of his intention so to discharge.

Fifth. That said award shall continue in force as between the parties thereto for the period of one year after the same shall go into practical operation, and no new arbitration upon the same subject between the same employer and the same class of employees shall be had until the expiration of said one year if the award is not set aside as provided.

SEC. 3. Award in effect, when.—The award being filed in the clerk's office of the district court, as hereinbefore provided, shall go into practical operation, and judgment shall be entered thereon accordingly at the expiration of ten days from such filing, unless within such ten days either party shall file exceptions thereto for matter of law apparent on the record, in which case said award shall go into practical operation and judgment entered accordingly when such exceptions shall have been finally disposed of either by said district court or on appeal therefrom. At the expiration of thirty days from the decision of the district court upon exception taken to said award as aforesaid, judgment shall be entered in accordance with said decision, unless within thirty days either party shall appeal therefrom to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Judicial Circuit. In such case only such portion of the record shall be transmitted to the circuit court of appeals as is necessary to a proper understanding and consideration of the questions of law presented by said exceptions and to be decided. The determination of said circuit court of appeals upon said questions shall be final, and being certified by the clerk thereof to said district court, judgment pursuant thereto shall thereupon be entered by said district court. If exceptions to an award are finally sustained, judgment shall be entered setting aside the award, but in such case the parties may agree upon a judgment to be entered disposing of the subject matter of the controversy; which judgment when entered shall have the same force and effect as judgment entered upon award.

SEC. 4. Powers of board.—For the purposes of this act the arbitrators herein provided for, or either of them, shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, sign subpoenas, require the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of such books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents material to a just determination of the matters under investigation, as may be ordered by the courts; and may invoke the aid of the said courts to compel witnesses to attend and testify, and to produce such books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents as the courts shall determine to be material and competent evidence.

SEC. 5. Agreements to arbitrate.—Every agreement of arbitration under this act shall be acknowledged by the parties before a notary public or clerk of the district court of the Territory, and when so acknowledged a copy of the same shall be filed with and recorded by the recorder of the precinct in which the arbitration is entered into, and a copy shall also be sent to the governor who shall file the same in the office of the secretary of the Territory, who shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the arbitrators, fixing the time and place for a meeting of said board, which shall be within fifteen days from the execution of said agreement of arbitration: Provided, however, That the governor shall decline to call a meeting of the arbitrators under such agreement unless it is shown to his satisfaction that the employees signing the submission represent or include a majority of all the employees in the service of the same employer and of the same grade and class, and that an award pursuant to said submission can justly be regarded as binding upon all such employees.

SEC. 6. Restrictions on parties to arbitration.—During the pendency of arbitration under this act it shall not be lawful for the employer, party to such arbitration, to discharge the employees, parties thereto, except for inefficiency, violation of law, or neglect of duty; nor for the organization representing such employees to order, nor for the employees to unite in, aid or abet, strikes against said employer; nor during a period of three months after an award under such an arbitration, for such employer to discharge any such employees, except for the causes aforesaid without giving 30 days' written notice of an intent so to discharge; nor for any of such employees, during a like period to quit the service of said employer without just cause, without giving to said employer 30 days' written notice of an intent so to do; nor for such organization representing such employees to order, counsel, or advise otherwise. Any violation of this section shall subject the offending party to liability for damages: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any employer, party to such arbitration, from reducing the number of its or his employees whenever in its or his judgment business necessities require such a reduction.

SEC. 7. Expenses.—The agreement of arbitration shall provide for the compensation of arbitrators, and their traveling and other necessary expenses.

CHAPTER 4.—Hours of labor in mines

SECTION 1. What work injurious and dangerous.—Employment in underground coal mines, underground lode mines, underground placer mines, in underground coal, lode or placer workings, and in all other underground mines or workings of any kind or nature whatsoever, is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

SEC. 2. Eight-hour day.—The period of employment of any person in underground coal mines, underground lode mines, underground placer mines, underground coal, lode or placer workings, and in all other underground mines, or workings of any kind or nature whatsoever, shall not exceed eight hours within any twenty-four hours, except on such days as change of shift is made, excluding, however, any intermission of time for lunch or meals, or otherwise going to, or from the place where the work is actually carried on, whether going to or coming from the place of work be in going on, or off shift, or in going to, or returning from meals or lunch. It being the intention of this act to limit the hours of employment in any twenty-four hours to eight hours of actual labor at the face, or other place or places where the work or labor to be done is actually performed; except in case of emergency, where life or property is in imminent danger, the period may be extended during the continuance of such emergency.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Any violations of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than 60 days nor more than six months, or both; on second conviction within two years, imprisonment for not less than 60 days nor more than one year. Every day's violation shall constitute a separate offense.]

SEC. 4. Provisions severable.—Should it be adjudicated that any portion, section, or part of any section of this act, is unconstitutional or otherwise invalid for any reason, an adjudication of invalidity of such portion, section, proviso or part of any section of this act shall not affect the validity of the act as a whole or any other part thereof.

SECTIONS 1–31. Summary.—[This act is a mining code for the Territory of Alaska, and repeals chapter 72, Acts of 1913, and chapter 69, Acts of 1915. A territorial mine inspector is to be appointed by the governor, who is to be theoretically and practically qualified for his duties. Besides the customary inspections, he is to examine the men in charge of first-aid work, and, if requested, give instruction therein. Orders as to unsafe mines are subject to review by the governor, and through him an appeal may be taken for review and revision by the United States Bureau of Mines. Reports of accidents and investigations of the same are provided for. Statistical records must be furnished by operators, and reports made by the inspector covering the various branches of his activities. The act prescribes guards for dangerous machinery, safety provisions in the sinking of shafts, hoisting of men and materials, construction of cages, etc., and requires escape shafts in all mines having a depth of 300 feet. Boys under the age of 16 years may not be employed underground. A code of signals is established by the law, and a list of articles necessary to be kept for first aid to the injured. Only experienced men are permitted to use high explosives, and provisions are made as to tamping, blasting, storage, etc.]

CHAPTER 59.—Labor commissioner—Creation of office—Factory inspection

SECTION 1. Office created.—The office of labor commissioner of the Territory of Alaska is hereby created.

SEC. 2. Who to act.—The mining inspector of the Territory of Alaska shall be ex-officio labor commissioner, but shall receive no additional compensation for acting as such labor commissioner. The mining inspector is hereby empowered and authorized to perform the duties of such labor commissioner as provided in this act.

SEC. 3. Duties.—The duties of the labor commissioner of the Territory of Alaska shall be:

(a) To assort, systematize, and present in biennial report to the governor of Alaska statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the Territory, especially in its relation to the industrial, social, and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes, and to the permanent prosperity of the industries of the Territory.

(b) He shall have the power to enforce all sanitary and safety regulations, as are hereinafter set forth.

(c) He may inspect any factory, cannery, or other establishment where labor is employed, and is hereby empowered and authorized so to do.

SEC. 4. Sanitary provisions.—In every factory, cannery, or other establishment where labor is employed, all refuse, waste, and sweepings shall be removed or disposed of at least once a day and in such a manner as not to become a nuisance. In every factory, cannery, or other establishment in which any process is carried on which makes the floors wet, the floors shall be constructed and maintained with due regard to the health of employees and grating or dry standing rooms shall be provided, if practicable, at points where employees are regularly stationed, and adequate means shall be provided for drainage and for preventing seepage or leakage to the floors below.

SEC. 5. Drinking water.—In every factory, cannery, or other establishment where labor is employed, there shall be provided a sufficient supply of clean and pure drinking water; if such drinking water is placed in receptacles, such receptacles shall be properly covered to prevent contamination, and shall be thoroughly cleaned at frequent intervals. There shall be provided and maintained suitable and convenient wash rooms, separate for each sex, adequately equipped with washing facilities, consisting of sinks or stationary basins provided with running water, or with tanks holding an adequate supply of clean water. And there shall be provided in every factory, cannery, or other establishment employing ten (10) or more persons, shower baths with a sufficient supply of hot and cold water. All wash rooms, washing facilities, and sleeping quarters (when furnished by employer) shall be constructed, lighted, heated, ventilated, arranged and maintained according to rules and regulations drawn up by the labor commissioner.

SEC. 6. Water-closets.—[Every establishment where labor is employed shall be provided with suitable water-closets, earth closets, or privies. Where both male and female persons are employed, they shall be separate, and shall be kept in a sanitary and clean condition.]

SEC. 7.—Temperature.—In every factory, cannery, or other establishment, where labor is employed, adequate measures shall be taken for securing and maintaining a reasonable, and as far as possible, equable temperature, consistent with the reasonable requirements of the manufacturing process.

SEC. 8. Inspection.—It shall be the duty of every employer of labor, his superintendent, manager, or agent, in this Territory to afford to the labor commissioner every facility for the inspection of his factory, cannery, or other establishment where labor is employed, and for procuring statistics of the wages and conditions of his employees.

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Violations of this act shall be punished for first offense by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $50, or by ten days imprisonment or both. On second offense by fine of not less than $100 nor more than $200 or by imprisonment for one month, or by both fine and imprisonment.]

CHAPTER 14.—Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTIONS 1–50. Inspection, safety, etc.—[This act is a code of mining law for all coal mines in the Territory, and excludes chapter 51, Acts of 1917, from any application thereto. Inspection at all reasonable times is to be permitted and facilitated by the manager. The operation of dangerous mines may be forbidden. Registration, and reports of production, accidents, etc., as may be called for, are required. The act requires a monthly report of all accidents, and immediate reports of all serious or fatal accidents; also report of return to work in cases of serious accident. Rules for safety, first aid, rescue training, etc., are given; and escape ways and safety appliances are prescribed, including safety lamps, clearance in ways, supply of timber, the storage and use of explosives, ventilation, sprinkling, electric installation, etc.]

CHAPTER 44.—Mine inspector

SECTIONS 1–3. Appointment.—[This act provides for the biennial appointment of a mine inspector by the governor, with the assent and approval of the senate. See chapter 82, Acts of 1923.]

CHAPTER 35.—Mine foremen and fire bosses

SECTIONS 1, 2. Employment.—[This act forbids the employment, in any coal mine employing more than ten men underground in one shift, of a mine foreman, assistant foreman or fire boss who does not hold a certificate of competency issued by a State board of examiners within ten years, or by the supervising mining engineer of the United States Bureau of Mines for Alaska.]

CHAPTER 49.—Payment of wages

SECTION 1. Mode.—The payment of wages and other compensation of employees in all private employments in the Territory of Alaska shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by good and valid negotiable check or draft, payable in good and lawful money of the United States upon presentation thereof, and without grace, at some bank in the Territory of Alaska nearest the place where the work or labor was performed, without discount.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Every person, or any agent of any person, copartnership, association, or corporation, who, having the ability to pay, shall willfully refuse to pay the wages or compensation due and payable, when demanded as herein provided, or falsely deny the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due, with intent to secure for himself or any other person, any discount upon such indebtedness, or with intent to annoy, or harass, or opress [oppress], or hinder, or delay, or defraud, the person to whom the indebtedness is due, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment of not more than sixty (60) days.

SEC. 3. Damages.—Whenever any person, company, or corporation is compelled to sue for the recovery of wages or for the face value of the check, memorandum, token, or evidence of indebtedness issued or circulated for the payment of wages for labor, by reason of the failure of any person, firm, company, or corporation issuing the same failing or refusing to pay the same on demand, as provided in this act, then, and in such case, if judgment be rendered in favor of plaintiff the court shall tax the attorney fees of not less than ten ($10) dollars and not more than fifty ($50) dollars in favor of the judgment creditor and the further sum of twenty-five ($25) dollars as damages to the plaintiff suffered by the plaintiff by reason of being compelled to sue for the recovery of such claims: Provided, That no plaintiff shall recover more than the face value of his said claim where the payment is refused by reason of a dispute as to the ownership of said claim, or where it appears satisfactorily to the court or jury that the defendant had a sufficient excuse for the refusal of the payment of the claims, the burden of proof of said sufficient excuse being on the defendant, and, should the court or jury find such excuse sufficient, the same is to be specified in the verdict or judgment of the said court or jury.

SEC. 4. Wages due.—All wages of employees in and around canneries and salteries shall be due and payable monthly and within fifteen (15) days after the last day of the month in which the wages were earned: Provided, however, That when the services are completed or the employee is discharged prior to such pay day the wages or other compensation earned by him shall be paid without delay, but nothing contained herein shall be construed to prohibit the payment of wages at more frequent periods than monthly.

SEC. 5. Notices to be posted.—Every employer shall establish and maintain regular pay days as herein provided and shall post and maintain notices, printed or written in plain type or script, in at least two conspicuous places where such notices can be seen by the employees as they go to and from their work, setting forth the regular pay days as herein prescribed. Nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to interfere with any right of contract.

CHAPTER 82.—Mine inspector

SECTIONS 1–4. Joint supervision.—[This act suspends till March 31, 1925, the operation of chapter 44, Acts of 1921, authorizes the governor to arrange with the Department of the Interior for joint Territorial and Federal supervision of the inspection of mines other than coal mines, and appropriates $7,000 to carry out the proposed plan.]

CHAPTER 101.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. License.—[The license fee law for the year 1923 continues the charge of $500 per annum on employment agencies "operating for hire and collecting a fee for services."]

ARIZONA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE II.—Actions for personal injuries—Damages

SECTION 31. No limit on damages.—No law shall be enacted in this State limiting the amount of damages to be recovered for causing the death or injury of any person.

ARTICLE XV.—Safety of public service employees

SECTION 2. Scope of law.—All corporations other than municipal engaged in carrying persons or property for hire; or in furnishing gas, oil, or electricity for light, fuel or power; or in furnishing water for irrigation, fire protection, or other public purposes; or in furnishing, for profit, hot or cold air or steam for heating or cooling purposes; or in transmitting messages or furnishing public telegraph or telephone service, and all corporations other than municipal, operating as common carriers, shall be deemed public service corporations.

SEC. 3. Power to make rules.—The corporation commission * * * may * * * make and enforce reasonable rules, regulations, and orders for the convenience, comfort, and safety, and the preservation of the health, of the employees and patrons of such corporations; * * *

ARTICLE XVIII.—Employment of labor

SECTION 1. Limit of 8 hours per day on public works.—Eight hours and no more, shall constitute a lawful day's work in all employment by, or on behalf of, the State or any political subdivision of the State. The legislature shall enact such laws as may be necessary to put this provision into effect, and shall prescribe proper penalties for any violations of said laws.

SEC. 2. Age limit for children.—No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed in any gainful occupation at any time during the hours in which the public schools of the district in which the child resides are in session; nor shall any child under sixteen years of age be employed underground in mines, or in any occupation injurious to health or morals or hazardous to life or limb; nor in any occupation at night, or for more than eight hours in any day.

SEC. 3. Waivers of employers' liability.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company, association, or corporation to require of its servants or employees as a condition of their employment, or otherwise, any contract or agreement whereby such person, company, association, or corporation shall be released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries which may be received by such servants or employees while in the service or employment of such person, company, association, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company, association, or corporation, or the agents or employees thereof; and any such contract or agreement if made, shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. Fellow-servant doctrine.—The common law doctrine of fellow servant, so far as it affects the liability of a master for injuries to his servants resulting from the acts or omissions of any other servant or servants of the common master is forever abrogated.

SEC. 5. Contributory negligence and assumed risk.—The defense of contributory negligence or of assumption of risk shall, in all cases whatsoever, be a question of fact and shall, at all times, be left to the jury.

SEC. 6. Actions for injuries.—The right of action to recover damages for injuries shall never be abrogated, and the amount recovered shall not be subject to any statutory limitation.

SEC. 7. Employers' liability law.—To protect the safety of employees in all hazardous occupations, in mining, smelting, manufacturing, railroad or street railway transportation, or any other industry the legislature shall enact an employer's liability law, by the terms of which any employer, whether individual, association, or corporation shall be liable for the death or injury, caused by any accident due to a condition or conditions of such occupation, of any employee in the service of such employer in such hazardous occupation, in all cases in which such death or injury of such employee shall not have been caused by the negligence of the employee killed or injured.

SEC. 9. Black lists.—The exchange, solicitation, or giving out of any labor "black list," is hereby prohibited, and suitable laws shall be enacted to put this provision into effect.

SEC. 10. Employment of aliens on public works.—No person not a citizen or ward of the United States, or who has not declared his intention to become a citizen, shall be employed upon, or in connection with, any State, county, or municipal works or employment: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the working of prisoners by the State, or by any municipality thereof, on street or road work, or other public work. The legislature shall enact laws for the enforcement, and shall provide for the punishment of any violation, of this section.

ARTICLE XIX.—Mine regulations—Inspector

SECTION 1. Office created; laws to be enacted.—The office of mine inspector is hereby established. The legislature, at its first session, shall enact laws so regulating the operation and equipment of all mines in the State as to provide for the health and safety of workers therein and in connection therewith, and fixing the duties of said office. Upon approval of such laws by the governor, the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, shall forthwith appoint a mine inspector, who shall serve until his successor shall have been elected at the first general election thereafter and shall qualify. Said successor and all subsequent incumbents of said office shall be elected at general elections, and shall serve for two years.

REVISED STATUTES—1913

Exemption of wages from garnishment

PARAGRAPH 1452. Exemptions.—[One-half the debtor's earnings for personal services for 30 days are exempt on affidavit that such earnings are necessary for the support of his family.]

Railroad regulations

PARAGRAPH 2165.—Leaking engines.—No locomotive, from which steam escapes to such an extent as to obstruct the view of the men operating such locomotive, shall be used or permitted to be used in any yard or over any railroad or portion of a railroad, in this State: Provided, That this section shall not apply to the result of accident between terminals, until the engine reaches its destination. Any person, firm, company, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

PAR. 2190. Relief societies.—No railroad company now existing or hereafter created under and by virtue of the laws of this State, or of any other State or country, and having and operating a line of railway in this State, may establish or maintain, or assist in establishing or maintaining, any relief association or society, the rules or by-laws of which shall require of any person or employee becoming a member thereof, to enter into a contract, agreement, or stipulation, directly or indirectly, whereby such person or employee shall stipulate or agree to surrender or waive any right of damage against any railroad company for personal injuries, or death, or whereby such person or employee agrees to surrender or waive, in case he asserts such claim for damages, any right whatever, and any such agreement or contract so signed by such person shall be null and void.

PAR. 2191. Bonds of employees from specified companies, etc.—No common carrier authorized to do business in this State, when requiring of an employee that he give it a bond or undertaking of any nature whatsoever, shall require such employee to have such bond or undertaking, executed as surety by any particular person, company, corporation, association, or firm, or by any one or more of any number of such persons, companies, corporations, associations, or firms named by such common carrier; and no such common carrier shall reject any such bond or undertaking for any reason other than the financial insufficiency of such bond or undertaking.

PARS. 2192, 2193. Nonresident companies; term; cancellation.—[No nonresident surety may be required, and none may be accepted unless a resident is designated, on whom notice can be served, and with whom records can be kept. Bonds must be for specified terms, and may not be canceled before the expiration of the same except for breach of condition and on notice duly given.]

PAR. 2194. Violations.—[Violations entail a penalty of fine, $100 to $1,000, or imprisonment, 30 days to one year, or both.]

Public service corporations—Safety—Accidents

PARAGRAPH 2289. * * * Provisions required.—(b) Every public-service corporation shall furnish, provide, and maintain such service, instrumentalities, equipment and facilities as shall promote the safety, health, comfort and convenience of its patrons, employees and the public, and as shall be in all respects adequate, efficient, just, and reasonable.

PAR. 2318. Rules.—[The corporation commission is authorized to make rules after a hearing, governing the operation of public-service corporations with a view to the health and safety of employees, etc., including installation of interlocking devices, block systems of signaling, uniform and other standards of equipment, etc.]

PAR. 2320. Accidents.—[Accidents on the property of any public-service corporation or arising from the maintenance or operation of the same, resulting in loss of life or injury to persons or property must be reported, and may be investigated if in the judgment of the commission investigation is required; but reports and investigations, etc., are not available in any suit for damages.]

Employment of children—School attendance

PARAGRAPHS 2802–2804 (as amended 1921, ch. 143). Requirement.—[Attendance at school until 16 is required unless excused (among other reasons) because "such child is over 16 [apparently should be 14] years of age, and, with the consent of its parents or guardians, is employed at some lawful wage-earning occupation." Children under 16 cannot be employed during school hours without a permit. If attendance at school is prevented because of the necessity to work for support, the judge of the juvenile court may grant an allowance to permit attendance. Violations are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both. Attendance officers may inspect places of employment to enforce the law.]

Hours of labor

PARAGRAPH 3098. Employment hazardous.—The business of conducting and operating an electric light plant, or any electric power plant, is hereby declared to be hazardous and dangerous to those employed therein.

PAR. 3099. Limit of eight hours per day.—It shall be unlawful for any person, corporation or association operating or managing any electric light plant, or any electric power plant, or both, within this State, to permit, or cause to be permitted, any operating engineer or fireman, or switchboard operator, or any attendant in its service, employed in or about such plant, to be on duty more than eight hours in any twenty-four consecutive hours; except in cases of emergency when life or property is in imminent danger.

PAR. 3100. Violations.—[Violations of preceding section are punishable by a fine of not to exceed $100, each day's violation constituting a separate offense.]

PAR. 3103. Limit of eight hours per day on public works.—Eight hours, and no more, shall constitute a lawful day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons doing manual or mechanical labor, now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the State of Arizona or by or on behalf of any political subdivision of the State, except in cases of extraordinary emergency which may arise in time of war, or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours each calendar day for the protection of property or human life: Provided, That in all such cases the laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons doing manual or mechanical labor, so employed and working to exceed eight hours each calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided further, That not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to laborers, workmen, mechanics, and other persons doing manual or mechanical labor so employed by or on behalf of the State of Arizona, or of any political subdivision of the State; and laborers, workmen, mechanics and other persons doing manual or mechanical labor, employed by contractors or subcontractors in the execution of any contract or contracts with the State of Arizona, or with any political subdivision of the State, shall be deemed to be employed by or in behalf of the State of Arizona, or of such county, city, township, or other municipality thereof.

PAR. 3104. Contracts.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State of Arizona, or by or on behalf of any political subdivision of the State, with any corporation, person or persons for the performance of any work or the furnishing of any material manufactured within the State of Arizona, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; and it shall be unlawful for any such corporation, person or persons to require or permit any laborer, workman, mechanic or other person doing manual or mechanical labor, to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work or in furnishing or manufacturing such material, except in the cases and upon the conditions provided in the preceding section.

PAR. 3105. Aliens not to be employed.—No person not a citizen or ward of the United States, or who has not declared his intentions to become a citizen shall be employed upon, or in connection with, any State, county, or municipal works, or employment: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the working of prisoners by the State, or by any county or municipality thereof, on street or road work, or other public work.

PAR. 3106. Violations.—[Violation of three preceding sections is punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.]

PAR. 3108. Eight-hour day in mines, etc.—The period of employment of hoisting engineers at the mines in this State, and furnace men at the smelters in said State, shall be eight hours per day except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

PAR. 3109. Violations.—[Violation of preceding section punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $300 for each offense.]

Employment of women and children

PARAGRAPH 3110. Age.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any mill, factory, workshop (including tenement-house factories and workshops) mercantile establishment, office, telegraph or telephone office, restaurant, bakery, etc., or as bootblack, messenger or delivery boy; but boys 10 to 14 may be allowed to deliver newspapers or do other work outside school hours, not harmful in the opinion of the board of school trustees.]

PAR. 3111. School hours.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any business during school hours.]

PARS. 3112–3114. Dangerous occupations.—[Employment of children under 16 in designated list of dangerous occupations (for similar list see sec. 3145, Delaware Code), or in any other employment declared by the State board of health to be dangerous or injurious is forbidden.]

PAR. 3115. Seats for females.—Females shall not be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in any capacity where such employment compels them to remain standing constantly. Every person who shall employ any female in any place or establishment mentioned in the first section [sec. 3110] of this chapter [secs. 3110–3145] shall provide suitable seats, chairs, or benches for the use of the females so employed, which shall be so placed as to be accessible to said employees; and shall permit the use of such seats, chairs, or benches by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed, and there shall be provided at least two chairs to every three females.

PARS. 3116–3125. Certificates.—[Employment certificates are required for children to 16; child must be 14, have completed 5 grades of school, and be of normal physical development and fitness. Issue is by the school authorities.]

PAR. 3126. Enforcement.—[Inspectors, etc., may require discharge of a child apparently under 16 for whom no permit or evidence of age is produced.]

PARS. 3127, 3128. Dangerous occupations.—[Employment under 18 in certain occupations is forbidden. For similar list, see sec. 3148, Delaware Code. The State board of health may add thereto.]

PAR. 3129. Female in coal mines.—No female shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in or about any mine, quarry, or coal breaker.

PAR. 3130. Messengers.—[The employment of minors in incorporated cities and towns as messengers or in delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. is forbidden.]

PAR. 3131. Work time.—[Boys under 16 and girls under 18 may not work more than 8 hours per day or 48 hours per week except in farm or domestic service.]

PAR. 3132. Schedule.—[Time for beginning, ending, and allowance for meals must be posted in workrooms of boys under 16 and girls under 18.]

PAR. 3133. Street trades.—[Boys under 10 and girls under 16 may not sell newspapers, periodicals, or merchandise on the street. Boys under 10 may not work as bootblacks.]

PAR. 3134. Enforcement.—[Inspectors may visit any place of employment and report violations.]

PARS. 3135-3145. Violations.—[Penalties range from $5 to $200 for violations of the different sections by parents, officials, employers, etc.]

Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

PARAGRAPH 3146. Fees, etc., forbidden.—It shall be and is hereby made unlawful for any manager, superintendent, officer, agent, servant, foreman, shift-boss, or other employee of any person or corporation, charged or intrusted with the employment of any wokmen or laborers, or with the continuance of workmen or laborers in employment, to demand or receive, either directly or indirectly, from any workman or laborer, employed through his agency, or worked or continued in employment under his direction or control, any fee, commission, or gratuity of any kind or nature as the price or condition of the employment of any such workman or laborer, or as the price or condition of his continuance in such employment; and any such manager, superintendent, officer, agent, servant, foreman, shift boss, or other employee of any person or corporation charged or intrusted with the employment of laborers or workmen for his principal, or under whose direction or control such workmen and laborers are engaged in work and labor for such principal, who shall demand or receive, either directly or indirectly, any fee, commission, or gratuity of any kind or nature, from any workman or laborer employed by him or through his agency, or worked under his direction and control, either as the price and condition of the employment of such workman or laborer or as the price and condition of the continuance of such workman or laborer in such employment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not exceeding three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court trying the charge.

Dangerous employments

PARAGRAPH 3147. What employments dangerous.—Employment in all underground mines, underground workings, open cut workings, open pit workings, in or about, and in connection with, the operation of smelters, reduction works, stamp mills, concentrating mills, chlorination processes, cyanide processes, cement works, rolling mills, rod mills and at coke ovens and blast furnaces, is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

Railroads—Qualifications of employees

PARAGRAPH 3148. Engineers.—If any person shall run or operate any locomotive engine upon any railroad in the State of Arizona, without having served three years prior thereto as a fireman or engineer on a locomotive engine, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and he shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars; and each day he so engages shall constitute a separate offense.

PAR. 3149. Conductors.—If any person shall act or engage to act as a conductor on a railroad train in this State without having for three years prior thereto served or worked in the capacity of a brakeman or conductor on a freight train on a line of railroad, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars; and each day he so engages shall constitute a separate offense.

PAR. 3150. Unlawful employment.—If any person shall knowingly engage, promise, require, persuade, prevail upon or cause any person to do any act in violation with the provisions of the two preceding sections of this chapter, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars; and each day he so engages shall constitute a separate offense.

PAR. 3151. Exemptions.—Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as applying to the running or operating of engines, in taking said engines to and from trains at division terminals by engine hostlers, or the shifting of cars or making up trains, or doing any work appurtenant thereto at engine houses, train or freight yards by switchmen or yardmen, or in the case of the disability of an engineer or conductor while out on the road between division terminals. In case of emergency where such companies can not obtain the employees mentioned in this chapter who have the qualifications prescribed by the provisions thereof, then such companies may employ temporary engineers and conductors who have not the qualifications prescribed by this chapter until such trains reach their terminal.

PAR. 3152. Application of act.—The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to any railroad company within this State or the receiver or lessee thereof, whose line of railway is less than twenty-five miles in length.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

PARAGRAPH 3153. Title.—This chapter [pars. 3153-3162] is and shall be declared to be an employer's liability law as prescribed in section 7 of Article XVIII of the State constitution.

PAR. 3154. Employer liable, when.—To protect the safety of employees in all hazardous occupations in mining, smelting, manufacturing, railroad, or street railway, transportation, or any other industry, as provided in said section 7 of Article XVIII of the State constitution, any employer, whether individual association, or corporation, shall be liable for the death or injury, caused by any accident due to a condition or conditions of such occupation, of any employee in the service of such employer in such hazardous occupation, in all cases in which such death or injury of such employee shall not have been caused by the negligence of the employee killed or injured.

PAR. 3155. Employment, hazardous.—The labor and services of workmen at manual and mechanical labor, in the employment of any person, firm, association, company, or corporation, in the occupations enumerated in the next section hereof, are hereby declared and determined to be service in a hazardous occupation within the meaning of the terms of the preceding section.

By reason of the nature and conditions of, and the means used and provided for doing the work in, said occupations, such service is especially dangerous and hazardous to the workmen therein, because of risks and hazards which are inherent in such occupations and which are unavoidable by the workmen therein.

PAR. 3156. List of hazardous occupations.—The occupations hereby declared and determined to be hazardous within the meaning of this chapter are as follows:

(1). The operation of steam railroads, electrical railroads, street railroads, by locomotives, engines, trains, motors, or cars of any kind propelled by steam, electricity, cable or other mechanical power, including the construction, use or repair of machinery, plants, tracks, switches, bridges, roadbeds, upon, over and by which such railway business is operated.

(2). All work when making, using or necessitating dangerous proximity to gunpowder, blasting powder, dynamite, compressed air, or any other explosive.

(3). The erection or demolition of any bridge, building, or structure in which there is, or in which the plans and specifications require, iron or steel framework.

(4). The operation of all elevators, elevating machines or derricks or hoisting apparatus used within or on the outside of any bridge, building or other structure for conveying materials in connection with the erection or demolition of such bridge, building or structure.

(5). All work on ladders or scaffolds of any kind elevated twenty feet or more above the ground or floor beneath in the erection, construction, repair, painting or alteration of any building, bridge, structure or other work in which the same are used.

(6). All work of construction, operation, alteration or repair where wires, cables, switchboards, or other apparatus or machinery are in use charged with electrical current.

(7). All work in the construction, alteration, or repair of pole lines for telegraph, telephone, or other purposes.

(8). All work in or about quarries, open pits, open cuts, mines, ore reduction works and smelters.

(9). All work in the construction and repair of tunnels, subways and viaducts.

(10). All work in mills, shops, works, yards, plants and factories where steam, electricity, or any other mechanical power is used to operate machinery and appliances in and about such premises.

PAR. 3157. Rules, etc.—Every employer, whether individual, firm, association, company or corporation, employing workmen in such occupation, of itself or through an agent, shall by rules, regulations, or instructions, inform all employees in such occupations as to the duties and restrictions of their employment, to the end of protecting the safety of employees in such employment.

PAR. 3158. Employer liable, when.—When in the course of work in any of the employments or occupations enumerated in the preceding section, personal injury or death by any accident arising out of and in the course of such labor, service and employment, and due to a condition or conditions of such occupation or employment, is caused to or suffered by any workman engaged therein, in all cases in which such injury or death of such employee shall not have been caused by the negligence of the employee killed or injured, then the employer of such employee shall be liable in damages to employee injured, or, in case death ensues, to the personal representative of the deceased for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then to such employee's parents; and, if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee, and, if none, then to his personal representative, for the benefit of the estate of the deceased.

PAR. 3159. Contributory negligence and assumed risk.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this chapter to recover damages for personal injuries to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the question whether the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence, or has assumed the risk, shall be a question of fact and shall at all times, regardless of the state of the evidence relating thereto, be left to the jury, as provided in section 5 of Article XVIII of the State constitution: Provided, however, That in all actions brought against any employer, under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this chapter to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee.

PAR. 3160. Waivers.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any employer to exempt himself or itself from any liability created by this chapter, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this chapter, such employer may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity or that it may have paid to the injured employee or his personal representative on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

PAR. 3161. Appeals.—In all actions for damages brought under the provisions of this chapter, if the plaintiff be successful in obtaining judgment, and if the defendant appeals to a higher court, and if the plaintiff in the lower court be again successful; and the judgment of the lower court is sustained by the higher court or courts; then, and in that event the plaintiff shall have added to the amount of such judgment by such higher court or courts, interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum on the amount of such judgment from the date of the filing of the suit in the first instance until the full amount of such judgment is paid.

PAR. 3162. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this chapter unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of action accrued.

PAR. 3162a. Fee limited.—In any action brought under this chapter, or in any action brought to recover damages for the death or injury of any employee under any other law of the State of Arizona, when such death or injury was sustained by such employee in the course of one of the occupations by this chapter declared hazardous, it shall be unlawful for any attorneys at law to receive or contract or agree to receive a fee or compensation for his or their services as such attorney, or attorneys at law, a fee to exceed twenty-five (25) per cent of the amount recovered and collected, exclusive of costs. And any contract or agreement, or device whatsoever, in violation hereof shall be null and void, and any attorney, or attorneys at law violating this section shall forfeit all right to any fee or compensation whatsoever in said action, and shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to disbarment.

Exemption of wages from execution

PARAGRAPH 3302. Minor child.—[Subdivision 19 exempts earnings of a minor child of a judgment debtor, if debt was not incurred for special benefit of such child.

Subdivision 20 is the same as par. 1452 above.]

Wages as preferred claims

PARAGRAPH 3677. Insolvency.—[Wages of miners, mechanics, salesmen, clerks or laborers, not over $200 each, earned within 60 days of an assignment are to be paid before other creditors.]

PAR. 3678. Death.—[Same classes of persons and sums rank next after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, charges of administration, and allowances to widow and infant children.]

PAR. 3679. Execution, etc.—[Same classes of persons may give notice covering same amounts as above, which will be allowed unless contested by a party in interest. If contested, validity will be decided in summary procedure.]

Mine regulations

PARAGRAPHS 4053–4091. State inspection; safety, etc.—[These paragraphs contain provisions applicable to all mines, coal, metalliferous, or other. A State inspector is elected, and first-aid appliances must be furnished, and maps prepared. Other provisions relate to explosives, fire protection, escape shafts, hoists, outlets, ventilation, light, protection against flooding, signals, electric installations, wash rooms, etc. No boy under 18 may be employed underground, as a hoisting engineer. Wash rooms are required if 25 or more men are employed.]

PENAL CODE

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 44. Coercion, etc., by employers.— * * * It shall be unlawful for any employer, either corporation, association, company, firm or person, in paying its, their or his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose their pay in "pay envelopes," upon which there is written or printed any political mottoes, devices or arguments, containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinion, views or actions of such employees. Nor shall it be lawful for any employer, either corporation, association, company, firm or person, within ninety days of any election provided by law, to put up or otherwise exhibit in its, their or his factory, workshop, mine, mill, boarding house, office or other establishment or place where its, their or his employees may be working or be present in the course of such employment, any handbill, notice or placard containing any threat, notice or information that in case any particular ticket or candidate shall be elected, work in its, their or his place or establishment will cease in whole or in part, or its, their or his establishment be closed, or the wages of its, their or his workmen be reduced, or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of its, their or his employees. Any person or persons, or corporation, violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and any person, whether acting in his individual capacity or as an officer or agent of any corporation so guilty of such misdemeanor shall be punished as prescribed in the next section.

SEC. 45. Same subject.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation or any officer or agent of any corporation to influence or attempt to influence by force, violence or restraint, or by inflicting or threatening to inflict any injury, damage, harm or loss, or by discharging from employment or promoting in employment or by intimidation or otherwise in any manner whatever, to induce or compel any employee to vote or refrain from voting at any election provided by law, or to vote or refrain from voting for any particular person or persons, measure or measures at any such election. Any such corporation, or any officer or agent of such corporation, violating any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars.

Railroads—Qualifications of telegraph and telephone operators

SECTION 403. Eighteen-year age limit.—No railway company, or corporation operating a line or lines of railway within this State, shall hire, employ, or permit any person to act as a telegraph or telephone operator for the purpose of receiving or transmitting messages, orders, or other instructions, governing or affecting the movement of any train or trains, unless said person shall be at least eighteen years of age and have had not less than one year's experience as a telegraph operator.

SEC. 404. Violations.—[Violation entails a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 for each offense.]

Obtaining labor under false pretenses—Suits for wages

SECTION 524 (as amended 1921, ch. 26). Fraudulent hiring.—Any person, persons, partnership, association, company, or corporation (his or its officers, directors or agents), who or which shall employ upon wages any person or persons in any occupation, and who or which at the time of employing such person or persons shall not have sufficient assets within the county in which such work or labor is to be performed, over and above all exemptions allowed by law, to cover the amount of wages accruing to said employee or employees for the term of two weeks, and who shall make any false representations or pretenses as to having such assets, or who, after labor has been done under such employment by said employee or employees, shall fail, upon the discharge or resignation of such employee or employees, or for a period of five days after such wages are legally payable, to pay said employee or employees on demand, in the manner prescribed by law, the wages due such employee or employees for such labor, shall be deemed guilty of obtaining labor under false pretenses, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the State penitentiary for a period not to exceed one year, or by a fine not exceeding three times the amount of wages so due; and upon prosecution therefor, and conviction thereof, in the same proceeding, civil judgment shall be rendered in favor of such employee or employees, and against such person, persons, partnership, association, company or corporation (his or its officers, directors or agents), for all such wages that may be unpaid, together with a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court, and which said judgment shall also include compensation to such employee or employees at the same rate at which such wages were agreed to be paid, from the time same became due until said judgment be satisfied, and said judgment shall be and constitute a first and prior lien against the property of such employer upon which said work and labor was done and performed.

Payment of wages

SECTION 704. Semimonthly pay days.—The State of Arizona, every department and institution of the State, every county and municipal corporation within the State, every contractor (whether individual, firm, partnership, association or corporation) employed under contract by the State, or by any of said departments, institutions, counties, or municipal corporations, and every company or corporation doing business in the State, shall designate regular days not more than sixteen days apart as days fixed for the payment of wages to the employees thereof, and shall post and maintain notices, printed or written, in plain type or script, in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by said employees as they go to and from their work, setting forth said days as "pay days," and the State, and every such department, institution, corporation or individual, shall pay on each of said days to its or his employees in lawful money of the United States, or in negotiable bank checks, payable on demand, of the date of said day, all wages due said employees up to such pay day, except that said State, department, institution, corporation, or individual may withhold wages for not more than five days' labor due any employee remaining in the service thereof.

SEC. 705. Discharged employees.—Whenever an employee quits the service or is discharged therefrom, such employee shall be paid whatever wages are due him, in lawful money of the United States of America, or by check of even date, on a bank, and said wages shall be paid at once.

SEC. 706. Violations.—[Violation of the two preceding sections, except by municipal corporations, is punishable by fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500.]

The provisions of sections 705 and 706 are constitutional. Arizona Power Co. v. State, 166 Pac. 275.

SEC. 707. Payment in lawful money.—Every employer within this State, whether the State, a subdivision of the State, corporation, company, association, firm, or individual, shall pay any wages or compensation due any employee thereof in lawful money of the United States or negotiable bank check payable on demand, and dated not later than the day upon which said check is given, said check to be drawn upon some bank or banker located and carrying on business in this State, and not otherwise.

SEC. 708. Penalty.—Any person, firm, association, or corporation paying wages or compensation in any manner other than as provided in the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 709. Scrip, etc., to be redeemable in money.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company, or corporation, owning or operating any mines, smelters, mills, or manufactory, or transacting any kind of general mercantile business, in the State of Arizona, or any railroad company operating in the State of Arizona, to sell, give, deliver, or in any manner issue directly or indirectly, to any person employed by him, in payment of wages due for labor, or as advances on wages of labor not due, any scrip, check, draft, ticket, punch out, due bill, store order or evidence of indebtedness payable, or redeemable otherwise than in their face value in money; and any such person, acting member or agent of any firm, acting agent or officer of any company or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not over five hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months nor less than one month.

SEC. 710. Coercion in trade.—Whoever compels, or in any manner seeks to compel or coerce any employee or any person, firm, company or corporation, to purchase goods or supplies from any particular person, firm, company, or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not less than five hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months.

Protection of employees in exercise of civil rights

SECTION 711. Intimidation.—It shall be unlawful for any person to induce or compel, or attempt to induce or compel, by menace or threat, either directly or indirectly, any other person to sign or subscribe, or to refrain from signing or subscribing his name to any initiative, referendum, or recall petition, or petition to any officer or official body, or, after signing or subscribing his name, to have his name taken therefrom. Any direct or indirect menace or threat that any person will or may be injured in his business or discharged from any lawful employment in which he is engaged, or will not or shall not be employed in any lawful vocation or labor, shall be deemed a violation of this act.

SEC. 712. Penalty.—[Violation shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.]

Hours of labor in mines, smelters, etc.

SECTION 713. Classes of employment.—The period of employment for all persons who are employed, occupied or engaged, in work or labor, of any kind or nature, in underground mines or underground workings, open cut workings or open pit workings, in search for or in the extraction of, minerals, whether base or precious, or who are engaged in such underground mines, underground workings, open cut workings, or open pit workings for other purposes, or who are employed, engaged or occupied, in other underground workings of any kind or nature, open cut workings or open pit workings, for the purpose of tunneling, making excavations, or to accomplish any other purpose or design, or who are employed, engaged, or who work, in or about, or in connection with, the operation of smelters, reduction works, stamp mills, concentrating mills, chlorinating processes, cyanide processes, cement works, rolling mills, rod mills, and at coke ovens and blast furnaces, shall not exceed eight hours within any twenty-four hours, and the said eight hours shall include the time employed, occupied or consumed, in descending to and ascending from the point or place of work in any underground mine or underground workings, or the time employed, occupied or consumed in leaving the surface of any tunnel, open cut, or open pit workings, for the point or place of work therein, and in returning thereto from said point or place of work, and that it is the intent and purpose of this act that the period of time between leaving the surface of underground mines, underground workings, open cut workings, open pit workings, and tunnels, for the point, or place of work and in returning thereto from said point or place of work, shall not exceed eight hours within any twenty-four hours: Provided, That in the case of emergency, where life or property is in imminent danger, the period may be prolonged during the continuance of such emergency: And provided, further, That nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to prevent a change in the hours of employment from one part of the day to another at stated periods, nor to prevent the employment of any of the persons mentioned in this section for more than eight hours during the day in which such change is made: And provided, however, That such change in the hours of employment shall not occur more than once in any two weeks.

[Violation entails a fine of not less than $250 nor more than $500, or imprisonment for not less than three nor more than six months, or both, each day's violation constituting a separate offense.]

Ventilation of workrooms—Laundries

SECTION 715. Air space.—There shall be afforded not less than six hundred cubic feet of air to each worker or occupant of any laundry building or room, and every room shall have at least two windows connecting with the external air and so arranged as to provide a cross current of air.

Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 717. Eight hours' work.—No female shall be employed or be permitted to work in any mercantile establishment, confectionery store, bakery, laundry, hotel, restaurant, or telephone or telegraph office or exchange, in this State, more than eight hours during any one day or more than fifty-six hours during any one week: Provided, That at least one hour for meals be allowed each female during her working period, but no part of such hour for meals shall be included as a part of the permitted working period: Provided further, That the said eight-hour period of work shall be performed within a period of twelve hours, the period of twelve hours during which such labor must be performed not to be applicable to railroad restaurants or eating houses located upon railroad rights of way and operated by or under contract with any railroad company: And provided further, That in any such mercantile establishment, confectionery store, or bakery, where females are employed for six days only in any one week, two additional hours (making a total working period of ten hours) may be added to said permitted period of daily labor on one of said six working-days, but in all cases the permitted period of daily labor must be performed within said period of twelve hours: And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to females employed in any such telephone or telegraph office or exchange in which not more than three females are employed or to female nurses.

SEC. 718. Evidence of violation.—The employment of any female in any place or establishment defined in the preceding section, at any time other than those of the posted hours of labor, as herein provided for, shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of this act.

SEC. 719. Schedule to be posted.—Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such females are employed, a printed notice stating the hours of commencing and stopping such work, the time allowed for dinner or other meals, and the maximum number of hours any female employee is permitted to work in any one day.

SEC. 720. Violation.—[Violation is punished by fine of not less than $25, or imprisonment for not less than 30 days, or both.]

INITIATED LAWS—1914

SECTION 1. Definition.—A black list is hereby defined and declared to be any understanding or agreement whereby the names of any person or persons, lists of names, descriptions or other means of identification shall be spoken, written, printed or implied for the purpose of being communicated or transmitted between two or more employers of labor, their bosses, foremen, superintendents, managers, officers or other agents, whereby the laborer is prevented or prohibited from engaging in a useful occupation. Any understanding or agreement between employers, their bosses, foremen, superintendents, managers, officers or other agents, whether written or verbal; and it will make no difference whether the employers, their bosses, foremen, superintendents, managers, officers or other agents act individually or for some company, corporation, syndicate, partnership or society; and it will make no difference whether they are employed or acting as agents for one and the same or different companies, corporations, syndicates, partnerships or societies, it shall come within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 2. Black list forbidden.—Any employer, boss, superintendent, manager, officer or other agent of any company, corporation, syndicate, partnership or society who shall command or persuade any person to give a photograph, or to fill out any written or printed form, or to make any verbal statements, or any other method or means of identification as to whom his or her former employer was; or any employer, boss, superintendent, manager, officer or other agent who shall discharge any person or persons on account of his or her affiliation with or membership in any corporation, organization or society, or because of former discharge of, or because of any blacklist of, any former employer, shall be guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned not less than one (1) year nor more than five (5) years, and shall be liable in damages to any person or persons injured by such violation to the amount of not less than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, to be recovered by civil action.

SEC. 3. Evidence.—The violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be taken as prima facie evidence of a black list.

SEC. 4. Separate offenses.—Each individual violation of the provisions of this act shall constitute a separate offense; that is, this section shall be taken to mean that any individual, company, corporation, syndicate, partnership or society who shall blacklist more than one person is guilty of a separate and distinct violation of the provisions of this act for each and every person so blacklisted.

CHAPTER 17.—Bureau of mines

SECTIONS 1, 2. Bureau created, duties.—[This act creates a bureau of mines under the direction of the board of regents of the University of Arizona, for a variety of technical and scientific purposes, but also to establish and maintain a mine rescue car for service and training in mine rescue work, first aid and general safety.]

CHAPTER 21.—Free employment offices—State and Federal cooperation

SECTION 1. State board of control.—The State board of control is hereby authorized and empowered, and it is made a part of the duty of said board of control, to establish and maintain free employment offices in the State of Arizona. Said free employment offices shall be conducted in cooperation with and under the established rules and regulation of the Department of Labor of the United States.

SEC. 2. Appropriation.—For the establishment and maintenance of free employment offices in the State of Arizona, as provided by section one of this act, there is hereby annually appropriated the sum of $2,500, or as much thereof as may be necessary. The appropriation made under the provisions of this act shall be set apart by the State treasurer in a separate fund hereby designated The Free Employment Office Fund. All moneys expended out of said fund shall be under the authority and by the direction of the State board of control. The State auditor is hereby authorized and directed to draw said warrant and the State treasurer is hereby directed to pay said warrant from said fund.

CHAPTER 22.—Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 1. Payment without administration.—The surviving husband or wife of any deceased person may, without procuring letters of administration, collect from any corporation, copartnership, association, or individual any sum of money which said corporation, copartnership, association, or individual may have owed such deceased person at the time of his or her death for wages earned by such deceased person while in the employ of such corporation, copartnership, association, or individual, provided said sum of money shall not exceed $300.

SEC. 2. Procedure.—Any corporation, copartnership, association or individual, upon receiving an affidavit stating that a person previously in the employ of any such corporation, copartnership, association or individual is dead, and that the affiant in such affidavit is the surviving husband or wife of such employee, as the case may be, and that the whole amount that such corporation, copartnership, association or individual owed such deceased person at the time of his or her death, does not exceed the sum of $300, may pay to such affiant any amount of such wages earned by said deceased person if the same does not exceed $300, and the receipt of such affiant shall be sufficient acquittance therefor.

CHAPTER 38 (as amended 1923, ch. 3).—Employment of women—Minimum wages

SECTION 1. $16.00 per week.—No person, persons, firm or corporation, transacting business within the State of Arizona, shall employ any female in any store, office, shop, restaurant, dining-room, hotel, rooming-house, laundry or manufacturing establishment at a weekly wage of less than sixteen dollars ($16.00) per week; a lesser amount being hereby declared inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living to any such female, to maintain her health, and to provide her with the common necessaries of life.

SEC. 2. Penalties.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $50 to $300, or imprisonment, 10 to 60 days, or both, for each separate offense.]

CHAPTER 113.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 1–9. Attendance required.—[This act requires school attendance to 16 years of age, unless 14 and excused to enter regular employment; also attendance in part-time school.]

CHAPTER 165.—Regulation of factories, etc.—Wash rooms in smelters and foundries

SECTION 1. Where required.—Suitable and proper bathrooms, wash rooms, and water-closets shall be provided by the owner or operator of any smelter, refinery, or foundry engaged in the treatment or reduction of ores or metals, and all cement works and ore reduction works using oils, cyanide, acids, quicksilver and such water-closets shall be properly screened and ventilated, and shall be kept at all times in a clean, sanitary condition, with not less than one seat for each twenty-five persons, and one seat for each fraction thereof above ten, employed in such establishment. One shower bath shall be provided for every twenty-five men employed in such establishment with adequate additional wash-room facilities, and at all times they shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

SEC. 2. Dressing room.—Every such establishment enumerated above shall provide, maintain, and suitably equip a heated change room immediately contiguous to such establishment, which shall at all times be open to employees and shall at all times be kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The enforcement of the provisions of this act are declared necessary for the maintenance of the public health, and the superintendent of the State board of health is charged with the enforcement of the provisions herein contained.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violation of this act is punished by a fine of not less than $50, nor more than $300, or imprisonment for not less than 10 nor more than 60 days, or both.]

ACTS OF 1921

CHAPTER 73.—Mine regulations—Notice of operation, etc.

SECTIONS 1, 2. Notice required.—[Notice is required to be given to the State mine inspector whenever mining operations of any character are begun on property coming under his jurisdiction; also notice of suspension if six or more workmen have been employed.]

CHAPTER 10.—Civil rights of employees—Protection as voters, etc.

SECTION 1. Intimidation.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, its officers or agents, to make, enforce, or attempt to enforce, any order, rule, or regulation, or adopt any other device or method to prevent an employee from engaging in political activities, accepting candidacy for nomination or election to, or the holding of political office, or from holding a position as a member of any political committee; or from soliciting or receiving funds for political purposes; or from acting as a chairman or participating in a political convention; or assuming the conduct of any political campaign; or for any corporation, its officers or agents to instigate, encourage, aid or assist, whether by personal service or contributing money or anything of value, any employee in its employ to run for or be elected to any political office; or for any corporation, its officers or agents to pay or contribute anything of value, whether in wages, fees or contributions, to any such employee in its employ while such employee is engaged in the official duties of the office to which such employee is elected; or from casting his ballot or vote as his conscience may command: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as prohibiting any employer from suspending the wages or compensation of any employee elected to office when the duties of such employee in such office shall interfere with the duties of such employee to his employer.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Any corporation, its officers or agents, violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished, if a corporation, by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, nor more than five thousand dollars; and if an officer or agent of any such corporation, by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months nor more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER 77.—Employment on public works—Citizens to be preferred

[This is a provision of the general appropriation act of 1923, but has been regularly embodied in similar acts for a number of years.]

SECTION 2. Preference.—In all cases where money appropriated under the provisions of this act is or shall be expended for labor, only citizens of the United States or wards of the United States shall be employed and actual bona fide resident citizens of the State shall be given the preference whenever such labor as may be required can be found within this State, and before any labor can be sought outside of this State, either directly or indirectly, the person, contractor, firm or corporation shall file with the State auditor a verified written statement setting out in detail the effort put forth, showing his, their, or its inability to secure labor as is required within this State, and if the auditor is satisfied of such inability, then the auditor may execute a release permitting the bringing into this State such citizens only of the United States as may be needed for such work. Before any money herein appropriated shall be paid out for labor or construction, a verified statement shall be filed with the auditor, showing strict compliance with the provisions of this section. If the provisions of this section are not complied with, it shall be unlawful to pay out any of the moneys herein appropriated; and any contract entered into wherein the provisions of this section have not been complied with shall be void; Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the working of prisoners by the State.

ARKANSAS

ARTICLE 19.—Mine regulations, etc.

SECTION 18. Laws to be passed.—The general assembly by suitable enactments shall require such appliances and means to be provided and used as may be necessary to secure as far as possible the lives, health and safety of persons employed in mining and of persons traveling upon railroads and by other public conveyances, and shall provide for enforcing such enactments by adequate pains and penalties.

DIGEST OF 1921

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 97. Rank.—[Wages rank with expenses of last sickness, next after the funeral expenses.]

Public service—Safety appliances

SECTION 1611 (as amended 1921, No. 124). Safety.—Every person, firm, or corporation engaged in a public service business in this State shall establish and maintain adequate and suitable facilities, safety appliances, or other suitable devices, and shall perform such service in respect thereto as shall be reasonable, safe and sufficient for * * * the safety and comfort of its employees, * * *

Railroads—Height of wires over tracks

SECTION 1762. Trolley wires.—[Street railways using electric power must maintain their wires at railroad crossings at a height of not less than 22 feet.]

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency of corporations

SECTIONS 1798, 1799. Wages to be paid first.—[No preferences are allowed in insolvency of corporations other than wages and salaries of laborers and servants. All other debts rank equally after the payment of such wages and salaries.]

Enticement of employees

SECTION 2789. Enticing workmen.—If any person shall interfere with, entice away, knowingly employ, or induce a laborer or renter who has contracted with another person for a specified time to leave his employer or the leased premises, before the expiration of the contract without the consent of the employer or landlord, he shall, upon conviction before any justice of the peace or circuit court, be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, and in addition shall be liable to such employer or landlord for all advances made by him to said renter or laborer by virtue of his contract, whether verbal or written, with said renter or laborer, and for all damages which he may have sustained by reason thereof.

Tips for employees

SECTION 2849. Tips to waiters, etc., forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any steward, waiter, porter or other employee at any hotel, restaurant, cafe, or eating house in the State of Arkansas to solicit or receive either directly or indirectly, or for any proprietor or manager of any such hotel, restaurant, cafe, or eating house, to permit any such steward, waiter, porter or other employee to receive, either directly or indirectly, from any guest or patron any gift, compensation or honorarium, or gratuity commonly known as a "tip."

SEC. 2850. Tips to porters, etc., on railroads forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any porter or other employee of any sleeping car company or dining car company or corporation or carrier operating any sleeping car or dining car in this State, to receive, either directly or indirectly, any gratuity or compensation commonly known as a "tip," and any sleeping or dining car company or any common carrier or corporation operating a sleeping or dining car in this

State that permits an employee to accept or receive any gratuity or compensation commonly known as a "tip," shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2851. Penalty.—Any person, firm, corporation or common carrier violating any of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 3809. Coercion, etc., by employers.— * * * No person shall coerce, intimidate or unduly influence any elector to vote for or against the nominee of any political party, or for or against any particular question or candidate, by any threat * * * of discharge from employment, * * *. Any violation of this section shall be deemed a felony, and, on conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years.

Garnishment of wages of railroad employees

SECTION 4907. Judgment to be recovered before issue of writ.—Hereafter no garnishment shall be issued by any court in any cause where the sum demanded is two hundred dollars or less and where the property sought to be reached is wages due to a defendant by any railroad corporation, until after judgment shall have been recovered by plaintiff against defendant in the action.

Exemption of wages from garnishment—Unlawful assignments

SECTION 5546. Amount.—[All wages for 60 days shall be exempt from garnishment or other seizure, unless, taken with other personal property, the total would exceed the limits of the constitutional exemption ($200 if single, or $500 if married).]

SECS. 5547, 5548. Sending claims outside the State.—[Sending claims outside the State or assigning them for collection with the intent of depriving resident debtors of their rights under the exemption laws of the State, when the parties are within the jurisdiction of the courts of the State is a misdemeanor.]

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 5888. Amount.—[Salaries of employees earned within 3 months, and all wages are to be paid first in the distribution of assets by receivers.]

Bureau of labor and statistics

SECTION 6535. Bureau created.—A bureau of labor and statistics is hereby created for a period of fifty years, which shall be under the charge and control of a commissioner of labor and statistics.

SEC. 6536. Commissioner.—A commissioner of labor and statistics shall be appointed by the governor immediately upon the taking effect of this act, who shall hold office until the first day of February, 1915, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, after which the term of office of each commissioner shall begin on the first day of February of every odd numbered year, and shall continue for two years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and all appointments shall be made by the governor of this State. The commissioner may be removed for cause by the governor, record thereof being made in his office, and any vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. The commissioner of labor and statistics shall give bond in the sum of two thousand dollars, with sureties to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and he shall also take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution. He shall have an office in the capitol building, and, except as hereinafter provided, he shall safely keep and shall deliver to his successor all records, papers, documents, correspondence, and property pertaining to or coming into his hands by virtue of his office.

SEC. 6537. Duties.—The commissioner of labor and statistics shall collect, assort, systematize, and present in biennial reports to the governor statistical details relating to all departments of labor in Arkansas, and especially as affecting or bearing upon the commercial, social, educational, and sanitary conditions of the employees and their families, the means of escape from dangers incident to their employment, the protection of life and health in factories and other places of employment, the labor of children and of women and the number of hours of labor exacted of them, and in general all matters and things which affect or tend to affect the prosperity of the mechanical, manufacturing, and productive industries of this State, and of the persons employed therein. Said commissioner shall also, as fully as may be done, collect reliable reports and information from each county, showing the amount and condition of the mechanical and manufacturing interests therein, and all sites offering natural or acquired advantages for the location and operation of any of the different branches of industry, and he shall by correspondence with interested parties in other parts of the United States, or in foreign countries, impart to them such information as may tend to induce the location of manufacuring and producing plants within the State, together with such information as may tend to increase the employment of labor and the products of such employment in Arkansas.

Sec. 6538. Biennial reports.—In each biennial report the commissioner shall give a full statement of the business of the bureau, since the last preceding report, and such information as may be of value to the industrial interests and to persons employed therein, showing among other things the number of laborers and mechanics employed and the number of apprentices in each trade, with the nativity of such laborers, mechanics and apprentices, the wages earned, the savings from the same, the age and sex of the persons employed, the number and character of accidents, the sanitary conditions of places where persons are employed, the restrictions put upon apprentices when indentured, the proportion of married employees living in rented houses, with the average rental paid, the value of property owned by such employees, and a statement as to the progress made in schools in operation for the instruction of students in mechanic arts, and what systems have been found most practical, but such reports shall not contain more than six hundred printed pages, and the same shall be printed and distributed in such manner as is or may be provided by law.

Sec. 6539. Powers.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor and statistics shall have the power to issue subpœnas, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters related to the duties herein required of the said bureau, but such testimony must be taken in the vicinity of the residence or office of the person testifying. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this act who shall willfully neglect or fail to attend or testify at the time and place mentioned in the subpœna shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed fifty dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed thirty days: Provided, however, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside of the county in which he resides in order to testify.

Sec. 6540. Reports by employers.—It shall be the duty of every owner, manager, and superintendent of every factory, mill, workshop, business house, public or private work, or any other establishment or place where five or more persons are employed at work, to make to the bureau of labor and statistics, upon blanks to be furnished by such bureau, such reports and returns as said bureau may require for the purpose of securing such labor statistics as are contemplated by this act, and such reports and returns shall be made within not to exceed sixty days from the receipt of the blanks furnished by the commissioner or by the bureau, and the same shall be verified under oath. Any owner, manager, superintendent, or any other person in charge or control of any factory, mill, workshop, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment or place where five or more persons are employed at work, who shall neglect or refuse to make such reports and returns as are required by the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed thirty days.

Sec. 6541. Information confidential.—In the reports made by the commissioner of labor and statistics to the governor, the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying information under the provisions of this act shall not be disclosed, nor shall the name of any such individual, firm, or corporation be communicated to any person or persons, except such as are employed in the bureau of labor and statistics, and any officer or employee of such bureau violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not to exceed five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days.

SEC. 6542. Reports to be preserved.—No report or return made to the said bureau under the provisions of this act, and no schedule, record, or document gathered or returned by its officers or employees, shall be destroyed within two years of the collection or receipt thereof, but at the expiration of two years all such reports, returns, schedules, records, and documents as shall be considered by the commissioner to be of no further value shall be destroyed: Provided, That the permission of the governor shall first be obtained for such destruction.

SEC. 6543. Entering premises.—Upon the written complaint of two or more persons or upon its failure otherwise to obtain information in accordance with the provisions of this act, the commissioner of labor and statistics shall have the power to enter any factory, mill, workshop, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment, or place where five or more persons are employed at work, when the same is open or in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics, such as are contemplated by this act, and for the purpose of examining into the methods of protecting employees from danger and the sanitary conditions in and around such building or place, of all of which the said commissioner shall make and return in to the bureau of labor and statistics a true and detailed record in writing.

SEC. 6544. Safety laws.—Said commissioner shall make investigation concerning the operation of the various laws relating to the safety of the life and limb of employees, and he shall take legal steps looking to the proper enforcement and due observance of such laws.

SEC. 6545. Strikes and lockouts.—Said commissioner may inquire into the cause of strikes and lockouts and other disagreements between employers and employees; and, whenever practicable, offer his good offices to the contending parties with a view of bringing about friendly and satisfactory adjustment thereof.

SEC. 6546. Enforcement.—If the commissioner of labor and statistics shall learn of any violation of the law with respect to the employment of children, or fire escapes, or the safety of employees, or the preservation of health, or in any other way affecting the employees, he shall at once give written notice of the facts to county or district attorney of the county in which the law has been violated, or of some other county, if any there be, having jurisdiction of the offense, and the county or district attorney to whom such notice has been given shall immediately institute the proper proceedings against the guilty persons.

SEC. 6547. Hindering bureau.—Any owner, manager, superintendent, or other person in charge or control of any factory, mill, workshop, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment or place, where five or more persons are employed at work, who shall refuse to allow any officer or employee of the said bureau of labor and statistics to enter the same, or to remain therein for such time as is reasonably necessary, or who shall hinder any such officer or employee, or in any way prevent or deter him from collecting information, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not to exceed one hundred dollars or imprisonment [sic] in the county jail for not to exceed sixty days.

SEC. 6548. Expenses.—The commissioner shall be allowed all necessary postage, stationery, and other expenses of a similar character necessary to the transaction of the business of the bureau, and the salaries and expenses shall be paid as in the case of other State officers. The commissioner and his deputy shall be allowed for his actual and necessary traveling expenses, while in the performance of his duties under this act, but the total of the expenses of said bureau, outside of the salaries paid, shall not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars per annum.

Enticing workmen

SECTION 6570 (as amended 1923, Spec. Sess., No. 34). Penalty.—[This section is identical with sec. 2789 above, except that it is amended, without reference to the earlier section, so as to make the maximum penalty $500 instead of $100.]

Contracts of employment

SECTION 6878. Contracts made outside of State.—Contracts made with laborers or employees beyond the limits of this State for labor or services to be performed in this State shall be as binding as if entered into within the State.

SEC. 6879. Contracts to be in writing, when.—Contracts for services or labor for a longer period than one year shall not entitle the parties to the benefits of this act, unless in writing signed by the parties, witnessed by two disinterested witnesses, or acknowledged before an officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments.

SEC. 6880. Acknowledgment.—Such officer shall state in his certificate that he read the contract aloud in the presence and hearing of the laborers. For taking such acknowledgment and making such certificate, he shall be entitled to twenty-five cents: Provided, Not more than three laborers sign one contract; if more than that number, then he shall receive ten cents for each additional laborer who shall sign and acknowledge the same, and five cents per circular mile for traveling to and from the place of acknowledgment. Contracts of married women, executed as above and approved by their husbands shall be binding.

SEC. 6881. Of minors.—The contract of a minor, when approved by the parent having control of such minor, or, in case there be no parent, when approved by his guardian, or the contract of any minor over fifteen years of age having neither parent nor guardian shall be binding: Provided, A contract with such minor shall not be for a longer period than one year.

SEC. 6885. Discharge without cause.—If any employer shall, without good cause, dismiss a laborer prior to the expiration of his contract, unless by agreement, he shall be liable to such laborer for the full amount that would have been due him at the expiration thereof, * * *

SEC. 6886. Abandonment of contract.—If any laborer shall, without good cause, abandon his employer before the expiration of his contract, he shall be liable to such employer for the full amount of any account he may owe him, and shall forfeit to his employer all wages or share of crop due him, or which might become due him from his employer.

Railroads—Shelters for repair tracks

SECTION 7075. Shelters required.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company or corporation, or other persons who own, control or operate any lines of railroad in the State of Arkansas, to build, construct or repair railroad equipment, without first erecting and maintaining at every division point a building or shed over the repair tracks, same to be provided with a floor where such construction or repair [work] is permanently done, so as to provide that all men permanently employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, and other railroad equipment, shall be under shelter during snows, sleet, rain and other inclement weather.

SEC. 7076. Penalty.—Every corporation, person or persons, manager, superintendent or foreman of any company, corporation, person or persons, who shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act after the 1st day of November, 1905, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100); and each and every day that said railroad company, corporation, person or persons, manager, foreman or agent of any such railroad company, corporation, person or persons, shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this act, shall constitute a separate and distinct violation thereof.

This act is constitutional. 112 S. W. 150.

Hours of labor in saw and planing mills

SECTION 7082. Ten hours a day's work.—Ten hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of workingmen and laborers, designated in the following section.

SEC. 7083. Application of law.—This act shall apply to all associations of persons, companies, or corporations, engaged in the business of operating or constructing saw and planing mills in this State, and to all workingmen and laborers now, or hereafter to be employed by any such association, company, or corporation, in any department relating to the running and management of said mills.

SEC. 7084. Violations.—[Violation by exacting longer hours or discharging an employee by reason of refusal to work longer hours is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200. Each day's violation is considered a separate offense. Employer and employee may contract for a less number of hours.]

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 7085. Age limit.—[Employment in any remunerative occupation is forbidden to children under 14, except during vacation, in occupations owned or controlled by their parents or guardians.]

SEC. 7086. Employments forbidden.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in occupations dangerous to life or limb, health or morals, or in theatrical or other exhibitions.]

SECS. 7087, 7089. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 is forbidden in designated dangerous occupations. (For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.)

The State board of health may, after hearing, declare other occupations dangerous, and within such prohibitions, subject to an appeal to court.]

SEC. 7090. Hours; children under 16.—[Children under 16 may not work more than 8 hours per day, nor more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 7091. Same; minors under 18.—[Minors under 18 may not be employed more than 10 hours per day, nor more than 6 days or 54 hours per week, nor between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SECS. 7092–7095. Certificates.—[Certificates issued by the school authorities are required for the employment of children under 16; no one may issue such certificate for employment by himself. Rules of evidence as to age may be laid down by the issuing authorities.]

SECS. 7096, 7097. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor and statistics, factory inspectors, truant officers, probation officers, agents of the humane society, and other authorized inspectors may visit places where children are employed to ascertain and report as to compliance with the law; it is also their duty to make complaints of violations and prosecute violators in the courts.]

SEC. 7099. Violations.—[Penalties of not less than $5 nor more than $500 are incurred by parents, custodians, or employers violating the law.]

Employment of women—General provisions

SECTION 7100. Seats to be provided.—In every manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile and other establishment in this State where girls or women are employed, there shall be provided and conveniently located seats sufficient to comfortably seat such girls or women, and during such times as such girls or women are not necessarily required by their duties to be upon their feet they shall be allowed to occupy the seats provided.

SEC. 7101. Violations.—[Violation entails a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $50, each day's neglect constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 7102. Hours of labor.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, or by any express or transportation company, in this State for more than nine hours in any one day, or more than six days, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week: Provided, however, That the present law governing the employment of children under 16 years of age shall not be repealed by this act.

SEC. 7103. Night work.—No female under 18 years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any of the establishments or occupations named in section 7102 before the hour of 7 o'clock in the morning, or after the hour of 9 o'clock in the evening of any one day.

SEC. 7104. Time for meals.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work more than six hours continuously at any one time in any establishment or occupation named in section 7102, in which three or more females are employed, without an interval of at least three-quarters of an hour, except that such female may be so employed for not more than six and one-half hours continuously at one time if such employment ends not later than half past 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and if she is then dismissed for the remainder of the day. The time allowed for noon luncheon shall not be less than three-quarters of an hour.

SEC. 7105. Schedule to be posted.—Every employer shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room in any establishment or occupation named in section 7102 in which females are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours such females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and ending, the recess allowed for meals. The printed form of such notice shall be furnished upon application, by the commissioner of labor and statistics. The employment of any such female for longer time in any one day than that stated in a printed notice shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. Where the nature of the business makes it impracticable to fix the recess allowed for meals at the same time for all females employed, the commissioner of labor and statistics may issue a permit dispensing with the posting of the hours when the recess for meals begins and ends, and requiring the posting of only the total number of hours that females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week and the hours of beginning and stopping such work; such permit shall be kept by such employer upon such premises and exhibited to all inspectors authorized to enforce this act.

SEC. 7106. Records.—Every employer shall keep a time book or record of every female employed in any establishment or occupation named in section 7102 stating the wages paid, the number of hours worked by her on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and ending such work and the hours of beginning and ending the recess allowed for meals. Such time books or records shall be open at all reasonable hours to the inspection of the officials authorized to enforce this act. Any employer who fails to keep such record as required by this section, or makes any false statements therein, or refuses to exhibit such time book or record, or makes a false statement to any official authorized to enforce this act in reply to any question put in carrying out the provisions of this act, shall be liable for violation thereof.

SEC. 7107. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor and statistics, or any person duly authorized by him, may, in the discharge of their duties, enter any establishment or occupation where females are employed mentioned in section 7102 as often as practicable during reasonable hours and shall cause the provisions of this act to be enforced therein, and have full police power in enforcing compliance therewith.

SEC. 7108. Minimum wage rate.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor mentioned in section 7102 to pay any female worker in any establishment or occupation less than the wage specified in this section, to wit, except as hereinafter provided: All female workers who have had six months' practicable [practical] experience in any line of industry or labor shall be paid not less than $1.25 per day. The minimum wage for inexperienced female workers who have not had six months' experience in any line of industry or labor shall be paid not less than $1.00 per day: Provided, That any inexperienced female workers or apprentices shall be given a certificate by their employers showing the amount of experience they have had, and all time served as inexperienced workers or apprentices shall be cumulative. All female workers working less than nine hours per day shall receive the same wages per hour as those working nine hours per day.

SEC. 7109 (as amended 1921, No. 140). Variations.—Whenever it can be shown beyond question of doubt that it would work irreparable injury to any industry engaged in handling products, such as canning factories and candy factories, to comply with the provisions of the act, regarding hours, a commission to be known as the "Industrial Welfare Commission," hereinafter provided for, consisting of the commissioner of labor and statistics as ex officio chairman and two men and two women, may by majority vote, after hearing duly held in which all interested parties may have an opportunity to be heard, permit such industry to operate more than nine hours per day: Provided, That women so employed are paid at the rate of time and one-half for each hour worked in excess of nine hours in any one day: Provided, further, That said period in which overtime may be worked shall not exceed ninety days in any one year: Provided, further, That said industrial welfare commission shall consist of one woman and one man representative of employers, and one woman and one man representative of employees. One woman and one man member of the commission shall be appointed by the governor and one woman and one man member of the commission shall be appointed by the commissioner of labor and statistics. All members to serve without salary and shall hold office for terms of two years each or until their successors are appointed and qualify.

SEC. 7110 (as amended 1921, No. 140). Piecework.—All females employed in any industry in this State, who are paid upon a piecework basis, bonus system, or any other manner than by the day, shall be paid not less than the rate per day herein specified for female employees who are working on the day rate system, and the industrial welfare commission shall investigate, upon complaint, any line of industry wherein females are employed, and if in their judgment said system of piecework is working an injury to the general health of the employees, they may, after hearing duly held, issue an order compelling said firm to abolish piecework or any other injurious system, and establish a daily rate of wages for all female employees, said rate not to be less than the rate specified in section 7108.

SEC. 7111. Findings of commission.—If said commission should find, after an investigation, that a lower minimum rate of wages is adequate to supply a woman or minor female worker engaged in any occupation, trade, or industry the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such woman, or minor female workers, [they] may, after a public hearing duly held, at which time all interested employers and employees are given a reasonable opportunity to present their arguments, issue an order establishing a minimum wage rate that in their judgment is reasonable, and said rate so established shall be the legal minimum wage in the industry or occupation affected, and should said commission find, after said investigation, that the minimum wage specified in section 7108 is insufficient to adequately supply a woman or minor female worker engaged in any occupation, trade, or industry, the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such woman or other female worker, [they] may, after public hearing duly held, at which time all interested parties are given a reasonable opportunity to present their argument, issue an order establishing a higher minimum wage for female workers that in the judgment of the commission is reasonable, and said minimum wage rate so established by said commission shall be the legal minimum wage in the industry or occupation affected.

SEC. 7112. Hotels, restaurants, etc.—Said commission, after a public hearing duly held, at which all interested persons are given an opportunity to present arguments, may establish regulations governing the employment of females in hotels and restaurants: Provided, Said rules and regulations shall not permit female workers to be employed in excess of nine hours in any one day, nor at a lower rate of wages than will supply said female employees the cost of proper living, and safeguard their health and welfare. The rate of wages established by the commission shall not be greater than the rate of wages specified in section 7108.

SEC. 7113. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the provisions of this act or the violation thereof entails a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, each day of noncompliance constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 7114. Industries not affected.—Should any section or sections of this act be held invalid by the court, it shall not thereby be understood as affecting, and shall not affect, the other provisions of this act: Provided, This act shall not apply to cotton factories, or to the gathering of fruits or farm products in Arkansas.

Railroads—Hospitals for employees

SECTION 7115. Hospitals to be maintained within State.—Every railroad company or corporation operating railroads in this State who have heretofore collected or received hospital fees from their employees or who may hereafter collect or receive such hospital fees from such employees, shall provide hospital facilities in this State of such capacity and equipment as will be sufficient for the care, needs, and accommodation of their sick or injured employees who are residents of this State. Any such employees injured while in the service of any such railroad shall not be taken or sent out of the State for treatment. [Violation entails a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, each day constituting a separate offense.]

Employment of women—Toilet and lunch rooms

SECTION 7116. Separate provisions.—[Separate toilet and wash rooms for men and women shall be provided in establishments where six or more men and women are employed. Where practicable, lunch rooms shall be provided for women employees; and where impracticable, woman workers shall be allowed one hour for lunch and may leave the establishment during such hour.]

SECS. 7117, 7118. Enforcement; penalty.—[Enforcement rests with the commissioner of labor, whose orders must be complied with within 30 days. Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, each day constituting a separate offense.]

Bonds of railroad employees

SECTIONS 7121–7123. Freedom of choice; nonresident bondsmen.—[Employees of common carriers required to give bond may not be required to apply to any particular person, etc., and any bond may be rejected only for financial insufficiency. Nonresident bondsmen may be accepted only when they have a designated agent in the State.

Bonds must be for fixed terms, and may not be canceled without the consent of all parties, except for breach of conditions of which notice must be given.]

Payment of wages—Discharged employees—Scrip

SECTION 7125 (as amended 1905, No. 210). Railroad employees.—Whenever any railroad company or corporation or any receiver operating any railroad engaged in the business of operating or constructing any railroad or railroad bridge, shall discharge with or without cause or refuse to further employ any servant or employee thereof, the unpaid wages of any such servant or employee then earned at the contract rate, without abatement or deduction, shall be and become due and payable on the day of such discharge or refusal to longer employ; any such servant or employee may request of his foreman or the keeper of his time to have the money due him, or a valid check therefor, sent to any station where a regular agent is kept, and if the money aforesaid, or a valid check therefor, does not reach such station within seven days from the date it is so requested, then as a penalty for such nonpayment the wages of such servant or employee shall continue from the date of the discharge or refusal to further employ, at the same rate until paid: Provided, Such wages shall not continue more than sixty days, unless an action therefor shall be commenced within that time: Provided further, That this act shall apply to all companies and corporations doing business in this State, and to all servants and employees thereof, and any such servants or employees who shall hereafter be discharged or refused further employment may request or demand the payment of any wages due, and if not paid within seven days from such discharge or refusal to longer employ, then the penalties hereinbefore provided for railway employees shall attach.

SEC. 7126. Benefits not available, when.—No such servant or employees who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment to him, or refuses to receive the same when fully tendered, shall be entitled to any benefit under this act for such time as he so avoids payment.

SEC. 7127. Action for wrongful discharge.—Any such servant or employee whose employment is for a definite period of time, and who is discharged without cause before the expiration of such time, may, in addition to the penalties prescribed by this act, have an action against any such employer for any damages he may have sustained by reason of such wrongful discharge, and such action may be joined with an action for unpaid wages and penalty.

This act is, as to natural persons, an invasion of their constitutional rights, but is valid exercise of the power of the State with reference to corporations. "Without abatement or discount" means without discount on account of payment before due under the contract, but does not forbid offsets for damages sustained by an employee's failure to perform his contract. 58 Ark. 407.

The act is constitutional. 15 Sup. Ct. 1042.

The penalty does not attach until the company has ascertained, or by reasonable diligence could ascertain, the amount actually due. 65 S. W. 429.

The plaintiff must show strict and actual compliance with the requirements as to notice and demand, as in actions under statutes of this class nothing will be taken by intendment. 114 S. W. 240.

SECS. 7128–7130. Payment in scrip, etc.—[The payment of wages in scrip, by tokens, draft, etc., payable or redeemable otherwise than in lawful money at the next regular pay day is forbidden; so also to coerce or to attempt to coerce employees to purchase goods or supplies in payment of wages from any corporation, company, firm, or person; or directly or indirectly to sell to employees in payment of wages any goods or supplies at prices higher than a reasonable or current market value for cash. These provisions "do not apply to coal mines when less than twenty men are employed under the ground."[1]]

[1] This final provision appeared in earlier acts, and was said by the supreme court of the State to "make an unlawful discrimination," and the acts were declared unconstitutional (Union Sawmill Co. v. Felsenthal (1908), 84 Ark. 494, 108 S. W. 217). The above section would seem to be void for the same reason. An act of 1901 (No. 101) requires the redemption of scrip at face value, and its acceptance as cash in any commissary of the company issuing the same, and was said by the court to be "if valid, in full force"; i. e., it had not been repealed by the later acts found unconstitutional.

SEC. 7131. Semimonthly pay day.—All corporations doing business in this State who shall employ any salesmen, mechanics, laborers or other servants for the transaction of their business shall pay the wages of such employees semimonthly.

SEC. 7132. Violations.—[Violation of section 7131 is punishable by not less than $50 nor more than $500 fine.]

This statute is constitutional. Contracts waiving its provisions are void. 125 S. W. 1001.

Assignments of wages

SECTION 7133. Employer to accept.—No assignment or order for wages to be earned in the future to secure a loan of less than two hundred dollars, shall be valid against any employer of the person making any such assignment or order, until said assignment or order is accepted in writing by the employer and said assignment or order and the acceptance of same has been filed with the recorder of the county where the party making the assignment or order resides, if a resident of the State where he is employed.

SEC. 7134. Wife's consent.—No assignment of or order for wages to be earned in the future shall be valid when made by a married man, unless the written consent of his wife to making such assignment or order for wages shall be attached thereto.

Blacklisting—False reports

SECTION 7135. Blacklisting forbidden.—Every person who shall, in this State, send or deliver, or shall make or cause to be made for the purpose of being delivered or sent, or shall part with the possession of any paper, letter, or writing, with or without a name signed thereto, or sign with a fictitious name, or with any letter, mark or other designation, or shall publish or cause to be published any false statement for the purpose of preventing such other person from obtaining employment in this State or elsewhere, and every person who shall "blacklist" any person or persons, by writing, printing, publishing, or causing the same to be done, the name or any mark or designation representing the name of any person in any paper, pamphlet, circular, or book, together with any false statement concerning said person so named, or shall publish that any one is a member of any secret organization, for the purpose of preventing such other person from securing employment, or any person who shall do any of these things mentioned in this section for the purpose of causing the discharge of any person employed by any railroad or other company, corporation or individuals, shall on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined in the sum of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for twelve months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 7136. False charges as to collection of transportation money.—Every person who shall by any letter, mark, sign or designation whatever, or by any verbal statement, falsely and without probable cause, report to any railroad or any other company or corporation, or to any individual or individuals, or to any of the officers, servants, agents or employees of any such corporation, individual or individuals, that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or other employees of any such railroad company, corporation, individual or individuals, have received any money for the transportation of persons or property, or shall falsely and without probable cause report that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or other employees of any such railroad company, corporation, individual or individuals, neglected, failed or refused to collect any money for transportation of persons or property when it was their duty so to do, shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 7137. Injury caused by negligence.—All railroad companies operating within this State, whether incorporated or not, and all corporations of every kind and character, and every company whether incorporated or not, engaging in the mining of coal, who may employ agents, servants or employees, such agents, servants or employees being in the exercise of due care, shall be liable to respond in damages for injuries or death sustained by any such agent, employee or servant, resulting from the careless omission of duty or negligence of such employer, or which may result from the carelessness, omission of duty or negligence of any other agent, servant or employee of the said employer, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the carelessness, omission of duty or negligence causing the injury or death was that of the employer.

This act is constitutional. 113 S. W. 796. It applies to all corporations, 123 S. W. 759; but not to partnerships generally. 129 S. W. 532.
The employee assumes the risks of the negligence of a fellow-servant only in so far and subject to the same principles of proof as if it were the negligence of the employer. 119 S. W. 1123.

SEC. 7138. Acts of fellow servants.—Every common carrier by railroad in this State shall be liable for all damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal or legal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children or such employee; if none, then to such employee's parents; if none, then to the next of kin of such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any insufficiency of clearance of obstructions, of strength of roadbed and tracks or structures, or machinery and equipment, of lights and signals in switching and terminal yards, or rules and regulations and of number of employees to perform the particular duties with safety to themselves and their coemployees, or of any other insufficiency; or by reason of any defect, which defect is due to its negligence in its cars, engines, motors, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, boats, works, wharves or other equipment.

SEC. 7139. Employer's knowledge assumed.—If the employee of any such common carrier shall receive any injury or shall be killed by reason of any defect in any car or cars, engines, motors, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, wharves, or other equipment owned, operated or used by such common carrier, such common carrier shall be deemed to have had knowledge of such defect before and at the time such injury is sustained or death caused, and when the fact of such defect shall be made to appear in the trial of any action in the courts of this State brought by such employee or his or her personal or legal representative against any such common carrier for damages on account of such injuries so received or death so caused, the same shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of such common carrier.

SEC. 7140. Comparative negligence.—In all rights of action hereafter arising within or by virtue of this act or any provision of the same for personal injury to an employee, or where such injury has resulted in his death, the fact that an employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery: Provided, That the negligence of such employee was of a lesser degree than the negligence of such common carrier, its officers, agents or employees: Provided, further, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier, its officials, agents or employees, of any law enacted for the safety of employees or persons contributed to the injury or death of such employee, and such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any action arising out of any of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7141. Definition.—The words "common carrier by railroad," or "common carrier" as used in this act, shall be taken to embrace any company, association, corporation, or person, managing, maintaining, operating, or in possession of a common carrier operating upon rails or tracks in whole or in part within this State, whether as owner, contractor, lessee, mortgagee, trustee, assignee or receiver.

SEC. 7142. Waivers.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death entered into by or on behalf of any employee nor the acceptance of any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages for personal injuries, to, or death of such employees: Provided, however, That upon the trial of such action, the defendant may set off therein any sum it has contributed toward any such insurance, relief benefit or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or in case of death, to his personal or legal representative.

SEC. 7143. Construction of statute.—Nothing in this act shall be held to limit the duty of common carriers by railroad, or impair the rights of their employees in the existing laws of the State.

SEC. 7144. Liability for negligence.—Every corporation, except while engaged in interstate commerce, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such corporation, or, in case of death of such employee, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin of such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence [of such corporation or from the negligence] of any of the officers, agents or employees of such corporation.

SEC. 7145. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such corporation under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injuries [to an employee, or where such injuries] have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury (and not by the court) in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such corporation of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 7146. Risk not assumed, when.—In any action against any corporation under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such corporation of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 7147. Contracts of exemption void.—Any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any such corporation to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such corporation under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such corporation may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

SEC. 7149. Definition.—The word "corporation" as used in this act shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of such corporation.

SEC. 7150. Survival of action.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and, if none, then of such employee's parents, and, if none, then of the next of kin of such employee, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury: Provided, This act shall not apply to railroad corporation and shall not amend nor repeal any part of sections 7138 to 7143.

Mine regulations

SECTION 7249 (as amended 1923, No. 120). Inspector.—[The governor appoints an inspector for a term of two years, "and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified." He must have had 8 years' experience as a practical miner, and not be connected with any mining interest. His salary is $3,000 per year.]

SEC. 7250. Bond.—[A bond of $5,000 is required, conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties.]

SEC. 7251 (as amended 1923, No. 120). Expenses.—[A stenographer to act as clerk may be employed at $1,200; other office expenses $450, and traveling expenses up to $1.200 per annum are allowed.]

SECS. 7252–7259. Inspection, etc.—[The inspector must give all his time to his duties, examining all mines as often as necessary, at least every three months; machinery, ventilation, drainage, the number of accidents, compliance with the laws, etc., are to be investigated and reported on annually to the governor. Orders may issue for the prompt correction of unsafe or dangerous conditions, and courts may, on complaint, enjoin operations until compliance. Inspectors may also make arrests of violators. Penalties lie for obstructing inspection, and for the failure of inspectors to perform their duties. The above provisions do not apply to mines in which less than 10 men are employed underground in 24 hours.]

SEC. 7260 (as amended 1921, No. 100)–7286. Provisions for safety; weighing coal; child labor.—[Maps are required, to be filed annually with the clerk of the county court and with the State mine inspector. Escape shafts, ventilation, bore-holes, signaling, the safe construction and operation of cages, the supply of prop timbers, the use of illuminating oils and methods of working are regulated.

No boy under 14 and no female may be employed in a mine, nor a boy under 16 if unable to read and write. Engines hoisting workmen must be in charge of experienced engineers, at least 18 years of age.

Reports and investigation of accidents are provided for, and emergency supplies must be kept at mines working 10 or more men underground. In times of high water endangering safety, the miners must be called out. Where a fire boss is employed, inspections must be made daily.

The weighing of coal before screening is required unless otherwise arranged. Weighmen and checkweighmen are provided for the testing of weights, etc.]

SECS. 7287–7292. Wash houses.—[Wash houses are to be furnished at mines employing 10 or more persons, properly equipped and maintained, with separate provisons for whites and blacks. Employees are responsible for their own towels, soap, and locks for lockers or hangers.]

SECS. 7317–7325. Examining board.—[A State board, appointed by the governor, examines applicants for employment as fire bosses, hoisting engineers, mine foremen, mine inspectors and assistant inspectors. Requirements relate to age, citizenship, experience, and technical training. Fees vary from $3 to $10 for the different examinations and certificates. Revocation for cause is provided for, and penalties for forgery, or for violations of the law.]

Payment of wages—Discounting

SECTION 7356. Discounts restricted.—It shall be unlawful for any milling or manufacturing company, or any other person, corporation or company employing persons to labor for them in the State of Arkansas, to discount the wages of their employees or laborers when payment is made or demanded before the regular pay days, more than at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the date of payment to the regular pay day, and all laborers shall be paid in currency at the place of business of the company, person or corporation so employing such labor in the State; unless the laborer elects to take drafts or checks in lieu of currency for pay. Any evasion or violation of this section shall be usury and a misdemeanor, and the person, company or corporation, or their agents, violating the same shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and the entire property of the person, company or corporation shall be subject to the payment of the fine and costs.

Railroads—Rolling stock to be repaired within the State

SECTION 8505. Scope of law.—All railroad corporations operating within the State of Arkansas, and having their repair shops within the State, shall, and are hereby required to repair, renovate or build in the State of Arkansas, any and all defective or broken cars, coaches, locomotives or other equipment owned or leased by said corporation in the State of Arkansas, when such rolling stock is within the State of Arkansas: Provided, That such railway shall have or be under obligation to have proper facilities in the State to do such work: And provided, This act shall not be so construed as to require any railway corporation to violate the safety appliance law of Congress of the United States: And, provided, further, That no railway shall be required to haul such disabled equipment a greater distance for repairs at a point within the State of Arkansas than would be necessary to reach their repair shop in another State: And, provided, further, That no such railway company shall be permitted to haul for purposes of repair any disabled equipment by or pass [past] any shop owned or operated by any such company where such said disabled equipment can be repaired, in order to reach some other repair shop at a greater distance for the purpose of repairing said disabled equipment: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to companies having less than sixty continuous miles of railroad in operation in this State.

SEC. 8506. Cars, etc., not to be sent out of State.—All railroad corporations operating in the State of Arkansas and having their repair shops within the State, shall be prohibited from sending or removing any of their cars, coaches, locomotives or other equipment out of the State of Arkansas, to be repaired, renovated or rebuilt, when the same is in a defective or broken condition and within this State. The provisions of this act shall not apply in cases of fires, floods, cyclones, or any such act of Providence.

SEC. 8507. Violations.—[Penalties are a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.]

State labor officials—Salaries

SECTION 8696. Labor commissioner.—The labor commissioner shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum payable monthly.

SEC. 8697. Deputy.—He shall appoint a deputy at a salary of one hundred dollars per month.

SEC. 8701. Mine inspector.—The inspector of mines shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum.

SEC. 8721. Steam boiler inspector.—The inspector of steam boilers shall receive an annual salary of $2,000.

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 9042–9044. Attendance required.—[Children under 15 years of age must attend school at least three-fourths of the term unless, among other reasons, their services are needed to support a widowed mother.]

ACTS OF 1923—SPECIAL SESSION

ACT No. 4.—Employment offices

SECTIONS 1, 2. License; fee.—[Proprietors of private employment offices and persons soliciting labor to go outside the State must obtain a license from the commissioner of labor. A fee of $200 is charged, and bond in the sum of $1,000 required. The commissioner or any district attorney may bring action on the bond, and the commissioner may, after hearing, revoke the license for cause. Employers hiring for themselves alone, and agencies charging no fee are not required to obtain a license.]

SEC. 3. Registers; offenses.—[Registers must be kept in approved form, showing name, address, age, sex, nativity, and trade or occupation of applicants, such register to be open to official inspection. No agency may accept a fee from an applicant or send him to a place of employment without a bona fide order. Blanks, letter heads, receipts, etc., must bear the name and address of the agency. Publishing false or misleading statements, making false promises, sending labor to a place where labor trouble exists without giving information of the same and entering the fact on the receipt, splitting fees, sending females to places of immoral resort, and making false entries are forbidden. Registration fees may not exceed $2, for which receipt must be given, and the full amount must be returned on demand if no employment is procured within one month. Where applicants are sent outside the city and fail to secure employment through no fault of their own, both the fee and the expenses incurred must be refunded. If an applicant is discharged from employment before 7 days, the fee, or such portion as the commissioner of labor deems adequate, must be returned.]

SEC. 4. Free employment offices.—The commissioner of labor shall maintain, in connection with the bureau of labor and statistics, a free employment bureau, to be known as the "State Free Employment Service," for the purpose of receiving and filing applications of persons seeking employment and of persons or firms seeking to employ labor. The commissioner is also authorized to establish and maintain branch offices in sections of the State, where the convenience of the greatest number of people may be served. There shall be no fee or compensation charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or from those desiring to employ labor through said bureau.

The managers of the State free employment offices shall cause to be received and recorded the names of all persons applying for employment, as well as the address of all persons, firms or corporations applying to employ labor, designating the name and address of each applicant [and] the character of employment desired or offered. Such managers shall also perform such other duties pertaining to the work of the State free employment bureau or the bureau of labor and statistics as the commissioner may require, and shall report to the commissioner of labor, as directed by him.

The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized and empowered to cooperate with the Federal Government in the establishment and maintenance within the State of employment bureaus for the purpose of bringing together the man and the job. Said commissioner is also authorized and empowered to cooperate in a similar way and for the same purpose with municipalities, associations, societies, or individuals. Such cooperative employment bureaus, when established, shall be under the supervision of the commissioner of labor, and the cost and expense of establishing and of carrying on any such bureau shall be borne by the cooperating parties, upon an equitable basis to be agreed upon between them.

It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to communicate with manufacturers, merchants and other employers of labor in the State and to use all diligence in securing the cooperation of employment bureaus. To this end it shall be competent for such offices to advertise, under the direction of the commissioner of labor, in newspapers, or other mediums, for such situations as they have applications to fill, and they may advertise in a general way for the cooperation of contractors and employers in such trade or special publication as reach such employers.

SEC. 5. Definitions.—[The customary definitions are given of the terms, "agency," "applicant," and "work," the latter being used to include professional "and all other legitimate service."]

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, from $50 to $250, or imprisonment not over 30 days, or both.]

SEC. 8. Construction.—[The holding of any section to be invalid shall not affect the other provisions of the act.]

CALIFORNIA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 19.—Chinese labor—Employment—Immigration

SECTION 3. Employment on public works.—No Chinese shall be employed on any State, county, municipal, or other public work, except in punishment for crime.

SEC. 4. Coolies.—The presence of foreigners ineligible to become citizens of the United States is declared to be dangerous to the well-being of the State, and the legislature shall discourage their immigration by all the means within its power. Asiatic coolieism is a form of human slavery, and is forever prohibited in this State, and all contracts for coolie labor shall be void. All companies or corporations, whether formed in this country or any foreign country, for the importation of such labor, shall be subject to such penalties as the legislature may prescribe. The legislature shall delegate all necessary power to the incorporated cities and towns of this State for the removal of Chinese without the limits of such cities and towns, or for their location within prescribed portions of those limits, and it shall also provide the necessary legislation to prohibit the introduction into this State of Chinese after the adoption of this constitution. This section shall be enforced by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE 20.—Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 17. Eight-hour day.—The time of service of all laborers or workmen or mechanics employed upon any public works of the State of California, or of any county, city and county, city, town, district, township, or any other political subdivision thereof, whether said work is done by contract or otherwise, shall be limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life and property, or except to work upon public, military, or naval works or defenses in time of war, and the legislature shall provide by law that a stipulation to this effect shall be incorporated in all contracts for public works and prescribe proper penalties for the speedy and efficient enforcement of said law.

ARTICLE 20.—Minimum wages—Protection of employees

SECTION 17½ (adopted 1914). Power of legislature.—The legislature may, by appropriate legislation, provide for the establishment of a minimum wage for women and minors and may provide for the comfort, health, safety and general welfare of any and all employees. No provision of this constitution shall be construed as a limitation upon the authority of the legislature to confer upon any commission now or hereafter created, such power and authority as the legislature may deem requisite to carry out the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE 20.—Sex no disqualification for employment

SECTION 18. Sex not a bar.—No person shall, on account of sex, be disqualified from entering upon or pursuing any lawful business, vocation, or profession.

POLITICAL CODE

Department of labor and industrial relations

SECTION 364 (added 1921, ch. 604). Agencies created.—A department of the government of the State of California to be known as the department of labor and industrial relations is hereby created. The department shall consist of the following governmental agencies of the State of California, to wit: The industrial accident commission, the commission of immigration and housing, the industrial welfare commission, and the bureau of labor statistics. Said department shall be divided into four divisions as follows:

(1) The division of workmen's compensation insurance and safety, which shall be administered by the industrial accident commission and shall succeed to and is hereby invested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, and jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred by law upon the industrial accident commission.

(2) The division of immigration and housing, which division shall be administered by the commission of immigration and housing and shall succeed to and is hereby invested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, and jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred by law upon the commission of immigration and housing.

(3) The division of industrial welfare, which division shall be administered by the industrial welfare commission and shall succeed to and is hereby invested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, and jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred by law upon the industrial welfare commission.

(4) The division of labor, which division shall be administered by the commissioner of labor statistics and shall succeed to and is hereby invested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, and jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred by law upon the commissioner of labor statistics and the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 364a. Representatives.—On or before the first day of October, 1921, and on or before the first day of January of each and every year thereafter, and at such other times in case of a vacancy, each of divisions one, two, and three shall designate one of its members as its representative on the department of labor and industrial relations; and the chief of the division of labor shall be the representative of the division of labor. Such representatives shall meet at a place to be designated by them at least once each month or oftener at the call of any two members. At their first meeting which shall be held during the month of October, 1921, they shall organize by electing one member as chairman and one as secretary. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep a minute record of the proceedings of each meeting.

At each meeting of the department there shall be presented for determination all problems involving conflict of authority or activity of two or more divisions and the department shall hear, consider, and act upon any complaint or complaints of duplication of activities.

SEC. 364b. Adjustments.—The said department of labor and industrial relations shall make and promulgate rules and regulations that will eliminate overlapping and duplication of the activities of the several divisions and may provide for the transfer of functions and activities from one division to another in the interest of the betterment of the service of such division or divisions.

SEC. 364d. Report.—The department of labor and industrial relations shall submit a report to the governor and to the forty-fifth session of the legislature embodying a complete plan of reorganization and departmentalization of the activities herein mentioned.

Contract work on public buildings prohibited

SECTION 3233. Day labor.—All work done upon the public buildings of this State must be done under the supervision of a superintendent, or State officer or officers having charge of the work, and all labor employed on such buildings, whether skilled or unskilled, must be employed by the day, and no work upon any of such buildings must be done by contract.

Chinese labor—Products not to be bought by State officials

SECTION 3235. Public supplies.—No supplies of any kind or character, "for the benefit of the State, or to be paid for by any moneys appropriated or to be appropriated by the State," manufactured or grown in this State, which are in whole or in part the product of Mongolian labor, shall be purchased by the officials for the State having the control of any public institution under the control of the State, or of any county, city and county, city, or town thereof.

Hours of labor

SECTION 3244. Eight hours a day's work, when.—Eight hours of labor constitutes a day's work, unless it is otherwise expressly stipulated by the parties to a contract, except those contracts within the provisions of sections three thousand two hundred and forty-six, three thousand two hundred and forty-seven, and three thousand two hundred and forty-eight of this code.

SEC. 3246. Street railways.—Twelve hours' labor constitutes a day's work on the part of drivers and conductors, and gripmen of street cars for the carriage of passengers. Any contract for a greater number of hours' labor in one day shall be and is void, at the option of the employee, without regard to the terms of employment, whether the same be by the hour, day, week, month, or any other period of time, or by or according to the trip or trips that the car may, might, or can make between the termini of the route, or any less distance thereof. Any and every person laboring over twelve hours in one day as driver, or conductor, or gripman, on any street railroad, shall receive from his employer thirty cents for each hour's labor over twelve hours in each day.

SEC. 3247. Actions for wages.—In actions to recover the value or price of labor under section three thousand two hundred and forty-six of this code, the plaintiff may include in one action his claim for the number of days, and the number of hours' work over twelve hours in each day, performed by him for the defendant, and the court shall exclude all evidence of agreement to labor over twelve hours in one day for a less price than thirty cents, and the court shall exclude any receipt of payment for hours of labor over twelve hours in one day, unless it be established that at least thirty cents for each hour of labor over twelve hours in one day has been actually paid, and a partial payment shall not be deemed or considered a payment in full.

SEC. 3249. Application of law.—The provisions of sections three thousand two hundred and forty-seven * * * of this code are applicable to every contract to labor made by the persons named in section three thousand two hundred and forty-six.

SEC. 3250. Violations.—[Violations of sec. 3246 entail forfeiture of the sum of $50 to the use of the party prosecuting therefor, and any number of forfeits may be prosecuted in a single action.]

CIVIL CODE

Rights of employers—Injuries to employees

SECTION 49. Injuries forbidden.—The rights of personal relation forbid:

* * * * * * *

4. Any injury to a servant which affects his ability to serve his master.

Assignments of wages

SECTION 955 (added 1913, ch. 287). What assignments valid.—No assignment of, or order for wages or salary shall be valid unless made in writing by the person by whom the said wages or salary are earned and no assignment of, or order for, wages or salary made by a married person shall be valid unless the written consent of the husband or wife of the person making such assignment or order is attached to such assignment or order; and no assignment or order for wages or salary of a minor shall be valid unless the written consent of a parent or the guardian of such minor is attached to such order or assignment. No assignment of, or order for, wages or salary shall be valid unless at the time of the making thereof, such wages or salary have been earned, except for the necessities of life and then only to the person or persons furnishing such necessities of life directly and then only for the amount needed to furnish such necessities. Any power of attorney to assign or collect wages or salary shall be revocable at any time by the maker thereof.

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 1965. Definition.—The contract of employment is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer, or of a third person.

SEC. 1969. Losses incurred in discharge of duty.—An employer must indemnify his employee except as prescribed in the next section, for all that he necessarily expends or loses in direct consequence of the discharge of his duties as such, or of his obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying such directions, believed them to be unlawful.

SEC. 1970 (as amended by chapter 97, Acts of 1907). Ordinary risks.—An employer is not bound to indemnify his employee for losses suffered by the latter in consequence of the ordinary risks of the business in which he is employed, nor in consequence of the negligence of another person employed by the same employer in the same general business, unless the negligence causing the injury was committed in the performance of a duty the employer owes by law to the employee, or unless the employer has neglected to use ordinary care in the selection of the culpable employee: Provided, nevertheless, That the employer shall be liable for such injury when the same results from the wrongful act, neglect or default of any agent or officer of such employer superior to the employee injured, or of a person employed by such employer having the right to control or direct the services of such employee injured, and also when such injury results from the wrongful act, neglect or default of a coemployee engaged in another department of labor from that of the employee injured, or employed upon a machine, railroad train, switch signal point, locomotive engine, or other appliance than that upon which the employee [who] is injured is employed, or who is charged with dispatching trains, or transmitting telegraphic or telephonic orders upon any railroad, or in the operation of any mine, factory, machine shop, or other industrial establishment.

Knowledge by an employee injured of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways, appliances or structures of such employer shall not be a bar to recovery for any injury or death caused thereby, unless it shall also appear that such employee fully understood, comprehended and appreciated the dangers incident to the use of such defective machinery, ways, appliances or structures, and thereafter consented to use the same, or continued in the use thereof.

When death, whether instantaneous or otherwise, results from an injury to an employee received as aforesaid, the personal representative of such employee shall have a right of action therefor against such employer, and may recover damages in respect thereof, for and on behalf, and for the benefit of the widow, children, dependent parents, and dependent brothers and sisters, in order of precedence as herein stated, but no more than one action shall be brought for such recovery.

Any contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any such employee to waive the benefits of this section, or any part thereof, shall be null and void, and this section shall not be construed to deprive any such employee or his personal representative, of any right or remedy to which he is now entitled under the laws of this State.

The rules and principles of law as to contributory negligence which apply to other cases shall apply to cases arising under this section, except in so far as the same are herein modified or changed.

A clerk in a store and the operator of a passenger elevator are in different departments of labor within the meaning of this section. 111 Pac. 12.

SEC. 1971. Want of care.—An employer must in all cases indemnify his employee for losses caused by the former's want of ordinary care.

The retention of a foreman after knowledge of his incompetency is negligence, and the employer is liable for injuries resulting from such foreman's negligent acts. 47 Pac. 773.

SEC. 1975. Service without consideration.—One who, without consideration, undertakes to do a service for another, is not bound to perform the same, but if he actually enters upon its performance, he must use at least slight care and diligence therein.

SEC. 1976. Requested employment.—One who, by his own special request, induces another to intrust him with the performance of a service, must perform the same fully. In other cases, one who undertakes a gratuitous service may relinquish it at any time.

SEC. 1977. Gratuitous attorney.—A gratuitous employee, who accepts a written power of attorney, must act under it so long as it remains in force, or until he gives notice to his employer that he will not do so.

SEC. 1978. Employee for consideration.—One who, for a good consideration, agrees to serve another, must perform the service, and must use ordinary care and diligence therein, so long as he is thus employed.

SEC. 1979. Interested volunteer.—One who is employed at his own request to do that which is more for his own advantage than for that of his employer, must use great care and diligence therein to protect the interest of the latter.

SEC. 1980 (as amended 1919, ch. 512). Term.—A contract to render personal service, other than a contract of apprenticeship, as provided in the chapter on master and servant, can not be enforced against the employee beyond the term of five years from the commencement of service under it; but if the employee voluntarily continues his service under it beyond that time, the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation.

SEC. 1981. Directions.—An employee must substantially comply with all the directions of his employer concerning the service on which he is engaged, except where such obedience is impossible or unlawful, or would impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee.

SEC. 1982. Usage.—An employee must perform his service in conformity to the usage of the place of performance, unless otherwise directed by his employer, or unless it is impracticable, or manifestly injurious to his employer to do so.

SEC. 1983. Degree of skill.—An employee is bound to exercise a reasonable degree of skill, unless his employer has notice, before employing him, of his want of skill.

SEC. 1984. Same subject.—An employee is always bound to use such skill as he possesses, so far as the same is required, for the service specified.

The employee may employ others to do the work where his personal attention is not contracted for. 24 Cal. 308.

SEC. 1985. Acquisitions by virtue of employment.—Everything which an employee acquires by virtue of his employment, except the compensation, if any, which is due to him from his employer, belongs to the latter, whether acquired lawfully or unlawfully, or during or after the expiration of the term of his employment.

SEC. 1986. Rendering accounts.—An employee must on demand, render to his employer just accounts of all his transactions in the course of his service, as often as may be reasonable, and must, without demand, give prompt notice to his employer of everything which he receives for his account.

SEC. 1987. Delivery of goods, etc., received.—An employee who receives anything on account of his employer, in any capacity other than that of a mere servant, is not bound to deliver it to him until demanded, and is not at liberty to send it to him from a distance, without demand, in any mode involving greater risk than its retention by the employee himself.

SEC. 1988. Priority of employer's business.—An employee who has any business to transact on his own account, similar to that intrusted to him by his employer, must always give the latter the preference.

SEC. 1989. Employment of substitute.—An employee who is expressly authorized to employ a substitute is liable to his principal only for want of ordinary care in his selection. The substitute is directly responsible to the principal.

SEC. 1990. Negligence.—An employee who is guilty of a culpable degree of negligence is liable to his employer for the damage thereby caused to the latter; and the employer is liable to him, if the service is not gratuitous, for the value of such services only as are properly rendered.

SEC. 1991. Duty of survivor of joint servants.—Where service is to be rendered by two or more persons jointly, and one of them dies, the survivor must act alone, if the service to be rendered is such as he can rightly perform without the aid of the deceased person, but not otherwise.

SEC. 1996 (as amended by chapter 157, Acts of 1901). Termination of employment.—Every employment in which the power of the employee is not coupled with an interest in its subject is terminated by notice to him of:

1. The death of the employer; or,
2. His legal incapacity to contract.

The parties to a contract of employment may, however, in writing, provide that it shall, notwithstanding the death of the employer, continue obligatory for and against his heirs and personal representatives, provided their liability shall be restricted to property received from and under him.

SEC. 1997. Same subject.—Every employment is terminated:

1. By the expiration of its appointed term;
2. By the extinction of its subject;
3. By the death of the employee; or,
4. By his legal incapacity to act as such.

SEC. 1998. Service after death of employer.—An employee, unless the term of his service has expired, or unless he has a right to discontinue it at any time without notice, must continue his service after notice of the death or incapacity of his employer, so far as is necessary to protect from serious injury the interests of the employer's successor in interest until a reaonable time after notice of the facts has been communicated to such successor. The successor must compensate the employee for such service according to the terms of the contract of employment.

SEC. 1999 (as amended 1915, ch. 433). Term.—An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party, on notice to the other. Employment for a specified term shall mean an employment for a period greater than one month.

SEC. 2000 (as amended 1915, ch. 433). Cause for discharge.—An employment, for a specified term, may be terminated at any time by the employer, in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment, or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it.

SEC. 2001 (as amended 1915, ch. 433). Cause for leaving service.—An employment, for a specified term, may be terminated by the employee at any time, in case of any willful or permanent breach of the obligations of his employer to him as an employee.

SEC. 2002 (as amended 1915, ch. 433). Payment of wages.—An employee who is not employed for a specified term, dismissed by his employer, is entitled to compensation for services rendered up to the time of such dismissal.

SEC. 2003 (as amended 1915, ch. 433). Same.—An employee who is not employed for a specified term and who quits the service of his employer, is entitled to compensation for services rendered up to the time of such quitting.

SEC. 2004 (added 1921, ch. 901). Deductions proportionate.—There shall not be deducted from the wages of an employee on account of the employee's coming late to work a sum in excess of the proportionate wage which would have been earned during the time actually lost: Provided, That for a loss of time less than thirty minutes a half hour's wage may be deducted.

SEC. 2009. Servant defined.—A servant is one who is employed to render personal service to his employer, otherwise than in the pursuit of an independent calling, and who in such service remains entirely under the control and direction of the latter, who is called his master.

SEC. 2010. Term of employment.—A servant is presumed to have been hired for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of wages. A hiring at a yearly rate is presumed to be for one year; a hiring at a daily rate, for one day; a hiring by piecework, for no specified term.

SEC. 2011. Presumption.—In the absence of any agreement or custom as to the term of service, the time of payment, or rate, or value of wages, a servant is presumed to be hired by the month, at a monthly rate of reasonable wages, to be paid when the service is performed.

SEC. 2012. Renewal by continuance.—Where, after the expiration of an agreement respecting the wages and the term of service, the parties continue the relation of master and servant, they are presumed to have renewed the agreement for the same wages and term of service.

SEC. 2014. Delivery of goods, etc., received.—A servant must deliver to his master, as soon as with reasonable diligence he can find him, everything that he receives for his account, without demand; but he is not bound, without orders from his master, to send anything to him through another person.

SEC. 2015. Employer may discharge, when.—A master may discharge any servant, other than an apprentice, whether engaged for a fixed term or not:

1. If he is guilty of misconduct in the course of his service, or of gross immorality, though unconnected with the same; or,

2. If, being employed about the person of the master, or in a confidential position, the master discovers that he has been guilty of misconduct, before or after the commencement of his service, of such a nature that, if the master had known or contemplated it, he would not have so employed him.

SEC. 2078. Voluntcer service.—One who officiously, and without the consent of the real or apparent owner of a thing, takes it into his possession for the purpose of rendering a service about it, must complete such service, and use ordinary care, diligence, and reasonable skill about the same. He is not entitled to any compensation for his service or expenses, except that he may deduct actual and necessary expenses incurred by him about such service from any profits which his service has caused the thing to acquire for its owner, and must account to the owner for the residue.

Contracts of employment—Enforcement

SECTION 3390. Labor contracts.—The following obligations can not be specifically enforced:

1. An obligation to render personal service;
2. An obligation to employ another in personal service;

* * * * * * *

CIVIL CODE—APPENDIX

Time for meals to be allowed employees in lumber mills, etc.

SECTION 1. One hour at noon to be allowed.—Every person, corporation, copartnership, or company operating a sawmill, shake mill, shingle mill, or logging camp, in the State of California, shall allow to his or its employees, workmen, and laborers a period of not less than one hour at noon for the midday meal.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine of not to exceed $200 nor less than $100.]

Mine regulations—Quartz mines

SECTIONS 1–3. Escape shafts.—[This act requires an escape shaft in quartz mines more than 300 feet in depth, where 12 men are employed daily, to connect with the main shaft at a depth not less than 100 feet from the surface. Liability is declared for all damages to persons arising from noncompliance.]

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 690 (as amended 1907, ch. 479). Exemptions.—[Seamen's earnings up to $300, no matter where or when earned, are exempt from attachment. Earnings of employees generally, for 30 days prior to the levy of execution, are exempt if it appears that they are necessary to the support of a family residing in the State; if not, or if the debt is for necessaries, the exemption is reduced one-half.]

Suits for wages—Attorneys' fees

SECTION 924 (as amended 1907, ch. 51). Fee allowed on recovery.—The prevailing party in the justices' courts is entitled to costs of the action, and also of any proceedings taken by him in aid of an execution, issued upon any judgment recovered therein. In actions for the recovery of wages for labor performed, the court shall add, as part of the costs, in any judgment recovered by the plaintiff, an attorney'[s] fee not exceeding twenty per cent of the amount recovered.

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments, etc.

SECTION 1204 (as amended 1901, ch. 102). Assignments.—[Wages of minors, mechanics, salesmen, etc., for 60 days prior to the assignment, not exceeding $100 to each, must be paid before the claim of any other creditor.]

SEC. 1205 (as amended 1901, ch. 102). Administration.—[Wages as above must be paid in the case of the death of the employer, next after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, allowance to widow and infant children, and expenses of administration.]

SEC. 1206 (as amended 1901, ch. 102). Executions.—[Wages in the same amount as above must be paid first out of any funds in the hands of the levying officer at the time a verified statement of the wage claim is submitted.]

PENAL CODE

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 59. Coercion, etc., by employers.— * * * It is not lawful for any employer, in paying his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose their pay in "pay envelopes" upon which there is written or printed the name of any candidate, or any political mottoes, devices, or arguments containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees. Nor is it lawful for any employer, within ninety days of any election, to put up or otherwise exhibit in his factory, workshop, or other establishment or place where his workmen or employees may be working, any hand bill or placard containing any threat, notice, or information, that in case any particular ticket of a political party, or organization, or candidate shall be elected, work in his place or establishment will l[c]ease in whole or in part, or his place or establishment be closed up, or the salaries or wages of his workmen or employees be reduced, or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his workmen or employees. This section applies to corporations as well as individuals ,and any person or corporation violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and any corporation violating this section shall forfeit its charter.

Employment of children—Certain employments forbidden

SECTION 272. Mendicant, etc., employments.—[Hiring out children to the age of 16 in acrobatic, mendicant, or other injurious or dangerous occupations is forbidden. For the text of a similar law, see Delaware Code, sec. 2223.]

SEC. 273. Same.—[Employers of children as above are subject to the same penalties as parents, etc., hiring out children.]

SEC. 273e. Messenger service.—[Telephone companies and persons engaged in delivery service are forbidden to send any minor as messenger or delivery boy to immoral or questionable resorts or to any person connected therewith.]

SEC. 273f (added 1907, ch. 294). Same.—[Any person, whether as parent, employer, or otherwise, who sends a minor under the age of 18 to any gambling house or other immoral place is guilty of a misdemeanor.]

False representations as to employment of union labor

SECTION 349c (added 1915, ch. 487). Acts forbidden.—Any person engaged in the production, manufacture or sale of any article of merchandise in this State, or any person engaged in the performance of any acts or services of a private, public or quasi-public nature for profit, who willfully misrepresents or falsely states that members of trade-unions, labor associations or labor organizations were engaged or employed in the manufacture, production or sale of such article or in the performance of such acts or services, when in fact labor, laborers or employees not members of trades-unions, labor associations or labor organizations were exclusively used in the manufacture, production or sale of such articles or in the performance of such acts or service, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Loading and unloading vessels—Hatch tenders

SECTION 368a (added 1913, ch. 290). Hatch tenders required, when.—Any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of loading or unloading ships or vessels, or who contracts to load or unload a ship or vessel, or who shall be in charge of a ship or vessel while the same is being loaded or unloaded, or who is authorized to load or unload any ship or vessel, having a carrying capacity of fifty tons or greater, shall employ and supply upon every ship or vessel while being loaded or unloaded, a person over the age of twenty-one years to act as signal man or hatch-tender whose sole duty it shall be to observe the operations of loading or unloading of each working hatch on such ship or vessel, and to warn all persons engaged in the operation of loading or unloading of any possibility of any injury to any of the articles of which the cargo is composed, or of danger to any person engaged or being in or about the said ship or vessel while the same is being loaded or unloaded as aforesaid. Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Safety appliances on street railways—Brakes, etc.

SECTION 369a. Brakes required.—Any person, company, or corporation, operating cars on the streets of cities or towns, or on the county roads within the State, for the conveyance of passengers, propelled by means of wire ropes attached to stationary engines, or by electricity or compressed air, who runs, operates, or uses any car or dummy, unless each car and dummy, while in use, is fitted with a brake capable of bringing such car to a stop within a reasonable distance, and a suitable fender, or appliance placed in front or attached to the trucks of such dummy or car, for the purpose of removing and clearing obstructions from the track, and preventing any obstacles, obstructions, or person on the track from getting under such dummy or car, and removing the same out of danger, and out of the way of such dummy or car, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Where the board of supervisors of any county, or the city council or other governing body of any city, by ordinance, order, or resolution, prescribes the fender or brake to be used as aforesaid, then a compliance with such ordinance, order, or resolution must be deemed a full compliance with the provisions of this section.

Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 402c (as amended 1921, ch. 55). Unsafe scaffolds, etc.—Any person or corporation employing or directing another to do or perform any labor in the construction, alteration, repairing, painting or cleaning of any house, building or structure within this State, who knowingly or negligently furnishes or erects, or causes to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, unsafe or improper scaffolding, slings, hammers, [hangers], blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons, ropes or other mechanical contrivances, or who hinders or obstructs any officer or inspector of the industrial accident commission attempting to inspect the same under the provisions of any statute of the State of California or safety order of the industrial accident commission, or who destroys or defaces, or removes any notice posted thereon by any such officer or inspector, or permits the use thereof, after the same has been declared unsafe by such officer or inspector, contrary to the provisions of said acts or orders, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 653c. Limit of eight hours a day.—The time of service of any laborer, workman, or mechanic employed upon any of the public works of the State of California, or of any political subdivision thereof, or upon work done for said State, or any political subdivision thereof, is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours during any one calendar day; and it shall be unlawful for any officer, or agent of said State, or of any political subdivision thereof, or for any contractor or subcontractor doing work under contract upon any public works aforesaid, who employs, or who directs or controls, the work of any laborer, workman, or mechanic, employed as herein aforesaid, to require or permit such laborer, workman, or mechanic, to labor more than eight hours during any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, caused by fire, flood, or danger to life or property, or except to work upon public military or naval defenses or works in time of war. Any officer or agent of the State of California, or of any political subdivision thereof making or awarding, as such officer or agent, any contract, the execution of which involves or may involve the employment of any laborer, workman, or mechanic upon any of the public works or upon any work, hereinbefore mentioned, shall cause to be inserted therein a stipulation which shall provide that the contractor to whom said contract is awarded shall forfeit, as a penalty, to the State or political subdivision in whose behalf the contract is made and awarded, ten dollars for each laborer, workman, or mechanic employed, in the execution of said contract, by him, or by any subcontractor under him, upon any of the public works, or upon any work, hereinbefore mentioned, for each calendar day during which such laborer, workman, or mechanic is required or permitted to labor more than eight hours in violation of the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of such officer or agent to take cognizance of all violations of the provisions of said act committed in the course of the execution of said contract, and to report the same to the representative of the State or political subdivisions, party to the contract, authorized to pay to said contractor moneys becoming due to him under the said contract, and said representative, when making payment of moneys thus due, shall withhold and retain therefrom all sums and amounts which shall have been forfeited pursuant to the herein said stipulation. Any officer, agent, or representative of the State of California, or of any political subdivision thereof, who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and shall upon conviction be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment, not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 653d. Retaining wages.—Every person who employs laborers upon public works, and who takes, keeps, or receives for his own use any part or portion of the wages due to any such laborers from the State or municipal corporation for which such work is done, is guilty of a felony.

Blacklisting

SECTION 653e (added 1913, ch. 350). Blacklisting prohibited.—Any person, firm or corporation, or officer or director of a corporation, or superintendent, manager or other agent of such person, firm or corporation who, after having discharged an employee from the service of such person, firm or corporation or after having paid off an employee voluntarily leaving such service, shall, by word, writing or any other means whatsoever, misrepresent and thereby prevent or attempt to prevent such former employee from obtaining employment with any other person, firm or corporation, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars and shall be liable in treble damages to any such employee sustaining damages through a violation of this section. Any person, firm or corporation who shall knowingly cause, suffer or permit an agent, superintendent, manager or other employee in his or its employ to commit a violation of this section, or who shall fail to take all reasonable steps within his or its power to prevent such violation of this act, shall be guilty of a violation of the provisions of this section and be subject to the penalty hereinbefore provided. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent an employer as hereinbefore defined or an agent, employee, superintendent or manager of such employer to furnish, upon special request therefor, a truthful statement concerning the reasons for the discharge of an employee or why an employee voluntarily left the service of the employer: Provided, however, That if such statement shall in connection therewith furnish any mark, sign or other means whatever conveying information different from that expressed by words therein, such fact, or the fact that such statement or other means of furnishing information was given without a special request therefor, shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of the provisions of this section.

PENAL CODE—APPENDIX

Labor combinations not unlawful

SECTION 1. Labor agreements not conspiracy.—No agreement, combination, or contract by or between two or more persons to do or procure to be done, or not to do or procure not to be done, any act in contemplation or furtherance of any trade dispute between employers and employees in the State of California shall be deemed criminal, nor shall those engaged therein be indictable or otherwise punishable for the crime of conspiracy if such act committed by one person would not be punishable as a crime, nor shall such agreement, combination, or contract be considered as in restraint of trade or commerce, nor shall any restraining order or injunction be issued with relation thereto. Nothing in this act shall exempt from punishment, otherwise than as herein excepted, any persons guilty of conspiracy, for which punishment is now provided by any act of the legislature, but such act of the legislature shall, as to the agreements, combinations, and contracts hereinbefore referred to, be construed as if this act were therein contained: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize force or violence, or threats thereof.

Unlawful acts committed or threatened in connection with a strike or lockout may be enjoined under this act. Otherwise it is unconstitutional and void as arbitrarily putting one class of persons above and beyond the law which applies to all others. 86 Pac. 806; 103 Pac. 324.

Employment of labor—False representations

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 262). Acts forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, company, corporation, association, or organization of any kind, directly or through any agent or attorney, to induce, influence, persuade, or engage any person to change from one place to another in this State or to change from any place in any State, territory, or country to any place in this State, or to change from any place in this State to any place in any State, territory or country, to work in any branch of labor, through or by means of knowingly false representations, whether spoken, written, or advertised in printed form, concerning the kind or character of such work, the compensation therefor, the sanitary or housing conditions relating to or surrounding it, or the existence or nonexistence of any strike, lockout, or other labor dispute affecting it and pending between the proposed employer or employers and the persons then or last theretofore engaged in the performance of the labor for which the employee is sought.

SEC. 2. Violation.—[Violators may be fined not over $2,000, or imprisoned not over one year, or both.]

Weekly day of rest

SECTION 1. One day's rest in seven.—Every person employed in any occupation of labor shall be entitled to one day's rest therefrom in seven, and it shall be unlawful for any employer of labor to cause his employees, or any of them, to work more than six days in seven: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any case of emergency.

SEC. 2. Application of law.—For the purposes of this act, the term day's rest shall mean and apply to all cases, whether the employee is engaged by the day, week, month, or year, and whether the work performed is done in the day or night time.

SEC. 3. Violation.—Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

GENERAL LAWS

ACT NO. 1098.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 1. Sanitation.—Every factory, workshop, mercantile or other establishment, in which five or more persons are employed, shall be kept in a cleanly state and free from the effluvia arising from any drain, privy, or other nuisance, and shall be provided within reasonable access, with a sufficient number of water-closets or privies for the use of the persons employed therein. Whenever the persons employed as aforesaid are of different sexes, a sufficient number of separate and distinct water-closets or privies shall be provided for the use of each sex, which shall be plainly so designated, and no person shall be allowed to use any water-closet or privy assigned to persons of the other sex.

SEC. 2. Ventilation.—Every factory or workshop in which five or more persons are employed shall be so ventilated while work is carried on therein that the air shall not become so exhausted as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, and shall also be ventilated as to render harmless, as far as practicable, all the gases, vapors, dust or other impurities generated in the course of the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein, that may be injurious to health.

SEC. 3. Use of cellars, etc.—No basement, cellar, underground apartment, or other place which the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall condemn as unhealthy and unsuitable shall be used as a workshop, factory, or place of business in which any person or persons shall be employed.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1909, ch. 52). Fans, blowers, etc., to be installed.—In any factory, workshop, or other establishment where a work or process is carried on by which dust, filaments, or injurious gases are produced or generated, that are liable to be inhaled by persons employed therein, the person, firm or corporation, by whose authority the said work or process is carried on, shall cause to be provided and used in said factory, workshop, or other establishment, exhaust fans or blowers with pipes and hoods extending therefrom to each machine, contrivance or apparatus by which dust, filaments or injurious gases are produced or generated. The said fans and blowers, and said pipes and hoods, all to be properly fitted and adjusted, and of power and dimensions sufficient to effectually prevent the dust, filaments, or injurious gases produced or generated by the above said machines, contrivances or apparatuses, from escaping into the atmosphere of the room or rooms of said factory, workshop or other establishment where persons are employed.

SEC. 5. Seats for female employees.—Every person, firm or corporation employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment shall provide suitable seats for the use of the females so employed, and shall provide such seats to the number of at least one-third the number of females so employed; and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed.

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $300, or imprisonment for not less than 30 nor more than 90 days.]

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics to enforce the provisions of this act.

ACT NO. 1828.—Bureau of labor statistics

SECTION 1 (as amended 1911, ch. 21). Commissioner.—As soon as possible after the passage of this act, the governor of this State shall appoint a suitable person to act as commissioner of a bureau of labor statistics. The headquarters of said bureau shall be located in the city and county of San Francisco. Said commissioner shall hold office and serve solely at the pleasure of the governor, and not otherwise.

SEC. 2. Bond.—The commissioner of the bureau, before entering upon the duties of his office, must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars, and take the oath of office, all as prescribed by the Political Code for State officers in general.

SEC. 3. Duties.—The duties of the commissioner shall be to collect, assort, systematize, and present, in biennial reports to the legislature, statistical details relating to all departments of labor, in the State, such as the hours and wages of labor, cost of living, amount of labor required, estimated number of persons depending on daily labor for their support, the probable chances of all being employed, the operation of labor-saving machinery in its relation to hand labor, etc. Said statistics may be classified as follows:

First. In agriculture.

Second. In mechanical and manufacturing industries.

Third. In mining.

Fourth. In transportation on land and water.

Fifth. In clerical and all other skilled and unskilled labor not above enumerated.

Sixth. The amount of cash capital invested in lands, buildings, machinery, material, and means of production and distribution generally.

Seventh. The number, age, sex, and condition of persons employed; the nature of their employment; the extent to which the apprenticeship system prevails in the various skilled industries; the number of hours of labor per day; the average length of time employed per annum, and the net wages received in each of the industries and employments enumerated.

Eighth. The number and condition of the unemployed, their age, sex, and nationality, together with the cause of their idleness.

Ninth. The sanitary condition of lands, workshops, dwellings; the number and size of rooms occupied by the poor, etc.; the cost of rent, fuel, food, clothing, and water in each locality of the State; also the extent to which labor-saving processes are employed to the displacement of hand labor.

Tenth. The number and condition of the Chinese in the State; their social and sanitary habits; number of married and of single; the number employed and the nature of their employment; the average wages per day at each employment and the gross amount yearly; the amounts expended by them in rent, food, and clothing, and in what proportion such amounts are expended for foreign and home productions, respectively; to what extent their employment comes in competition with the white industrial classes of the State.

Eleventh. The number, condition, and nature of the employment of the inmates of the State prisons, county jails, and reformatory institutions, and to what extent their employment comes in competition with the labor of mechanics, artisans, and laborers outside of these institutions.

Twelfth. All such other information in relation to labor as the commissioner may deem essential to further the object sought to be obtained by this statute, together with such strictures on the condition of labor and the probable future of the same as he may deem good and salutary to insert in his biennial reports.

SEC. 4. Duties of State officers.—It shall be the duty of all officers of State departments, and the assessors of the various counties of the State, to furnish, upon the written request of the commssioner, all the information in their power necessary to assist in carrying out the objects of this act; and all printing required by the bureau in the discharge of its duty shall be performed by the State printing department, and at least three thousand (3,000) copies of the printed report shall be furnished the commissioner for free distribution to the public.

SEC. 5. Hindering commissioner.—Any person who willfully impedes or prevents the commissioner, or his deputy, in the full and free performance of his or their duty, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction of the same shall be fined not less than ten (10) nor more than fifty (50) dollars, or imprisoned not less than seven (7) nor more than thirty (30) days in the county jail, or both.

SEC. 6. Information to be furnished by bureau.—The office of the bureau shall be open for business from nine (9) o'clock a. m. until five (5) o'clock p. m. every day except nonjudicial days, and the officers therefor shall give to all persons requesting it all needed information which they may possess.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1923, ch. 257). Collection of wages; entry.—The commissioner and his representatives duly recommended by him in writing shall have the power and authority, when in his judgment he deems it necessary, to take assignments of wage claims and prosecute actions for the collection of wages and other demands of persons who are financially unable to employ counsel in cases in which, in the judgment of the commissioner, the claims for wages are valid and enforceable in the courts; to issue subpœnas, to compel the attendance of witnesses or parties and the production of books, papers or records, and to administer oaths and to examine witnesses under oath, and to take the verification or proof of instruments of writing, and to take depositions and affidavits for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act and all other acts now or hereafter placed in the bureau for enforcement. When such assignments for wage claims are taken, no court costs shall be payable by said labor commissioner for prosecuting such suits. The commissioner shall have a seal inscribed "Bureau of Labor Statistics—State of California" and all courts shall take judicial notice of such seal. Obedience to subpœnas issued by the commissioner or his duly authorized representatives shall be enforced by the courts in any county or city and county. The commissioner and his representatives shall have free access to all places and works of labor, and any principal, owner, operator, manager, or lessee of any mine, factory, workshop, manufacturing or mercantile establishment, or any agent or employee of such principal, owner, operator, manager, or lessee who shall refuse to said commissioner, or his duly authorized representative, admission therein, or who shall, when requested by him, willfully neglect or refuse to furnish to him any statistics or information, pertaining to his lawful duties, which may be in his possession or under the control of said principal, owner, operator, lessee, manager or agent thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars.

SEC. 8 (added 1889, ch. 10). Information confidential.—No use shall be made in the reports of the bureau of the names of individuals, firms, or corporatons supplying the information called for by this act, such information being deemed confidential, and not for the purpose of disclosing any person's affairs; and any agent or employee of said bureau violating this provision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months.

SEC. 9 (as amended 1917, ch. 211). Appointees.—The commissioner shall appoint two deputies who shall have the same power as said commissioner; an assistant deputy who shall reside in the county of Los Angeles; a statistician and chief examiner; a stenographer; and such agents or assistants as he may from time to time require, at such rate of wages as he may prescribe, and actual traveling expenses for each person while employed. He shall procure rooms necessary for office in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Diego, and in such other places as he may deem necessary, at a rent not to exceed the sum of $400 per month.

SEC. 10 (as amended 1917, ch. 211). Salaries.—The salary of the commissioner shall be four thousand dollars per annum, the salary of each deputy commissioner shall be twenty-four hundred dollars per annum, the salary of the assistant deputy shall be twenty-one hundred dollars per annum, the salary of the statistician shall be twenty-one hundred dollars per annum, the salary of the stenographer shall be twelve hundred dollars per annum, to be audited by the controller and paid by the State treasurer in the same manner as other State officers. There shall also be allowed a sum not to exceed forty thousand dollars per annum for salaries of agents or assistants, for traveling expenses, and for other contingent expenses of the bureau.

SEC. 12. Inspection of scaffolding, etc.—Whenever complaint is made to the commissioner that the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding used in the construction, alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning, or painting of a building are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, such commissioner shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of the scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or other parts connected therewith. If after examination such scaffolding or any of such parts is found dangerous to life or limb, the commissioner shall prohibit the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. The commissioner, deputy commissioner, or agent or assistant making the examination shall attach a certificate to the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, irons, ropes, or other parts thereof, examined by him, stating that he has made such examination and that he found it safe or unsafe as the case may be. If he declared it unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact and warn him against the use thereof. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible for its erection or by conspicuously affixing to the scaffolding or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed the person responsible therefor shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof and alter or strengthen it in such a manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the officer who has examined it or of his superiors. The commissioner, his deputy, and any duly authorized representative whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof as required by this section, shall have free access, at all reasonable hours, to any building or premises containing them or where they may be in use. All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent therefrom and placed thereon, when in use, and not more than four men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at one time.

ACT NO. 2223.—Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTIONS 1–7. Requirement.—[These sections require owners to provide maps of all workings in a coal mine, the same to be open to inspection; to provide an escape shaft, adequate ventilation, and inspection by an inside overseer, who shall see that the hoisting machinery is in constant repair.]

SECS. 8, 9. Violations.—[Actions lie for injuries due to violations of the act. Willful negligence on the part of the overseer subjects him to punishment; and if it causes death, he shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter.]

SEC. 10. Steam boilers.—[Steam boilers used in or about coal mines must be inspected at least quarterly.]

SEC. 11. New mines.—[The act does not apply to the opening of new mines.]

ACT NO. 2665 (as amended 1907, ch. 224).—Hours of labor of drug clerks

SECTION 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 765). Nine hours.—As a measure for the protection of public health, no person employed by any person, firm, or corporation, shall for more than nine hours during any one day of twenty-four hours, or fifty-four hours a week of six days a week, perform the work of selling drugs or other medicines, or compounding physicians' prescriptions, in any store, establishment, or place of business, where and in which drugs or medicines are sold at retail, and where and in which physicians' prescriptions are compounded: Provided, That in answering of and attending to emergency calls shall not be construed as a violation of this act.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1921, ch. 765). Duty of employers.—No person, firm, or corporation employing another person to do work which consists wholly or in part of selling, at retail, drugs or medicines, or of compounding physicians' prescriptions, in any store, or establishment, or place of business where or in which medicines are sold, and where and in which physicians' prescriptions are compounded, shall require or permit said employed persons to perform such work for more than an average of nine hours during any one day of twenty-four hours, or fifty-four hours a week of six days a week.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Penalties are fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50, or imprisonment not exceeding 60 days, or both.]

SEC. 5. Enforcement.—The commissioners of the State bureau of labor statistics are hereby authorized, directed and empowered to enforce the provisions of this act.

This act is valid, but being a criminal statute must be strictly construed. Intermittent sales of drugs and of other articles commonly sold in drug stores, the total period exceeding nine hours, is not a violation of section 2. Ex parte Twing (1922), 204 Pac. 1082.

ACT No. 2894.—Rates of wages of employees on public works

SECTION 1. Minimum.—[This act fixed a minimum of $2 per day for labor under the direction or control of any officer of the State, by contractors or otherwise.]

ACT No. 3574 (as amended 1921, ch. 885).—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1. Attendance required.—[Children under 16 years of age must attend the full term unless, among other reasons, they hold work permits under this act. Illiterates to 18 years of age are subject to requirements for part-time attendance.]

SEC. 3a. Permits.—[Superintendents of schools or persons authorized by them may issue permits to children 15 years of age who have completed 7 grades of school work, and to those 14 years of age who have completed an elementary course, if their labor is necessary for the support of the family. Evidence of age, schooling and physical fitness is required; also a statement from the prospective employer of the nature of the proposed employment.

Children under 14 years of age may receive permits for work outside of school hours for such periods as, added to the period of required school attendance, will not exceed 8 hours per day; or such child may be assigned to a vocational course in his place of employment in lieu of regular school work.]

SEC. 3b. Vacation permits.—[Minors over 12 years of age may be granted permits for employment during vacation in such employments as the attained age renders lawful.]

SEC. 3c. Permits to employers.—[Persons authorized to grant permits to work may also issue permits to employers for the employment of children, which shall show the kind of work to be done, a schedule of hours of school attendance, part or full time; the name and address of the employer and of the minor; and the term of the permit. This act does not modify the terms of sections 3½ or 5 of chapter 259, Acts of 1919.]

SEC. 3d. Duty of employers, violations.—[Employers of children under 16 years of age must keep registers, post schedules, and keep permits on file, subject to official inspection. Violations are punishable by fines, $50 to $200, or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.

Minors with permits, if within the provisions of compulsory school attendance, must enroll as pupils if unemployed for a period longer than 10 consecutive days. Annual reports must be made of all permits issued.]

CHAPTER 530.—Antitrust law—Labor organizations exempt

SECTION 13 (added 1909, ch. 362). Labor not a commodity.—Labor, whether skilled or unskilled is not a commodity within the meaning of this act.

CHAPTER 331.—Labor organizations—Unauthorized use of badges

SECTION 1. Unauthorized use prohibited.—Any person who shall willfully wear the button of any labor union of this State, unless entitled to wear said button under the rules of such union, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not to exceed twenty days in the county jail or by a fine not to exceed twenty dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER 387.—Employment of labor on public works

SECTION 9 (as amended 1915, ch. 666). Compliance with laws.— * * * Any such contracts [for public works] shall provide for the filing of a sufficient bond by the contractor to secure the payment of the claims of material men, mechanics, or laborers employed upon State work; a penalty of ten dollars per day to be forfeited to the State for each calendar day during which any laborer, workman or mechanic is employed or permitted to labor more than eight hours; a minimum compensation of not less than two dollars per day for labor; that no Chinese or Mongolian labor shall be employed and such other provisions as are now or may hereafter be provided by law.

CHAPTER 392.—Labor organizations—Unauthorized use of cards

SECTION 1. Unauthorized use prohibited.—Any person, who shall willfully use the card of any labor union to obtain aid, assistance or employment, thereby within this State, unless entitled to use said card under the rules and regulations of a labor union within this State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 49 (as amended 1913, ch. 168).—Railroads—Experienced employees

SECTION 4. Qualifications.—It shall be unlawful for any such common carrier [by railroad in the State of California operating more than four trains each way per day of twenty-four hours on any main truck or branch line of railroad within this State] to employ any person as a steam locomotive engineer who shall not have had at least three years' actual service as a steam locomotive fireman or one year's actual service as a steam locomotive engineer, or to employ any person as a conductor who shall not have had at least two years' actual service as a railroad brakeman on steam or electric railroad other than street railway, or one year's actual service as a railroad conductor, or to employ any person as a brakeman who shall not have passed the regular examination required by transcontinental railroads: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall apply to the running or operating of locomotives or motor power cars to and from trains at terminals by hostlers or to the running or operating of steam locomotives or motive power cars to and from engine houses or to the doing of work on steam locomotives or motive power cars at shops or engine houses.

SEC. 5. Penalty.—Any violation of this act shall be a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 6. Strikes.—Nothing in this act contained shall apply to the operation of any train by said common carrier during times of strikes or walkouts, participated in by any of the hereinbefore mentioned employees of such common carriers.

CHAPTER 92 (as amended 1915, ch. 628).—Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 1. Orders, etc., to be negotiable.—No person, firm, or corporation shall issue, in payment of or as an evidence of indebtedness for wages due an employee, any order, check, memorandum, or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, unless the same is negotiable, and is payable upon demand without discount in cash at some bank or other established place of business in the State; and no person, firm or corporation shall issue in payment of wages due, or wages to become due an employee, or as an advance on wages to be earned by an employee, any scrip, coupons, cards or other thing redeemable in merchandise or purporting to be payable or redeemable otherwise than in money. But nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit an employer from guaranteeing the payment of bills incurred by an employee for the necessaries of life or for the tools and implements used by such employee in the performance of his duties: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to counties, cities and counties, municipal corporations, quasi municipal corporations or school districts organized and existing under the laws of this State.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[The penalty for violation is a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment for not over six months, or both.]

CHAPTER 258 (as amended 1913, ch. 352).—Employment of women

SECTION 1 (as amended 1919, ch. 248).—Eight-hour workday.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, public lodging house, apartment house, hospital, place of amusement, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office, or in the operation of elevators in office buildings, or by any express or transportation company in this State more than eight hours during any one day of twenty-four hours or more than forty-eight hours in one week. It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor to employ, cause to be employed, or permit any female employee to labor any number of hours whatever with knowledge that such female has heretofore been employed within the same date and day of twenty-four hours in any establishment and by any previous employer for a period of time that will, combined with the period of time of employment by a previous employer exceed eight hours: Provided, That this shall not prevent the employment of any female in more than one establishment where the total number of hours worked by said employee does not exceed eight hours in any one day of twenty-four hours. If any female shall be employed in more than one such place, the total number of hours of such employment shall not exceed eight hours during any one day of twenty-four hours or forty-eight hours in one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four hours of one day or forty-eight hours during any one week: Provided further, That the provisions of this section in relation to hours of employment shall not apply to or affect graduate nurses in hospitals, nor the harvesting, curing, canning, or drying of any variety of perishable fruit, fish, or vegetable during such periods as may be necessary to harvest, cure, can, or dry said fruit, fish, or vegetable in order to save the same from spoiling.

SEC. 2. Seats.—Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or other establishment employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees, and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents, shall have all powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers, to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this act, and to serve all processes and notices thereunder throughout the State.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations of sections 1 and 2 of this act are punishable for a first offense by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $50; for a second, not less than $100 nor more than $250; or by imprisonment for not more than 60 days; or both.]

CHAPTER 399.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 1. Negligence to be compared.—In any action to recover damages for a personal injury sustained within this State by an employee while engaged in the line of his duty or the course of his employment as such, or for death resulting from personal injury so sustained, in which recovery is sought upon the ground of want of ordinary or reasonable care of the employer, or of any officer, agent or servant of the employer, the fact that such employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery therein where his contributory negligence was slight and that of the employer was gross, in comparison, but the damages may be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee, and it shall be conclusively presumed that such employee was not guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to such employee's injury; and it shall not be a defense:

(1) That the employee either expressly or impliedly assumed the risk of the hazard complained of.

(2) That the injury or death was caused in whole or in part by the want of ordinary or reasonable care of a fellow servant.

SEC. 2. Waivers.—No contract, rule or regulation, shall exempt the employer from any of the provisions of the preceding section of this act.

CHAPTER 590 (as amended 1921, ch. 334).—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 1. Floors required, when.—Any building more than two stories high in the course of construction shall have the joists, beams, or girders of floors below the floor or level where any work is being done, or about to be done, covered with flooring laid close together, or with such other suitable material as will protect workmen engaged in such building from falling through joists or girders, and from falling planks, bricks, rivets, tools, or any other substance whereby life and limb are endangered, as follows:

(a) Any such building which is of reinforced concrete construction, with reinforced concrete floors, shall have the floor filled in either with forms or concrete on each floor before the commencement of work upon the walls of the second floor above, or the commencement of work upon the floor of the next floor above. Any building having wooden floors, other than a steel frame building, shall have the underflooring, if double flooring is to be used, laid on each floor within the time hereinabove described for reinforced concrete floors. Where single wooden floors are to be used, each floor shall be planked over within the time hereinbefore prescribed.

(b) If such building has a structural frame of iron or steel, the entire floor of every second story, except such space as may reasonably be required for the proper construction of such building, shall be thoroughly covered with planks tightly laid together, so that workmen shall have at all times planked floors within two stories below them.

(c) If a span of a floor exceeds thirteen (13) feet, an intermediate beam shall be used to support the temporary flooring: Provided, however, That spans not to exceed sixteen (16) feet may be covered by three (3) inch planks without such beam. Such intermediate beam shall be of a sufficient strength to sustain a live load of fifty (50) pounds per square foot of the area supported.

(d) If the distance between planked floors in any building or structure exceeds twenty-five (25) feet, intermediate flooring or safety nets shall be provided, which shall be fixed not to exceed twenty-five (25) feet below a floor upon which work is being performed and as close to such floor as practicable.

(e) The erection gang shall at all times have a planked floor below them not more than two stories distant.

(f) The riveting gang and steel painters shall at all times have a planked floor below them not more than two stories distant. Men working below riveting gangs shall at all times be protected from falling objects by having a planked floor between them and the riveting gangs.

(g) If building operations are suspended and the temporary flooring hereinbefore required is removed, upon the resumption of work, in case of such suspension, the building must be replanked so that every man at work shall have a covered floor not more than two floors below.

(h) Where a building is being constructed in sections each section shall constitute a building for the purpose of this act.

SEC. 2. Spliced columns.—Where such building has a structural frame of iron or steel and the iron or steel columns are spliced at every story the erection gang shall in no case be more than two stories distant from the riveting gang. If the columns are spliced every second or third story the erection gang shall in no case be more than four stories distant from the riveting gang.

SEC. 3. Floors.—Planked floors shall consist of planks tightly laid together of number one common lumber, not less than two inches thick and eight inches wide, free from protruding nails or other objects. Nets shall consist of at least one and one-half inch manila rope with three-quarter inch borders and four by four inch mesh. The borders of the nets shall be provided with loops so that they can be readily combined or attached to convenient points on the structural frame.

SEC. 4. Acts forbidden.—No owner, agent of the owner, general contractor, contractor, subcontractor, or other person shall proceed with any work assigned to or undertaken by him, or require or permit any other person to proceed with work assigned to or undertaken by either, unless the planking or nets required by this act are in place. Violation of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor.

SEC. 5. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the industrial accident commission to enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 148.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 333). Scaffolds, etc.—All scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support which is more than ten feet from the ground or floor, shall have a safety rail of wood, or other equally rigid material of sufficient strength. Such rail shall be properly secured and braced; such rail to rise at least forty-two inches above the floor or floors or main portions of such scaffolding or staging, and to extend along the entire length of the outside and ends thereof, and properly attached thereto; and such a scaffolding or staging shall be fastened so as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure, or place of work where such scaffolding or staging is being used. Any and all parts of such scaffolding or staging shall be of sufficient strength to support, bear, or withstand with safety, any weight of persons, tools, appliances, or materials that may be placed thereupon or that are to be supported thereby while such scaffolding or staging is being used for any of the purposes thereof. The industrial accident commission of the State of California is hereby authorized to make and enforce safety orders in the manner prescribed by law, to supplement and carry into effect the purposes and provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. Safety lines.—In addition to the duties imposed upon an employer by any law regulating or relating to scaffolding or staging, it shall be the duty of such employer who uses or permits the use of scaffolding or staging, as defined in section one of this act, in connection with construction, alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning or the doing of any other kind of work upon any building structure, or other thing or place of work, to furnish safety lines to tie all hooks and hangers back on the roof of such building, structure or other thing or place of work, and to provide safety lines hanging from the roof, securely tied thereto, and one such line to be provided between each pair of hangers or falls and near the ends of all such scaffolding or staging. When planks are used for the platforms or floors of such scaffolding or staging, they shall be not less than fourteen inches in width, and not less than one and one-half inches in thickness, and shall be of wood free from knots or fractures impairing the strength of such planks. Not more than two men shall be allowed or placed to work between two hangers or falls upon such scaffolding or staging.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1921, ch. 333). Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the industrial accident commission to enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 81.—Wiping rags

SECTION 1. To be sterilized.—Every person or corporation who supplies or furnishes to his or its employees for wiping rags, or who sells or offers for sale for wiping rags, any soiled wearing apparel, underclothing, bedding, or parts of soiled or used underclothing, wearing apparel, bedclothes, bedding or soiled rags and cloths, unless the same have been sterilized by a process of boiling for forty minutes in a solution containing five per cent of caustic soda, and unless before such boiling, the sleeves, legs and bodies of garments are ripped and made into flat pieces, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. Definition.—Wiping rags within the meaning of this act are cloths and rags used for wiping and cleaning the surfaces of machinery, machines, tools, locomotives, engines, motor cars, automobiles, cars, carriages, windows, and furniture, and surfaces of articles, appliances and engines in factories, shops, steamships and steamboats, and generally used for cleaning purposes in industrial employments, and also used by mechanics and workmen for wiping from their hands and bodies soil incident to their employment.

Sec. 4. Inspection.—Every peace officer, health officer or health inspector, upon proper demand and notice of his authority, shall be permitted, during business hours, to enter factories, shops, yards, ships, boats and premises where wiping rags are used, or are kept for sale, or offered for sale, and inspect such wiping rags; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company or corporation to refuse to permit such inspection, or to impede or obstruct such officer during such inspection.

Sec. 6. Sale.—Every package or parcel of wiping rags must, before being sold or offered for sale, be plainly marked "sterilized wiping rags," with the number and date of permit given for the conducting of the laundry in which the rags contained in such package or parcel were laundered and sterilized, and the name of the board or officer issuing the permit; or with the name and location of the laundry in which such rags were laundered and sterilized.

Sec. 7. Penalty.—Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Chapter 182.—Labor camps

Section 1 (as amended 1919, ch. 164). Sanitation.—In or at any camp where five or more persons are employed, bunk houses, tents or other suitable sleeping places must be provided for all the employees. Such bunk houses, tents or other sleeping places must be in good structural condition, and so constructed as to provide shelter to the occupants against the elements and so as to exclude dampness in inclement weather. The bunk houses, tents and other sleeping places shall be kept in a cleanly state, and free from vermin and matter of an infectious and contagious nature, and the grounds around such bunk houses, tents or other sleeping places shall be kept clean and free from accumulations of dirt, filth, garbage, and other deleterious matter.

Sec. 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 767). Sleeping places.—Every bunk house, tent, or other sleeping place used for the purpose of a lodging or sleeping apartment in such camp shall contain sufficient air space to insure an adequate supply of fresh air for each person occupying such bunk house, tent, or other sleeping place. Suitable bunks or beds shall be provided for all employees. Such bunks or beds shall be made of steel, canvas or other sanitary material, and shall be so constructed as to afford reasonable comfort to the persons occupying same. A clear space of at least twenty inches extending from the floor to the ceiling or roof of any bunk house, tent or other sleeping place must be allowed between each bed or bunk in any bunk house, tent or sleeping place. Upon request of an employee he must be supplied with a mattress or some equally comfortable bedding for which a reasonable charge may be made, the same to be deducted from his wages. When straw or other substitute for a mattress is used a container or tick must be provided.

Sec. 3 (as amended 1921, ch. 767). Eating places.—Every mess house, dining room, mess tent, dining tent, kitchen or other structure where food is cooked, prepared or served in such camp shall be kept in a clean and sanitary state, and the opening of such structure shall be screened. All dishes, cooking utensils, or other vessels in which food is prepared, or kept, or from which food is to be eaten, and all knives, forks, spoons, and other implements used in the eating of food must be kept in a clean, unbroken and sanitary condition.

Sec. 4 (as amended 1919, ch. 164). Bathing and toilet facilities.—For every such camp there shall be provided convenient and suitable bathing facilities of a reasonable nature to suit conditions, which shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition. For every such camp there shall be provided convenient and suitable privy or other toilet facilities, which shall be kept in a clean and sanitary state. A privy other than a water-closet shall consist of a pit at least two feet deep, with suitable shelter over the same, and the openings of the shelter and pit shall be inclosed by screening or other suitable fly netting. No privy shall be filled with excreta to nearer than one foot from the surface of the ground and the excreta in the pit shall be covered with earth, ashes, lime or other similar substance.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1919, ch. 164). Disposal of garbage.—All garbage, kitchen wastes and other rubbish in such camp shall be deposited in suitable covered receptacles which shall be emptied daily or oftener if necessary, and the contents burned, buried or otherwise disposed of in such a way as not to be or become offensive or insanitary. All drainage from the kitchen sink shall be carried through a covered drain to a covered cesspool or septic tank or otherwise disposed of in such a way as not to become offensive or insanitary.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1919, ch. 164). Duty of employers.—It shall be the duty of any person, firm, corporation, agent, or officer of a firm or corporation employing persons to work in or at camps to which the provisions of this act apply and the superintendent or overseer in charge of the work in or at such camps to carry out the provisions of this act. At every such camp, such owner, superintendent, or overseer shall appoint a responsible person to assist in keeping the camp clean.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1921, ch. 767). Enforcement.—The commission of immigration and housing of California shall administer this act and secure the enforcement of the provisions thereof, and for such purposes the officers and agents of the said commission shall have the right to enter upon either public or private property within the State to determine whether or not there exists upon such property any camp to which the provisions of this act may apply; and to enter and inspect all camps within the State of California wheresoever the same may be situated, and to inspect all accommodations, equipment, or paraphernalia connected therewith; and to enter upon and inspect all adjacent land surrounding the said or any such camp to determine whether or not the sanitary and other requirements of this act have been or are being complied with. Any camp coming under the provisions of this act which does not conform to the provisions of this act is hereby declared a public nuisance, and if not made to so conform within five days or within such longer period of time as may be allowed by the commission of immigration and housing, after written notice given by the said commission, shall be abated by proper action brought for that purpose in the superior court of the county in which such camp, or the greater portion thereof, is situated.

For the purpose of securing the enforcement of this act the officers and agents of the commission of immigration and housing of California shall have the power and authority of sheriffs and other peace officers to make arrests, to serve any process or notice throughout the State of California, and to use such other power and authority as is vested in sheriffs and other peace officers, and as may become necessary in securing the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 8 (added 1915, ch. 329). Violations.—[Violations entail a fine of not more than $200, or imprisonment for not more than 60 days, or both.]

CHAPTER 186.—Hours of labor in mines, smelters, etc.

SECTION 1. Eight hours per day.—The period of employment for all persons who are employed or engaged in work in underground mines in search of minerals, whether base or precious, or who are engaged in such underground mines for other purposes, or who are employed or engaged in any other underground workings whether for the purpose of tunneling, making excavations or to accomplish any other purpose or design, or who are employed in smelters and other institutions for the reduction or refining of ores or metals, shall not exceed eight hours within any twenty-four hours, and the hours of employment in such employment or work day shall be consecutive, excluding, however, any intermission of time for lunch or meals: Provided, That, in case of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger, the period may be a longer time during the continuance of the exigency or emergency.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine of not less than $50 nor more than $300, or by imprisonment not more than 3 months, or both, at the discretion of the court.]

An earlier statute on this subject was held to be constitutional; the provision that the hours of labor shall be consecutive is a matter of legislative policy, not reviewable by the courts. 106 Pac. 235.

CHAPTER 198.—Payment of wages—Seasonal occupations

SECTION 1. Definition.—For the purpose of this act the term "seasonal labor" shall include all work performed by any person employed for a period of time greater than one month, and where the wages for such work are not to be paid at any fixed intervals of time, but at the termination of such employment, and where the work is to be performed outside of this State: Provided, That snch person is hired within this State and the wages earned during such employment are to be paid in this State at the termination of such employment.

SEC. 2. Payment of wages.—Upon application of either the employer or the employee, the wages earned in seasonal labor, shall be paid in the presence of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics or an examiner appointed by him.

SEC. 3. Duties of commissioner.—The commissioner shall hear and decide all disputes arising from wages earned in seasonal labor and he shall allow or reject any deductions made from such wages: Provided, however, That he shall reject all deductions made for gambling debts incurred by the employee during such employment and for liquor sold to the employee during such employment.

SEC. 4. Award.—After final hearing by the commissioner, he shall file in the office of the bureau of labor statistics, a copy of the findings upon facts and his award.

SEC. 5. Same.—The amount of the award of the commissioner shall be conclusively presumed to be the amount of the wages due and unpaid to the employee at the time of the termination of the employment, and prosecution may be commenced under the provisions of an act * * * [Chapter 663, Acts of 1911].

SEC. 6. Powers of commissioner.—The commissioner or any examiner appointed by him, shall have power and authority to issue subpoenas to compel attendance of witnesses or parties, and the production of books, papers or records and to administer oaths. Obedience to such subpoenas shall be enforced by the courts of any county or city and county.

SEC. 7. Construction of act.—This act shall not be construed to apply to the wages earned by seamen or other persons, where the payment of wages is regulated by Federal statute.

CHAPTER 227.—Bureau of labor statistics—Attorney

SECTION 1. Attorney to be appointed.—The office of attorney for the State bureau of labor statistics is hereby created. Said attorney shall be appointed by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 2. Duties.—It shall be the duty of such attorney to act for and represent the State bureau of labor statistics and the commissioner thereof in all legal matters which may require the attention of such State bureau of labor statistics and the commissioner thereof, and to specially represent and act for and in cooperation thereof, when required, in the prevention of all acts and things which, in the judgment of the State bureau of labor statistics or the commissioner thereof, as will best subserve and carry out the provisions of an act entitled, "An act to establish and support a bureau of labor statistics," approved March 3, 1883; and also, all other acts which have been or may be hereafter designated by the legislature to be enforced by said State bureau of labor statistics or the commissioner thereof, and in all other matters pertaining to the welfare of minors and labor generally and to assist and aid the said bureau and the commissioner thereof with his advice, and to represent and act for the same in court.

SEC. 3. Salary.—The salary of such attorney shall be twenty-four hundred dollars per annum and shall be paid out of the State treasury, upon warrants drawn by the controller, in the same manner as the salaries of other State officers are paid.

CHAPTER 255.—Registration of factories, etc.

SECTION 1 (as amended 1917, ch. 177). Who to register.—Whenever the commissioner of labor shall have been notified or otherwise becomes aware of the existence of a new factory, or factories, he shall forward a notification of said fact on or before the tenth day of each month to the State board of health and to the board of health or the health officer of the city and county wherein said factory or factories may be located.

SEC. 2. Enforcement.—The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents, shall have all the powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers, to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this act, and to serve any process or notice throughout the State.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violating or failing to comply with this act is punishable by fine, $25 to $200, or by imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

CHAPTER 275.—Protection of employees on buildings—Elevators

SECTION 1. Definitions.—The words and phrases used in this act shall for the purposes of this act, unless the same be contrary to or inconsistent with the context, be construed as follows:

1. "Elevator" shall mean any means used to hoist persons or material of any kind on a building under course of construction, when operated by any power other than muscular power.

2. "Building" shall include structures of all kinds, regardless of the purposes for which they may be intended to be used, and whether such construction be below or above the level of the ground.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 332). Signals.—Every hoist hereafter used in buildings during the course of construction shall have a system of signals for the purpose of signaling the person operating or controlling the machinery which may operate or control the hoist. And it shall be the duty of the person in charge of such building to appoint one or more persons to give such signals, such person to be selected from those most familiar with the work for which said hoist is being used. The signaling devices provided shall be protected against unauthorized or accidental operation. The industrial accident commission shall within six months after this act takes effect make and enter its general safety order or orders in the manner prescribed by law, and may from time to time thereafter amend such orders in the manner prescribed by law, for the making of general safety orders specifying and fixing the nature and method of signals and signaling devices and uniform signals to be used in this state under the provisions of this act. Until such general safety order or orders are so adopted, such signals and signaling devices shall be governed by safety order number one thousand one hundred fifteen of the general construction safety orders of the industrial accident commission as in effect at the time of the passage of this act.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1921, ch. 332). Inspection.—It shall be the duty of the industrial accident commission to inspect all hoists coming within the definition contained in section 1 of the act herein amended. If any part of the construction or system of signals used on a hoist is defective or may endanger the lives of the men working in immediate vicinity of said hoist, the industrial accident commission shall direct the person in charge thereof to remedy such defect, and such hoist shall not be used again until the order of the commission shall have been complied with.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 278.—Provisions for accidents in factories

SECTION 1. Medical chests.—Every person, firm or corporation operating a factory or shop, or conducting any business in which power machinery is used for any manufacturing purpose, except for elevators or for heating or hoisting apparatus, where five or more persons are employed, shall at all times keep and maintain, in some accessible place upon the premises upon which such factory, shop or business is located, free of expense to the employees, a medical or surgical chest which shall contain an adequate assortment of absorbent lint, absorbent cotton, sterilized gauze, plain and medicated, adhesive plaster, cotton and gauze bandages, also one tourniquet, one pair of scissors, one pair of tweezers, one jar carbolized petrolatum, one bottle antiseptic solution, and one first-aid manual, all of which shall cost not less than six dollars, and to be used in the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Any person, firm or corporation violating this act shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for every week during which such violation continues.

CHAPTER 282.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. Definitions.—[Defines "agency," "engagement," "fee," etc.]

SEC. 2. License.—[No person may open or carry on any agency without a license from the commissioner of labor.]

SEC. 3. Applications.—[Applications must be in prescribed forms, stating name and address of applicant, business for at least two years preceding, whether a lodging house for the unemployed is to be conducted, and must be accompanied by affidavits of good character.]

SEC. 4 (as amended 1915, ch. 551). Duties of commissioner.—[The commissioner may cause an investigation to be made of the character and responsibility of the applicant, examine witnesses under oath, and must grant or refuse license within 30 days. Agencies may not be operated in connection with living rooms or eating or lodging houses or rooms. No license may be issued for 3 years after a revocation. Revocation may be made for violations of the law, ceasing to be of good moral character, or change of conditions under which the license was issued.]

SEC. 5. Contents of license.—[Licenses must show name of holder, location of business, and whether the holder conducts a separate lodging house.]

SEC. 6. Transfer.—[Licenses may be transferred to another person or place only with the written consent of the commissioner. No fee is charged for transfer.]

SEC. 7 (as amended 1915, ch. 551). License fee.—[A fee of $100 must be paid in cities above third class, $50 in third and fourth classes, and $10 elsewhere. Penal bonds ranging from $2,000 to $500 are required to secure compliance with the law and protect persons injured by fraud, deceit, etc.]

SEC. 8. Suits.—[Persons claiming damages may sue on the bond as in a civil suit.]

SEC. 9. Registers.—[Registers must be kept, showing name of applicant, date applied, date work was promised or information given, fee required and other data as the commissioner may require. Corresponding records must be kept of applicants for help, showing rate of wages to be paid.]

SEC. 10. Inspection.—[Registers, etc., are to be open to official inspection.]

SEC. 11 (as amended 1923, ch. 412). Receipts.—[Receipts, numbered consecutively and issued in duplicate, are to be given every applicant from whom a fee is received. The receipt must show that the agency is licensed, give its name, address, and telephone number, if any; give the name of the applicant and of the prospective employer, the amount of fee charged the applicant and the employer, if any; cost of transportation, kind of work, wages, sanitary conditions, hours, whether temporary or permanent (i. e. lasting more than 90 days), whether or not labor disputes exist, and any other term, condition, or understanding agreed upon. A promise to return the fee, in accordance with section 12, must be incorporated.]

SEC. 11a (added 1923, ch. 413). Schedule of fees.—[A schedule of fees charged must be filed with the commissioner of labor, the same to be posted in each room of the agency. No sum in excess of the schedule may be charged, and no change may be made until seven days after filing with the commissioner and posting in the agency.]

SEC. 12 (as amended 1915, ch. 551). Orders; return of fees.—[No fee may be charged for registration of any person sent out for employement without a bona fide order from an employer. If no employment is secured the fee must be returned on demand, together with expenses of travel if the employment promised was outside the city limits. If employment lasts less than seven days by reason of the worker's discharge, the fee, or a portion thereof, as the commissioner may determine, shall be returned.]

SEC. 13. False information, etc.—[The publication or use of false information, misleading advertisements, etc., is forbidden. All letterheads, receipts, etc., must contain the name and address of the agency.]

SEC. 14 (as amended 1915, ch. 551). Sending to certain places; notice of strikes.—[No woman or minor under 21 may be sent as an employee to any house of ill fame or place of immoral resort, the character of which could have been ascertained on reasonable inquiry; nor may a child be placed in any employment in violation of the child labor law. Notice must be given of any existing labor trouble. The splitting of fees is forbidden.]

SECS. 15, 16. [These sections relate to theatrical agencies.]

SEC. 17. Act to be posted.—[A copy of the act and the name and address of the enforcing officer must be posted in each room of the agency.]

SEC. 18. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines, $50 to $250, or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

SEC. 19 (as amended 1923, ch. 412). Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor and his deputies and agents are authorized to enforce the act. The commissioner decides controversies, subject to appeal to the courts.]

CHAPTER 324.—Industrial welfare commission

SECTION 1. Commission established.—There is hereby established a commission to be known as the industrial welfare commission, hereinafter called the commission. Said commission shall be composed of five persons, at least one of whom shall be a woman, and all of whom shall be appointed by the governor as follows: Two for the term of one year, one for the term of two years, one for the term of three years, and one for the term of four years: Provided, however, That at the expiration of their respective terms, their successors shall be appointed to serve a full term of four years. Any vacancies shall be similarly filled for the unexpired portion of the term in which the vacancy shall occur. Three members of the commission shall constitute a quorum. A vacancy on the commission shall not impair the right of the remaining members to perform all the duties and exercise all the powers and authority of the commission.

SEC. 2. Per diem; employees.—The members of said commission shall draw no salaries but all of said members shall be allowed ten dollars per diem while engaged in the performance of their official duties. The commission may employ a secretary, and such expert, clerical and other assistants as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, and shall fix the compensation of such employees, and may, also, to carry out such purposes, incur reasonable and necessary office and other expenses, including the necessary traveling expenses of the members of the commission, of its secretary, of its experts, and of its clerks and other assistants and employees. All employees of the commission shall hold office at the pleasure of the commission.

SEC. 3. Duties of commission.—(a) It shall be the duty of the commission to ascertain the wages paid, the hours and conditions of labor and employment in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which women and minors are employed in the State of California, and to make investigations into the comfort, health, safety and welfare of such women and minors.

(b) It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation employing labor in this State:

1. To furnish to the commission, at its request, any and all reports or information which the commission may require to carry out the purposes of this act, such reports and information to be verified by the oath of the person, or a member of the firm, or the president, secretary, or manager of the corporation furnishing the same, if and when so requested by the commission or any member thereof.

2. To allow any member of the commission, or its secretary, or any other of its duly authorized experts or employees, free access to the place of business or employment of such person, firm, or corporation, for the purpose of making any investigation authorized by this act, or to make inspection of, or excerpts from, all books, reports, contracts, pay rolls, documents, or papers, of such person, firm, or corporation relating to the employment of labor and payment therefor by such person, firm, or corporation.

3. To keep a register of the names, ages, and residence addresses of all women and minors employed.

(c) For the purposes of this act, a minor is defined to be a person of either sex under the age of eighteen years.

SEC. 3½ (added 1919, ch. 204). Issue of subpœnas.—Any member of the commission or deputies duly authorized by it in writing, shall have the power and authority to issue subpœnas to compel the attendance of witnesses or parties and the production of books, papers, pay rolls or records, and to administer oaths and to examine witnesses under oaths and to take the verification or proof of instruments of writing, and to take depositions and affidavits for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, or any of its orders, rules or regulations: Provided, That no witnesses shall be compelled to attend on said commission outside of the county in which said witness resides or at a distance greater than fifty miles from his place of residence.

Obedience to subpœnas issued by the commission or its duly authorized representatives shall be enforced in the superior courts of the county or city and county in which the subpœnas were issued.

SEC. 4. Hearings.—The commission may specify times to hold public hearings, at which times, employers, employees, or other interested persons, may appear and give testimony as to the matter under consideration. The commission or any member thereof shall have power to subpœna witnesses and to administer oaths. All witnesses subpœnaed by the commission shall be paid the fees and mileage fixed by law in civil cases. In case of failure on the part of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any member thereof, or any subpœna, or upon the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may lawfully be interrogated before any wage board or the commission, it shall be the duty of the superior court or the judge thereof, on the application of a member of the commission, to compel obedience in the same manner, by contempt proceedings or otherwise, that such obedience would be compelled in a proceeding pending before said court. The commission shall have power to make and enforce reasonable and proper rules of practice and procedure and shall not be bound by the technical rules of evidence.

SEC. 5. Wage board.—If, after investigation, the commission is of the opinion that, in any occupation, trade, or industry, the wages paid to women and minors are inadequate to supply the cost of proper living, or the hours or conditions of labor are prejudicial to the health, morals or welfare of the workers, the commission may call a conference, hereinafter called "wage board," composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation, trade, or industry in question, and a representative of the commission to be designated by it, who shall act as the chairman of the wage board. The members of such wage board shall be allowed five dollars per diem and necessary traveling expenses while engaged in such conferences. The commission shall make rules and regulations governing the number and selection of the members and the mode of procedure of such wage board, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of such wage board. The proceedings and deliberations of such wage board shall be made a matter of record for the use of the commission, and shall be admissible as evidence in any proceedings before the commission. On request of the commission, it shall be the duty of such wage board to report to the commission its findings, including therein:

1. An estimate of the minimum wage adequate to supply to women and minors engaged in the occupation, trade or industry in question, the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.
2. The number of hours of work per day in the occupation, trade or industry in question, consistent with the health and welfare of such women and minors.
3. The standard conditions of labor in the occupation, trade or industry in question, demanded by the health and welfare of such women and minors.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1921, ch. 279). Fixing wages.—(a) The commission shall have further power after a public hearing had upon its own motion or upon petition, to fix:

1. A minimum wage to be paid to women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this State, which shall not be less than a wage adequate to supply to such women and minors the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.
2. The maximum hours of work consistent with the health and welfare of women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this State: Provided, That the hours so fixed shall not be more than the maximum now or hereafter fixed by law.
3. The standard conditions of labor demanded by the health and welfare of the women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this State.

(b) Upon the fixing of the time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and acting upon any matters referred to it in subsection (a) hereof, the commission shall give public notice by advertisement in at least one newspaper published in each of the cities of Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose, Fresno and in the city and county of San Francisco, and shall give due notice in at least one newspaper published in each of the cities of Fresno, San Jose, Eureka, San Diego, Long Beach, Alameda, Berkeley and Stockton, and by mailing a copy of said notice to the county clerk of each county in the State to be posted at the court house of each county, or city and county, and also to each association of employers or employees and to any employer within the State of California filing with the commission a written request for such notice of such hearing and the purpose thereof, which notice shall state the time and place fixed for such hearing, which shall not be earlier than fourteen days from the date of publication and mailing of such notices.

(c) After such public hearing, the commission may, in its discretion, make a mandatory order to be effective in sixty days from the publication of such order, specifying the minimum wage for women or minors in the occupation in question, [and] the maximum hours: Provided, That the hours specified shall not be more than the maximum for women or minors in California [,] and the standard conditions of labor for said women or minors. Such order shall be published in at least one newspaper in each of the cities of Los Angeles, Sacramento, Oakland, San Jose, Fresno, and in the city and county of San Francisco, and a copy thereof be mailed to the county clerk of each county in the State, and such copies shall be filed without charge. The commission shall send by mail, so far as practicable, to each employer in the occupation in question, a copy of the order, and each employer shall be required to post a copy of such order in the building in which women or minors affected by the order are employed; and it shall be the duty of the commission to send a copy of such order to each employer registering his name with the commission and requesting such order to be mailed, but the failure to mail such order or notice thereof to any employer affected thereby shall not relieve such employer from the duty to comply with such order, and finding by the commission that there has been the publication and mailing to county clerks as herein provided shall be conclusive as to service.

SEC. 7. Reconsideration.—Whenever wages, or hours, or conditions of labor have been so made mandatory in any occupation, trade, or industry, the commission may at any time in its discretion, upon its own motion or upon petition of either employers or employees, after a public hearing held upon the notice prescribed for an original hearing, rescind, alter or amend any prior order. Any order rescinding a prior order shall have the same effect as herein provided for in an original order.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1915, ch. 571). Special licenses.—(a) For any occupation in which a minimum wage has been established, the commission may issue to a woman physically defective by age or otherwise, a special license authorizing the employment of such licensee, for a period of six months, for a wage less than such legal minimum wage; and the commission shall fix a special minimum wage for such person. Any such license may be renewed for like periods of six months.

(b) For any occupation in which a minimum wage has been established, the commission may issue to an apprentice or learner, a special license authorizing the employment of such apprentice or learner, for such time and under such conditions as the commission may determine at a wage less than such legal minimum wage; and the commission shall fix a special wage for such apprentice or learner.

(c) The commission may fix the maximum number of women, and minors under eighteen years of age, to be employed under the licenses provided for in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section in any occupation, trade, industry, or establishment in which a minimum wage has been established.

SEC. 9. Statistics, etc.—Upon the request of the commission, the labor commissioner shall cause such statistics and other data and information to be gathered, and investigations made, as the commission may require. The cost thereof shall be paid out of the appropriations made for the expenses of the commission.

SEC. 10. Discrimination, etc., against employees.—Any employer who discharges, or threatens to discharge, or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has testified or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee may testify in any investigation or proceedings relative to the enforcement of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 11 (as amended 1915, ch. 571). Paying less than minimum wage.—The minimum wage for women and minors fixed by said commission as in this act provided, shall be the minimum wage to be paid to such employees, and the payment to such employees of a less wage than the minimum so fixed shall be unlawful, and every employer or other person who, either individually or as an officer, agent, or employee of a corporation or other person, pays or causes to be paid to any such employee a wage less than such minimum, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and every employer or other person, who either individually, or as an officer, agent or employee of a corporation, or other persons, violates or refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this act, or any orders or rulings of this commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 11b (added 1919, ch. 204). Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the industrial welfare commission to enforce the provisions of this act and compliance with its orders, rules, and regulations. Full power and authority is hereby vested in the commission to take such action as may be deemed essential for such purposes.

Sec. 12 (as amended 1921, ch. 279). Prosecutions.—[This section gives the mode of procedure in prosecuting violations of the act.]

Sec. 13. Right to recover.—Any employee receiving less than the legal minimum wage applicable to such employee shall be entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of such minimum wage, together with costs of suit, notwithstanding any agreement to work for such lesser wage.

Sec. 14. Complaints.—Any person may register with the commission a complaint that the wages paid to an employee for whom a living rate has been established, are less than that rate, and the commission shall investigate the matter and take all proceedings necessary to enforce the payment of a wage not less than the living wage.

Sec. 15. Reports.—The commission shall biennially make a report to the governor and the State legislature of its investigations and proceedings.

Sec. 17. Arbitration forbidden.—The commission shall not act as a board of arbitration during a strike or lockout.

Sec. 18. Construction of act.—(a) Whenever this act, or any part or section thereof, is interpreted by a court, it shall be liberally construed by such court.

(b) If any section, subsection, or subdivision of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, subdivisions, sentences, clauses or phrases is declared unconstitutional.

Sec. 19. Application of act.—The provisions of this act shall apply to and include women and minors employed in any occupation, trade or industry, and whose compensation for labor is measured by time, piece, or otherwise.

Chapter 333.—Strikes, etc.—Notice in advertisements for labor

Section 1. Notice of labor disturbances to be given.—If any person, firm, or corporation, acting either for himself, or itself, or as the agent of another person, firm, or corporation, during the continuance of a strike, lockout, or other labor trouble among his, or its employees, or among the employees of the person, firm, or corporation, for whom he, or it is acting, advertises for employees in the newspapers, or by posters, or otherwise, or solicits persons to work for him, or the persons, firm, or corporation, for whom he is acting, in the place of the strikers, he shall plainly and explicitly mention in such advertisements, or oral or written solicitations, that a strike, lockout or other labor disturbance exists: Provided, That the foregoing provisions shall not apply to advertisements or solicitations published solely or made within the same city or locality where the strike, lockout, or other labor disturbance exists.

Sec. 2. Penalty.—If any person, firm, association or corporation violates any provisions of this act, he or it shall be punished by a fine not less than twenty-five dollars and not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars for each offense.

Chapter 368.—Mine regulations—Telephones

Sections 1, 2. Requirement.—[Mines more than 500 feet in depth must be equipped with telephones, with stations at each working level below that depth, communicating with the surface.]

CHAPTER 38.—Protection of employees in their political rights

SECTION 1. Employers not to interfere.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor to make, adopt or enforce any rule regulation or policy forbidding or preventing his employees, or any of them, from engaging or participating in politics or from becoming candidates or a candidate for public office, or controlling or directing, or tending to control or direct the political activities or affiliations of such employees or any of them; or to coerce or influence or attempt to coerce or influence such employees or any of them through or by means of threat of discharge or loss of employment to adopt or follow or refrain from adopting or following any particular course or line of political action or political activity. The expression "employer of labor" as herein used shall be deemed to mean and include any person, firm, or corporation regularly having in his or its employ twenty or more employees.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Individual violators may be imprisoned not more than one year or fined not over $1,000, or both; corporations may be fined not more than $5,000, and are held responsible for the acts of managers and employees.]

SEC. 3. Damages.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the injured employee from recovering damages from his employer for injury suffered through a violation of this act.

CHAPTER 56.—Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

SECTION 1. Accepting fees forbidden.—Any manager, superintendent, foreman, or other person having authority from his employer to hire, employ or direct the services of other persons in such employment, who shall demand or receive any fee, gift, or other remuneration in consideration of hiring or employing any person to perform work or services for such employer, or permitting said person to continue in said employment, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than three hundred dollars for each offense. All fines imposed and collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the State treasury and credited to the contingent fund of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 2. Enforcement.—This act shall be enforced by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 3. Construction of act.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to apply to employment agencies or employment agents licensed and operating under the laws of the State of California.

SEC. 4. Act to be posted.—Every employer as defined in section one hereof shall post and maintain notices, printed or written in plain type or script, in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by said employees as they go to and from their work, setting forth verbatim the provisions of section one of this act.

This act was repealed by chapter 172, Acts of 1917, which was declared unconstitutional, presumably leaving the original act in force.

CHAPTER 65.—Discharge of employees—Hearings on charges

SECTION 1. When hearing to be allowed.—It shall be unlawful for any public service corporation, agent, superintendent or manager thereof, employing any special agent, detective, or person commonly known as "spotter" for the purpose of investigating, obtaining and reporting to the employer, its agent, superintendent or manager, information concerning its employees, to discipline or discharge any employee in its service, where such act of discipline or the discharge is based upon a report by such special agent, detective or spotter, which report involves a question of integrity, honesty or a breach of rules of the employer, unless such employer, its agent, superintendent or manager, shall give notice and accord a hearing to the employee thus accused, when requested by said employee, at which hearing said employer shall state specific charges on which said act or discharge is based and at which said accused employee shall have the right to furnish testimony in his defense.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $300, or by imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or both. Imprisonment shall be imposed upon officers or agents of public service corporations committing offense.]

CHAPTER 91.—Railroad commission—Equipment of public utilities—Accidents

SECTION 13. Safety provisions.— * * *

(b) Every public utility shall furnish, provide and maintaiu such service, instrumentalities, equipment and facilities as shall promote the safety, health, comfort and convenience of its patrons, employees and the public, and as shall be in all respects adequate, efficient, just and reasonable.

SEC. 42. Rules.—The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise, to require every public utility to construct, maintain and operate its line, plant, system, equipment, apparatus, tracks and premises in such manner as to promote and safeguard the health and safety of its employees, passengers, customers, and the public, and to this end to prescribe, among other things, the installation, use, maintenance and operation of appropriate safety or other devices or appliances, including interlocking and other protective devices at grade crossings or junctions and block or other systems of signaling, to establish uniform or other standards of construction and equipment, and to require the performance of any other act which the health or safety of its employees, passengers, customers or the public may demand.

SEC. 44. Accidents.—[The commission is to investigate all accidents on or connected with public utilities, causing loss of life or injury to person or property, if such investigation is, in its judgment, required, and may make such recommendations or orders in regard thereto as it may deem just aud reasouable. Reports of accidents must be made as the commission may require; but neither reports nor orders shall be used in any suit for damages.]

CHAPTER 188.—Bribery of employees—Discounts to chauffeurs, etc.

SECTION 31. Bonus, etc., forbidden.—No chauffeur or other person having the care of a motor vehicle for the owner shall receive or take, directly or indirectly, without the written consent of such owner, any bonus, discount or other consideration for supplies or parts furnished or purchased for such motor vehicle, or on auy work or labor done thereon by others, or on the purchase of any motor vehicle for his employer, and no person furnishing such supplies or parts, work or labor, or selling any motor vehicle shall give or offer any such chauffeur or other person having the care of a motor vehicle for the owner thereof, directly or indirectly, without such owner's written consent, any bonus, discount, or other consideration thereon. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 302.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Establishment.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, hereinafter called "commissioner," shall establish free employment bureaus in the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento, and thereafter, whenever he deems it necessary, in other cities and towns.

SEC. 2. Offices; rules, etc.—The commissioner shall procure, by lease or otherwise, suitable offices; incur the necessary expenses in the conduct thereof; appoint the necessary officers, assistants and clerks, and fix the compensation therefor; and promulgate rules and regulations for the conduct of free employment bureaus in order to carry out the purposes of this act.

SEC. 3. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated out of the moneys of the State treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of fifty thousand dollars, to be used by the commissioner in carrying out the provisions of this act, and the controller is hereby directed from time to time to draw his warrants on the general fund in favor of the commissioner, for the amouuts expended under his direction, and the treasurer is hereby authorized aud directed to pay the same.

CHAPTER 417.—Employment of aliens in public service

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 366). Restrictions.—No person except a native-born or naturalized citizen of the United States shall be employed in any department of the State, county, city and county or city government in this State; provided, however, that the prohibitions of this act shall not apply (a) to the employment as a member of the faculty or teaching force in public schools of this State nor in schools supported in whole or in part by the State of any person who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, nor of any native-born woman of the United States who has married a foreigner; (b) to any member of the faculty or teaching force of any college or university supported in whole or in part by the State; (c) to any specialist or expert temporarily employed by any department of the State or any county, city and county, or city, and engaged in special investigation; (d) in an emergency when it is necessary to protect life, health or property against fire, flood or other calamity arising from natural causes.

SEC. 2. Appointments, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, whether elected, appointed or commissioned to fill any office in either the State, county, city and county or city government of this State, or in any department thereof, to appoint or employ any person to perform any duties whatsoever, unless such person so appointed or employed be a native-born or naturalized citizen of the United States, subject nevertheless, to the exceptions contained in section one of this act.

SEC. 3. Payment of wages, etc.—No money shall be paid out of the State treasury or out of the treasury of any county, or city and county or city, to any person employed in any of the offices mentioned in section two of this act unless such person shall be a native-born or naturalized citizen of the United States, subject to the exceptions contained in section one of this act.

SEC. 4. Definition.—As used in this act the term "person who has declared his intention to become a citizen" shall not include any person who fails to secure his certificate of naturalization within six months after the time that he is entitled by law to secure the same.

SEC. 5. Prior payments.—No action shall be authorized or maintained for the recovery of money heretofore paid to any member of the faculty or teaching force of any public school of this State, or any school, college or university supported in whole or in part by the State, and all payments so made are hereby approved and declared valid.

CHAPTER 484.—Commissioner of labor—Enforcement of laws

SECTION 1. Power of commissioner.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall have authority and power to enforce any and all labor laws of the State of California, the enforcement of which is not specifically vested in any other officer, board or commission, and the deputies and agents of the said labor commissioner shall have the power, and authority of sheriffs and other peace officers to make arrests, and to serve any process or notice throughout the State in the enforcement of such labor laws, pursuant to the instructions of said commissioner.

CHAPTER 485.—Employees to be supplied with drinking water

SECTION 1. Duty of employers.—Every employer of labor in this State shall, without making a charge therefor, provide fresh and pure drinking water to his employees during working hours. Access to such drinking water shall be permitted at reasonable and convenient times and places.

Any violation of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and punishable for each offense by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25), not more than one hundred dollars ($100), or by imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER 494.—Railroads—Transmission of orders

SECTION 1. Who may not transmit orders.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation operating a railroad with more than four trains each way every twenty-four hours, to require or permit any engineer, fireman, conductor, brakeman or trainman to receive, deliver or transmit at any receiving or forwarding instrument of any telegraph or telephone line, any order for the movement of any train, except in such cases or classes of cases as may be permitted by the railroad commission: Provided, however, That the foregoing provisions shall not apply to interurban or street railroads. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER 657.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1. Wages payable, when.—All wages or compensation of employees in private employments shall be due and payable semimonthly, that is to say, all such wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the first day of any month, shall be due and payable not later than the fifteenth day of the month following the one in which such wages were earned; and all wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the sixteenth day of any month, shall be due and payable not later than the last day of the same month. The words "private employments" used in this act shall mean and include all employments other than those mentioned in section six hereof and those under the direct management, supervision and control of the State of California, any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation or political subdivision of the State of California, or any officer or department thereof. But nothing contained herein shall be construed as prohibiting the payment of wages at more frequent periods than semimonthly.

SEC. 2. Notices to be posted.—Every employer shall establish and maintain regular pay days as herein provided, and shall post and maintain notices, printed or written in plain type or script, in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by the employees as they go to and from the work, setting forth the regular pay days as herein prescribed.

SEC. 3. Payment in money, etc.—The payment of wages or compensation of employees in the employments defined herein, shall be made in lawful money of the United States or by a good and valid negotiable check or draft, payable on presentation thereof at some bank or other established place of business, located in this State, without discount in lawful money of the United States, and not otherwise.

SEC. 4. Absent employees.—In case an employee in any said employment shall be absent from the usual place of employment at the time said payment shall be due and payable as hereinabove provided, he shall be paid the wages or compensation within five days after making a demand therefor.

SEC. 5. Refusal to pay.—Every person, or any agent of any person, copartnership, association or corporation, who, having the ability to pay, shall willfully refuse to pay the wages due and payable when demanded, as herein provided, or falsely deny the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due, with intent to secure, for himself or any other person, any discount upon such indebtedness, or with intent to annoy, or harass, or oppress, or hinder, or delay, or defraud the person to whom such indebtedness is due, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 6. Exemptions.—This act shall not apply to employers and employees engaged in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural or horticultural pursuits, in stock or poultry raising, in household domestic service, or to employers having less than six employees regularly employed.

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 667.—Employers' hospital funds—Administration, etc.

SECTION 1. Definitions.—The following terms, as used in this act, shall be construed as follows:

(a) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, partnership, company, association, joint stock association or corporation engaged in any business or enterprise in this State and hiring or employing five or more persons in such business.

(b) The term "charge" shall mean and include any deduction from the salary or wage of an employee, or any collection from or contribution by an employee, whether such charge be made regularly at stated intervals or at the time of injury or illness of an employee, or at any other time or in any other manner.

SEC. 2. Who to make reports.—Every employer who affords or provides hospital service of any sort for his employees, for which service any charge is received or collected by such employer, or at his instance or request, shall in each year, on or before the thirtieth day of January thereof, file as hereinafter provided a written report for the next last preceding year, which report shall contain a statement showing (1) the total amount of hospital charges collected or received during the year, (2) an itemized account of all expenditures, investments or other disposition of such charges, and (3) a statement showing what balance, if any, remains. This report shall be verified by the employer, if an individual; by a member, if a partnership; by the secretary or president, if a corporation, company, association or joint stock association.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1917, ch. 73). Charges.—Every such hospital charge demanded, collected or received by an employer shall be just and reasonable. The railroad commission is hereby given authority to decide what is an unreasonable charge in all cases where such charge is made by a hospital maintained by a public utility, and in all cases where the charge is made by a hospital maintained by other than a common carrier by rail, the industrial accident commission is hereby given authority to decide what is an unreasonable charge.

SEC. 4. Use of fees.—No such hospital charge collected or received by an employer shall be devoted to any purpose other than a bona fide hospital or medical service for the employees from whom the charge is demanded, collected or received.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1917, ch. 73). Supervision; posting.—[The railroad commission and the industrial accident commission may inspect the books of the respective classes of hospitals, and enforce appropriate orders relative thereto. The statements or reports of the hospitals must be posted where employees can read the same, and must be filed with the proper commission.]

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Failure to render reports entails a fine of from $100 to $2,000.]

CHAPTER 74.—Factory, etc., regulations—Elevators

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 330). Permits.—[No elevator operated by power or by hand may be used in any place of employment without a permit of current validity, issued by the industrial accident commission; and if so operated and it appears that such operation is dangerous to life or safety, a restraining order to prevent its use may be secured.]

SEC. 2. Exemptions.—[Elevators under the jurisdiction of the United States, and those operated by employers who are not under the workmen's compensation act are not within the terms of this act.]

SEC. 3 (as amended 1921, ch. 330). Inspection; orders.—[Inspections of elevators under the act must be made at least once each year. If found safe a permit valid for the year will issue; otherwise orders for repairs may be made and discontinuance of use required until they are completed. If the condition is not immediately dangerous, a temporary permit may be granted, permitting use during repairs. Appeal may be taken to the courts, following hearings by the commission, if desired.]

SEC. 4 (as amended 1921, ch. 330). Inspectors.—[The inspections may be made by the safety inspectors of the commission, or by an elevator inspector of an insurance company or of a municipality; but all inspectors must hold certificates of competency from the commission, which may be rescinded for cause, after hearing.]

SEC. 5 (as amended 1921, ch. 330). Fees.—[A fee may be charged for inspection, not exceeding $3.50, which may be charged but once annually unless reinspection is necessary on account of failure to comply with orders of the commission, when one additional charge may be made. If insurance or municipal inspections are accepted, no fee will be charged. Fees go to the accident prevention fund.]

SEC. 6. Reports by inspectors.—[Certified inspectors must report to the commission on each inspection made, within 21 days thereafter; upon failure to do so, their certificates may be canceled.]

CHAPTER 108.—Employees' bonds and photographs—Costs

SECTION 1. Employer to pay costs.—Whenever a bond or photograph of an employee or applicant for employment is required by any employer of labor said employer shall pay the cost of such bond or photograph.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any person violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not less than $25 nor exceeding $500.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California shall enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 141.—Coercion of employees in trading

SECTION 1. Coercion unlawful.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor, or any officer, agent or employee of any employer of labor to make, adopt or enforce any rule or regulation compelling or coercing any employee to patronize said employer, or any other person, firm or corporation, in the purchase of any thing of value: Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be interpreted as prohibiting any employer of labor from prescribing the weight, color, quality, texture, style, form and make of uniforms required to be worn by their employees.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 201.—Railroads—Safety of employees—Powers of industrial accident commission

SECTION 1. Railroad repair shops.—The industrial accident commission of the State of California is hereby vested with jurisdiction, as provided in the workmen's compensation, insurance, and safety act of one thousand nine hundred seventeen, and acts amendatory thereof, subject to the provisions of section three hereof, over the safety of employees of steam railroads employed in shops devoted to the construction or repair of railroad equipment; the safety of employees of electric interurban or street railroads, employed in the generation, transmission or distribution of electric energy, or in shops devoted to the repair of railroad equipment, or in any nonpublic utility operation of such railroads; and the safety of employees of all other public utilities as such utilities are defined in the public utilities act.

SEC. 2. Jurisdiction of railroad commission.—The jurisdiction vested in the industrial accident commission of the State of California by section one hereof shall in no instance, except those affecting exclusively the safety of employees, be construed to impair, diminish or in any way affect the jurisdiction of the railroad commission of the State of California over the construction, reconstruction, replacement, maintenance, or operation of the properties of public utilities as defined in the public utilities act, or over any matter affecting the relationship between such public utilities and their customers or the general public.

SEC. 3. Orders may be modified.—If the industrial accident commission, in the exercise of the authority and jurisdiction conferred by this act, makes or issues any order, decision, ruling or direction, which in the judgment of the railroad commission, unduly and prejudicially interferes with the construction or operation of any public utility affected thereby, or with the public, or with a consumer or other patron of a public utility affected thereby, the railroad commission, of its own motion, or upon application of any utility or person so affected, may suspend, modify, alter or annul such order, decision, ruling or direction of the industrial accident commission, and the action of the railroad commission in that regard shall supersede and control the order, decision, ruling or direction of the industrial accident commission previously made in the premises.

CHAPTER 586.—Employment of labor—Provisions for safety

SECTION 33 (as amended 1923, ch. 90). Definitions.—(1) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include any and every place, whether indoors or out or underground, or elsewhere, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where, either temporarily or permanently, any enterprise, project, industry, trade, work, or business is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly related to any enterprise, project, industry, trade, work, or business, is carried on, including all excavation, demolition, and construction work, and where any person is employed by another, or suffered or permitted to work for hire but shall not include any place where persons are employed solely in household domestic service or any place of employment, concerning the safety of which jurisdiction may have been vested by law heretofore or hereafter in any other State commission or officer, or any offices or department of the Federal Government.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, work, enterprise, project, business, occupation, or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, enterprise, project, business, occupation, or process of manufacture, including all excavation, demolition and construction work, in which any person may be engaged except where persons are employed solely in household domestic service.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative, or other person having direction, management, control, or custody of any employment, place of employment or of any employee.

(4) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, to engage in any employment, or to go to work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the safety provisions of this act.

(6) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order, made under the safety provisions of this act, as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city, or any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The terms "safe" and "safety" as applied to an employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms "safety device" and "safeguard" shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 34. Employer to furnish safe employment.—Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 35. Safeguards.—No employer shall require, permit, or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide and use safety devices and safeguards or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees, and no such employer shall occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 36. Construction.—No employer, owner or lessee of any real property in this State shall construct or cause to be constructed any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 37 (as amended 1919, ch. 471). Removing guards.—No employee or other person shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device, safeguard, notice or warning, furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee, including himself, in such employment, or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 38. Jurisdiction of commission.—The commission is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 39. Powers.—The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise:

(1) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment safe as required by law or lawful order.

(2) To fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance and operation of safety devices, safeguards and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment.

(3) To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe.

(4) To require the performance of any other act which the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment may reasonably demand.

(5) To declare and prescribe the general form of industrial injury reports, the injuries to be reported and the information to be furnished in connection therewith, and the time within which such reports shall be filed. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prevent the commission from requiring supplemental injury reports.

SEC. 40. Safety orders.—Upon the fixing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and issuing a general safety order or orders as authorized by section thirty-nine hereof, the commission shall cause a notice of such hearing to be published in one or more daily newspapers of general circulation published and circulated in the city and county of San Francisco, and also in one or more daily newspapers of general circulation published and circulated in the county of Los Angeles, such newspapers to be designated by the commission for that purpose. No defect or inaccuracy in such notice or in the publication thereof shall invalidate any general order issued by the commission after hearing had.

SEC. 41. Order as to unsafe employment.—Whenever the commission, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, shall find that any employment or place of employment is not safe or that the practices or means or methods or operations or processes employed or used in connection therewith are unsafe, or do not afford adequate protection to the life and safety of employees in such employment or place of employment, the commission shall make and enter and serve such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe and protect the life and safety of employees in such employment and place of employment and may in said order direct that such additions, repairs, improvements or changes be made and such safety devices and safeguards be furnished, provided and used, as are reasonably required to render such employment or place of employment safe, in the manner and within the time specified in said order.

SEC. 42. Extension of time.—The commission may, upon application of any employer, or other person affected thereby, grant such time as may reasonably be necessary for compliance with any order, and any person affected by such order may petition the commission for an extension of time, which the commission shall grant if it finds such an extension of time necessary.

SEC. 43. Summary investigation.—Whenever the commission shall learn or have reason to believe that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee it may, of its own motion, or upon complaint, summarily investigate the same, with or without notice or hearings, and after a hearing upon such notice as it may prescribe, the commission may enter and serve such order as may be necessary relative thereto, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 44. Obedience to orders.—Every employer, employee and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, decision, direction, rule or regulation made or prescribed by the commission in connection with the matters herein specified, or in any way relating to or affecting safety of employments or places of employment, or to protect the life and safety of employees in such employments or places of employment, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with and observance of every such order, decision, direction, rule or regulation.

SEC. 45. Review by courts.—The orders of the commission, general or special, its rules or regulations, findings and decisions, made and entered under the safety provisions of this act, may be reviewed by the courts specified in sections sixty-seven and sixty-eight of this act and within the time and in the manner therein specified and not otherwise.

SEC. 46. Jurisdiction of public corporations.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to deprive the board of supervisors of any county, or city and county, the board of trustees of any city, or any other public corporation or board or department, of any power or jurisdiction over or relative to any place of employment: Provided, That whenever the commission shall, by order, fix a standard of safety for employments or places of employment, such order shall, upon the filing by the commission of a copy thereof with the clerk of the county, city and county, or city to which it may apply, establish a minimum requirement concerning the matters covered by such order and shall be construed in connection with any local order relative to the same matter and to amend or modify any requirement in such local order not up to the standard of the order of the commission.

SEC. 46½ (added 1919, ch. 471). Use of unsafe machinery.—If the condition of any employment or place of employment or the operation of any machine, device or apparatus shall constitute a serious menace of the lives or safety of persons about it, the commission, or a commissioner, may apply to the superior court of the county in which such place of employment, machine, device or apparatus is situated, for an injunction restraining the use or operation thereof until such condition shall be corrected. The said application accompanied by affidavit showing that such place of employment, machine, device or apparatus is being operated in violation of a general or special safety order of the commission, and that such use or operation constitutes a menace to the life or safety of any person or persons employed thereabout, accompanied by a copy of the order or orders applicable thereto shall constitute a sufficient prima facie showing to warrant, in the discretion of the court, the immediate granting of a temporary restraining order. No bond shall be required from the commission as a prerequisite to the granting of any restraining order. When in the opinion of the industrial accident commission a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded or is dangerously placed, the use thereof shall be prohibited by the commission, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed except by an authorized representative of the commission, nor until the machinery is made safe and the required safeguards or safety appliances or devices are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used.

SEC. 47. Safety museums.—The commission shall have further power and authority:

(1) To establish and maintain museums of safety and hygiene in which shall be exhibited safety devices, safeguards and other means and methods for the protection of the life and safety of employees, and to publish and distribute bulletins on any phase of this general subject.

(2) To cause lectures to be delivered, illustrated by stereopticon or other views, diagrams or pictures, for the information of employers and their employees and the general public in regard to the causes and prevention of industrial accidents, occupational diseases and related subjects.

(3) To appoint advisers who shall, without compensation, assist the commission in establishing standards of safety and the commission may adopt and incorporate in its general orders such safety recommendations as it may receive from such advisers.

SEC. 48. Safety orders as evidence.—Every order of the commission, general or special, its rules and regulations, findings and decisions, made and entered under the safety provisions of this act shall be admissible as evidence in any prosecution for the violation of any of the said provisions and shall, in every such prosecution, be conclusively presumed to be reasonable and lawful and to fix a reasonable and proper standard and requirement of safety, unless, prior to the institution of the prosecution for such violation or violations, proceedings for a rehearing thereon or a review thereof shall have been instituted as provided in sections sixty-four to sixty-eight, inclusive, of this act and not then finally determined.

SECS. 49, 50. Violations.—[Violations of sections 34–37 are misdemeanors. Failure to comply with an order is prima facie evidence of a violation, and each violation is a separate offense; and if continued, each day is so considered.]

SEC. 51. Accident prevention fund.—All fines imposed and collected under prosecutions for violations of the provisions of sections thirty to fifty-four of this act shall be paid into the State treasury to the credit of the "accident prevention fund," which fund is hereby created. In addition to other sources of income of said accident prevention fund, the State compensation insurance fund shall pay into the said accident prevention fund, on or before the first Monday in July, 1918, and annually thereafter, the sum of two per cent upon the amount of the gross premiums received by it upon its business done in this State during the preceding calendar year, less return premiums and reinsurance in companies or associations authorized to do business in this State, which payment is intended to be the equivalent of the taxes imposed upon private insurance companies by the laws of this State relating to revenue and taxation. The State compensation insurance fund shall also pay into the said accident prevention fund interest from September 1, 1917, at the rate of four per cent per annum, payable quarterly, upon the sum of one hundred thousand dollars heretofore advanced by the State to said State compensation insurance fund as long as the said fund shall retain the said sum of one hundred thousand dollars. The commission is authorized to draw from said accident prevention fund toward the support of its department of safety. The commission shall submit from time to time to the State board of control an estimate of the amount it desires to withdraw from the accident prevention fund, and when such estimate shall be approved by the State board of control, the controller is directed to draw his warrant on said fund in favor of said commission for such amount, and the treasurer is authorized and directed to pay the same. The commission shall account to the State board of control and to the State controller for all moneys so received, furnishing proper vouchers therefor. The said accident prevention fund shall be a revolving fund.

SEC. 52. Divulging information.—It shall be unlawful for any member of the commission, or for any officer or employee of the commission, to divulge to any person not connected with the administration of this act any confidential information obtained from any person, concerning the failure of any other person to keep any place of employment safe, or concerning the violation of any order, rule, or regulation issued by the commission. Any member of the commission or any officer or employee of the commission divulging such confidential information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 53 (as amended 1919, ch. 471). Reports of injuries.—(a) Every employer of labor, without any exceptions, and every insurance carrier, and every physician or surgeon who attends any injured employee, is hereby required to file with the commission, under such rules and regulations as the commission may from time to time make, a full and complete report of every injury to an employee arising out of or in the course of his employment and resulting in loss of life or injury to such person: Provided, That such report shall not be required unless disability resulting from such injury lasts through the day of the injury or requires medical service other than ordinary first-aid treatment. Where the injury results in death a report shall be made by the employer to the commission by telephone or telegraph forthwith. Such reports shall be furnished to the commission in such form and such detail as the commission shall from time to time prescribe, and shall make specific answers to all questions required by the commission under its rules and regulations. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, agent, or officer of a firm or corporation, to fail or refuse to comply with any of the provisions of this section, and any such person, firm, corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation, who fails or refuses to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each and every offense and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars. Any such employer or insurance carrier who shall furnish such report shall be exempt from furnishing any similar report or reports authorized or required under the laws of this State.

(b) Every employer or insurance carrier receiving from the commission any blanks with directions to fill out the same shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly each question propounded therein; in case he is unable to answer any such questions a good and sufficient reason shall be given for such failure.

(c) No information furnished to the commission by an employer or an insurance carrier shall be open to public inspection or made public except on order of the commission, or by a commissioner or referee in the course of a proceeding. Any officer or employee of the commission who, in violation of the provisions of this subsection, divulges any such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54 (as amended 1919, ch. 471). Investigation.—(a) The commission shall investigate the cause of all industrial injuries occurring within the State in any employment or place of employment, or directly or indirectly arising from or connected with the maintenance or operation of such employment or place of employment, resulting in disability or death and requiring, in the judgment of the commission, such investigation; and the commission shall have the power to make such orders or recommendations with respect to such injuries as may be just and reasonable; Provided, That neither the order nor the recommendation of the commission shall be admitted as evidence in any action for damages or any proceeding to recover compensation, based on or arising out of such injury or death.

(b) For the purpose of making any investigation which the commission is authorized to make under the provisions of this section, or for the purpose of collecting statistics or examining the provision made for the safety of employees, any member of the commission, or other person designated by the commission for that purpose, may enter any place of employment; and in the performance of such duties shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and take testimony.

(c) Any employer, insurance carrier, responsible agent or employee of such employer or insurance carrier, or any other person who shall violate or omit to comply with any of the provisions of this section, or who shall in any way obstruct or hamper the commission, any commissioner or other person conducting any investigation authorized to be undertaken or made by the commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 747.—Employment of labor—Service letters

SECTION 1. Letter to be furnished.—Every public utility corporation shall, upon request therefor made to it by any employee thereof leaving its service, give to such employee a letter covering and stating the period during which such service was and kind of service rendered to such corporation by such employee.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Every public utility corporation violating the provisions of this act shall, for each offense, suffer a fine of not less than $25, nor more than $100; which fine shall be collected by the district attorney of the county in which such corporation has its principal place of business.

CHAPTER 202.—Times of payment of wages

SECTION 1. Termination of employment.—Whenever an employer discharges an employee, the wages or compensation for labor or service earned and unpaid at the time of such discharge shall become due and payable immediately. Whenever an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits or resigns his employment, the wages or compensation shall become due and payable not later than seventy-two hours thereafter, unless such employee shall have given seventy-two hours' previous notice of his intention to quit, in which latter case such employee shall be entitled to his wages or compensation at the time of quitting.

SEC. 2. Semimonthly pay day.—All wages or compensation other than those mentioned in section one of this act earned by any person in any employment not exempt by section eleven of this act, shall become due and payable semimonthly or twice during each calendar month, on days to be designated in advance by the employer as the regular pay days: Provided, however, That services rendered between the first and fifteenth days, inclusive, of any calendar month shall be paid for between the sixteenth and the twenty-sixth day of the month during which services were rendered, and for all services rendered between the sixteenth and the last day, inclusive, of any calendar month, said services shall be paid for between the first and tenth day of the following month: Provided, however, That in agricultural, viticultural, and horticultural pursuits, in stock or poultry raising, and in household domestic service, and when the employees in the said employments are boarded and lodged by the employer, the wages or compensation due any employee remaining in such employment shall become due and payable monthly or once each calendar month, on a day designated in advance by the employer as the regular pay day, but no two successive such pay days to be more than thirty-one days apart, and the payment or settlement shall include all amounts due for labor or service up to the regular pay day.

SEC. 3. Scope of act.—The wages or compensation subject to the provisions of this act shall include all amounts for labor or service performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, or other method of calculating the same, or whether the labor or service is performed under contract, subcontract, partnership, subpartnership, station plan, or other agreement for the performance of labor or service: Provided, That the labor or service to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment. Nothing contained in this act shall in any way limit or prohibit the payment of wages or compensation at more frequent intervals, or in greater amounts or in full when or before due.

SEC. 4. Act to be posted.—Every employer shall post and keep posted conspicuously at the place of work, if practicable, or otherwise where it can be seen as employees come or go to their place of work, or at the office or nearest agency for payment kept by the employer, a notice specifying the regular pay days and the time and place of payment, also any changes in those regards occurring from time to time. Every employee who is discharged shall be paid at the place of discharge, and every employee who quits or resigns shall be paid at the office or agency of the employer in the county or city and county where such employee has been performing the labor or service for the employer. All payments of money or compensation shall be made in the manner provided by law. In the happening of any strike, the unpaid wages or compensation earned by such striking employees shall become due and payable on the employer's next regular pay day, and the payment or settlement shall include all amounts due such striking employees without abatement or reduction, and the employer shall return to each such striking employee any deposit or money or other guaranty required by him from such employee for the faithful performance of the duties of the employment. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be punishable as for a misdemeanor, and any failure to post any notice as in this section prescribed shall be deemed prima facie evidence of a violation of this act.

SEC. 5. Wages accrue, when.—In the event that an employer shall willfully fail to pay, without abatement or reduction, any wages or compensation of any employee who is discharged or who resigns or quits, as in section one of this act provided, then as a penalty for such nonpayment the wages or compensation of such employees shall continue from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid, or until an action therefor shall be commenced: Provided, That in no case shall such wages continue for more than thirty days: And provided further, That no such employee who secrets or absents himself to avoid payment to him, or who refuses to receive the payment when fully tendered to him, including any penalty then accrued under the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to any benefit under this act for such time as he so avoids payment.

SEC. 6. Violations.—Any person, firm, association, or corporation, or agent, manager, superintendent, or officer thereof, who, having the ability to pay, shall willfully refuse to pay the wages due and payable when demanded, as herein provided, or falsely deny the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due, with intent to secure for himself, his employer, or other person, any discount upon such indebtedness, or with intent to annoy, harass, or oppress, or hinder, or delay, or defraud the person to whom such indebtedness is due, shall, in addition to any other penalty imposed upon him by this act, be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics to inquire diligently for any violations of this act and to institute actions for penalties herein provided, and to enforce generally the provisions of this act.

SEC. 8. Prosecutions.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the authority of the district attorney of any county or city and county to prosecute actions, both civil and criminal, for such violations of this act as may come to his knowledge, or to enforce the provisions hereof independently and without specific direction of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 10. Public employees.—Nothing in this act shall apply to the payment of wages or compensation of employees directly employed by any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation. Nor shall anything herein apply to employees directly employed by the State, any department, bureau, office, board, commission, or institution thereof. All other employments shall for the purposes of this act be deemed private employments and subject to the provisions hereof.

CHAPTER 259.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Age.—[Employment under 16 is forbidden in mercantile, manufacturing and mechanical establishments, workshops, offices, laundries, places of amusement, restaurants, hotels, apartment houses, in messenger or delivery service, or in any other work at any time except as provided herein or in No. 3574, General Laws, or in ch. 506, Acts of 1919. Work for a manufacturing establishment includes work done indirectly or through contractors.]

SEC. 2. Work time.—[Except as provided in sections 3, 3½, and 5, 8 hours per day and 48 per week is the limit for children under 18; nor may they work between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 3. Messenger, etc., service.—[Girls under 18 and boys under 16 may not be employed in messenger or delivery service in towns of over 15,000 population; nor may a boy under 18 be so employed between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 3½. Street trades.—[No boy under 10 or girl under 18 may be employed in any street trade or occupation in cities of 23,000 population or over.]

SEC. 4. Dangerous occupations.—[Minors under 16 may not be employed in specified dangerous occupations. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code. The list may be extended by the bureau of labor statistics, on determination, after hearing.]

SEC. 5. Exemptions.—[This act does not limit the hours of labor of children in agricultural or domestic labor, nor forbid their employment in such labor during vacation or outside school hours. The curing and drying of fruit are exempt, but not the canning. Theatrical employments of children 15 to 18 years of age are permitted, to 12 o'clock midnight, if the written consent of the commissioner of labor is first obtained.]

SEC. 6. Registers.—[Registers must be kept of all minors employed under the age of 18, and a schedule of their work time posted in the rooms where employed, all to be open to official inspection. Permits to work must be returned to the issuing authority within 5 days after the minor quits employment. Semiannual reports of permits issued must be made to the bureau of labor and board of education.]

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Fines, $50 to $200, or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both, are penalties prescribed for violations.]

SEC. 8. Enforcement.—[The bureau of labor statistics is charged with the enforcement of this act. Attendance and probation officers may also enter places of employment in its enforcement.]

CHAPTER 421.—Employment agencies—Trade schools

SECTIONS 1, 2. Classed as agencies.—[Persons, corporations, etc., conducting trade schools or classes and placing their students in employment for wages, and receiving pay for such placement services, are subject to the laws and regulations governing private employment agencies; but this does not apply to public or parochial schools or charitable institutions, or to private schools teaching business subjects.]

CHAPTER 34.—Stock for employees, etc., of corporations

SECTION 5. Authorization.—[The stockholders of any corporation may provide for the issue of stock, under restrictions determined by them, as additional compensation or for sale to employees and persons actively engaged in the conduct of the business. This may be an original or an increased issue, may be paid for as determined, and may entitle to vote or not. The act does not interfere with any issue or sale of stock to employees or others.]

CHAPTER 115.—Seats for employees in elevators

SECTION 1. Seats required.—All elevators used for the carriage of passengers shall be provided with a suitable seat for the operator in charge of the same. Failure to comply with this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense.

CHAPTER 244.—Sanitation of foundries, etc.

SECTION 1. Who to act; provisions.—The owner, employer, or manager of every foundry or metal shop engaged in the casting, fabricating, or working over in any manner, of iron, brass, steel, or other metal or compound, and where five or more men are employed, shall establish and maintain, for the use of the employees, washbowls, sinks, or other appliances, connected with running water, and also a water-closet connected with running water. The room where the washbowls are installed, and the water-closet shall be kept properly ventilated and protected, so far as may be reasonably practicable, from the dust and fumes of the foundry or metal shop.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Whoever fails to comply with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

CHAPTER 245.—Collection of wages—Public defender

SECTION 1. Office created.—[The board of supervisors approving, a public defender may be elected, who must have at least one year's experience in all the courts of the State.]

SEC. 5. Duties.— * * * He shall also, upon request, prosecute actions for the collection of wages and of other demands of persons who are not financially able to employ counsel, in cases in which the sum involved does not exceed one hundred dollars, and in which, in the judgment of the public defender, the claims urged are valid and enforceable in the courts.

CHAPTER 246.—Unemployment—Extension of public works

SECTION 1. Board of control.—It shall be the duty of the board of control to ascertain and secure from the various departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions of this State tentative plans for such extension of the public works of the State as shall be best adapted to supply increased opportunities for advantageous public labor during periods of temporary unemployment; together with estimates of the amount, character, and duration of said employment, the number of employees who could be profitably used therein, together with rates of wages and such other information as the board of control shall deem necessary.

SEC. 2. Cooperating agencies.—It shall be the duty of the bureau of labor statistics in cooperation with the immigration and housing commission and the industrial welfare commission, to keep constantly advised of industrial conditions throughout the State as affecting the employment of labor; and whenever it shall be represented to the said bureau by the Governor of the State, or the said bureau shall otherwise have reasons to believe, that a period of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression exists in the State, it shall be the duty of the said bureau to immediately hold an inquiry into the facts relating thereto and to find and report to the governor of the State of California whether, in fact, such condition does exist.

SEC. 3. Board to act, when.—In the event that the bureau of labor statistics shall report to the governor that a condition of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression does in fact exist within this State, the said board of control is hereby authorized to make such disposition and distribution of the available emergency fund among the said several departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions of the State, for such extension of the public works of the State under the charge or direction thereof, including the purchase of materials and supplies necessary therefor, as shall, in the judgment and discretion of the said board of control be best adapted to advance the public interest by providing the maximum of public employment, in relief of the existing conditions of extraordinary unemployment consistent with the most useful, permanent, and economic extension of the works aforesaid.

SEC. 4. Who to be employed.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, immediately upon the publication, under this act, of a finding that a period of extraordinary unemployment due to industrial depression exists throughout the State, to cause to be prepared by the appropriate departments of his bureau approved lists of applicants for public employment and to secure from such applicants, or otherwise, full information as to their industrial qualifications and to submit the same to the board of control for transmission to such departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions as shall avail themselves of the provisions of this act: Provided, however, That preference for employment under this act shall be extended first to citizens of California; second to citizens of other States within the United States who are within the State of California at the time of making their application; and last to aliens who are within the State at the time of making application.

CHAPTER 396.—Railroads—Provisions for accidents—First aid

SECTION 1. Package.—Every steam railroad company, or the receiver or receivers of any steam railroad, operating trains, in whole or in part, within the State of California, shall provide a package containing the articles hereinafter stated, on each steam train or light steam engine, for first aid to persons who may be injured in the course of the operation of such train or trains.

SEC. 2. Contents.—Every such package shall include the following and such other articles and equipment as may in the judgment and discretion of the management of the steam railroad or the medical department thereof be useful for the intended purpose:

A standard package to contain two (2) pieces of sterile gauze, one (1) ribbon bandage, one (1) triangular cambric picture bandage in aseptic container, six (6) of these packages to make up one (1) first-aid kit which shall contain written instructions for the use of such contents.

SEC. 3. Report of use.—The employee of the steam railroad in charge of the steam train or steam engine shall report to the office designated by the company whenever any such kit has been opened for use.

SEC. 4. Violations.—Any steam railroad company, or the receiver or receivers, or employee of a steam railroad company, who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this act shall be liable to a penalty of not less than five nor more than twenty-five dollars, and each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense: Provided, however, That the steam railroad company, or receiver or receivers, shall be allowed not to exceed three days without penalty to replace any package or packages after the use of same has been reported by the employees in charge of said steam train or steam engine.

CHAPTER 897.—Sanitary provisions for employees in moving-picture theaters

SECTIONS 1, 2. Toilets, etc.—[This act requires toilet facilities, with running water if available, otherwise a dry closet, for the convenience of operators in theaters and moving-picture houses.]

CHAPTER 903.—Employment of women—Moving boxes, etc.

SECTION 1. Pulleys, etc., when.—Boxes, baskets, or other receptacles which with their contents weigh seventy-five pounds or over and which are to be moved by female employees in any mill, workshop, packing, canning, or mercantile establishment shall be equipped with pulleys, casters, or other contrivances connected with or upon which such boxes or other receptacles are placed so that they can be moved easily from place to place in such establishments.

SEC. 2. Limit of weight.—No female employee shall be requested or permitted to lift any box, basket, bundle, or other receptacle or container which with its contents weighs seventy-five pounds or over. Whoever violates the provision of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for every day during which there shall be a failure to equip or provide such boxes, baskets, or other receptacle with some one of the appliances specified in section one of this act.

COLORADO

ARTICLE 5.—Hours of labor in mines, smelters, etc.

SECTION 25a. Limit of eight hours per day.—The general assembly shall provide by law, and shall prescribe suitable penalties for the violation thereof, for a period of employment not to exceed eight (8) hours within any twenty-four (24) hours (except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger), for persons employed in underground mines or other underground workings, blast furnaces, smelters; and any ore reduction works or other branch of industry or labor that the general assembly may consider injurious or dangerous to health, life, or limb.

ARTIELE 15.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees—Waivers

SECTION 15. Contracts waiving right to damages.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company or corporation to require of its servants or employees, as a condition of their employment or otherwise, any contract or agreement, whereby such person, company or corporation shall be released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries received by such servants or employees while in the service of such person, company or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company or corporation, or the agents or employees thereof, and such contracts shall be absolutely null and void.

ARTICLE 16.—Mine regulations

SECTION 2. Provisions prescribed.—The general assembly shall provide by law for the proper ventilation of mines, the construction of escapement shafts, and such other appliances as may be necessary to protect the health and secure the safety of the workmen therein; and shall prohibit the employment in the mines of children under twelve years of age.

COMPILED LAWS—1921

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 2843. Platforms to be inclosed.—It shall be unlawful for any person, partnership or corporation owning or operating any street railway or the cars thereupon, in this State, or for any officer or agent thereof superintending or having charge or control of the line of railway or the cars thereupon, whether the motive power of such car is electricity, steam, by cable or otherwise, which require the constant service, or care or attention of any person or persons on any part of such car, except the rear platform, to require or permit such service, attention or care of any of its employees, or any other person or persons, unless such person, partnership or corporation, or superintending officer and managing agents thereof, first provide the said car with a proper and sufficient inclosure constructed of wood, iron, and glass, or similar suitable materials sufficient to protect such employee or other person from exposure to the rain, snow, cold, or other inclemencies of the weather.

SEC. 2844. Act construed.—Where there is a trailing car or cars being drawn by a head car upon which the propelling or drawing power is situated and used and where no person is required to remain constantly at one point either for the purpose of keeping the lookout or for the purpose of operating any apparatus or machinery upon such trailing car or cars; this act shall not be construed to apply to any car except the head one; nor shall it be construed to mean that the inclosure for the motorman or for the employee managing or operating any apparatus or machinery of a car at any point shall have his view obstructed, but the said inclosure or vestibuling shall be constructed in a manner so as to permit a front and side view from the position which it is necessary for the person to occupy while he is in the performance of his duties.

SEC. 2845. Penalty.—For each day that any car is permitted to be operated contrary to the provisions of this act, it shall be deemed to be a separate offense, and any person, partnership or corporation, or the superintending officers or managing agents thereof, operating any such line of street railway or the cars thereupon, who shall violate any of the provisions thereof, upon being convicted, in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than fifty ($50) dollars, nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed thirty (30) days for each and every offense.

Railroads—Reports, etc., of accidents

SECTION 2969. Accidents to persons.—[All accidents causing bodily injury or loss of life on any railroad in the State, or on its ground or yards, must be immediately reported to the public utilities commission. An investigation may be made, at the option of the commission, on notice to the company; and the commission may make and enforce such rules as will, in its judgment, tend to prevent accidents in the operation of the road.]

Mine regulations—Metal mines

SECTIONS 3382–3396, 3397 (as amended 1923, ch. 145). Bureau of mines; inspectors.—[A bureau of mines is created, with a qualified commissioner appointed by the governor, for a term of four years, at a salary of $3,000 per annum, with $1,600 for traveling expenses. The commissioner shall, with the consent of the governor, appoint an inspector for each of the four inspection districts into which the State is by law divided, the inspectors to receive $2,500 per annum, with $1,800 for travel. Officers are maintained at the capital and in each district. Conditions of efficiency and safety and the adoption of proper methods of workings, systems of signals, etc., are within the scope of the inspector's duties; deputy inspectors may also be appointed.

Access to mines and plants must be allowed the commissioner and the inspectors, and an annual report, setting forth the work of the bureau, with statistical information, is directed.

Defective conditions in mines must be remedied, as ordered, and injunctions will lie to prevent operation until orders are complied with.]

SECS. 3401–3432. Safety regulations.—[A code of regulations for mines other than coal contains provision as to the storage of oil, hoisting, blasting, signals, fire protection, shafts, gates, etc.]

Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTIONS 3439–3475. Inspectors.—[A chief inspector of coal mines and six deputies are provided for, whose qualifications are to be determined by a board of examiners comprising two miners, a mine owner or official, a mining engineer, and the chief inspector. Persons passing the examination are eligible to appointment as chief or deputy inspectors at any time within five years. Tests of experience and theoretical and practical knowledge are required. The salary of the chief inspector is $4,400, and of deputies $2,500 per annum, the latter advancing $100 per year until $3,000 is reached; traveling expenses are allowed both.

Inspectors are not to be interested in mines, and may be removed for cause, after hearing.]

SECS. 3476–3479. Mine foremen, etc.—[The board of examiners shall also conduct examinations for mine examiners, mine foremen, assistant mine foremen, and fire bosses, and issue certificates to those who qualify. Shot firers are examined by the chief inspector or a deputy. Certificates must be posted, and may be revoked for failure or unfitness of the holder to perform his duties.]

SECS. 3480, 3481. Inspections.—[Mines must be inspected every 90 days, and dangerous conditions remedied, or the mines may be ordered closed. Appeals lie to the district court.]

SECS. 3482–3613. Provisions for safety.—[Regulations as to the duties of mine foremen, ventilation, outlets, timbering, travel-ways, shelter holes, blasting, safety lamps, signals, fire bosses, hoisting, rescue crews, first aid, maps, oils, electric installations, telephones, etc., are prescribed.

No male under 16 years of age, and no female, may be employed in or about coal mines or coke ovens except in a clerical capacity in an office.

Where coal is mined by weight, suitable scales, etc., must be provided, and the miners may, if a majority desire, employ a checkweighman, to be paid by them.

All fatal accidents are to be reported to the chief inspector and to the coroner of the county, who must hold an inquest thereon. Employers must make monthly reports of employees, time worked, output, ventilation, accidents, etc.; also annual reports.]

Antitrust law—Labor organizations exempt

SECTION 4036. Labor not a commodity.— * * * Labor, whether skilled or unskilled, is not a commodity within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 4150. Workingmen may combine.—It shall not be unlawful for any two or more persons to unite, or combine, or agree in any manner, to advise or encourage, by peaceable means, any person or persons to enter into any combination in relation to entering into or remaining in the employment of any person, persons or corporation, or in relation to the amount of wages or compensation to be paid for labor, or for the purpose of regulating the hours of labor, or for the procuring of fair and just treatment from employees [employers], or for the purpose of aiding and protecting their welfare and interests in any other manner not in violation of the constitution of this State or the laws made in pursuance thereof; Provided, That this act shall not be so construed as to permit two or more persons, by threats of either bodily or financial injury, or by any display of force, to prevent or intimidate any other person from continuing in such employment as he may see fit, or to boycott or intimidate any employer of labor.

Employment of labor—Notice of labor disputes

SECTION 4156. False representations.—It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, company, corporation, society, association or organization of any kind doing business in this State, by himself, themselves, his, its or their agents or attorneys, to induce, influence, persuade or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this State, or to bring workmen of any class or calling into this State to work in any of the departments of labor in this State, through or by means of false or deceptive representations, false advertising or false pretenses concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amonnt and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of the employment, or as to the existence or nonexistence of a strike or lockout pending between employer and employees, or failure to state in any advertisement, proposal, or contract for the employment that there is a strike, lockout, or other labor troubles at the place of the proposed employment, when in fact such strike, lockout or other labor troubles then actually exist at such place, shall be deemed as false advertisement and misrepresentation for the purposes of this act.

SEC. 4157. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine not exceeding $2,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both.]

SEC. 4158. Hiring armed guards.—Any person or persons who shall hire, aid, abet or assist in hiring, through agencies or otherwise, persons to guard with arms or deadly weapons of any kind other persons or property in this State, or any person or persons who shall come into this State armed with deadly weapons of any kind for any such purpose, without a permit in writing from the governor of this State, shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to interfere with the right of any person, persons, or company, corporation, society, association, or organization in guarding or protecting their private property or private interests, as is now provided by law; but this act shall be construed only to apply in cases where workmen are brought into this State, or induced to go from one place to another in this State, by any false pretenses, false advertising, or deceptive representations, or brought into this State under arms, or removed from one place to another in this State, under arms.

SEC. 4159. Right to damages.—Any workman of this State, or any workman of another State who has or shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded, to engage with any persons mentioned in section 1 of this act, through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, each of such workmen shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that each such workman has sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representations, false advertising and false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment, against any person or persons, corporations, companies, or associations, directly or indirectly, causing such damages; and, in addition to all actual damages such workmen may have sustained, they shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney's fees as the court shall fix, to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

Boycotting, blacklisting, etc.

SECTION 4162. Picketing unlawful.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to loiter about or patrol the streets, alleys, roads, highways, trails, or place of business of any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any lawful business, for the purpose of influencing or inducing others not to trade with, buy from, sell to, work for, or have business dealings with such person, firm, or corporation, or to ticket [picket] the works, mine, building, or other place of business, or occupation of such other person, persons, firm, or corporation, for the purpose of obstructing or interfering with or injuring any lawful business, work, or enterprise: Provided, That nothing herein shall prevent any person from soliciting trade, custom, or business for a competitive business.

SEC. 4163. Boycotting.—It shall be unlawful to print or circulate any notice of boycott, boycott card, sticker, banner, sign, or dodger, publishing or declaring that a boycott or ban exists, or has existed or is contemplated against any person, persons, firm, or corporation doing a lawful business, or publish the name of any judicial officer or other public officer upon any notice of boycott, boycott card, sticker, banner, sign, or other similar list, because of any lawful act or decision of such official.

SEC. 4164. Intimidation.—It shall be unlawful to use force, threats, or other means of intimidation to prevent any person from engaging in any lawful occupation at any place he or she sees fit.

SEC. 4165. Blacklisting.—It shall be unlawful for any employer to maintain a black list, or to notify any other employer that any workman has been blacklisted by such employer, for the purpose of preventing such workman from receiving employment: Provided, however, That nothing herein shall prevent a former employer of any workman or any former employee from imparting a fair and unbiased opinion of a workman's or employee's qualifications when solicited so to do by a later or prospective employer of such workman, or employee; nor shall anything in this act be construed to prevent any merchant or professional man, or any association of the same, from maintaining or publishing a list concerning the credit or financial responsibility of any person or persons dealing with him or them on credit.

SEC. 4166. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $250, or by imprisonment not exceeding 60 days, or both.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 4167. Acts of fellow servants.—Every corporation or company which or individual who may employ agents, servants or employees, such agents, servants or employees being in the exercise of due care, shall be liable to respond in damages for injuries or death sustained by any such agent, servant or employee resulting from the carelessness, omission of duty or negligence of such employer, or which may have resulted from the carelessness, omission of duty or negligence of any other agent, servant or employee of the said employer, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the carelessness, omission of duty or negligence causing the injury or death was that of the employer.

SEC. 4168. Injuries causing death.—Whenever the death of a person shall be caused by an act of carelessness, omission of duty or negligence as provided in the preceding section, then, and in every such case, the corporation or company which, or individual who, would have been liable, if death had not ensued, shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the party injured, and in every such case the jury may give such damages as they deem fair and just, not exceeding the sum of five thousand dollars, with reference to the necessary injury resulting from such death, to the party or parties who may be entitled to sue hereunder.

SEC. 4169. Who may sue.—Every such action shall in case of death be maintained:

First—By the husband or wife of the deceased; or

Second—If there be no husband or wife, or if he or she fails to sue within one year after such death, then by the children of the deceased or their descendants, or

Third—If such deceased be a minor or unmarried, without issue, then by the father or mother, or by both jointly; or Fourth—If there be no such person entitled to sue, then by such other next of kin of the deceased as may be dependent upon deceased for support.

Every such action, in case of death, may be maintained by any such person entitled to sue, for the use and benefit of the other or others so entitled to sue, as well as for the plaintiff so suing, and the verdict of the jury and the judgment of the court shall, in such case, specify the amount of damages awarded to each such person, and if any such actions be separately brought, the same be consolidated with the action so first commenced in the court that shall have jurisdiction of said actions, when so consolidated.

SEC. 4170. Limitations.—All actions provided for by this act shall be brought within two years from the time of the accident causing the injury, if death does not ensue, or within two years from the time of death, in case of injury resulting in death. The amount of compensation recoverable under this act in case of personal injury resulting solely from the negligence of a coemployee shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars.

SEC. 4171. Negligence of employer.—Whenever any agent, servant, or employee while in the performance of his duty for his employer, shall be injured or killed in the employer's service on account of the employer's negligence, or on account of any defect or peril connected with ways, works, machinery or instrumentalities used in the business of the employer, which could have been remedied or made more safe by the use of ordinary diligence, a recovery for such injury or death may be had, and the fact that such employee had knowledge of the defect or peril, shall not be a bar to a recovery, unless the repairing or remedying of such defect or peril was his principal duty. All stipulations, contracts or agreements between an employee and his employer or between other persons, contrary to the provisions hereof shall be null and void.

Hours of labor in mines, smelters, etc.—Eight-hour day

SECTION 4172. Injurious employments.—Employment in all underground mines, underground workings, open cut workings, open pit workings, smelters, reduction works, stamp mills, concentrating mills, chlorination processes, cyanide processes and coke ovens, is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

SEC. 4173. Limit of eight hours per day.—The period of employment of men working in all underground mines, underground workings, open cut workings, open pit workings, smelters, reduction works, stamp mills, concentrating mills, chlorination processes, cyanide processes and coke ovens shall not exceed eight (8) hours within any twenty-four (24) hours except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 4174. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $250 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than 90 days nor more than 6 months, or by both; each day's continued violation constituting a separate offense.]

Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 4175. Limit of eight hours per day.—In all work hereafter undertaken in behalf of the State or any county, township, school district, municipality or incorporated town, it shall be unlawful for any board, officer, agent or any contractor or subcontractor thereof to employ any mechanic, workingman or laborer in the prosecution of any such work for more than eight hours a day.

SEC. 4176. Emergency cases.—Nothing in section one of this act shall be construed so as to prevent work in excess of eight hours a day in emergency cases: Provided, That hours in excess of eight a day shall be treated as constituting part of a subsequent day's work: And provided, That in no one week of seven days shall there be permitted more than forty-eight hours of labor. Any violation hereof shall be unlawful.

SEC. 4177. Violation.—[Failure to comply with sections one and two is punishable by fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or imprisonment not exceeding 100 days, or both.]

Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 4183. Injurious employment.—Employment of females in any and all manufacturing, mechanical and mercantile establishments, laundries, hotels, and restaurants, is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

SEC. 4184. Limit of 8 hours per day.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant in this State more than eight (8) hours during any twenty-four (24) hours of any one calendar day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time: Provided, That any such female shall not work more than eight (8) hours during the twenty-four (24) hours of any one calendar day.

SEC. 4185. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 or imprisonment not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months, or both. Each day's violation constitutes a separate offense.]

Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 4186. Unsafe scaffolding, etc.—A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection, repairing, altering, or painting of a house, building, or structure shall not furnish or erect for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders, or other mechanical contrivances which are unsafe, unsuitable, or improper, and which are not so constructed, placed, and operated as to give proper protection to life and limb of a person so employed or engaged.

Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended, from an overhead support, more than twenty feet from the ground or floor, shall have a safety rail of wood, properly bolted, secured, and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portions of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and the ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 4187. Inspection by building inspector.—Whenever complaint is made to the building inspector of any town or city wherein work is being done as aforesaid, that the scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding used in the construction, alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning or pointing of buildings within the limits of such city are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, said building inspector shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or other parts connected therewith. If, after examination, such scaffolding or any of such parts is found to be dangerous to life or limb, said building inspector shall prohibit the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. The building inspector making the examination shall attach a certificate to the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, irons, ropes or other parts thereof, examined by him, stating that he has made such examination, and that he has found it safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If he declares it unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact, and warn him against the use thereof. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible for its erection, or by affixing it conspicuously to the scaffolding, or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed the person responsible therefor shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof or alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the officer who has examined it. The building inspector, whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof, as required by this section, shall have free access, at all reasonable hours, to any building or premises containing them or where they may be in use. All swinging or station[ary] scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon, when in use, and not more than four men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at one time.

SEC. 4188. Flooring to be laid during construction.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings in cities, where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling in between the floors are of fireproof material or brick work, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to not less than within three tiers of beams below that on which the iron work is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such buildings do not require filling in between the beams of floors with brick or fireproof material, all contractors for carpenter work in the course of construction, shall lay the underflooring thereof on each story as the bulding progresses, to not less than within two stories below the one to which such building has been erected. Where double floors are not to be used, such contractor shall keep planked over the floor not less than two stories below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractor for the iron or steel work of building in course of construction, or the owners of such building, shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work, and for the raising or lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such building, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts. If elevators, elevating machines or hod-hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be inclosed or fenced in on all sides by a barrier at least eight feet in height, except on two sides, which may be used for taking off and putting on materials, and those sides shall be guarded by an adjustable barrier not less than three nor more than four feet from the floor and not less than two feet from the edge of such shaft or opening. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more in height, no lumber or timber needed for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted on the outside of such building.

SEC. 4189. Duties of building inspector.—The said building inspector shall enforce all the provisions of this article. He shall investigate complaints made to him of violations of such provisions, and if he finds that such complaints are well founded, he shall issue an order directed to the person or corporation complained of, requiring such person or corporation to comply with such provisions. If such order is disregarded, the said building inspector shall present to the district attorney of the proper county all the facts ascertained by him in regard to the alleged violation, and all other papers, documents or evidence pertaining thereto, which he may have in his possession. The district attorney to whom such presentation is made, shall proceed at once to prosecute the person or corporation for the violations complained of.

SEC. 4190. Penalty.—Any person, corporation, company or association violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be fined in the sum of not less than fifty ($50) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars for each and every offense.

Employment of labor—Age not ground for discharge

SECTION 4191. Discharge for age prohibited.—No person, persons, firm, association or corporation, carrying on or conducting, within this State, any business requiring the employment of labor, shall discharge any individual between the ages of eighteen and sixty years, solely and only upon the ground of age: Provided, however, That such individual is well versed in the line of business carried on by such person, persons, firm, association or corporation, and is qualified physically, mentally and by training and experience, to satisfactorily perform, and does satisfactorily perform the labor assigned to him, or for which he applies.

SEC. 4192. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $250 for each offense.]

Seats for female employees

SECTION 4193. Seats to be provided.—Every person, corporation or company employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishments in this State, shall provide suitable seats for the use of the females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed.

SEC. 4194. Penalty.—Any person, corporation or company violating any of the provisions of this act, shall be punished by fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than thirty dollars for each offense.

Bureau of labor statistics

SECTION 4195. Bureau established.—There is hereby established a separate and distinct bureau to be known as the bureau of labor statistics of the State of Colorado, which bureau shall be charged with the collection of statistics pertaining to the internal resources of the State, labor and agriculture. The secretary of state shall be designated the ex officio commissioner of said bureau. He shall appoint a deputy * * *, who shall hold his office for the term of two years. He shall be an elector of this State well versed in the collection of statistics and matters relating thereto. The deputy labor commissioner shall, within twenty days after receiving his commission, and before entering upon the duties of his office, give bonds to the State of Colorado in the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars to be approved by the attorney general. Said deputy labor commissioner shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred ($2,500) dollars, payable as other State officers. The said deputy labor commissioner shall, upon entering upon his duties, recommend and the secretary of state appoint one statistician who shall hold his office for the term of two years and who shall be an elector of the State; he shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars payable as other State officers. Said deputy labor commissioner shall, upon entering upon the duties of his office, recommend and the secretary of state appoint one stenographer who shall receive an annual salary of twelve hundred ($1,200) dollars, payable as other State officers.

SEC. 4196. Duties.—The duties of the commissioner shall be to collect, systematize, and present in biennial reports to the legislature, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State, such as the hours and wages of labor, cost of living, amount of labor required, estimated number of persons depending on daily labor for their support, the estimated number of persons employed by the several industries within the State, the operation of labor-saving machinery in its relation to hand labor, etc. Said statistics may be classified as follows:

First—In agriculture.

Second—In mining.

Third—In mechanical and manufacturing industries.

Fourth—In transportation.

Fifth—In clerical and other skilled and unskilled labor not above mentioned.

Sixth—The amount of cash capital invested in lands, in buildings and machinery, severally, and means of production and distribution generally.

Seventh—The number, age, sex, and condition of persons employed; the nature of their employment; the extent to which the apprenticeship system prevails in the various skilled industries; the numbers of hours of labor per day; the average length of time employed per annum, and the net wages received in each of the industries and employments within the State.

Eighth—The number and condition of the unemployed, their age, sex and nationality, together with the cause of their idleness.

Ninth—The sanitary condition of lands, workshops, dwellings; the number and size of rooms occupied by the workers, etc.; the cost of fuel, rent, food, clothing and water in each locality of the State; also the extent to which labor-saving processes are employed to the displacement of hand labor.

Tenth—The number and condition of the Chinese in the State; their social and sanitary habits; number of married and single; the number employed and the nature of their employment; the average wages per day at each employment, and the gross amount yearly; the amount expended by them in rent, food and clothing, and in what proportion such amounts are expended for foreign and home productions respectively; to what extent their labor comes in competition with the other industrial classes of the State.

Eleventh—The number, condition, and nature of the employment of the inmates of the State prison, county jails and reformatory institutions, and to what extent their employment comes in competition with the labor of mechanics, artisans, and laborers outside of these institutions.

Twelfth—All such other information in relation to labor as the commissioner may deem essential to further the objects sought to be attained by this statute.

Thirteen—A description of the different kinds of labor organizations in existence in the State, and what they accomplish in favor of the class for which they were organized.

SEC. 4197. Duties of officers and employers.—It shall be the duty of all State, county, and precinct officers, every owner, operator, or manager of every factory, workshop, mill, mine, or mercantile establishment doing business in the State of Colorado where labor is employed to make to the bureau upon blanks furnished by said bureau such reports and returns as the commissioner or his deputies may require for the purpose of compiling all statistics as are authorized by the law creating the department of the bureau of labor statistics, and the owner or business manager shall make such reports and returns within the time prescribed therefor by the deputy commissioner of labor, and shall certify to the correctness of the same. In the report of said bureau no use shall be made of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this section, such information being deemed confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs. Any refusal on the part of any State, county, precinct, municipal officers, or the owners, operators, or managers of any factory, workshop, mill, mine, or mercantile establishment to make returns to the deputy commissioner of labor or his deputy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ($50) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or by imprisonment not less than ten days nor more than thirty days in the county jail, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4198. Hindering commissioner.—Any person who willfully impedes or obstructs the commissioner in the full and free performance of his duties, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten ($10) nor more than fifty ($50) dollars, or imprisonment not less than seven (7) nor more than thirty (30) days in the county jail, or both.

SEC. 4199. Office hours.—The office of the bureau shall be open for business from nine o'clock a. m. until five o'clock p. m. every day, except nonjudicial days, and the officers thereof shall give to all persons requesting it, all needed information which they may possess.

SEC. 4200. Powers of deputy commissioner.—The deputy commissioner shall have power to send for persons whenever in his opinion it is necessary and he may examine witnesses under oath, being hereby authorized to administer the same in the performance of his duty, and the testimony so taken must be filed and preserved in the office of said deputy commissioner.

It shall also be the duty of the deputy labor commissioner to cause to be enforced all laws regulating the employment of children, minors, and women; all laws established for the protection of the health, lives and limbs of all operators in factories, mills, mines, workshops, offices, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, railroads, or any public or private works where labor is employed or machinery used; and all laws enacted for the protection of wage-workers.

SEC. 4201. Office.—The secretary of state shall provide a suitable office for said commissioner properly furnished.

SEC. 4203. Quarterly bulletins.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of Colorado, is hereby authorized by the provisions of this act to compile and issue every three months in each calendar year a four page bulletin containing statistics pertaining to labor or industries of the State, so that the public may have the benefit of immediate information on such subject as is contained in the bulletin.

SEC. 4204. Free distribution.—Not more than three thousand copies of said bulletin shall be issued quarterly and distributed free to the public, and the printing of said bulletins shall be paid for in the same manner and from the same fund as State officers' reports. * * *

Employment of labor—Fraud

SECTION 4205. False pretenses.—Any person who shall knowingly and designedly, by any false pretense or pretenses, obtain the labor or services of another shall de deemed a swindler and upon conviction shall, where the labor or services obtained is over the value of twenty dollars, be imprisoned in the State penitentiary not to exceed ten years; and where the labor and services obtained is of the value of twenty dollars or less, be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed six months; or by both, in the discretion of the court; and in all cases where the value of the labor or services obtained is twenty dollars or less, justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction of violations of this act.

SEC. 4206. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor statistics of the State of Colorado shall cooperate with the district attorneys, sheriff, and all peace officers of the State in the enforcement of this act.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 4208. Age; hours; employment.—[Children under 14 years of age may not be employed for wages in any place of amusement, mercantile institution, office, hotel, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop; nor as messengers or drivers therefor; nor as elevator operators; nor at any work for wages during school term; nor between 8 p. m. and 7 a. m.; nor more than 8 hours per day. The occupations forbidden are declared injurious or dangerous to life, health or limb. Work on farms and in orchards, etc., is not forbidden, but if for others than parents a permit must be obtained.]

SEC. 4209. Unlawful employments.—[Children under 16 years of age may not be employed in places used for illegal, obscene, or immoral purposes, or in any exhibition or vocation injurious to morals or health, or dangerous to life or limb.]

SEC. 4210. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 years of age in a specified list of dangerous occupations is forbidden. For a similar list, see Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148. Females under 16 may not be employed where they are required to stand constantly, nor may females under 10 be employed in any street trade.]

SECS. 4211–4217. Employment certificates.—[Permits must be obtained and registers kept of children 14 to 16 years of age employed in the establishments, etc., named in section 4208. Age and schooling certificates are issued by the superintendent of schools or a person authorized by him. The child must be able to read and write, or be in attendance at night school, if the employment is during the school term.]

SEC. 4218. Inspection.—[Factory inspectors must visit the establishments, etc., named, in which children are employed, to ascertain whether the provisions of the law are complied with. If unlawful employment is reported in writing to the local school authorities, they must inform the State factory inspector thereof.]

SEC. 4219. Work time.—[Children under 16 years of age may not be employed in any gainful occupation for more than 8 hours per day nor 48 per week, nor after 8 p. m. Schedules of work time must be posted in each room where minors are employed.]

SECS. 4220, 4221. Enforcement.—[Presence of a child under 16 years of age in an establishment is prima facie evidence of employment. The State factory inspector is specially charged with the prosecution of violations of the law.]

SEC. 4222. [Relates to theatrical employments.]

SECS. 4224, 4225. Violations.—[Parents, etc., violating the law may be fined from $5 to $25, employers from $5 to $100, and for a second offense $100 to $500, or imprisoned not over 90 days, or both.]

Payment of wages—Modes and times

SECTION 4226. Semimonthly pay days.—All private and quasi-public corporations doing business within this State shall pay to their employees the wages earned each and every fifteen (15) days in lawful money of the United States, or checks on banks, convertible into cash, on demand at full face value thereof.

SEC. 4227. Failure to pay.—Whenever any private or quasi-public corporation shall fail to pay any of its employees as provided in section 6981 [4226], then a penalty shall be attached to such corporation and become due to such employees as follows: A sum equivalent to a penalty of five per cent (5) of the wages due and not paid as herein provided as liquidated damages, and such penalty shall attach and suit may be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover same and the wages due.

SEC. 4228. Payment on discharge.—Whenever any such employee is discharged from the employ of any such corporation then all the unpaid wages of such employee shall immediately become due and payable, and if any private or quasi-public corporation shall within three (3) days fail to pay any such discharged employee all the wages due and payable to such discharged employee, then the same penalty of five per cent (5) shall attach to said corporation and become due to such employee as provided in section 6982 [4227]: Provided, however, Nothing in this section shall apply to any employee of any such corporation who quits of his own accord.

SEC. 4229. Employee may recover penalty.—Any employee or any assignee of any such employee may recover all such penalties that may, by violation of section 2 [4227] of this act, have accrued to him, at any time within six months succeeding such default, or delay, in the payment of such wages.

SEC. 4230. What contracts void.—Any contract or agreement made between any corporation and any private or quasi-public parties in its employ, the provisions of which shall be in violation, evasion or circumvention of this act (semi-monthly pay day act) shall be unlawful and void, but such employee may sue to recover his wages earned together with such five per cent (5%) penalty, or separately, to recover the penalty if the wages have been paid.

SEC. 4231. Contractor.—Whenever any private or quasi-public corporation shall contract any or all of its work to any contractor then it shall become the duty of any such corporation to provide that the employees of any such corporation or contractor shall be paid according to the provisions of this act, and such corporation shall become responsible and liable to the employees of such contractor in the same manner as if said employees were employed by such corporation.

SEC. 4232. Attorney's fee.—Whenever it shall become necessary for the employees to enter or maintain a suit at law for the recovery or collection of wages due as provided by this act, then such judgment shall include a reasonable attorney fee, in favor of the successful party, to be taxed as part of the costs in the case.

SEC. 4233. Scope of act.—It is herein provided that all private or quasi-public corporations heretofore or hereafter organized for pecuniary profit shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4234. Truck system forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company or corporation, or the agent or the business manager of any such person, company or corporation, doing business in this State, to use or employ, as a system, directly or indirectly, the "truck system" in the payment, in whole or in part of the wages of any employee or employees of any such person, company or corporation.

SEC. 4235. Definition.—The words "truck system" as used in the preceding section are defined to be:

First—Any agreement, method, means or understanding used or employed by an employer, directly or indirectly, to require his employee to waive the payment of his wages in lawful money of the United States, and to take the same, or any part thereof, in goods, wares or merchandise, belonging to the employer or any other person or corporation.

Second—Any condition in the contract of employment between employer and employee, direct or indirect or any understanding whatsoever, express or implied, that the wages of the employee, or any part thereof, shall be spent in any particular place or in any particular manner.

Third—Any requirement or understanding whatsoever by the employer with the employee that does not permit the employee to purchase the necessaries of life where and of whom he likes, without interference, coercion, let or hindrance.

Fourth—To charge the employee interest, discount or other thing whatsoever for money advanced on his wages, earned or to be earned, where the pay days of the employer are at unreasonable intervals of time.

Fifth—Any and all arrangements, means or methods, by which any person, company or corporation, shall issue any truck order, scrip, or other writing whatsoever, by means whereof the maker thereof may charge the amount thereof to the employer of laboring men so receiving such truck order, scrip or other writing, with the understanding that such employer shall charge the same to his employee and deduct the same from his wages.

SEC. 4236. Truck orders, etc., void.—Any truck order, scrip or other writing whatsoever, made, issued, or used in aid of or in furtherance of, or as a part of the "truck system" as defined in this act, evidencing any debt or obligation from any person, company or corporation for wages due or to become due to any employee or employees of any person, company or corporation, issued under a system whereby it is the intent and purpose to settle such wage debt or debts by any means or device other than in lawful money, shall be utterly void in the hands of any person, company or corporation with knowledge that the same had been issued in pursuance of such system, and it shall be unlawful to have, hold or circulate the same with such knowledge.

SEC. 4237. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months.]

SEC. 4238. Corporations forfeit charter.—The violation of the provisions of any section of this act by any corporation organized and existing under the laws of this State shall be deemed sufficient cause for the forfeiture of the charter of any such corporation, and the attorney general of the State shall immediately commence proceedings in the proper court in the name of the people of the State of Colorado, against any such corporation for the forfeiture of its charter.

SEC. 4239. Foreign corporations.—Any foreign corporation doing business in this State that shall violate the provisions of any section of this act shall forfeit its right to do business in this State, and the attorney general of the State shall, upon such violation coming to his knowledge, by information or otherwise, institute proceedings in the proper court for the forfeiture of the right of any such corporation to do business in this State.

SEC. 4240. When attorney general fails to prosecute.—If the attorney general of the State should fail, neglect or refuse to commence such actions as are provided for in sections 5 [4230] and 6 [4231] of this act, after demand being made upon the attorney general to institute such proceedings by any responsible person, then any citizen of this State shall have the right to institute and maintain such proceedings, upon giving bond for costs of suit.

SEC. 4241. District attorney.—The district attorney of any county shall prosecute for any violation of this act in the same manner as he may be required by law to prosecute for the violation of other criminal acts, except as provided in sections 5 [4230] and 6 [4231] of this act.

SEC. 4242. Act construed as to ditch companies, etc.—The provisions of this act shall not be construed to prevent ditch, canal and reservoir companies from contracting or issuing orders or warrants payable at future dates in lawful money of the United States, for labor performed or services rendered for it or to contract for and pay for the same in the capital stock of such companies, or water rights or privileges for water connected with the same.

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships

SECTIONS 4243–4245. Priority.—[All wages are preferred claims in case of the transfer of the business of an employer to a trustee or receiver, to be paid from funds or from the proceeds of the sale of the property. Employees wishing to enforce this right must file statements of their claims within prescribed periods. If funds are not sufficient to pay claims they shall be prorated, but prior mortgages for debts actually existing are not impaired.]

Minimum wages

SECTIONS 4262–4283. Enactment.—[The legislature of 1917 enacted a minimum wage law for women and children, authorizing the industrial commission of the State to make investigations and fix a wage that would supply the necessary cost of living and maintain the health of employed women, and avoid unreasonably low wages for minors. Standard conditions of labor and hours of employment were also within their power to determine. Wage boards, hearings, etc., were contemplated. No adequate appropriation was ever made for carrying out the provisions of the act, and while it has remained on the statute books, it has never been operative.]

Free public employment offices

SECTION 4284. Agencies designated.—Free employment offices are hereby created as follows: One in each city of not less than twenty-five thousand and two in each city containing a population of two hundred thousand or over and one in the city of Grand Junction, in Mesa County, for the purpose of receiving applications of persons seeking employment, and applications of persons seeking to employ labor. Such offices shall be designated and known as Colorado free employment offices.

SEC. 4285. Superintendents.—Within sixty days after this act shall have been in force, the secretary of state as commissioner of labor ex officio shall appoint a superintendent and assistant superintendent who shall act as clerk for each of the offices created by section 1 [4284] of this act, who shall devote their entire time to the duties of their respective offices. The tenure of such appointment shall be two years, unless sooner removed for cause. The salary of each superintendent shall be twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum; the salary of each assistant superintendent shall be one thousand two hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum, together with the proper amounts for defraying the necessary cost of equipping and maintaining the respective offices.

SEC. 4286. Offices.—The superintendent of each such free employment office shall, within sixty days after appointment, open an office in such locality as shall have been agreed upon between such superintendent and deputy commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics as being most appropriate for the purpose intended, such office to be provided with a sufficient number of rooms and apartments to enable him to provide, and he shall so provide, a separate room or apartment for the use of women registering for situations or help. Upon the outside of each office in position and manner to secure the fullest public attention shall be placed a sign which shall read in the English language, "Colorado Free Employment Office," and the same shall appear either upon the outside windows or upon signs in such other language as the location of each such office shall render advisable. The superintendent of each such free employment office shall receive and record in books kept for that purpose names of all persons applying for employment or help, designating opposite the names and addresses of each applicant the character of employment or help desired. Separate registers for applicants for employment shall be kept showing the age, sex, nativity, trade or occupation of each applicant, the cause and duration of nonemployment, whether married or single, the number of dependent children, together with such other facts as may be required by the bureau of labor statistics to be used by said bureau;

Provided, That no special registers shall be open to public inspection at any time, and that statistics and sociological data as the bureau of labor shall require shall be held in confidence by said bureau, and so published as not to reveal the identity of any one.

And, provided, further, That any applicant who shall decline to furnish answers to the questions contained in special registers shall not thereby forfeit any rights to any employment the office might secure.

SEC. 4287. Weekly reports.—Each superintendent shall report on Thursday of each week to the deputy commissioner of the said bureau of labor statistics the number of applications for positions and for help received during the preceding week and the number of positions secured; also those unfilled applications remaining on the books at the beginning of the week. It shall also show the number and character of the positions secured during the preceding week. Upon receipt of these lists and not later than Saturday of each week the deputy commissioner of said bureau of labor statistics shall cause to be printed a sheet showing separately and in combination, the lists received from all such free employment offices.

SEC. 4288. Advertising, etc.—It shall be the duty of each such superintendent of a free employment office to immediately put himself in communication with the principal manufacturers, merchants, and other employers of labor, and to use all diligence in securing the cooperation of the said employers of labor for the purposes and objects of said employment offices. To this end it shall be competent for such superintendents to advertise in the columns of newspapers or other medium for such situations as he has applicants to fill, and he may advertise in a general way for the cooperation of large contractors and employers in such trade journals or special publications as reach such employers, whether such trade or special journals are published within the State of Colorado or not.

SEC. 4289. Annual reports.—It shall be the duty of each such superintendent to make report to the said bureau of labor statistics annually, not later than December 1 of each year, concerning the work of his office for the year, together with a statement of the expense of the same, including the charges of an interpreter when necessary, and such report shall be published by the said bureau of labor statistics with its biennial report. Each such superintendent shall also perform such other duties in the collection of statistics of labor as the deputy commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics may require.

SEC. 4290. No fees to be charged.—No fee or compensation shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through said free employment offices and any superintendent, assistant superintendent or clerk, who shall accept, directly or indirectly, any fee or compensation from any applicant, or from his or her representative, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five (25) dollars nor more than fifty (50) dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4291. Definitions.—The term "applicant for employment," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean any person seeking work of any lawful character, and "applicant for help" shall mean any person or persons seeking help in any legitimate enterprise; and nothing in this act shall be construed to limit the meaning of the term "work" to manual occupation, but it shall include professional services and all other legitimate services.

SEC. 4292. Receipts.—All money or moneys received from fees and fines by the said deputy commissioner of labor shall constitute a fund for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and the said commissioner shall, at the end of each fiscal year, make an account of said fund and pay into the State treasury whatever balance shall remain after paying the necessary disbursements for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4293. Maintenance.—All printing, blanks, blank books, stationery, postage, and such other supplies as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the business of the offices herein created, shall be furnished by the secretary of state upon requisition for the same by the superintendents of the several offices.

SEC. 4294. Same.—All expenses attendant upon the conducting of the several offices herein named shall be paid by the State: Provided, Such expense shall not exceed the sum of two thousand (2,000) dollars in any one year; and the State auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the State treasurer for the same.

Private employment offices

SECTION 4295. Licenses, register.—[No private employment agency may be operated without a license, for which an annual fee of from $10 to $50 must be paid, according to the population of the locality. A penal bond to secure compliance with the law and protect patrons is also required, in the amount of $1,000.

Registers must be kept, giving the name and address of all applicants for employment and for help, the same to be open to official inspection at all reasonable hours.]

SEC. 4296. Acts forbidden; fees.—[Agencies are forbidden to send any female to any place of immoral resort or bad repute, or to publish false or fraudulent advertisements, or to make false entries in the registers kept.

Fees for filing applications for employment may not exceed $1 for laborers, domestic servants, etc., or $2 for professional positions. Receipts must be given in all cases. If no place is obtained within 5 days after registration, the fee must, on demand within 30 days, be returned in full.]

SEC. 4297. Definition.—[Private employment agencies include all persons, etc., offering by sign, advertisement, etc., to procure employment for another, whether any fee is charged or not; but charitable organizations are not included.]

SEC. 4298. Fees and fines.—[Fees and fines go to a fund to secure enforcement of this law, balance to State treasury.]

SEC. 4299. Enforcement.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $100 to $200, or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both. The deputy commissioner of labor is charged with the enforcement of the act.]

NOTE.—The foregoing sections 4295–4299, inclusive, were enacted in 1909, ch. 164. The concluding section repealed "all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith." However, the commission that prepared the Compiled Laws of 1921 reproduced (secs. 4300–4312) an act of 1891 (pp. 188–192), which contained a requirement for a license from the city or town where the agency is located, fixing a fee of not over $100 per annum; also the fee to be charged, for males not over 5 per cent of one month's wages and board, and for females not over 3 per cent. Dividing fees is forbidden. Other provisions cover the same points as those of the act of 1909.

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 4313. Department of factory inspection.—There is hereby established, a separate and distinct department to be known as the department of factory inspection of the State of Colorado, which department shall be charged with the inspection of all factories, mills, workshops, bakeries, laundries, stores, * * * boarding or bunk houses, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed, or machinery used, for the purpose of protecting said employees * * * against damages arising from imperfect or dangerous machinery, or hazardous and unhealthy occupation. * * *

The deputy labor commissioner of the State of Colorado shall be the chief factory inspector under this act; and said chief inspector within five days after the passage of this act, shall recommend, and the secretary of state shall appoint four deputy factory inspectors, one whom shall be a woman, and each of said deputy factory inspectors shall receive a salary of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum with necessary traveling expenses, but said expenses shall in no case exceed the sum of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum for each deputy factory inspector. * * *

Provided, That the deputy labor commissioner, being chief factory inspector, shall recommend and the secretary of state appoint a clerk with a salary of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum. And be it provided, That a stenographer shall be recommended by the deputy labor commissioner and the chief factory inspector, and appointed by the secretary of state, with a salary of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per annum; the said appointees shall receive their said salaries upon vouchers issued by the chief factory inspector and paid in the same manner as other State officers of the State of Colorado are paid; And be it further provided, That a fund not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) per annum shall be appropriated in this bill for the purpose of paying for printing, stationery, postage, and such other supplies and equipment as are necessary in the office of the chief factory inspector; and to provide for any expenses through arbitration as provided in section 7 [4319] of this act.

SEC. 4314. Guards for dangerous machinery.—That any person, firm, corporation or association operating a factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, store, hotel or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed, or machinery used shall provide and maintain in use belt shifters or other mechanical contrivance for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys while running, where the same are practicable with due regard to the nature and purpose of said belts and the dangers to employees therefrom; also reasonable safeguards for all vats, pans, trimmers, cut-offs, gang edger and other saws, planers, cogs, gearings, beltings, shafting, coupling, set screws, line rollers, conveyors, manglers in laundries, and machinery of other or similar description, which it is practicable to guard, and which can be effectively guarded with due regard to the ordinary use of such machinery and appliances, and the dangers to employees therefrom, and with which the employees of any such factory, mill, or workshop are liable to come in contact while in the performance of their duties; and if any machinery, or any part thereof, is in a defective condition, and its operation would be extrahazardous because of such defect, or if any machinery is not safeguarded as provided in this act, the use thereof is prohibited, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto by the employer immediately upon receiving notice of such defect or lack of safeguard, and such notice shall not be removed until said defect has been remedied or the machine safeguarded as herein provided.

SEC. 4315. Ventilation.—That any person, firm, corporation or association operating a factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, store, hotel, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed, or machinery used and manual labor is exercised by the way of trade for the purpose of gain within an enclosed room (private houses in which the employees live excepted) shall be provided in each workroom thereof with good sufficient ventilation and kept in a clean and sanitary state, and shall be so ventilated as to render harmless, so far as practicable, all gases, vapors, dust or other impurities, generated in the course of the manufacturing or laboring process carried on therein; and if any factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, store, hotel, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery used in any enclosed rooms thereof by which dust is generated and inhaled to an injurious extent by the persons employed therein, conveyors, receptacles or exhaust fans, or other mechanical means shall be provided and maintained for the purpose of carrying off or receiving and collecting such dust.

SEC. 4316. Hoistways, etc.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators and wellholes and stairways in factories, mills, workshops, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed, or machinery used, shall be protected by good and sufficient trapdoors, hatches, fences, gates, or other safeguards, and all due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same opened that the same may be used.

SEC. 4317. Inspection.—It shall be the duty of the chief factory inspector, by himself or his duly appointed deputy, to examine as soon as may be after the passage of this act, and thereafter annually, and from time to time, all factories, mills, workshops, bakeries, stores, hotels, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery used or appliances therein contained to which the provisions of this act are applicable, and for the purpose of determining whether they do conform to such provisions and to granting or refusing certificates of approval, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4318. Notice by employees.—Any employee of any person, firm, corporation or association operating a factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, store, hotel or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery used shall notify his employer of any defect in, or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, or plants, on which or in or about which he is working, when any such defect or failure to guard shall come to the knowledge of any said employee, and if such employer shall fail to remedy such defect then said employee may complain in writing to the chief factory inspector of any such alleged defect in or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, and plants, or any alleged violation by such person, firm, corporation, or association, of any of the provisions of this act, in the machinery and appliances and premises used by such person, firm, corporation, or association and with or about which said employee is working and upon receiving such complaint it shall be the duty of the chief factory inspector, by himself or his deputy, to forthwith make an inspection of the machinery and appliances complained of.

SEC. 4319. Certificates of inspection.—Whenever upon any examination or reexamination of any factory, mill, workship bakery, laundry, store, hotel, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed, or machinery used to which the provisions of this act are applicable, the property so examined and the machinery and appliances therein conform in the judgment of said chief factory inspector to the requirements of this act, he shall thereupon issue to the owner, lessee, or operator of any such storehouse, factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, hotel, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery used a certificate to that effect, and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence as long as it continues in force of compliance on part of the person, firm, corporation or association to whom it is issued, with the provisions of this act. Such certificate may be revoked by said chief factory inspector at any time upon written notice to the person, firm, corporation, or association holding the same whenever in his opinion after reexamination, condition and circumstances have so changed as to justify the revocation thereof. A copy of said certificate shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place on every floor of all factories, mills, workshops, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery used to which the provisions of this act are applicable. If, in the judgment of the said chief factory inspector, such factory, mill, workshop, bakery, laundry, store, hotel, or any kind of an establishment wherein laborers are employed or machinery is used does not conform to the requirements of this act he shall forthwith personally or by mail serve on the person, firm, corporation, or association operating or using such machinery or appliances or occupying such premises a written statement of the requirements of said chief factory inspector, before he will issue a certificate as hereinbefore provided for; and upon said requirements being complied with within a period of thirty days after said written statement has been served as aforesaid the said chief factory inspector shall forthwith issue such certificate; but if the person, firm, or corporation operating or using said machinery and appliances or occupying such premises shall consider the requirements of said chief factory inspector unreasonable and impracticable or unnecessarily expensive, he may within ten days after the requirements of said chief factory inspector have been served upon him, appeal therefrom or from any part thereof to three arbitrators to whom shall be submitted the matters and things in dispute, and their findings shall be binding upon said applicant and upon the chief factory inspector.

Such appeal shall be in writing, addressed to the chief factory inspector and shall set forth the objections to his requirements, or any part thereof, and shall mention the name of one person who will serve as a representative of said applicant calling for arbitration. Immediately upon the receipt of such notice of appeal, it shall be the duty of the chief factory inspector to appoint a competent person as arbitrator resident in the county from which such appeal comes, and to notify such person so selected, and also the party appealing, stating the cause of the arbitration, and the place, date, and time of meeting. These two arbitrators shall select the third within five days and within ten days thereafter, give a hearing on the matters of said appeal, and the finding of those arbitrators by a majority vote shall be reported to the chief factory inspector and to the applicant and shall be binding upon each. The expense of such arbitration shall be borne by the party calling for the arbitration; and if said arbitrators sustain the requirements of said chief factory inspector or any part thereof, said applicant shall within thirty days comply with the findings of said arbitrators, and thereupon said chief factory inspector shall issue a certificate as hereinbefore provided (in section 5 [4317] of this act); but if said arbitrators shall sustain such appeal or any part thereof, the same shall be binding upon said chief factory inspector and any such person, firm, corporation, or association shall within thirty days after the finding of the board of arbitrators, comply with the requirements of the chief factory inspector, as amended by said arbitrators, if so amended as herein provided for, and thereupon said chief factory inspector shall forthwith issue to any such person, firm, corporation, or association, his certificate as provided for in section five [4317] of this act: Provided, That in case such arbitrators shall decide against such chief factory inspector, the cost of such arbitration shall be paid out of the funds for such purposes. In case the chief factory inspector is sustained in part by the arbitrators, the cost of the arbitration shall be divided equitably, in proportion to that decision, the appellant paying such share as the arbitrators may deem fair, the rest to be paid out of said fund.

SEC. 4320. Provisions in case of fire.—In all factories, mills, workshops, offices, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, or any other buildings in which people are employed at manual or other labor, proper and sufficient means of escape in case of fire shall be provided by more than one way of egress, and such means of escape shall at all times be kept free from any obstruction; in good repair and ready for use; and at night, or where lights are necessary in the daytime, a red light shall be provided with the words inscribed thereon "Fire escape." All doors leading into or to such factories, workshops, offices, bakeries, mills, laundries, stores, hotels, or other buildings in which people are employed at manual or other labor, shall be so constructed as to open outward when practicable, and shall not be locked, bolted or fastened during working hours as to prevent free egress. Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways and in factories, hotels, mills and workshops and other buildings where people are employed at manual or other labor. And in all factories, laundries, mills and workshops in which females are employed the stairs regularly used by them shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom. And be it further provided, That hotels, boarding or bunk houses of more than one story shall have a hemp rope in each room of not less than three-quarters (¾) inch in thickness, the same to be firmly attached to wall in such manner that it may be thrown out of the window instantly to allow persons in case of fire, etc., to descend to the ground. The rope must have a knot tied in it at spaces of not more than eighteen (18) inches apart; the ropes to be placed in every room above the second floor: Provided, That any rope, ladder or device for the protection of guests may be used upon approval by the chief factory inspector.

SEC. 4321. Fire escapes.—[Buildings not supplied with means of escape from fire as required by the preceding section must, on notice by an inspector, be equipped with one or more fire escapes of prescribed type and dimensions, within 30 days from the receipt of the order.]

SEC. 4322. Water-closets, etc.—[Buildings in which four or more people are employed must furnish water-closets, etc., of reasonable access, separate for the sexes, properly equipped and cared for. If the employment is such as to make it desirable or necessary for employees to change their clothing, wholly or in part, separate dressing rooms shall be provided for women and girls whenever so required by the factory inspector. Occupants must make the changes ordered by a factory inspector, and may bring action against the owner of the building for an equitable adjustment of costs.]

SEC. 4323. Damages.—In all actions brought to recover damages for personal injuries or death caused by reason of the violation of any of the provisions of this act, it shall be sufficient for the plaintiff to prove in the first instance, in order to establish the liability of the defendant, that the death or injury complained of resulted in consequence of the failure of the person owning or operating the manufacturing establishment where such death, or injury occurred to provide said establishment with safeguards as required by this act, or that the failure to provide such safeguards directly contributed to such death or injury.

Manufacturing establishments, as those words are used in this act, shall mean and include all smelters, oil refineries, cement works, mills of every kind, machine and repair shops, and in addition to the foregoing, any other kind or character of manufacturing establishment, of any nature or description whatsoever, wherein any natural product or other articles or materials of any kind, in a raw or unfinished or incomplete state or condition, are converted into a new or improved or different form.

Wherever the expression occurs in this act in substantially the following words: "Every person owning or operating any manufacturing establishment," or where language similar to that is used, the word "person" in that connection shall be held and construed to mean any person or persons, partnership, corporation, receiver, trust, trustee, or any other person or combination of persons, either natural or artificial, by whatever name he or they may be called.

SEC. 4324. Powers of factory inspector.—The chief factory inspector or any employee of the department of factory inspection shall have power to enter any factory, mill, workshop, office, bakery, laundry, store, hotel, or any public or private works where labor is employed or machinery used. Any person, persons, firm, copartnership, corporation, trust, trustee, their agent, or agents, who shall refuse to allow an inspector or employee of the said department to enter or who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty ($50) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed ninety (90) days for each and every offense.

Industrial commission—Law enforcement—Labor disputes

SECTION 4325. Commission.—The term "commission" when used in this act shall mean the "Industrial Commission of Colorado."

SEC. 4326. Commissioner.—The term "commissioner" when used in this act shall mean one of the members of the commission.

SEC. 4327. Use of words.—Unless the context otherwise requires, a word used in this act in the singular number shall also include the plural; and a word used in this act in the masculine gender shall also include the feminine.

SEC. 4328. Construction of terms.—The following terms as used in this act, shall be construed and have the following meaning, unless otherwise specifically defined in the context:

(a) The term "place of employment" shall mean and include every place whether indoors or outdoors or underground, and the premises, work places, works and plants appertaining thereto or used in connection therewith, where either temporarily or permanently and [any] industry, trade or business is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly relating to any industry, trade or business is carried on, or where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit, except as otherwise expressly provided in this act.

(b) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, occupation, job or position or process of manufacture or any method of carrying on any such trade, occupation, job or position, or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except as otherwise expressly provided in this act.

(c) The term "employer" shall mean and include:

1. The State, and each county, city, town, irrigation and school district therein, and all public institutions and administrative boards thereof having four or more employees.

2. Every person, association of persons, firm and private corporation (including any public service corporation), manager, personal representative, assignee, trustee, and receiver, who has four (4) or more persons regularly engaged in the same business or employment, (except as otherwise expressly provided in this act), in service under any contract of hire, expressed or implied.

3. This act is not intended to apply to employers of private domestic servants or farm and ranch labor; nor to employers who employ less than four employees regularly in the same business, or in or about the same place of employment.

(d) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person in the service of an "employer" as herein defined, under any contract of hire, express or implied, not including an elective official of the State, or of any county, city, town, irrigation, drainage, or school district thereof, and not including any officers or enlisted men of the national guard of the State of Colorado.

(e) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission, or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission.

(f) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order of the commission as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments, or places of employment, under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(g) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any common council, board of aldermen, board of supervisors, board of trustees, or board of commissioners, of any county, town, city, or city and county operating under any general or special law of this State, or of the board of health of the State or any municipality therein, or any order or direction of any official of the State or municipality therein.

(h) The term "deputy" shall mean and include any person employed by the commission designated as such deputy by the commission, and who may be engaged in the performance of duties under the direction of the commission.

(i) The term "safe" or "safety" as applied to an employment or place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life, health, and safety of employees and such reasonable means of notification, egress, and escape in case of catastrophe, as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

SEC. 4329. Commission created.—There is hereby created a board which shall be known as the "Industrial Commission of Colorado." Within thirty days after the passage of this act the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall appoint one member whose term of office shall expire March 1, 1917, a second member whose term of office shall expire March 1, 1919, and a third member whose term of office shall expire March 1, 1921. Upon the expiration of each appointment, the governor shall appoint members of the commission, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for terms of six years each. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner for unexpired terms. Not more than two of the commissioners shall be members of the same political party. Not more than one of the appointees to such commission shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocation, employment or affiliations, can be classed as a representative of employers, and not more than one of said appointees shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocation, employment, or affiliations can be classed as a representative of employees.

Each member of the commission, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath prescribed by the constitution, and shall give good and sufficient bond running to the people of the State of Colorado, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned that he shall faithfully discharge the duties of his office and shall account for and pay over to the person entitled thereto such moneys as shall come into his possession; said bond shall be signed by a surety company duly authorized to do business in this State, or by two or more individuals as surety or sureties and shall be subject to approval by the governor and shall then be filed with the secretary of State. If surety company bonds shall be furnished, the premium therefor shall be paid by the State as other expenses of the commission are paid. In case of a vacancy, the remaining two members of the commission shall exercise all the powers and authority of the commission until such vacancy is filled. Each member of the commission shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars, and actual expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of his duties, which shall be in full for all services performed. The commissioners shall devote their entire time to the duties of their office.

A majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum to transact business and for the exercise of any of the powers or authority conferred by this act.

SEC. 4330. Employees.—The commission shall have power, with the approval of the governor subject to the provisions of the civil service laws of this State, to employ during its pleasure such deputies, experts, statisticians, accountants, actuaries, inspectors, clerks and other employees as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this act, or to perform the duties and exercise the powers conferred by law upon the commission. All employees, except experts and actuaries, shall have been for one year prior to such employment or appointment bona fide residents of the State of Colorado and, except experts and actuaries, shall, while in the employ of the commission, devote their entire time to their duties. All employees of the commission shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the commission; such compensation to be paid monthly from funds appropriated for the use of the commission. All expenses incurred by the commisssion and its employees pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be paid from funds appropriated for its use, upon the approval of the commission: Provided, however, That the traveling expenses of any member or members of the commission, or of any employee or employees thereof, incurred while on business of the commission outside the State of Colorado, shall be paid in the manner aforesaid, but only when such expenses are, in advance, authorized to be incurred by the commission and by the State auditing board.

SEC. 4331. Title; seal.—The commission shall be known collectively as the "Industrial Commission of Colorado" and in that name may sue and be sued. It shall have a seal upon which shall be inscribed the words "Industrial Commission-Colorado-Seal." Its seal shall be affixed to all orders, awards, proceedings, and copies thereof and to such other instruments as the commission shall direct. All courts shall take judicial notice of said seal and any copy of any record or proceeding of the commission certified under said seal shall be received in all courts as evidence as if it were the original thereof.

SEC. 4332. Office, supplies, etc.—The commission shall keep its office at the capitol and shall be provided by the board of capitol managers or its successors with suitable rooms. The commission is authorized to procure all necessary office furniture, stationery, books, periodicals, maps, instruments, apparatus and appliances, and other necessary supplies and incur such other expenses as may be actual and necessary, and the same shall be paid for in the same manner as other expenses authorized by this act. The commission or a commissioner may hold sessions at any place other than the capitol when the convenience of the commission or the parties interested requires.

SEC. 4333. Organization.—Within thirty days after the passage of this act, the commission shall meet at the capitol and organize in the manner herein provided. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep a full and correct record of all proceedings of the commission, to issue all necessary processes, writs, warrants, orders, awards, and notices and to perform all other duties as the commission may prescribe. He shall also have supervision of the collection of data, information concerning matters covered by the provisions of the act, and make such reports thereon as the commission may direct.

The sessions of the commission shall be open to the public and shall stand and be adjourned without further notice thereof on its record. All of the proceedings of the commission shall be shown on its record, which shall be a public record, and all voting shall be by the calling of each member's name by the secretary, and each member's vote shall be recorded on the proceedings as the same is cast.

SEC. 4334. Rules.—Subject to the provisions of this act, the commission may adopt its own rules of procedure and may change the same from time to time in its discretion.

SEC. 4335. Duties and powers.—It shall also be the duty of the commission, and it shall have the power, jurisdiction and authority:

(a) To appoint advisers, who shall, without compensation, assist the commission in the execution of its duties.

(b) To inquire into and supervise the enforcement, as far as respects relations between employer and employee, of the laws relating to child labor, laundries, stores, factory inspection, employment of females, employment offices and bureaus, mining, both coal and metalliferous, fire escapes and means of egress from places of employment and all other laws protecting the life, health and safety of employees in employments and places of employment.

(c) To investigate, ascertain, declare, and prescribe safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection best adapted to render safe the employees of every employment and place of employment, as may be required by law.

(d) To ascertain and fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify, and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption of safety devices, safeguards, and other means or methods of protection to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws relative to the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in employments and places of employment.

(e) To ascertain, fix, and order such reasonable standards, rules, or regulations as provided by law, for the construction, repair, and maintenance of places of employment, as shall render them safe.

(f) To adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to the exercise of its powers and authorities and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode, and manner of investigations and hearings, and to alter and amend said rules from time to time in its discretion; such rules and regulations, amendments and alterations shall be effective ten days after same are adopted and posted upon the bulletin board in the office of said commission in the city of Denver, Colorado. A copy of such rules and regulations shall be mailed or delivered personally to any person making application therefor. The certificate of the secretary or any commissioner as to the posting of said notice shall be sufficient proof thereof in any case.

(g) To license and supervise private employment agencies; to supervise State free employment agencies; to do all in its power to bring together employers seeking employees, and working people seeking employment. It shall investigate the extent and causes of unemployment in the State of Colorado and the remedies therefor, and it shall devise and adopt the most efficient means within its power to avoid unemployment, and to prevent involuntary idleness.

(h) Any county, city, or town may enter into an agreement with the commission for such period of time as may be deemed desirable for the purpose of establishing and maintaining local free employment offices, and it shall be lawful for any county, city, or town to appropriate and expend the necessary money and to permit the use of public property for the joint establishment and maintenance of such offices as may be agreed upon.

(i) To collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction; annually, on or before the twentieth day of December, to make a full report to the governor covering its work during the year preceding the first day of said month of December; to make public reports in its judgement necessary.

(j) The commission shall cause to be printed, and, upon application, furnished, free of charge, to any employer or employee, such blank forms as it shall deem requisite to facilitate or promote the efficient administration of this act; it shall provide such proper record books or records as it shall deem required for the proper and efficient administration of this act, all such records to be kept in the office of the commission. It shall also cause to be printed in proper form for distribution to the public proper pamphlets showing its orders, regulations, and rules of procedure, and shall furnish the same to any person upon application therefor, and the fact that such orders, regulations, and rules of procedure are printed ready for distribution to all who apply for the same, shall be a sufficient publication of the same as required by this act.

(k) To administer and enforce all the provisions of law relating to compensation for accidental injury to and death of employees.

SEC. 4336. Orders in effect.—All general orders shall be effective ten days after the same are adopted by the commission and posted upon the bulletin board of said commission in its offices in the city of Denver, Colorado.

Special orders shall take effect as therein directed.

The commission may, upon application of any person, grant such time, as may be reasonably necessary for compliance with any order. Any person may petition the commissioner for an extension of time which the commission shall grant if it finds such an extension of time necessary.

All orders of the commission shall be valid and in force, and prima facie reasonable and lawful until they are found otherwise in an action brought for that purpose, pursuant to the provisions of this act, or until altered or revoked by the commission.

A substantial compliance with the requirements of this act, shall be sufficient to give effect to the orders or awards of the commission and they shall not be declared inoperative, illegal, or void for any omission of a technical nature in respect thereto.

SEC. 4337. Duty of employers.—Every employer shall exercise reasonable care and comply fully with all the requirements of law respecting health and safety and to furnish places of employment which shall be safe for employees therein and to furnish and use safety devices and safeguards, and to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and places of employment safe, and to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, and safety of such employees. Every employer and every owner of a place of employment now or hereafter constructed shall exercise reasonable care to so construct, repair, or maintain such place of employment as to render the same safe, in accordance with the statutes of this State in such cases made and provided.

SEC. 4338. Unsafe places.—Whenever the commission shall learn, or upon petition by any person be informed, that any employment or place of employment is not safe, it shall proceed summarily with or without notice, to make such investigation as may be necessary to determine the matter complained of, in so far as the same may affect the provisions of this act.

After investigation, the commission shall call the attention of the commissioner of labor, or other officer authorized to inspect and regulate same, and shall order such changes as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe, and comply with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4339. Power of commission to supervise.—The commission is vested with the power and jurisdiction to have such supervision of every employment and place of employment in this State as may be necessary adequately to ascertain and determine the conditions under which the employees labor, and the manner and extent of the obedience by the employer to all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and places of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life, health, and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment, and to enforce all provisions of law relating thereto; and is also vested with power and jurisdiction to administer all provisions of this act with respect to the relations between employer and employee and to do all other acts and things convenient and necessary to accomplish the purposes of this act.

SEC. 4340. Duty of public officials.—It shall be the duty of all officers and employees of the State, the counties and municipalities, upon request of the commission to enforce in their respective departments, all lawful orders of the commission, in so far as the same may be applicable and consistent with the general duties of such officers and employees; and it shall also be their duty to make to such commission such reports as it may require concerning matters within their knowledge appertaining to the purposes of this act, and to furnish to it such facts, data, statistics, and information as may from time to time come to them appertaining to the purposes of this act, and the duties of such commission thereunder, and particularly all information coming to their knowledge respecting the condition of all places of employment subject to the provisions of this act, as regards the health, protection, and safety of employees, and the conditions under which they labor.

It shall be the duty of the labor statistician of the bureau of labor statistics to collect, compile and report to the commission such data, facts, and information as shall come to his department or to the commission concerning the relations between employer and employee and relating in any way to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4341. Deputies.—For the purpose of making any investigation with regard to any employment or place of employment, or other matter contemplated by the provisions of this act, the commission shall have power to appoint, by an order in writing, any member of the commission, any deputy or any other competent person as an agent whose duties shall be prescribed in such order.

In the discharge of his duties such agent shall have every power whatsoever for obtaining information granted in this act to the commission and all powers granted by law to officers authorized to take depositions are hereby granted to such agent.

The commission may conduct any number of such investigations contemporaneously through different agents, and may delegate to such agents the taking of all testimony bearing upon any investigation or hearing. The decision of the commission shall be based upon its examination of all testimony and records. The recommendations made by such agents shall be advisory only and shall not preclude any further investigation, or the taking of further testimony, if the commission so order.

SEC. 4342. Information to be furnished.—Every employer and employee shall furnish the commission, upon request, all information required by it to accomplish the purposes of this act, which information shall be furnished on blanks to be prepared by the commission; and it shall be the duty of the commission to furnish such blanks to such employer free of charge, upon request therefor. Every employer receiving from the commission any blanks, with directions to fill out the same, shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly all questions therein propounded, and to give all the information therein sought, or if unable to do so, he shall give in writing good and sufficient reasons for such failure. The commission may require that the information herein required to be furnished be verified under oath and returned to the commission within the period fixed by it or by law. The commission or any person employed by it for that purpose, shall have the right to examine, under oath, any employee or employer, or the officer, agent or employee thereof, for the purpose of ascertaining any information which such employer or employee is required by this act to furnish to the commission. Any employer or employee who shall fail or refuse to furnish such information as may be required by the commission under authority of this act, shall, if an employer, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of two hundred dollars, and if an employee shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 4343. Information to be confidential.—The information contained in the reports provided for in the preceding section, and such other information as may be furnished to the commission by employers and employees in pursuance of the provisions of this act, shall be for the exclusive use and information of said commission in the discharge of its official duties and the commission may treat and file the said information or any part thereof as confidential and when so treated or filed by the commission the same shall be considered as and be confidential information for the sole use of said commission and shall not be open to the public nor be used in any court, in any action or proceeding pending therein, unless the commission is a party to such action or proceeding; but the information contained in said report may be tabulated and published by the commission in statistical form, for the use and information of other State departments and the public. Any person in the employ of the commission who shall divulge any such confidential information to any person other than the commission, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) and shall thereafter be disqualified from holding any appointment or employment with any department under the State.

SEC. 4344. Entering work places.—The commission, or any member thereof, and, on being authorized in writing by the commission, any other person, may, without any other warrant than this act, at any reasonable time, enter any building, mine, mine workings, factory, workshop, place or premises of any kind, wherein, or in respect of which, any industry is carried on or any work is being or has been done or commenced, or any matter or thing is taking place, which has been made the subject of an investigation, hearing or arbitration by the commission or the board, and inspect and view any work, material, machinery, appliance, or article therein, and interrogate any persons in or upon any such building, mine, mine workings, factory, workshop, place or premise as aforesaid in respect of or in relation to any matter or thing hereinbefore mentioned; and any person who shall hinder or obstruct the commission, or any such person authorized as aforesaid, in the exercise of any power, conferred by this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars.

SEC. 4345. Books, records, etc.—All books, records, and pay rolls of employers, showing or reflecting in any way upon the amount of wage expenditure of such employers, and other data, facts, and statistics appertaining to the purposes of this act, shall always be open for inspection by the commission or any of its deputies or agents for the purpose of ascertaining the conditions of employment, and such other information as may be necessary for the uses and purposes of the commission in its administration of the law.

Any employer who shall refuse to exhibit to and furnish said commission or any of its employees or agents an inspection of any and all books, records, and pay rolls of such employer, showing or reflecting in any way upon the amount of wage expenditure of such employers, and other data, facts, and statistics appertaining to the purposes of this act or who shall refuse to admit such commission or its agent to any place of employment shall pay a penalty of not less than $50 for each day that such failure, neglect, or refusal shall continue.

SEC. 4346. Procedure.—Such commission, or persons by it duly designated, shall not be bound by the usual common-law or statutory rules of evidence or by any technical or formal rules of procedure, other than as herein or by the rules of the commission provided; but may make such investigations in such manner as in its judgment are best calculated to ascertain the substantial rights of the parties and to carry out justly the spirit of this act.

SEC. 4347. Records.—A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before or under the order of the commission on any investigation and all testimony shall be taken down by a stenographer appointed by the commission.

A transcribed copy of the evidence and proceedings, or any specific part thereof, of any investigation or hearing taken by a stenographer appointed by the commission, being certified by such stenographer to be a true and correct transcript of the testimony on the investigation or hearing of a particular witness, or of a specific part thereof, carefully compared by him with his original notes, and to be a correct statement of the evidence and proceedings had on such investigation or hearing so purporting to be taken and subscribed, may be received as evidence by the commission and by any court with the same effect as if such stenographer were present and testified to the fact so certified. A copy of such transcript shall be furnished on demand to any party upon the payment of ten cents per folio. Fees received from the sale of transcripts shall be applicable to the expenses of the commission in addition to all sums which may be appropriated for its use.

SEC. 4348. Depositions.—The commission or any party may in any investigation cause the depositions of witnesses residing within or without the State to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in district courts. All such depositions shall be taken upon commission issued by the commission and shall be taken in accordance with the laws and rules of court covering depositions in civil cases in the district courts of this State.

SEC. 4349. Disobedience.—In case of failure or refusal of any person to comply with the order of the commission or subpœna issued by it or its agents, or on the refusal of a witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be lawfully interrogated, or refusal to permit an inspection as provided in this act, the judge of the district court for the county in which the person resides or of the county in which said person has been ordered to appear and testify before said commission, on application of the commission or any person appointed by it, shall compel obedience by attachment proceedings as in case of disobedience of the requirements of subpœna issued from such district court or on a refusal to testify therein. Any person serving a subpœna or order shall receive the same fees as a sheriff for like service. Such subpœna or order may be served by any officer duly authorized to subpœna witnesses, or by any person designated by the commission for such purpose, and proof of the serving of such subpœna or order shall be by the return of such person or officer endorsed thereon or attached thereto, and each witness who appears in answer to a subpœna before the commission or its agent shall if so ordered by the commission receive for his attendance the fees and mileage provided for in civil cases in the district court in the county where such witness attends which shall be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the commission are paid.

No witness subpœnaed at the instance of a party other than the commission or its agent shall be entitled to compensation unless the commission in its discretion shall so order.

SEC. 4350. General duties.—The commission shall inquire into the general condition of labor in the principal industries in the State of Colorado and especially in those which are carried on in corporate forms; into existing relations between employers and employees; into the effect of industrial conditions on public welfare and into the rights and powers of the community to deal therewith; into the conditions of sanitation and safety of employees and the provisions for protecting the life, limb, and health of the employees; into relations existing between lessees of State lands and the State, as to production and royalties or rentals paid, and into the relations between said lessees and their employees with respect to wages paid and conditions of labor; into the growth of associations of employers and of wage earners and the effect of such associations upon the relations between employers and employees; into the extent and results of methods of collective bargaining; into any methods which have been tried in any State or in foreign countries for maintaining mutually satisfactory relations between employees and employers; into methods of avoiding or adjusting labor disputes through peaceable and conciliatory mediation and negotiations; into the scope, methods, and resources of existing bureaus of labor and into possible ways of increasing their efficiency and usefulness. The commission shall seek to discover the underlying causes of dissatisfaction in the industrial situation and take all necessary means and methods within the powers of such commission as provided by law, to alleviate the same, and to report from time to time to the general assembly such remedial legislation as in the judgment of the commission may be advisable, with their recommendations thereon.

SEC. 4351. Arbitration, etc.—The commission shall do all in its power to promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation and conciliation of disputes between employers and employees, and to avoid the necessity of resorting to strikes, lockouts, boycotts, blacklists, discriminations and legal proceedings in matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty it may appoint temporary boards of arbitration, provide necessary expenses of such boards, order reasonable compensation not exceeding ten dollars per day for each member engaged in such arbitration, prescribe rules of procedure for such arbitration boards, conduct investigations and hearings, publish reports and advertisements, and do all other acts and things convenient or necessary to accomplish the purposes directed in this section.

Any investigation, inquiry or hearing may be undertaken or held by or before any commissioner, deputy, agent, or board of arbitration, or committee designated for that purpose by the commission, and every finding, order, award or decision made by those so designated, pursuant to such investigation, inquiry or hearing, when approved and confirmed by the commission, shall be and be deemed to be the finding, order, award or decision of the commission.

SEC. 4352. Powers.—For the purpose of such investigations, hearings or arbitrations, the commission, or any arbitration board appointed by the commission, shall have all the powers of summoning before it, and enforcing the attendance of witnesses, of administering oaths, and of requiring witnesses to give evidence on oath, or on solemn affirmation, and to produce such books, papers or other documents or things as the commission, or the board, deems requisite to the full investigation of the matters into which it is inquiring, as is vested in any court of record in civil cases.

Any members of the commission, or the board, may administer on oath, and the commission, or the board, may accept, admit and call for such evidence as in equity and good conscience it thinks fit, whether strictly legal evidence or not. Any party to the proceedings shall be competent and may be compelled to give evidence as a witness.

SEC. 4353. Jurisdiction as to disputes.—The industrial commission shall have jurisdiction of every dispute between employer and employee affecting conditions of employment, or with respect to wages or hours, and such jurisdiction shall continue until after final hearing of such dispute and the entry of final award therein, or until said commission shall enter an order disposing of or terminating such jurisdiction. The relation of the employer and employee shall continue uninterrupted by the dispute or anything arising out of the dispute until the final determination thereof by said commission, and neither the employer nor any of the employees affected by any such dispute shall alter the conditions of employment with respect to wages or hours or any other condition of said employment; neither shall they nor any of them on account of such dispute do or be concerned in doing directly or indirectly anything in the nature of a lockout or strike or suspension or discontinuance of work or employment.

Employers and employees shall give to the industrial commission and the one to the other at least thirty days' prior written notice of an intended change affecting conditions of employment or with respect to wages or hours.

Notice by the employer to his employees shall be given by posting and keeping posted copies of such written notice in and about the several places of employment in conspicuous places and in a sufficient number of places frequented by employees as to reasonably notify such employees. Notice from employees to employer shall be given by serving a copy of such notice upon said employer in the same manner as summons is served in a civil action in a court of record or by mailing a copy thereof by prepaid mail to such employer at his business address in this State.

Such notice by an employer shall be signed by said employer or some officer of such employer, if a corporation, and notice by said employees shall be signed by said employees or members of a committee of said employees authorized for such purpose.

Notice on said commission may be served by delivering a copy of such notice personally to the secretary or any member of said commission, or by prepaid mail delivered to the office of said commission in Denver, Colorado.

Such notice shall set forth the facts, issues or demands involved in the controversy or dispute, and each party to such dispute shall from time to time furnish the commission such information within the time and as may be requested by said commission.

If either party uses this or any other provision of this act for the purpose of unjustly maintaining a given condition of affairs through delay, such parties shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.

The commission shall proceed with reasonable diligence in hearing all disputes and shall render a final award or decision therein without unnecessary delay.

SEC. 4354 (as amended 1923, ch. 199). Lockouts and strikes unlawful, when.—It shall be unlawful for any employer to declare or cause a lockout, or for any employee to go on strike, on account of any dispute prior to or during an investigation, hearing, or arbitration of such dispute by the commission, or the board, under the provisions of this act: Provided, That nothing in this act shall prohibit the suspension or discontinuance of any industry or of the working of any persons therein for any cause not constituting a lockout or strike, or to prohibit the suspension or discontinuance of any industry or of the working of any persons therein, which industry is not affected with a public interest: Provided, further, That nothing in this act shall be held to restrain any employer from declaring a lockout, or any employee from going on strike in respect to any dispute after the same has been duly investigated, heard, or arbitrated, under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4355. Parties may act.—Nothing in sections 29 [4353] and 30 [4354] of this act shall be construed to make any findings, determination of the rights of the parties, decision or award of said commission or of any board of arbitration appointed thereby upon the facts of any such industrial dispute, binding, conclusive, or enforceable upon any of the parties thereto, or affected thereby, nor be held to restrain any employer from declaring a lockout, nor any employee from going on strike, in respect to any dispute, after the same has been duly investigated and the findings, order, or award of the commission made thereon under the provisions of this act, unless such parties have in writing agreed to accept and be bound by the terms of such findings, decision, or award.

No petition for a hearing on the reasonableness of any such finding, order, or award, nor for the rehearing or review of such findings or award shall be filed or entertained, nor shall any suit or proceeding be brought or commenced to review any such findings, order, or award, unless such parties have agreed to be bound by such findings, order, or award as in this section provided.

SEC. 4356. Enforcement.—The people of the State of Colorado, ex rel. the Industrial Commission of Colorado, as petitioners, may file in the District Court of the city and county of Denver, or of any county in which the place of employment or any part thereof is situated, a verified petition against any employer or employers or any employee or employees, or both employer and employees, as respondents, and setting forth any violation or threatened or attempted violation of any provision of section 29 [4353] or 30 [4354] of this act and thereupon, without bond and without notice, such district court shall issue its mandatory writ enjoining the alleged violations, or attempted or threatened violations of this act and ordering and requiring such respondent or respondents to maintain all the conditions of employment in statu quo and without change until after the dispute or controversy between said employer or employers and said employees has been investigated and heard by said commission and the final findings, decision, order, or award of said commission made and entered therein. Any respondent may move such court to dissolve such mandatory writ as to such respondent and upon at least five days' previous notice to the commission, such motion shall be set down for hearing, but such mandatory writ shall not be dissolved without proof of full compliance by such respondent with all the provisions of this act and orders of the commission and that the continuance in effect of such mandatory writ is causing or will cause such respondent great and irreparable injury, and the court may require such security of said respondent as the court shall determine adequate to enforce obedience to the provisions of this act on the part of such respondent before such mandatory writ shall be dissolved.

SEC. 4357. Lockouts, strikes.—Any employer declaring or causing a lockout contrary to the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not more than six months or both such fine and imprisoument in the discretion of the court, and each day or part of a day that such lockout exists shall constitute a separate offense hereunder.

Any employee who goes on strike contrary to the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $50, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and each day or part of a day that the employee is on strike shall constitute a separate offense hereunder.

Any person who incites, encourages, or aids in any manner any employer to declare or continue a lockout, or any employee to go or continue on strike, contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4358. Powers of commission.—The commission shall have full power and authority to hear and determiue all questions within its jurisdiction, and its findings, award and order issued thereon shall be final, except as in this act provided. Any person affected by any finding, order or award of the commission, may petition for a hearing on the reasonableness of any such finding, order or award. Such petition shall be verified, and shall specify the finding, order or award upon which a hearing is desired and every reason why such finding, order or award is considered unreasonable. The petitioner shall be deemed to have finally waived all objections to any irregularities and illegalities in the finding, order or award upon which a hearing is sought other than those set forth in the petition. All hearings of the commission shall be open to the public.

SEC. 4359. Hearings.—Upon the filing with the commission by any party iu interest of such petition, the commission shall fix a time for the hearing thereof, which shall not be more than forty days after the filing of such application. The commission shall cause reasonable notice of such hearing, embracing a general statement of such claim, to be given to each party interested, by service of such notice on him personally or by mailing a copy thereof to him at his last known post-office address at least ten days before such hearing. Such hearing may be adjourned from time to time in the discretion of the commission, and hearings shall be held at such places as the commission may designate. Either party shall have the right to be present at any hearing, in person or by attorney, or any other agent, and to present such testimony as may be pertinent to the controversy before the commission, and shall have the right of cross-examination: Provided, That the commission may, with or without notice to either party, cause testimony to be taken, or an inspection or iuvestigation to be made; the testimony so taken shall be reported to the commission for its consideration upon final hearing. All ex parte testimony taken by the commission shall be reduced to writing and either party shall have opportunity to examine and rebut the same on final hearing. Upon such hearing, if it shall be found that the finding, order or award complained of is unreasonable, the commission shall substitute therefor such other finding, order or award as shall be just and reasonable, or may rescind such finding, order or award. Whenever at the time of the final determination upon such hearing it shall be found that further time is reasonably necessary for compliance with the finding, order or award of the commission, the commission shall grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for such compliance.

SEC. 4360. Findings.—After final hearings by said commission, it shall make and file (1) its findings upon all the facts involved in the controversy, and (2) its award, which shall state its determination as to the rights of the parties. Pending the hearing and determination of any controversy before it, the commission shall have power to make such reasonable orders concerning the subject matter thereof as may be necessary to give effect to the provisions of this act. The commission, on its own motion, on three days' notice to the parties interested, by mail or served personally, may modify or change its order, finding or award at any time within fifteen days from the date thereof, if it shall discover any mistake therein.

SEC. 4361. Action in court.—Any person in interest being dissatisfied with any such finding, order or award of the commission issued or promulgated by virtue of the authority conferred in this act, may commence an action in the district court in and for the county wherein the injury was sustained or in the district court in and for the city and county of Denver against the commission as defendant to modify or vacate the same on the ground that the same is unlawful or unreasonable. All actions shall have precedence over any civil cause of a different nature pending in such court, and the district court shall always be deemed open for the trial thereof, and the same shall be tried and determined by the district court as other civil actions.

SEC. 4362. Procedure.—No action, proceeding or suit to set aside, vacate or amend any finding, order, or award of the commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be brought unless the plaintiff shall have first applied to the commission for a hearing thereon as provided in this act, and unless such action, proceeding or suit shall have been commenced within sixty days after final decision by the commission; nor shall any injunction issue suspending or staying auy order of the commission except upon application of the district court or a judge thereof, notice to the commission and hearing thereon.

In such action a copy of the complaint, which shall state the grounds upon which a review is sought, shall be served with the summons. The commission shall file its answer within twenty days after the service of the complaint. With its answer, the commission shall make return to said court of all documents and papers on file in the matter, and of all testimony which may have been taken therein, and of its order, finding, and award. Such return of the commission when filed in the office of the clerk of the district court shall constitute a judgment roll in such action; and it shall not be necessary to settle a bill of exceptions in order to make such return part of the record of such court in such action. . Said action may thereupon be brought on for hearing before said court upon such record by either party on ten days' notice to the other; subject, however, to the provisions of law for a change of the place of trial or the calling in of another judge.

SEC. 4363. Same.—If, upon trial of such action, it shall appear that all issues arising in such action have not heretofore been presented to the commission In the petition filed as provided in this act, or that the commission has not theretofore had an ample opportunity to hear and determine any of the issues raised in such action, or has for any reason, not in fact heard and determined the issues raised, the court shall, before proceeding to render judgement, unless the parties to such action stipulate to the contrary, transmit to the commission a full statement of such issue or issues not adequately considered, and shall stay further proceedings in such action for fifteen days from the date of such transmission, and may thereafter grant such further stays as may be necessary.

Upon the receipt of such statement, the commission shall hear and consider the issues not theretofore heard and considered, and may alter, modify, amend or rescind its findings, order or award complained of in said action, and shall report its action thereon to said court within ten days from the receipt of the statement from the court for further hearing and consideration.

The court shall thereupon order such amendment or other proceeding as may be necessary to raise the issues as presented by such modification of the finding, order or award as may have been made by the commission upon the hearing, if any such modification has in fact been made, and shall proceed with the trial of such action.

SEC. 4364. Power of court.—Upon such hearing, the court may confirm or set aside such order, but only upon one or more of the following grounds:

(1) That the commission acted without or in excess of its powers.

(2) That the finding, order or award was procured by fraud.

(3) That the findings of fact by the commission do not support the order or award.

(4) That the award does not do substantial justice to the parties.

Any action commenced in court under this section to set aside or modify any finding. order or award of the commission shall be brought to trial within thirty days after issue shall be joined, unless continued on order of the court for good cause shown. No continuance shall be for longer than thirty days at one time.

Upon the trial of any such action the court shall disregard any irregularity or error of the commission unless it be made to affirmatively appear that the claimant was damaged thereby.

The record in any case shall be transmitted to the commission within twenty days after the order or judgment of the court, unless, in the meantime, a writ of error addressed to the district court shall be obtained from the supreme court, for the review of such order or judgment.

Upon the setting aside of any finding, order, or award, the court may recommit the controversy and remand the record in the case to the commission for further hearing or proceedings; or it may enter the proper judgment upon the findings, as the nature of the case shall demand. An abstract of the judgment entered by the trial court upon the review of any order or award, shall be made by the clerk thereof upon the docket of said court, and a transcript of such abstract may be obtained as of any entry upon such docket.

SEC. 4365. Review by supreme court.—The commission or any party aggrieved by a judgment entered upon the review of any such finding, order, or award, may have questions of law only reviewed summarily by the supreme court by writ of error, as provided by law, and said cause shall be advanced upon the calendar of the supreme court, and a final decision rendered within sixty (60) days from date of issuance of the writ. It shall not be necessary for said commission or any party aggrieved by said action to execute, serve, or file any undertaking in order to obtain such writ of error.

SEC. 4366. Fees.—No fees shall be charged by the clerk of any court for the performance of any official service required by this act, except for the docketing of judgments, and for certified copies of transcripts thereof. In proceedings to review any finding, order or award, costs as between the parties shall be allowed, or not, in the discretion of the court, but no costs shall be taxed against said commission. In any action for the review of any finding, order or award, and upon any review thereof by the supreme court, it shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county, wherein said action is pending, or the attorney general, if requested by the commission, to appear on behalf of the commission, whether any other party defendant should have appeared or to be represented in the action or not.

SEC. 4367. Failure to appear.—Any person who shall fail, refuse, or neglect to appear and testify, or to produce books, papers, and records as required by the subpœna duly served upon him, or as ordered by said commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $100, or imprisoned in the county jail not longer than thirty days for each day or part of day that said person is so in default.

The district court of the county wherein such person resides or of the city and county of Denver, or of the county wherein said person has been ordered to appear and testify or to produce such books, papers and records, upon application of the commission or its agent may issue an order compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and records before such commission or any such agent.

SEC. 4368. Violations.—[Violations of this act are punishable by a fine of not less than $100, or by imprisonment for not longer than 60 days, or both. Violations of orders of the commission are punishable by a fine of not less than $100 for each day's continued violation.]

The violation of any of the provisions of this act, including any violation herein fixed as a misdemeanor or other crime shall in the case of a corporation be considered as and be a violation of the provisions of said act by any and all officers, agents and representatives of said corporation aiding, abetting, advising, encouraging, participating, inciting or acquiescing in such violation, and they and each and every one of them shall be individually and separately guilty of such violation and subject to the fines, penalties, and punishments herein provided.

SEC. 4369. Separate offenses.—Every day during which any employer or officer or agent thereof, or any employee, shall fail to comply with any lawful order of the commission or to perform any duty imposed by this act, shall constitute a separate and distinct violation thereof.

SEC. 4370. Penalties.—All penalties provided for in this act shall be collected in a civil action brought against the employer or employee as the case may be, in the name of the commission, and all such penalties, when collected, shall be paid into the expense fund of such commission and become a part thereof. Any fine herein provided shall be considered as a penalty and recovered in a civil action as above provided, unless the violation of this act for the punishment of which said fine is provided, is designated as a misdemeanor or other crime.

SEC. 4371. Enforcement.—Upon request of the commission, the attorney general, or the district attorney of any district or county, shall institute and prosecute the necessary action or proceedings for the enforcement of any of the provisions of this act, or for the recovery of any money due to the commission, or any penalty herein provided for, and shall defend in like manner all suits, actions or proceedings brought against the commission. No district attorney or any assistant, or deputy district attorney, nor the attorney general or deputy, or assistant attorney general within this State shall appear in any proceedings, hearing, investigation, arbitration, award or compensation matter, except as attorney for and on behalf of said commission, its members, and employees.

SEC. 4372. False statements.—If, for the purpose of obtaining any order, benefit or award under the provisions of this act, either for himself or for any other person, anyone willfully makes a false statement or representation, he shall be guilty of perjury and punished accordingly.

SEC. 4374. Construction.—[Provisions of the law are severable, the declared unconstitutionality of any part not to affect other parts.]

Inspection of steam boilers

SECTIONS 5481–5489. Inspectors.—[The governor is authorized to appoint a chief and two deputy inspectors of steam boilers, the former at a salary of $2,500, and the latter at $1,800 each, traveling expenses additional, not to exceed $1,200 per annum in each case. Annual inspections must be made of "every stationary boiler and steam generating apparatus under pressure used for stationary power," including attachments and connections. An owner contemplating insurance may notify the State inspector, whose duty it will then be to have the annual inspection made at the same time as the inspection for insurance. The inspector must also make inquiry and report as to the cause of any boiler explosion that may occur within the State.

Owners must report boilers, and tests must show a capacity under hydraulic pressure one-third in excess of the ordinary working steam pressure used. A certificate showing the maximum working pressure must be granted; or if the boiler is found to be unsafe, it must be condemned for future use.

The fee for inspection is $5. Penalties are fixed for failure to report boilers, for failure to have them ready for inspection on notice, and for use when condemned; also for the failure of an inspector to discharge his duty.]

Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 5917. Amount.—[Sixty per cent of a judgment debtor's wages or earnings are exempt from levy under execution, etc., if the debtor is the head of a family or the wife of the head of a family residing in the State, and the earnings are necessary to the support of such family. If the earnings do not exceed $5 per week, they are entirely exempt.]

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 6270. Amount.—[Wages of servants, laborers, and employees of an assignor, earned within the six months next preceding the date of the assignment, not exceeding $50 in amount, and taxes due the State or the United States, are preferred to other debts.]

SEC. 2325. Reports.—The commissioner shall annually report to the governor all the statistical details relating to this department.

SEC. 2326. Agents.—The commissioner may employ special agents to assist him in his investigations who shall receive compensation for the time actually employed in such service.

SEC. 2327. Investigations.—The commissioner is authorized to investigate the wages, hours of employment, necessary expense of living and health so far as affected by their employment, of wage-earning women and girls in stores, wholesale and retail, public utilities, photographic, undertaking, millinery and dressmakers' establishments, hotels, restaurants, laundries, hairdressing and barber shops, domestic service, and tenement-house work. Said investigation shall be conducted under the supervision of said commissioner by a woman specially trained for this work and selected by him. Other employees of said bureau may be detailed to assist in the prosecution of such investigation. Said commissioner shall have power to demand from those possessed of it such information as is pertinent to the investigation herein authorized, and any person who refuses to furnish the information so demanded, within a reasonable time, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars. Each week during which any person refuses to furnish the information aforesaid after a reasonable time has elapsed shall be a separate offense.

SEC. 2328. Alien laborers.—The commissioner may appoint competent persons, familiar with the language of alien laborers, as special agents of the bureau, who shall inform said laborers, either personally or through printed matter in their language, as to their right of contract under the laws of the State, and prevent illegal advantage being taken of said laborers by reason of their ignorance, credulity or want of knowledge of the English language. The appointment of such agents shall not be permanent but simply to meet the exigencies of each case as presented to the commissioner, and they shall be paid the same compensation as is paid other agents of the bureau. The total expense in any one year shall not exceed three hundred dollars. Every person who shall obtain or receive money due laborers ignorant of the English language, and shall retain any part thereof for his own use, without giving adequate consideration therefor, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisonment not more than one year or both.

Free public employment offices

SECTION 2329. Status; organization.—The public employment bureaus in New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport, Norwich, and Waterbury shall remain as established. No compensation or fee shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through any such bureau. The commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall appoint for each bureau, and may remove for good and sufficient cause, a superintendent for the proper administration of its affairs. Such public employment bureaus shall be a department of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 2330. Branch offices.—The commmissioner may establish and conduct branch public employment bureaus under the direction and control of the five established bureaus. Such branches may be established and conducted in any city within the State and shall be managed by the nearest bureau: Provided, In no case shall such a branch be established unless it can be conducted by the bureau taking charge thereof within the appropriation made for such bureau.

Private employment offices

SECTIONS 2331, 2332. Scope.—[Agencies for teachers exclusively are not covered by this law. It is applicable generally to persons, etc., charging fees for procuring employment.]

SEC. 2333. License.—[No agency may be operated without a license issued by the commissioner of labor and factory inspection on payment of an annual fee of $25. Licenses designate names and location, which latter must be approved as suitable.]

SEC. 2334. Bond.—[A bond of $500 is required, conditioned on observance of the law.]

SEC. 2335. Registers.—[Registers must be kept of applicants for work and for help, the same to be open to inspection by the commissioner and his agents.]

SEC. 2336. Fees, receipts, etc.—[Fees may not exceed 10 per cent of the first month's wages. Receipts must be given for all fees received, showing date, amount and nature of employment; also a separate statement giving name and address of the employer to whom sent. If the employment is not obtained or accepted, the full amount of the fee shall, on demand, be returned.

This law is to be posted in the agency, and no sign similar to that of the free public agencies is allowed.]

SEC. 2337. Acts forbidden.—[Sending females to places of bad repute or immoral resort is forbidden; also false advertising or the making of false entries or false promises. Violations are punishable by a fine not exceeding $100.]

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 2338. Department of inspection.—There shall be a department of factory inspection under the management of the commissioner of labor and factory inspection.

SEC. 2339. Deputy commissioner.—The commissioner of labor and factory inspection may appoint or remove from office a deputy commissioner of factory inspection to serve under the commissioner in the department of factory inspection.

SEC. 2340. Inspection.—The commissioner shall, by himself or a representative, as often as practicable, examine all buildings and places where machinery is used and may enter such buildings and places at all proper times for the purposes of inspection. He shall, on or before the first of December in each year, make a report to the governor of the condition, as respects safety to life and health, of the factories, buildings, and places visited.

SEC. 2341. Elevators.—No elevator shall be installed and operated in any factory, mercantile establishment, store house, work house, dwelling or other buildings until five days after the owner or his representative has mailed notice to the department of labor and factory inspection that the same is ready for inspection. Any person violating any provision of this section shall be fined not more than fifty dollars for the first offense, and for the second offense shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than six months or both. The provisions of this section shall not prevent the operation of any elevator installed for temporary use in connection with building operations nor with the operation of any elevator for purposes connected with the installation or the testing of the same.

SEC. 2342. Duties of department.—The commissioner shall examine all elevators, whether in factories, mercantile establishments, storehouses, workhouses, dwellings or other buildings, and may order hoistways, hatchways, elevator wells and wellholes to be protected by trapdoors, self-closing hatches, safety catches or such other safeguards as will insure the safety of all persons therein. Due diligence shall be used to keep such trapdoors closed at all times, except when in actual use by an occupant of the building having the use and control of the same. All elevator cabs or cars, whether used for freight or passengers, shall be provided with some suitable mechanical device, if consid-cied necessary by said commissioner, whereby the cab or car will be securely held in the event of accident to the shipper rope or hoisting machinery, or from any similar cause, and said mechanical device shall at all times be kept in good working order.

SEC. 2343 (as amended 1923, ch. 115). Deputies.—The commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall appoint ten deputies, of whom not less than two and not more than three shall be women, to assist him in the performance of his duties. Such deputies shall have the same power as the commissioner has in the department of factory inspection, subject to his approval. The commissioner and all deputies appointed under authority of this section are authorized to lodge a complaint with any prosecuting officer for the violation of any provision of this act, and if such prosecuting officer shall refuse to prosecute such offense, the commissioner or his deputy may present such complaint to the judge of the court or the justice of the peace having jurisdiction, and if such judge or justice of the peace shall find that sufficient facts to warrant prosecution have been presented, he shall forthwith order the prosecuting officer to issue a warrant for such offender. Any prosecuting officer refusing to issue such warrant when so ordered shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars for each offense.

SEC. 2344. Colored windows.—Every person, firm or corporation using stained, painted or corrugated glass in factory windows, where the same is injurious to the eyes of the workmen therein, shall remove the same upon the order of the commissioner.

SEC. 2345. Lighting, etc.—All factories and buildings where machinery is used shall be well lighted, ventilated and kept as clean as the nature of the business will permit. The belting, shafting, gearing, machinery and drums, of all factories and buildings where machinery is used, when so placed as, in the opinion of the commissioner, to be dangerous to the persons employed therein while engaged in their ordinary duties, shall, as far as practicable, be securely guarded. No machinery other than steam engines in a factory shall be cleaned while running after notice forbidding the same is given by the commissioner to the owners or operators of the factory.

SEC. 2346. Toilet rooms in foundries.—[The commissioner may require all foundries where 10 or more men are employed, if sewage disposal is available, to be supplied with a wash room, suitably equipped, warmed, ventilated, and protected from dust. Failure to comply entails a fine of not over $50.]

SEC. 2347 (as amended 1919, ch. 273). Same, in factories, etc.—[Every factory or other building in which 5 or more persons are employed must be provided with suitable toilet accommodations.]

SEC. 2348. Reports of accidents required.—Except as otherwise provided by law, it shall be the duty of the person in active charge of any manufacturing or mercantile establishment to forward by mail to the commissioner at his office in Hartford, within fifteen days after each accident resulting in serious physical injury to an employee while at work in such establishment, a written notice of every such accident of which he shall have knowledge, which notice shall state the name of the injured employee, the time of the accident and the nature of the injury, and shall also contain a general description of the location in the establishment and of the character of the machine, if any, upon which the employee was at work at the time. The commissioner shall forthwith transmit to the person in charge of such establishment a written acknowledgment of the receipt of such notice, and shall keep a record of such accidents thus reported to him. Such records, notices and reports to the commissioner, and any investigation made by him or his deputies or agents, shall be priviledged and confidential and shall not be open for examination or inspection, and neither such commissioner nor any of his deputies or agents shall be a competent witness as to the facts involved in such accident in any proceeding pending in any court, unless such commissioner, deputy or agent was present at the time of the occurrence of the accident. The term "accident resulting in serious physical injury," as used in this section shall be construed to mean every accident which results in the death of the employee or causes his absence from work for at least one week thereafter. Any person, after having received from the commissioner forms for such notices, who shall fail to send notice of any accident as required by this section shall be fined not more than twenty dollars.

SEC. 2349. Enforcement.—The commissioner shall enforce the provisions of this chapter by giving proper orders or notices to the persons or corporations owning, operating or managing the factories or buildings inspected by him and shall make complaint to the State's attorneys of all violations of this chapter.

SEC. 2350. Ventilation.—Every employer whose business requires the operation or use of any emery, tripoli, rouge, corundum, stone, carborundum, or other abrasive, polishing, or buffing wheel, in the manufacture of articles of metal or iridium or whose business includes any process which generates an excessive amount of dust shall install and maintain in connection therewith such devices as may be considered necessary by the commissioner and the State department of health to remove from the atmosphere any dust created by such process. The commissioner, with the State department of health, shall issue to any employer engaged in such business any orders necessary to render effective the foregoing provision, and if, within sixty days from the issuance of such order stating the changes to be made, such order shall not be complied with, the commissioner may order any such department closed until such order is complied with. The violation of any provision of this section or the failure to comply with any written order issued in accordance therewith within sixty days thereafter shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars for each offense, and every such order shall be enforceable by the superior court or by a judge thereof if said court is not in session, by injunction on application of the commissioner or of the State department of health.

SEC. 2351. Violations.—[Violations of secs. 2344, 2345, 2347, or hindering inspectors, are punishable by a fine not to exceed $50; but no penalty will be enforced if changes are made within four weeks after order issued. This does not affect the right of an injured person to recover damages.]

SEC. 2352. Notices.—The orders and notices given by the commissioner of labor and factory inspection under the provisions of this chapter shall be written or printed, signed by him officially, and may be served by him or any proper officer or indifferent person, by leaving an attested copy thereof with or at the usual place of abode of the person upon whom service is to be made, or by registered mail addressed to such person at his last known place of address. Such notice, properly indorsed with the doings of the person or officer serving the same shall be returned to the commissioner and shall be prima facie evidence that notice was given as therein appears. Notice to one member of a firm shall be notice to every member thereof, and notice to the president, secretary, or treasurer of a corporation shall be notice to such corporation. The fees for serving such orders and notices, unless served by the commissioner, shall be the same as for the service of process in civil actions, and shall be included in the necessary expenses of the commissioner.

SEC. 2353. Appeals.—Any person, firm, or corporation aggrieved by any order of the commissioner may appeal to the superior court in the county where the person, firm, or corporation owns, leases, or occupies the factory or building to which said order relates, within four weeks after notice of such order shall be given. Said appeal shall operate as a supersedeas, shall be made in writing, and shall contain a brief statement of the facts and reasons of appeal and a citation to the commissioner to appear before said court, and said court or a judge thereof may direct the time of appearance and the manner of service. Said court may review the doings of the commissioner, confirm, change, or set them aside, and make such orders in the premises, including orders as to costs, as it may find to be proper and equitable.

SEC. 2354. Rooms.—The comptroller shall provide suitable rooms in the capitol for the department of factory inspection, and furnish blank forms for the notices and orders required by this chapter, and for annual reports. The commissioner shall keep in books provided by the comptroller copies of all notices and orders given by him, and a record of all inspections and examinations made; and upon the expiration of his term of office shall file his books of record with the secretary of the State.

SEC. 2355. Sweat shops.—The commissioner shall, as often as practicable, examine all buildings, apartments, rooms and places in any tenement or dwelling house used for residential purposes and used in whole or in part by others than the immediate members of the family therein, for the manufacture of artificial flowers, purses, cigars, cigarettes or any articles of wearing apparel intended for sale.

SEC. 2356. Notice of use.—The persons engaged in the manufacture of such goods in such premises, within thirty days after beginning such manufacture, shall notify said commissioner of the location of said workrooms, the nature of the work there carried on, and the number of persons therein employed.

SEC. 2357. Sanitation, etc.—The person operating said workrooms shall keep the same at all times in a clean and sanitary condition, properly lighted, ventilated, and fit for the occupancy of the persons engaged in work therein. The commissioner or any of his deputies shall notify the owner of such premises, and the person using the same for the purposes set forth in section 2355 to provide ample means for lighting or ventilating such workrooms and to put the same in a clean, sanitary and fit condition for occupancy for said work; and if said notification be not complied with in thirty days after the service of such notice, said commissioner or any of his deputies shall cause complaint to be made to the proper prosecuting authority.

SEC. 2358. Violations.—Every person, firm or corporation owning, using or occupying any workroom for the purposes specified in section 2355 shall, for the violation of any provision of sections 2356 or 2357, be fined not more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 2650. Posting placards.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and factory inspection to cause to be posted, in prominent places in factories and shops, such posters as may be supplied to him for that purpose by the State tuberculosis commission.

Reports of occupational diseases

SECTION 2416 (as amended 1923, ch. 93). Duty of physicians.—Every physician having knowledge of any person whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic, brass, wood-alcohol, mercury, or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, or any other disease, contracted as a result of the nature of the employment of such person, shall, within forty-eight hours, mail to the commissioner of labor and factory inspection a report stating the name, address and occupation of such patient, the name, address and business of his employer, the nature of the disease, and such other information as may reasonably be required by said commissioner. The commissioner shall prepare and furnish to the physicians of this State suitable blanks for the reports herein required. No report made pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be evidence of the facts therein stated in any action at law against any employer of such diseased person. Any physician who shall neglect or refuse to send any report herein required, or who shall fail to send the same within the time specified herein, shall be liable to the State for a penalty of not more than ten dollars, recoverable by civil action in the name of the State by the said commissioner. For each such report the physician making the same shall receive a fee of fifty cents, to be paid by the State department of health as a part of its office expenses.

Employment of children

SECTION 2610. Elevators.—[The employment of any person under 16 years of age to operate an elevator is forbidden, under penalty of not over $25 fine; and of any person under 18 years of age to operate an elevator running over 200 feet per minute, under penalty of not over $100 fine.]

SEC. 2611. Messengers.—[Employment of children under 18 years of age in messenger or delivery service in cities of 20,000 population or over, is forbidden between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. Penalty: Not over $20 fine for each day.]

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 2621. Exits required.—Every story above the first story of a building used as a * * * workshop, manufactory or store in which more than ten persons are employed above the first story, * * * shall be provided with more than one way of egress, by stairways on the inside or fire escapes on the outside of such buildings. Said stairways and fire escapes shall be so constructed, in such number, of such size and in such location as to give, in the opinion of the officer charged with the enforcement of this section, safe, adequate and convenient means of exit, in view of the number of persons who may need to use such stairway or fire escape, shall at all times be kept free from obstruction and shall be accessible from each room in every story above the first story. A ladder affixed to any of the premises herein described shall not be considered a fire escape within the meaning of this section and of sections 2622 and 2623.

SEC. 2622. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall have power to enforce the provisions of sections 2621 and 2623, so far as concerns workshops and factories, and may order fire escapes erected thereon whenever deemed by him to be necessary; and any owner, agent or lessee neglecting or refusing to comply with such order shall be subject to the penalties prescribed in section 2627.

SEC. 2623. Fire escapes.—If any building specified in section 2621, or any workshop, manufactory, boarding house, tenement house or other building used in whole or in part, for any of the purposes therein specified, or in which more than six persons shall be employed above the third story, shall be more than three stories in height, it shall be provided with at least one fire escape of iron or other incombustible material on the outside of said building; and if such building shall be more than one hundred and fifty feet in length it shall be provided with one such fire escape for every one hundred and fifty feet, or fractional part thereof exceeding fifty feet, and such fire escape shall be conveniently accessible from each story of said building; * * *

SEC. 2624. Damages for injuries.—In all cases in which any person shall suffer injury or in which the death of any person shall ensue in consequence of the failure of the owner of any building to provide the same with fire escapes or stairways as required by the provisions of sections 2621, 2622, and 2623, or in consequence of the failure of such owner to comply with any order of the commissioner of labor and factory inspection, made in conformity to the provisions thereof, such owner shall be liable to any person so injured for damages for such injury; and in case of death such owner shall be liable in damages for the injury caused by the death of such person. It shall be no defense to any action for the recovery of such damages that the person injured or whose death ensued as aforesaid, had knowledge that such building was not provided with fire escapes or stairways as required by said sections, or that such person continued to work in or to occupy such building with such knowledge. * * *

SEC. 2627. Penalties.—[Penalties are fines not to exceed $500, or imprisonment not to exceed 6 months, or both.]

Inspection of steam boilers

SECTION 3064 (as amended 1921, ch. 347). Inspector.—[A suitable person of five years' practical experience is to be appointed as boiler inspector by the commissioner of labor and factory inspection.]

SEC. 3065 (as amended 1921, ch. 347). Duties.—[The inspector is to inspect annually steam boilers in the State not subject to other inspection, except portable boilers used for agriculture, road work, etc., and those of less than 15 pounds pressure which are equipped with safety devices.]

SEC. 3066 (as amended 1921, ch. 347). Defective boilers.—[The inspector must give orders for the repair of boilers found defective, and notify the owner, etc., not to use the same until the faulty condition is corrected. An appeal lies to the commissioner, who may modify, affirm, or rescind the order.]

SEC. 3067 (as amended 1921, ch. 347). Fees.—[The fee for internal and external inspection of a boiler not under pressure is $7.50; and for external inspection while under pressure, $2.50; not more than $10 in all in any one year.]

SECS. 3068, 3069. Penalties.—[Refusing to have a boiler inspected, or using it without inspection, or exceeding the pressure fixed entails a fine of not more than $200; and using a condemned boiler may be punished by fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment not over 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 3070 (as amended 1921, ch.. 347). Certificates.—[The inspector issues a certificate for each boiler internally inspected, stating the pressure allowed. The same is to be posted under glass in the boiler room, and is valid not over 14 months.]

Profit sharing by corporations

SECTION 3427. Authorization.—[The boards of directors of corporations may distribute to their employees such portion of the profits of the business as may to the board seem just and proper.]

Public utilities—Safety—Accidents

SECTION 3621. Safety.—[The public utilities commission must, as far as practicable, be informed as to the conditions of public service plants as regards safety of the public and of the employees and may order reasonable repairs and changes needed for such safety.]

SECS. 3622, 3623. Complaints.—[Any person may make complaint in writing of dangerous conditions, and the name shall not be disclosed, if secrecy is requested, unless the commission decides that publicity is necessary. On receipt of such complaint, the commission shall arrange for a hearing, and may order such changes as are found to be required for safety.]

SEC. 3625. Violations.—[Failure to comply with orders entails liability to a fine of not over $1,000, and to double damages for personal injuries resulting from such failure.]

SECS. 3627, 3628. Accidents.—[Public service companies must report all accidents attended with personal injury. The commission must investigate the causes and circumstances of all fatal accidents, making record thereof, with recommendations as to methods of avoiding similar accidents in the future.]

SEC. 3649. Contracts.—[The commission is not authorized to interfere with contracts between public service companies and their employees.]

SEC. 3650. Railroad trains.—[The commission must investigate the operation and manning of trains, and make such regulations regarding the same as it may deem necessary for safety.]

Protection of employees on street railways—Inclosed platforms—Seats

SECTION 3864. Power of commissioners.—When the railroad commissioners deem it necessary, in the interests of the public, or of the employees concerned, that the platforms of any or all of the cars operated by any street railway company should be protected by gates or vestibules, or that fenders should be placed upon such cars, said commissioners may order the company operating such cars to inclose the platforms thereon with gates or vestibules, or both, or to place fenders upon such cars, of such kind and in such manner as they may deem necessary and proper, first giving such company reasonable notice to appear and be heard, and may, after similar notice, modify or revoke any such order. The commissioners shall have sole and exclusive jurisdiction over the inclosing of such platforms and the placing of fenders on such cars; but nothing in this section shall prevent any such company from enclosing its platforms or placing fenders on its cars without such order.

SEC. 3865. Penalty.—Any company operating such car or cars which shall neglect or refuse to comply with any order relating to platforms made pursuant to section 3864 shall forfeit to the State twenty-five dollars for each day of such neglect or refusal.

SEC. 3872. Seats for motormen.—Every company owing or operating a street railway in this State shall cause each of its cars having an air brake to be provided with a seat or stool for the use of the motorman. Any company, owning or operating any such car, which shall neglect or refuse to cause the same to be provided with a seat or stool for the use of the motorman operating the same or the person having the motive power of such car under control, shall forfeit to the State twenty-five dollars for each day of such neglect or refusal.

Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 4002 (as amended 1923, ch. 44). Payments to widows, etc.—[When a workman dies leaving unpaid wages not in excess of $300, and no will is probated or letters of administration granted within 30 days, the debtor may in its or his discretion, on application of the surviving husband or wife, if any, or if none, of the next of kin, pay the wages due; or on application with affidavit, the same may be paid to the undertaker or the physician attending in the last illness. Proof may be required, and a bond of indemnity and proper receipt.]

Assignments of wages

SECTION 4752. Future earnings.—No assignment of future earnings made as security for a loan or other indebtedness shall be valid unless the amount of such indebtedness shall be stated therein, together with the rate of interest to be charged thereon, nor unless the term for which such earnings are assigned shall be definitely limited in the assignment nor unless such assignment shall bear a dated certificate of acknowledgment of the assignor made before a proper authority. No such assignment shall be valid against an attaching creditor of the assignor unless such assignment shall also be recorded before such attachment in the town clerk's office in the town where the assignor resides, or, if he resides without the State, in the town where the employer resides, and a copy thereof left with the employer from whom the wages are to become due. All certificates of acknowledgment required herein shall bear date of the day such acknowledgment is made, and any person who shall intentionally date such a certificate of acknowledgment as of a date other than the actual date such acknowledgment is made shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars, or imprisoned for not more than thirty days, or both.

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency, etc.

SECTION 4920. Insolvency.—[Wages of a laborer or mechanic not to exceed $100, earned within the three months preceding, are preferred above other debts in cases of insolvency.]

SEC. 5007. Administration.—[Debts owing laborers or mechanics for labor performed within three months before the death of the employer rank next after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, and taxes and debts due the State and the United States.]

Employment of women and children[1]

SECTION 5301. Manufacturing and mechanical employment.—No minor under sixteen years of age and no woman shall be employed in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment more than ten hours in any day, or fifty-five hours in any calendar week. Every employer in such establishment shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed a notice, the form of which shall be furnished by the commissioner of labor and factory inspection, specifically stating the hours of work required of them on each day of the week, and the employment of any such person for a longer time on any day than so stated shall be a violation of this section.

SEC. 5302. Mercantile establishments.—No minor under sixteen years of age and no woman shall be employed in any bowling alley or mercantile establishment, other than manufacturing or mechanical, more than fifty-eight hours in any calendar week: Provided, Any employer who shall, during each year, give not less than seven holidays with pay, shall be exempt from the provisions of this section during the period from the seventeenth to the twenty-fifth day of December of each year. Every employer in such an establishment shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed a notice, the form of which shall be furnished by the commissioner of labor and factory inspection, stating specifically the hours of work required of such persons on each day of the week, and the employment of any such person for a longer time on any day than so stated shall be a violation of this section.

SEC. 5303 (as amended 1921, ch. 220). Night work.—No person under sixteen years of age shall be employed in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment after six o'clock in the afternoon; and no such minor shall be employed in any mercantile establishment after six o'clock in the afternoon on more than one day in each calendar week, except during the period from the seventeenth to the twenty-fifth day of December of each year; and no female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the forenoon, * * * Public bowling alleys shall be regarded as mercantile establishments within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 5304. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and factory inspection to examine and inquire into the employment of minors and women in the establishments described in the three preceding sections, and to investigate all complaints of violations thereof, and to report all cases of such violation to the prosecuting officer having jurisdiction thereof. The said commissioner shall, on or before the first day of December in each year, make a report to the governor of the number of such violations so reported by him, and of the prosecutions instituted thereon.

SEC. 5305. Violations.—[Violations of sections 5301, 5302 or 5303 entail a fine of not more than $20. Certificate of age is conclusive evidence upon trial.]

SEC. 5306. Night work; hours of labor.—No public restaurant, café, dining room, barber shop, hair dressing or manicuring establishment or photograph gallery shall employ any minor under sixteen years of age or any woman, between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning. No such establishment shall employ any such minor or female more than fifty-eight hours in any week. The hours of labor of such minors or females shall be conspicuously posted in such establishment in such form and manner as the commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall determine. The provisions of this section shall not affect hotels. The commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall examine and inquire into the employment of such minors and women in the establishments described in this section and investigate all complaints of violations hereof and report all cases of such violation to the prosecuting officer having jurisdiction thereof. Said commissioner shall on or before the first day of December of each year make a report to the governor of the number of violations found and of the prosecutions instituted therefor. Any person violating any provision of this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

[1] For hours of labor of children see chapter 188, Acts of 1921.

Employment of labor—General provisions

Section 5307. Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours of labor, performed in any one day, by any one person, shall be a lawful day's work, unless otherwise agreed.

An agreement, express or implied, supersedes the statute. Excess of labor above eight hours can not be recovered for in absence of agreement. 37 Conn. 221.

Sec. 5308. State institutions.—No person shall, except in case of unavoidable emergency, be employed as a painter, carpenter, mason, electrician, machinist, engineer, fireman or plumber, in the mechanical department of any State institution, for more than eight hours in any day.

Sec. 5309. Women bearing children.—It shall be unlawful for the owner, proprietor, manager, foreman or other person in authority, of any factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop knowingly to employ a woman or permit a woman to be employed therein within four weeks previous to confinement or four weeks after she has given birth to a child. Any person who shall violate any provision of this section shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both.

Sec. 5310. Vaccination of employees.—Whoever shall employ in the manufacture of paper any person who shall not have had the smallpox or been vaccinated, shall pay to any town all expenses caused it by the sickness of such person with smallpox, contracted while so employed.

Sec. 5311 (as amended 1919, ch. 93). Protection of employees on buildings.—Every person employing another to perform labor of any kind in erecting, repairing, altering or painting any building or other structure who shall provide or furnish, or cause to be provided or furnished, for the performance of such labor, any rigging such as ropes, blocks, ladders, planks, trestles, brackets, or other form of supports, shall use or allow to be used ropes where acid is or may come into contact with the same [sic], any swinging scaffold or stage to be used on the exterior of such building or other structure at a greater height than thirty-five feet from the ground, shall, except as hereinafter provided, equip such scaffold or staging with a guard rail to be secured by some suitable material attached to such scaffold or staging at a height not less than thirty-four inches above the floor thereof, to be secured and braced, and to extend along the entire length of the outside of such scaffold or staging. When an extension ladder or several ladders are used for a bed stage there shall be a fall at each intersection and such intersections tied together; there shall be no more than three men on a two-fall stage, and where the falls are more than fifteen feet apart a third fall shall be used. When not in use rigging shall be housed or suitably covered and protected from the weather, and it shall be the duty of the building inspector or other officer in any city, town, or borough charged with the enforcement of the building laws, at any time or upon complaint, to inspect rigging, and when such rigging is found to be unsafe the building inspector or other officer shall give immediate written notice to the employer using the same, drawing his attention to the unsafe condition, and such rigging shall not again be used until it is made safe by the employer in accordance with the direction of the building inspector: Provided, Such requirement shall not apply to any scaffolding or staging exclusively used for the purpose of riveting, or to any scaffolding or staging less than four feet in length. Any contractor or owner, when constructing, in any city, a building, the plans and specifications for which require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling-in between the floors are of fireproof material or brickwork, shall complete such flooring or filling-in, as the building progresses, to within not more than three tiers of beams below that on which the ironwork is being erected, or shall cover with planks not less than two inches in thickness such portion of each alternate tier of floor beams as may be reasonably necessary to give protection to those employed in the erection of such building. If the plans and specifications of such building do not require filling-in between the beams of floors with brick or other fireproof material, all contractors for carpenter work in the course of construction shall lay the under flooring thereof on each story, as the building progresses, to within not more than two stories below that to which such building has been erected. Except in such buildings as are not to be lathed and plastered a temporary flooring at least eight feet wide and protected on the outer edge by a plank at least eight inches high shall be laid, as the building progresses, around the inner side of the outer walls thereof on the floor below that to which such building has been erected. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractors for the iron and steel work of any building in the course of construction, or the owners of such building, shall cover with planks not less than two inches in thickness that portion of the tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected. The flooring, planking, or filling-in, as required by this section, shall not include such spaces as may reasonably be required for the proper construction of any such building and for the raising and lowering of material to be used in such construction or such spaces as may be designated by the plans or specifications for stairways and elevator shafts. In buildings more than three stories in height, all such places other than those used for elevating or hoisting purposes shall be protected, on each story, by a guard rail at a height of three and one-half feet and by a board at least eight inches high close to the floor. All spaces in such buildings used for elevating or hoisting purposes shall be protected at the ends thereof, if such ends are more than three feet in width, by some suitable barrier not less than five feet high, and the sides of such spaces on any story upon which the delivery of material has ceased shall he provided with a movable wooden bar at least two inches by four inches in section and of sufficient length to extend across such opening at a height of three and one-half feet above the floor. When such bar has been provided, neither the contractor nor the owner shall be responsible for any injury or damage resulting from the failure on the part of workmen, employees, or others to use said protection. The chief officer of any city charged with the enforcement of the building laws of such city is charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days or both.

Sec. 5312. Withholding wages.—Any person or corporation that shall withhold any part of the wages of any person, because of any agreement expressed or implied requiring notice before leaving the employment shall forfeit fifty dollars, half to him who shall sue therefor, and half to the State.

This statute does not forbid an agreement, under forfeiture, that reciprocal notice shall be given. 58 Conn. 104.

Sec. 5316. Foremen, etc., accepting fees.—No contractor, foreman, superintendent, or supervisor of labor shall, while giving or contracting to furnish employment to any person, exact or receive any pay or fee directly or indirectly from such person for so furnishing employment. Every person violating any provision of this section shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty days or both.

Sec. 5317. Laborers' boarding houses.—Every agent of a firm or corporation and every other person who shall maintain or have charge of any structure used as a boarding house or place of abode for laborers employed by such person, firm or corporation shall within seventy-two hours after such structure has been occupied for such purpose or purposes notify the health officer of the town, city, or borough, in which such structure is located. Such health officer within five days thereafter shall inspect such premises and may forbid the use of the same altogether, or make such other orders as he may deem necessary to protect the health of the inmates. Every person violating any provision of this section or failing to comply with any order of a health officer made pursuant to this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 5318. Company stores.—Every agent of a corporation, or other person employing laborers, who shall charge or exact for articles or merchandise sold to such laborers a greater sum than is a reasonable price therefor in the town or city where such sales are made shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars for such sale of each separate article.

SEC. 5319. Discounts for prepayments.—No employer of labor, or any person acting for him, shall make a discount or deduction from the wages of any person employed by him, when the wages of the employee or any part thereof are paid at an earlier time than that at which such wages would regularly have been paid. Every person violating this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 5320. Duty of employer.—It shall be the duty of the master to exercise reasonable care to provide for his servant a reasonably safe place in which to work, reasonably safe appliances and instrumentalities for his work, and fit and competent persons as his colaborers; to exercise reasonable care in the appointment or designation of a vice-principal, and to appoint as such vice-principal a fit and competent person. The default of a vice-principal in the performance of any duty imposed by law on the master shall be the default of the master.

SEC. 5321. Seats for female employees.—Every person, partnership, or corporation, employing females in any mercantile, mechanical, or manufacturing establishment shall furnish and provide suitable seats for the use of all females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by said females when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed. Every person, partnership or corporation violating any provision of this section shall be fined not more than fifty dollars.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 5322 (as amended 1921, ch. 212). Age limit.—[The employment of any child under 14 years of age in any mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing establishment, bowling alley or shoe shine parlor is forbidden.]

SEC. 5323 (as amended 1921, ch. 272). Certificate.—[Children under 16 years of age may not be employed in the above-named establishments without certificates issued by the school authorities, stating age, schooling (to complete six grades), and physical fitness. To determine the last, a medical examination may be had at the cost of the State.]

SEC. 5324. Notice of employment.—[Employers must notify the State board of education of the beginning and termination of the employment of children under 16 years of age.]

SEC. 5325. Penalty.—[Failure to have and keep on file open to inspection, the certificates above required, subjects employers to fines of not over $10.]

SEC. 5326. Enforcement.—[The school authorities, State and local, are charged with the enforcement of the act, and the State board of education may appoint agents for this purpose.]

SEC. 5327. Vacation employment.—[Certificates may be issued to children 14 to 16 years of age for summer vacation employment, on a showing of good physical condition.]

SECS. 5328–5331. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 years of age in specified dangerous and hazardous occupations is forbidden. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code. Females under 16 years of age may not be employed to stand continuously. The enforcement of these provisions rests with the commissioner of labor and factory inspection. Violations entail a fine of not over $100.]

Arbitration of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 5332. Appointment.—During each biennial session of the general assembly the governor shall, with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint a State board of mediation and arbitration, to consist of three persons, each of whom shall hold his office for two years. One of said persons shall be selected from the party which at the last general election cast the greatest number of votes for governor, one from the party which at the last general election cast the next greatest number of votes for governor, and the other from a bona fide labor organization of this State. Said board shall select one of its number to act as clerk or secretary, who shall keep a record of the proceedings of the board, and also keep all documents and testimony submitted to said board; he shall have power to call for and examine the books, papers, and documents of the parties to all cases before said board. Said arbitrators shall be sworn before entering upon the discharge of their duties.

SEC. 5333. Submission of grievances.—Whenever a grievance or dispute shall arise between an employer and his employees, the parties may submit the same directly to the State board of mediation and arbitration, and notify said board or its clerk in writing. Whenever such notification is given, said board shall proceed, with as little delay as possible, to the locality of such grievance or dispute and inquire into the causes thereof. The parties shall thereupon submit to said board, in writing, succinctly, clearly, and in detail, their grievances and complaints and causes thereof, and severally promise and agree to continue in business or at work without a strike or lockout until the decision of said board is rendered: Provided, It shall be rendered within ten days after the completion of the investigation. The board shall fully investigate and inquire into the matters in controversy, take testimony under oath in relation thereto, and may by its chairman or clerk administer oaths and issue subpœnas for the attendance of witnesses and for the production of books and papers.

SEC. 5334. Decision.—After a matter has been fully heard, the board, by a majority of its members, shall within ten days render a decision thereon in writing, signed by a majority of the members of the board, stating such details as will clearly show the nature of the decision and the points disposed of by said board. One copy of the decision shall be filed by the board in the office of the town clerk in the town where the controversy arose, and one copy shall be given to each of the parties to the controversy.

SEC. 5335. Board may offer services.—Whenever a strike or lockout shall occur, or is seriously threatened and it shall come to the knowledge of the board, it shall proceed, as soon as practicable, to the locality of such strike or lockout, put itself in communication with the parties of the controversy, and endeavor by mediation to effect a settlement of such strike or lockout; and may inquire into the causes of the controversy, and may subpœna witnesses and send for persons and papers.

SEC. 5336. Reports.—Said board shall, on or before the first of December in each year, make a report to the governor, and shall include therein such statements, facts, and explanations as will disclose the actual working of the board, and such suggestions as to legislation as may seem to it conducive to harmony in the relations between employers and employed.

SEC. 5337. Definition.—The term employer shall include, a firm, company, and corporation.

Factory regulations—Provisions for accidents

SECTION 5338. Provisions required.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing persons to work in connection with dangerous machinery in any manufacturing establishment, except those maintaining equipped first-aid-to-the-injured rooms, shall cause to be conveniently placed where such machinery is operated, subject to such change in location as the commissioner of labor and factory inspection may direct, an emergency kit for use in case of accidents. Such kit shall contain sterilized material for bandages, antiseptic cotton, and restoratives, with such other materials as are necessary in emergencies. Such materials shall be kept in a dust-proof case or cabinet within easy access of all persons employed on such premises. The executive officer of any corporation or general manager or other person, having control of dangerous machinery, who shall fail to comply with any provision of this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars.

Attachment of wages—Costs

SECTION 5806. No costs without prior demand for debt.—In any action in which wages only are attached no costs shall be taxed in favor of the plaintiff, unless it shall appear to the court or justice of the peace before which or whom such action is brought, that demand was made upon the defendant for the payment of the claim sued for, not more than thirty days nor less than three days prior to the bringing of such action.

SEC. 5809. Limit of costs.—In any action in which, upon the service of process, moneys due to the defendant by reason of personal services are attached, the plaintiff shall not recover of the defendant, as costs, a sum exceeding one-half of the amount of damages recovered in the action.

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 5945. Amount exempt.—[Personal earnings to the amount of $15, and the personal earnings of a minor child are exempt from attachment or execution; but personal earnings of the defendant are not exempt where the claim is for his board or for house rent not exceeding $25 per month.]

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships

SECTION 6088. Amount.—[Wages in the amount of $100, earned within the three months preceding, are preferred to the general liabilities of corporation or partnership for which a receiver has been appointed.]

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 6208. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 years of age as rope walkers, gymnasts, etc., at peddling, or in immoral or dangerous employments, is forbidden, under penalty of fine up to $250 or imprisonment to one year, or both.]

Railroads—Abandonment, etc., of locomotives or cars

SECTION 6354. Abandonment, etc.—Every person who shall unlawfully, maliciously, and in violation of his duty or contract, unnecessarily stop, delay or abandon any locomotive, car, train of cars, or street railway car, or shall maliciously injure, hinder or obstruct the use of any locomotive, car, railroad, street railway car, or street railway, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than six months.

Boycotting, blacklisting, etc.

SECTION 6358. Penalty for intimidation.—Every person who shall threaten, or use any means calculated or intended to intimidate, any person to compel such person, against his will, to do or abstain from doing any act which such person has a legal right to do, or shall persistently follow such person in a disorderly manner, or injure or threaten to injure his property, with intent to intimidate him, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not more than six months.

A conspiracy to intimidate the publishers of a newspaper and compel the discharge of certain employees is within the prohibition of this section. The maintenance of a boycott against the paper and its patrons is, prima facie, a malicious and corrupt effort to commit injury. It is also a crime to seek to injure other workmen by depriving them of their employment. 55 Conn. 46.

To threaten and use means to intimidate a company against its will to abstain from keeping in its employ workmen of its own choice is within the prohibition of this section. 55 Conn. 70, 71.

Actual intimidation need not be proved, but only that such acts were done or threats made as would affect the act or choice of the ordinary man. 69 Atl. 1059.

SEC. 6359. Preventing employee from joining union.—Every person, and every agent or officer of any corporation who shall coerce or compel, or attempt to coerce or compel, any laborer, mechanic or other employee in the employ of such person or corporation, to agree, that as a condition of retaining his position as such employee, he will not join any labor organization, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or be imprisoned not more than six months or both.

SEC. 6360. Blacklisting.—Any person, or any officer or agent of any corporation, company or firm who shall blacklist any employee, mechanic or laborer, or publish or cause to be published the name of any employee, mechanic or laborer with the intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic or laborer from engaging in or securing employment from any other person, corporation, company or firm, or shall in any manner conspire or contrive, by correspondence or otherwise, to prevent such employee, mechanic or laborer from procuring employment, shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty and not more than two hundred dollars; but the provisions of this section shall not be construed so as to prohibit any person, or any officer or agent of any corporation, company or firm from giving a truthful statement of any facts concerning a present or former employee of such person, corporation, company or firm, on the application of such employee or of any person, or any officer or agent of any corporation, company or firm who may be considering the employment of such employee.

SEC. 6361. Lists to be open to inspection.—No person or corporation, nor any agent or attorney thereof, nor any association of persons or corporations, shall maintain, subscribe to, belong to or support any bureau or agency conducted for the purpose of preserving and furnishing to any member thereof or to others information descriptive of the character, skill, acts or affiliations of any person whereby his reputation, standing in a trade, or ability to secure employment may be affected, unless a complete record of such information shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of the person to whom such information relates, or his duly authorized agent or attorney. All items of information pertaining to each person so described shall be recorded, in reasonably clear and unambiguous terms, on a single sheet or card, and all records preserved in any such bureau or agency shall be at all times open to the inspection of the commissioner of labor and factory inspector. The name of the person or corporation, together with the names of the officers of any such corporation, conducting any such bureau or agency, the exact business address of such bureau or agency, and the name of every subscriber thereto or member thereof shall be furnished promptly to the commissioner of labor and factory inspection, and by him recorded and preserved in a convenient form for public inspection. Any person or corporation, or any officer or employee of any bureau or agency subject to the provisions of this section, who shall violate any of said provisions shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense. This section shall not apply to religious or charitable institutions maintained solely for humanitarian purposes; nor to agencies maintained solely for the purpose of vending employment and in which persons seeking such employment duly authorize the registration of their names and qualifications; nor to companies, agencies or associations conducted solely for the purpose of preserving records and furnishing reports of financial standing and personal or business credit; nor to the private records of employees kept by any person or corporation to be used in accordance with the provisions of section 6360.

Bribery, etc., of employees

SECTION 6444. Influencing acts of the employees.—Every person who corruptly gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant any gift or gratuity whatever, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business, and every agent, employee or servant who corruptly requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business, and every agent, employee or servant, who being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles, either by purchase or contract, for his principal, employer, or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives directly or indirectly for himself or for another a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies, or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor, and every person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

SEC. 6445. Procuring disclosures.—Every person who corruptly gives, pays, offers or promises any gift or valuable thing to any clerk, stenographer, secretary or agent of any employer for the purpose of inducing such clerk, stenographer, secretary or agent to wrongfully surrender or betray the private correspondence, books or accounts of such employer, or to wrongfully disclose the contents of such private correspondence, books or accounts, and every person who, being a clerk, stenographer, secretary or agent of any employer, corruptly requests or accepts any gift or valuable thing under an agreement to wrongfully surrender or betray, or to wrongfully disclose the contents of the private correspondence, books or accounts of such employer, or who, being a clerk, stenographer, secretary or agent of any employer, corruptly or wrongfully surrenders, betrays or discloses the contents of the private correspondence, books or accounts of such employer, shall be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.

SEC. 6446. Giving evidence.—No person in any prosecution under sections 6444 and 6445 shall be excused from attending, testifying, or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents before any court or in obedience to the subpœna of any court having jurisdiction, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him, may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be liable to any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before said court, or in obedience to its subpœna, or in any such case or proceeding.

Chapter 27.—Factory regulations—Suction shuttles

Section 1. Use forbidden.—Any person, firm or corporation engaged in weaving which shall fail to furnish suitable appliances to permit the threading of shuttles without the necessity of the operator putting any thread into his mouth or touching any portion of the shuttle with his lips, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars. The commissioner of labor and factory inspection shall enforce the provisions of this act.

Chapter 64.—Employment of children—Certificates

Section 1. Conditions of issue.—[The official issuing employment certificates has power to require all statements in support of applications to be made under oath, which he may administer. Each child must be examined physically by a physician designated by the State board of education, one-half at the expense of the town and one-half at the expense of the State.]

ACTS OF 1921

Chapter 188.—Employment of children—Hours of labor

Section 1. Work time.—[No child under 16 years of age may be employed in any mill, cannery, workshop, factory, or manufacturing establishment more than 8 hours per day or 6 days per week, or between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

Sec. 2. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is vested in the commissioner of labor and factory inspection.]

Sec. 3. Violations.—[Employers or parents, etc., violating this act are subject to a fine not exceeding $20 for each offense.]

Chapter 227.—Factory, etc., regulations

Section 1. Laundries.—A public laundry shall be regarded as a manufacturing establishment within the provisions of the general statutes. No laundry work shall be done in any public laundry in a room used as a sleeping or a living room. No employer shall permit any person to work in his public laundry who is affected with pulmonary tuberculosis, scrofulous or venereal disease, or a communicable skin affection.

Chapter 266.—Factory, etc., regulations—Toilets

Section 1. Power of commissioner.—[The commissioner of labor and factory inspection is authorized to require every manufacturing, mechanical, and mercantile establishment to provide adequate toilet facilities for each sex, with provision for privacy, cleanliness, sanitation, etc.]

Sec. 2 (as amended 1923, ch. 117). Duty of owners.—[Owners of buildings occupied by one or more such establishments must furnish the accommodations, and the occupant or occupants maintain them.]

Sec. 3. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of the commissioner to enforce this law.]

Sec. 4. Penalties.—[Violations and offenses under this act subject the offender to a fine of not over $50 for each offense.]

CHAPTER 137.—Labor organizations—Badges, etc.

SECTION 1. Unauthorized use.—[The use of the registered insignia, badge, seal, button, etc., of any labor union, or of the insignia, etc., of any labor union in existence 25 years at the time of the passage of this act by a person not authorized so to do; or the use of the same to obtain assistance, or using the name, etc., of the organization, or falsely claiming membership therein, subjects the offender to a fine of not more than $500.]

CHAPTER 241.—Employment of children—Bowling alleys

SECTION 1. Hours of employment.—[Minors between 14 and 16 years of age can not be employed in bowling alleys after 6 p. m. on any day immediately preceding a school day, or after 10 p. m. at any time.]

SEC. 2. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor and industrial statistics is charged with the enforcement of this act, and must make a report thereon annually.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of not over $100 fine.]

DELAWARE

REVISED CODE—1914

Factory, etc., regulations—Sanitation of public laundries

746A, SECTION 11A (added 1915, ch. 59). Sleeping rooms.—[No person may sleep in any public laundry or washhouse, or room adjoining or opening thereon.]

Labor commission

[Sections 987–992, inclusive, were repealed by chapter 66, Acts of 1915, and the following sections inserted in lieu thereof:]

987, SECTION 1. Commission created.—A commission is hereby created and established with the powers and duties hereinafter provided, which shall be known as the "Labor Commission of Delaware." The said commission shall consist of five members, one of whom shall be appointed from among the bona fide residents of New Castle County, one from among the bona fide residents of Kent County, and one from among the bona fide residents of Sussex County; the remaining two shall be appointed at large from among the bona fide residents of the State of Delaware. On or before the first day of April, A. D. 1915, the governor shall appoint the members of the said Labor Commission of Delaware provided herein, as follows:

One member for a term of one year, one member for a term of two years, one member for a term of three years, one member for a term of four years, and one member for a term of five years.

The term of office, after the first appointments made hereunder, shall be for five years, and annually, or before the first day of April, the governor shall appoint a suitable person to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of office.

In case of vacancy caused by death, resignation, refusal to serve, or otherwise, the governor shall make appointments to fill such vacancy or vacancies for the balance of the unexpired term.

988, SEC. 2. Service without salary.—The members of the commission shall receive no salary for their services. They shall annually elect one of their number as chairman of the said commission and may appoint a person not a member of the commission as secretary who may receive a salary not exceeding one hundred dollars per annum.

989, SEC. 3. Powers.—The commission shall have power and authority by a majority vote of the whole commission to make all appointments of officials or employees which may be made under any law relating to the condition, regulation or inspection of labor of minor children, or the condition, regulation or inspection of labor of females in the State of Delaware. The officers or employees so appointed shall make quarterly reports to the commission. When in the opinion of the majority of the whole commission, any official or employee appointed or engaged by the commission shall not perform his or her duty in a satisfactory and efficient manner, the commission shall have the power to remove the said official, or employee and to appoint a new official or employee in his or her stead: Provided, however, That no official shall be removed from office until such official shall have had a fair and impartial public hearing, and shall have been furnished with a copy of the charges and specifications of complaints upon which the action of the commission shall have been based, if such charges and specifications be requested.

990, SEC. 4. Annual report.—The commission shall furnish annually to the governor during the first week in January a full account of their expenditures, disbursements, and action. Such report shall at all times be open to the inspection of the citizens of the State in the office of the secretary of state.

991, SEC. 5 (as amended 1923, ch. 61). Appropriation.—To defray the expenses of the said commission and its officers and employees the sum of thirty-six hundred dollars is hereby appropriated annually out of the money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, and the State treasurer is authorized from time to time to pay said expenses out of the said appropriation upon the requisitions of the chairman of said commission.

992, SEC. 6. Printing; appointment of inspectors.—The Labor Commission of Delaware shall formulate and have printed certificates and papers required in the issuing of employment certificates and the abstracts of the law relating to the hours of child labor and the conditions and hours of females in this State.

The said commission shall have the power to appoint and fill vacancies in the office of the State child labor inspector, as provided by section 91 [3191] of chapter 90, of said Revised Code of the State of Delaware, and to appoint and fill vacancies in the office of the inspector [of woman labor] as provided by section 39 [3139] of the said chapter 90 of the Revised Code of the State of Delaware.

1789, SECTION 69. Coercion, etc., by employers.—If any person, or corporation existing or doing business in this State shall hinder, control, coerce, or intimidate, or shall attempt to hinder, control, or coerce, or intimidate any qualified elector of this State from or in the exercise of his right to vote at any general, special, or municipal election held under the laws of this State, by means of bribery or by threats of depriving such elector of employment or occupation, absolutely or contingently, directly or indirectly, every elector so aggrieved may, in an action of debt brought for that purpose, sue for and recover from the person or corporation so offending as aforesaid the sum of five hundred dollars.

In all trials under the provisions of this section the act or acts of any officer of a corporation, so far as they affect or concern any employee or servant of such corporation, shall be taken and held to be the act or acts of the corporation, whether general or special authority as to such act or acts from the corporation to such officer be shown or not. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to relieve any officer of a corporation from individual liability under the provisions of this section.

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

1971, SECTION 57. Rank; amount.—[Employees of insolvent corporations have a lien on their assets for two months' wages, to be paid prior to any other debt or debts; officers are not included as employees.]

Employment of labor on public works—City of Wilmington

2159, SECTION 44. Legal day for municipal employees.—Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of employees employed by the municipal corporation of the city of Wilmington.

2160, SEC. 45. Contracts.—[Contracts must stipulate that the eight-hour day will be observed, except in cases of extraordinary emergency.]

2161, SEC. 46. Rate.—[Wages must not be less than the prevailing rates in the same trade or occupation in the locality.]

2162, SEC. 47. Violations.—[Officers violating or permitting violations shall be suspended or removed.]

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

2223, SECTION 32. Acrobatic, mendicant, etc., employments.—Any person having the care, custody, or control of any minor child under the age of fifteen years who shall in any manner sell, apprentice, give away, or otherwise dispose of such minor, or any person who shall take, receive, or employ such child for the vocation or occupation of rope or wire walking or dancing or as an acrobat or gymnast, or any person who, having the care, custody, or control of any minor child whatsoever, shall sell, apprentice, give away, or otherwise dispose of such minor, or who shall take, receive, or employ such minor, for begging or any obscene, indecent, or illegal exhibition or vocation or any vocation injurious to the health or dangerous to the life or limb of such child engaged therein, or for the purpose of prostitution, or any person who shall retain, harbor, or employ any minor child in or about any assignation house or brothel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace or court of record shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each and every offense.

Employment of women—Hours of labor

3135, SECTION 35 (as amended 1917, ch. 230). Hours per day and week; night work.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any mercantile, mechanical, or manufacturing establishment, laundry, baking or printing establishment, telephone and telegraph office or exchange more than ten hours in any one day or more than fifty-five hours in any one week. If any part of a female's daily employment is performed between the hours of eleven o'clock post meridian and seven o'clock ante meridian of the following day, no such female shall be employed or permitted to work thereat more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours. No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any mechanical or manufacturing establishment, laundry, baking or printing establishment, office, or dressmaking establishment between the hours of ten o'clock post meridian and six o'clock ante meridian of the following day. The provisions of sections thirty-five to forty-three, inclusive, of this chapter shall not apply to females employed in the canning or preserving or preparation for canning or preserving of perishable fruits and vegetables.

3136, SEC. 36. Women employed by several employers.—Where a female is employed in the same day or week by more than one concern or employer in any establishment or occupation named in section 35 of this chapter, the total time of employment must not exceed that allowed per day or week in a single establishment or occupation. It shall be the duty of the employer to make diligent inquiry as to such previous or other employment of such female employee elsewhere, and as to the hours of such employment. Any person who shall require or permit a female to work in excess of the total time of employment permitted by this chapter, shall be liable for a violation thereof, and the employment of such female employee in excess of the total time of employment permitted by law shall be presumed, in absence of evidence to the contrary, to be with knowledge of such violation.

3137, SEC. 37 (as amended 1917, ch. 230). Rest period.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously at one time in any establishment or occupation named in section 35 of this chapter, without an interval of at least three-quarters of an hour; except that such female may be so employed for not more than six and one-half hours continuously at one time if such employment ends not later than half past one o'clock in the afternoon, and if she is then dismissed for the remainder of the day.

3138, SEC. 38. Hours to be posted.—Every employer shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room in any establishment or occupation named in section thirty-five of this chapter, in which any females are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours such females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and stopping such work, and the hours of beginning and ending the recess allowed for meals. The printed form of such notice shall be furnished by the said inspector. The employment of such female for a longer time in any day than that stated in the printed notice shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of this chapter. The presence of any such female on the premises at any other hours than those stated in the printed notice shall constitute prima facie evidence of a violation of said sections. Where the nature of the business makes it impracticable to fix the recess allowed for meals at the same time for all females employed, the inspector authorized to enforce said sections may issue a permit dispensing with the posting of the hours when the recess allowed for meals begins and ends, and requiring only the posting of the total number of hours which females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week and the hours of beginning and stopping such work. Such permit shall be kept by such employer upon such premises and exhibited to all inspectors authorized to enforce said sections.

3139, SEC. 39 (as amended 1923, ch. 201).—Inspector; appointment: term of office; salary.—The chancellor is authorized and directed, on or before the first day of May, A. D. nineteen hundred and thirteen, and biennially thereafter, to appoint one inspector to carry out the purposes of sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of this chapter, at a salary of one thousand dollars per annum, to be paid in quarterly installments of two hundred and fifty dollars each by the State treasurer, out of any State funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated. The term of office of said inspector shall be two years from the date of such appointment.

3140, SEC. 40. Right of access.—The inspector authorized by section 39 of this chapter, may in the discharge of the inspector's duties enter any place, building or room where any labor is being performed by females which is affected by the provisions of sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of this chapter, whenever such inspector may have reasonable cause to believe that any such labor is being performed therein.

3141, SEC. 41. Duties.—The said inspector shall visit and inspect the establishments and places of employment named in section 35 as often as practicable, during reasonable hours, and shall cause the provisions of sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of this chapter, to be enforced therein, and shall report any cases of illegal employment, contrary to the provisions of said sections, to the attorney general; the said inspector shall report in writing, at least once every year to the State board of health. The said report shall show—1. The number of establishments in the State where females are employed. 2. The number of females employed. 3. The number of inspection visits made. 4. The number of violations. 5. The number and dispositions of prosecutions under said sections, and in addition thereto, any matters in the knowledge of the said inspector pertinent to the purpose and enforcement of said sections.

The State board of health shall incorporate such report or reports in its regular biennial printed report.

3142, SEC. 42. Violations.—[Penalty for first offense, fine of from $20 to $50; second, from $50 to $200; third, not less than $250.]

3143, SEC. 43. Validity.—The invalidity of any portion of sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of this chapter, shall in no way effect the validity of any other portion thereof, which can be given effect without such invalid part.

Employment of children—General provisions

[Sections 3144, sec. 33, to 3192, sec. 92, were repealed by ch. 232, Acts of 1917, and sections 3144, sec. 44, to 3173, sec. 73, enacted in lieu thereof.]

3144, SECTION 44. Age limit.—[Forbids the employment of any child under 44 years of age where work is done for compensation, except farm labor and private domestic service.]

3145, SEC. 45 (as amended 1923, ch. 202). Dangerous employments.—No child under sixteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in operating or assisting in operating steam boilers or blast furnaces or any of the following machines, which, for the purposes of this act, are considered dangerous: Circular saws, wood shapers, wood jointers, paper-lace machines, job or cylinder printing presses operated by power or other than foot power, stamping machines used in sheetmetal and tinware or in paper and leather manufacturing, or in washer and nut factories; metal or paper cutting machines; corrugating rolls, such as are used in making corrugated paper, or in roofing or washboard factories; dough-brakes or cracker machinery of any description, wire or iron straightening or drawing machinery, rolling-mill machinery, power punches or shears, washing or grinding or mixing machinery, calendar rolls in paper and rubber manufacturing, or other heavy rolls driven by power, passenger elevators or lifts, or upon or in connection with any dangerous electrical machinery or appliances. Nor shall any child under sixteen years of age be employed, permitted or suffered to work, in any capacity, in adjusting, or assisting in adjusting, any belt to any machinery, or in proximity to any hazardous or unguarded belts, machinery or gearing, or in oiling, wiping, or cleaning machinery, while any of the same is in motion, nor on scaffolding, nor in heavy work in the building trades, nor about docks or wharves, nor in stripping or assorting tobacco, nor in, about or in connection with any processes in which dangerous or poisonous acids are used, nor in the manufacture or packing of paints, colors, white or red lead, nor in the manufacture or preparation of compositions with dangerous or poisonous gases, nor in the manufacture or use of dangerous or poisonous dyes, nor upon any railroad, steam, electric or otherwise; nor upon any vessel or boat engaged in the transportation of passengers or merchandise, nor in operating motor vehicles of any description, nor in any tunnel or excavation, nor in, about or in connection with any mine, quarry, coal breaker or coke oven, nor in or about any distillery, brewery, or any establishment where alcoholic liquors are manufactured or bottled.

3146, SEC. 46. Certificates.—[Certificates required to 16 years of age.]

3147, SEC. 47. Theatrical performances.—[Requires permits for children under 16 years of age in theatrical performances.]

3148, Sec. 48. Employment under 18.—No person under eighteen years of age shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in the outside erection or repair of electric wires; in the running or management of hoisting machines or of dynamos; in the operation or use of any polishing or buffing wheel; at switch tending; at gate tending; at track repairing; as a brakeman, fireman, engineer, motorman or conductor upon any railroad or railway; as a railroad telegraph operator; as a pilot, fireman, or engineer of any boat or vessel engaged in the transportation of passengers; nor in or about any establishment where gunpowder, nitroglycerin, dynamite, or other high or dangerous explosives are manufactured or compounded.

3150, Sec. 50. Messengers.—[Forbids messenger or delivery service by minors between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. in cities of more than 20,000 inhabitants.]

3151, Sec. 51, 3158, Sec. 58. Issue of certificates.—[Certificates issue on evidence of age, schooling through fifth grade, medical certificate, and employer's statement of intention to employ. The school authorities are the issuing agencies. Provisional certificates for vacation employment are provided for.]

3159, Sec. 59 (as amended 1923, ch. 203). Work time.—[Forbids the employment of children with certificates more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, or more than 8 hours per day, nor without 30 minutes' rest between 11.30 a. m. and 2 p. m., after not more than 5 hours' work; no work between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

3160, Sec. 60. Names to State inspector.—[Issuing officers must send names of children holding certificates to State child labor inspector.]

3160–a, Sec. 60–a (added 1923, ch. 204). Street trades.—[Applies to street trades in cities of over 20,000 inhabitants; girls under 12 years of age and boys under 14 may not engage; includes delivery of newspapers. Badges required to 16 years of age. No employment under 16 after 7 p. m. or before 6 a. m., nor during school hours.]

3161, Sec. 61. Labor necessary.—[A child whose labor is required for its own or its family's support may receive a certificate, if recommended by the inspector after investigation, though unable to meet the requirements of the law.]

3162, Sec. 62 (as amended 1923, ch. 205). State child labor inspector.—[Labor commission appoints for term of 4 years; must have no other gainful occupation; salary $2,100.]

3163, Sec. 63. Duties.—[Inspector must visit establishments and enforce the law.]

3164, Sec. 64. Evidence.—[Failure to produce certificate or refusal of child to give inspector his name, age, and place of residence is prima facie evidence of illegal employment.]

3165, Sec. 65. Children without certificates.—[Inspector may demand evidence of age of child apparently under age, who has no certificate, which evidence must be furnished in 10 days, or child cease work.]

3168, Sec. 68. Repeated offenses.—[Provides increasing penalties for repeated violations.]

3171, Sec. 71. Canneries.—[Children over 12 years of age may be employed in canning or preserving perishable fruits and vegetables.]

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

3372, Section 39. Rank.—[Makes wages of farm and domestic servants or laborers for not more than a year rank next after funeral expenses and expenses of last sickness.]

Payment of wages due deceased employees

3380, Section 47. To whom wages may be paid.—It shall be lawful for any employer in this State, at any time not less than fifteen days after the death of any person in his or its employ, to pay all wages due to such deceased employee to the wife, children, father, or mother, sister, or brother (preference being given in the order named) of the deceased employee, without requiring letters of administration to be issued upon the estate of said deceased employee, where such wages due do not exceed seventy-five dollars in amount: Provided, however, That if such deceased employee shall not leave a wife, children, father, mother, sister, or brother surviving him, then it shall be lawful for said employer to pay the wages due such deceased employee to the creditors, as follows: Undertaker, physician, boarding-house keeper, and nurse, each his or her pro rata share of wages, not exceeding seventy-five dollars, due the deceased, upon affidavit of fact furnished, without letters of administration being issued.

The payment of such wages shall be a full discharge and release to the employer from the wages so due and paid.

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

3460, SECTION 25. Fire escapes to be provided for certain buildings.—The owner or owners of any building * * * being more than two stories in height and which shall be used in the third or any higher story, in whole or in part as a * * * factory or workshop, or as a tenement house * * * shall be required to furnish such building with sufficient permanent fire escapes from the third and all higher stories, and which escapes shall be kept and maintained in good order. Such fire escapes may be by means of stairways or ladders outside the building, or by stairways in a separate tower or structure furnished with safe and easy communication with such building: Provided, That sections 25 to 28, inclusive, of this chapter, shall not apply to any building whatever that is already supplied with two or more independent stairways leading from the highest story to the ground floor, if said stairways shall not be nearer to each other at any point than a distance of sixty feet.

3461, SEC. 26. Inspection.—[Chief engineers, if any, of local fire department, or if not, then mayor or chief local officer shall examine fire escapes as to suitableness, sufficiency, etc., and give certificate valid for two years if approved.]

Railroad employees—Abandonment, etc., of locomotives or cars—Strikes

3495, SECTION 60. Strikes.—If any locomotive engineer, upon any railroad within this State, who shall, at the time, be engaged in any strike, or with a view to incite others to such strike, or in furtherance of any combination or preconcerted arrangement with any other person or persons to bring about or produce such strike, shall abandon the locomotive engine in his charge, when attached either to a passenger or freight train, at any place other than the schedule or otherwise appointed destination of such train, or shall refuse or neglect to proceed with said train to the place of destination, as aforesaid, every such person, so offending, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof by indictment, be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred, dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

3496, SEC. 61. Refusing to move cars of another company.—If any locomotive engineer, or railroad employee, within this State, for the purpose of furthering the object of, or lending aid to, any strike or strikes organized or attempted to be maintained on any other railroad, either within or without this State, shall refuse or neglect, in the course of his employment, to aid in the movement over and upon the tracks of the company employing him of the cars of such other railroad company, or receive therefrom in course of transit where strikes are, either then, or may have been, organized or attempted to be maintained, as aforesaid, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof by indictment, shall be fined not less than one hundred, nor more than five hundred, dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

3497, SEC. 62. Interfering with employee.—If any person in aid or furtherance of the objects of any strike upon any railroad within this State, shall interfere with, molest or obstruct any railroad employee engaged in the discharge and performance of his duty, as such, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof by indictment, shall be fined not less than one hundred, nor more than five hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

3498, SEC. 63. Obstructing track, etc.—If any person or persons, in aid or furtherance of the objects of any strike, shall obstruct any railroad track within this State, or shall injure or destroy the rolling stock or any other property of any railroad company, or shall take possession of or remove any such property, or shall prevent, or attempt to prevent, the use thereof by such railroad company or its employees, or shall, by offer of recompense, induce any employees of any railroad company within this State, to leave the service of such company, every such person, so offending, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof by indictment, shall be fined not less than five hundred, nor more than one thousand, dollars, and may be imprisoned, not less than six months, nor more than one year, at the discretion of the court.

3499, SEC. 64. Abandoning train, etc.—If any conductor, baggage master, brakeman, or other trainman, employed on either a freight or passenger train, on any railroad within this State, shall abandon the train to which he is so attached, or with which he is connected in furtherance of any strike, or with a view of inciting others to such strike, or in aid of any others who may be engaged in such strike, at any place other than the schedule or otherwise appointed destination of such train, or shall refuse or neglect to proceed with such train to its place of destination, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, by indictment, shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

Protection of employees on street railways

3505, SECTION 70. Inclosure.—[Requires front and rear platforms of surface street cars in cities to be inclosed from the front and at least one side, so as to protect employees; cars used outside city limits to be completely inclosed. Law applies from November to April, both inclusive; does not affect trailers.]

Assignments and garnishment of wages

3562, SECTION 127. Who may accept.—[Makes it unlawful for any person or corporation not having a known place of business within the State to accept wage assignments as security for money loaned.]

4129, SEC. 12. Payments on usurious debts.—It shall be unlawful for any employer in this State to knowingly pay any warrant or order, issued by any employee against his or her salary and intended to be in payment or part payment of any indebtedness due any person, firm or corporation for borrowed money, in cases where a greater rate of interest than six per cent per annum has been received or charged for such borrowed money.

[If an employer is summoned as garnishee and the employee claims that interest charges exceed 6 per cent, if this is proved, the garnishee is to be discharged. Employers violating the act are guilty of a misdemeanor.]

CHAPTER 228.—Factory, etc., regulations—Canneries—Inspector

SECTION 2. Appointment.—On or before the first day of June, A. D. 1915, and on or before the first day of June biennially thereafter, the governor shall appoint and assign an efficient person, who shall be a citizen of this State, and one who has a thorough knowledge of the canning business, who shall be known and designated by the official title of "cannery inspector." He shall hold office for one year from the first day of June, or he may be dismissed and his commission revoked at any time, for cause, by the governor.

SEC. 3. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the "cannery inspector" to visit and inspect, at reasonable hours, and as often as practicable, all factories and establishments in this State in which fruits, vegetables, or by-products thereof, are packed and preserved in tin or glass cans or jars, or other containers, to be sold as food, and to enforce the correction of all unsanitary conditions and practices found therein; and it shall be his special duty to enforce the laws, rules and regulations provided in this act.

The "cannery inspector" shall make a written report to the governor of each and every violation of this law immediately upon such violation being made, and he shall also make an annual report to the governor on or before the first day of January in each and every year. The annual report shall set forth the condition of each factory as to sanitation, whether the provisions of this act are being complied with, and such other matters and things as may be relevant thereto, and he shall furnish such other information concerning this act, from time to time, as may be required by the governor.

SEC. 4. Certificates.—The "cannery inspector" shall, on the first day of October in each year, furnish to each person, firm or corporation operating a factory affected by this act, that shall have complied with the provisions hereof during the year immediately preceding said first day of October, a certificate of inspection under the hand of the "cannery inspector," setting forth that such factory has been inspected and all laws, rules and regulations for the year immediately preceding the date of the certificate have been fully complied with.

SEC. 5. Rules.—The "cannery inspector" in the discharge of his duties under the provisions hereof, shall be governed by the following rules and regulations, which are hereby made the law of this State:

All persons, firms or corporations, operating factories affected by this act, shall be subject to the following rules, regulations and requirements.

All rooms in which fruits, vegetables, or by-products thereof, are packed and preserved, and in which manufacturing is actually carried on, shall be provided with smooth, water-tight floors which can be properly cleansed.

Adequately equipped wash stations and places where employees may change their clothing and hang the clothes not in use, shall be provided for male and female employees. These wash stations shall be provided with sufficient water, soap and sanitary towels.

Separate toilet rooms shall be maintained for male and female employees.

Living quarters, if provided by the canner, shall have waterproof roofs and tight board floors, and shall be provided with ample light and ventilation, and provision shall be made therein for the proper separation and privacy of sexes.

Adequate drainage shall be provided to lead all waste liquids outside and away from the buildings.

All machinery used shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition by the use of steam or water, and also all floors and toilet rooms shall be kept in a sanitary condition.

No litter, drainage or waste matter of any kind shall be allowed to collect in or around the buildings, and the surroundings shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition. Occupants of living quarters provided by the canner shall be required to keep the same in a clean and sanitary condition.

Employees in factories affected by the provisions of this act shall be subject to the following rules, regulations and requirements:

Employees are prohibited from smoking or spitting in any room in the cannery where foods are being prepared for canning.

Female employees who work where foods are being prepared for canning shall wear clean aprons or dresses made of washable fabrics and shall also wear clean, washable caps over their hair.

Employees with infected wounds in the hands or arms are prohibited from handling food products, or the containers in which they are placed, before such containers are sealed or capped. Clean cuts, which are not infected shall be covered with rubber cots securely fastened.

SEC. 6. Law to be posted.—The "cannery inspector" shall have prepared and printed, abstracts of this law, and shall furnish every person, firm or corporation in this State, effected [affected] by this act, with a reasonable number of printed abstracts, and such printed abstracts shall be posted in at least five conspicuous places in each factory affected by this act, and they shall be kept posted in plain view so that they can be easily read by the employees. If persons are employed who do not understand the English language, suitable translations, or so much of the law as affects the employees, shall also be posted in languages with which they are familiar, and such translations shall be furnished by the said "cannery inspector" upon application by the owner.

SEC. 9. Entering working places.—The "cannery inspector" provided for in this act, is hereby authorized and empowered to enter upon the premises of any factory in this State engaged in the business herein set forth, for the purpose of inspecting and enforcing the provisions of this act, and any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business aforesaid, refusing access to the said officer, or in any way interfering with said officer in the exercise of his duties, when over [other] penalties are not provided in this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in the court of general sessions, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense. In default of the payment of any fine that may be imposed under the provisions of this act, imprisonment may be imposed, for a term, in the discretion of the court, in lieu thereof.

SEC. 10. Salary.—The annual salary of the "cannery inspector" shall be one thousand dollars, payable in quarterly installments of two hundred and fifty dollars each. There shall also be allowed to the "cannery inspector" for contingent expenses the sum of five hundred dollars, to be paid to him in like quarterly installments.

The salary and contingent expenses aforesaid shall be paid by the State treasurer out of moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

CHAPTER 231.—Factory, etc., regulations—Sanitation

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 187). Toilets.—[Suitable and accessible water-closets or privies must be supplied where women are employed; and if men are also employed, separate provision must be made for the sexes, properly marked, ventilated, and kept in a cleanly condition. If more than 15 women are employed, one closet must be provided for each 25 employees.]

SEC. 2. Seats.—[At least one seat for each three females must be provided and their use permitted; they must be conveniently accessible during working hours.]

SEC. 3. Dressing rooms.—[Washing facilities must be furnished for female employees, one spigot or basin for each 25; and if change of clothing is necessary or customary, a suitable room with lockers or hangers and seats must be furnished, separated from the toilet compartment.]

SEC. 4. Lunch rooms.—In every establishment in which white lead, arsenic, nicotine or other poisonous or injurious substances, fumes or gases are present, or in which dust, lint, or particles of material are created by the machinery or by the material in the process of manufacture, and in which females are employed or permitted to work, there shall be provided a suitable room, free from the aforesaid substances, fumes, gases, dust, line [lint], or particles of material, for the use of such employees during the time allowed for meals [when] they shall not be permitted to remain in any room where the aforesaid substances, fumes, gases, dust, lint, or particles of material shall be present. In such establishments washing facilities shall be provided, including hot water, soap, and individual towels or paper-tissue towels.

SEC. 5. Air space.—In every establishment named in section one of this act in which females are employed or permitted to work, there shall be provided not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space for each and every person in every workroom in said establishment where persons are employed. In aforesaid establishments all workrooms shall be adequately heated and ventilated, and all workrooms, halls, and stairways shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and properly lighted.

SEC. 6. Exhaust fans.—In every establishment in which poisonous fumes or gases are present, or in which poisonous or injurious dust, line [lint] or particles of material are created by the machinery or by the material in the process of manufacture and in which females are employed or permitted to work, there shall be provided proper hoods and pipes connected with exhaust fans of sufficient capacity to remove such fumes, gases, dust, lint, or particles of materials at the point of origin and prevent them from mingling with the air of the room, and such fans shall be kept running constantly while such fumes, gases, dust, lint, or particles of material shall be generated or present.

SEC. 7. Drinking water.—A sufficient supply of clean and pure water and individual drinking cups or a sanitary fountain shall be provided in every establishment named in section one of this act in which females are employed or permitted to work. If drinking water is placed in receptacles, such receptacles shall be properly covered to prevent contamination and shall at all times be kept thoroughly clean. No employer in any such establishment shall collect from any employee money for ice or water furnished for drinking purposes.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1921, ch. 187). Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the inspectors appointed by the Labor Commission of Delaware to enforce the provisions of this act. The inspectors shall visit and inspect establishments, and shall have the power whenever they have reason to suppose that work is being performed to visit and inspect any establishment in or in connection with which any female shall be employed or permitted to work. The inspectors shall investigate all complaints of violation of this act received by said inspectors, and institute prosecutions for the violations of the provisions thereof.

The State Board of Health of Delaware shall determine what are poisonous fumes and gases and what are poisonous or injurious dust, lint, or particles of materials, as set out in section six of this act, and the Labor Commission of Delaware shall determine the definition of all other terms used in this act; and shall have power to adopt and promulgate suitable rules and regulations for effectively carrying out the provisions of this act; but the decision of either the State Board of Health of Delaware or the Labor Commission of Delaware shall not be final, but subject to appeal to the Court of General Sessions of the State of Delaware in and for the county of the person appealing, or in case the appeal be prosecuted by the Labor Commission of Delaware, from the decision of the State Board of Health, then in and for the county wherein said poisonous fumes or gases or poisonous or injurious dust, lint, or particles of material are created.

The inspectors shall keep records of all visits or inspections made and of all written orders given by the aforesaid inspectors. The inspectors shall keep records of all complaints of violation of this act received by them and of all prosecutions instituted, with the result of each prosecution.

In the enforcement of the provisions of this act, the inspectors shall give proper notice in regard to violation of this act to the person or corporation owning, operating or managing any such establishment. Such notice shall be written or printed and signed officially by the inspector, and said notice may be served by delivering the same to the person on whom service is to be had, or by leaving at his usual place of abode or business an exact copy thereof, or by sending a copy thereof to such person by mail.

If found necessary to make changes in or additions to any establishments named in section 1 for ventilation, sewerage, water closets, or plumbing, the inspector shall require the owner of the building in which such establishment is situated to provide the necessary changes, additions, or improvements, if they are of a permanent character and will become the property of the owner of the building in which such establishment is located.

Compliance with the written order of the inspector must be within the number of days specified by him in his order. Appeal from the decision of the inspector may be made to the Labor Commission of Delaware. Such appeal must be made in writing within ten days of receipt of the inspector's order.

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of $10 to $50 for a first offense, and not less than $25 nor more than $200 for subsequent offenses.]

CHAPTER 234.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 1. Scaffolding, etc., to be furnished.—A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection, repairing, altering or painting of a house, building or structure shall not furnish or erect, or cause to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances which are unsafe, unsuitable or improper, and which are not so constructed, placed and operated as to give proper protection to the life and limb of a person so employed or engaged.

Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support, or erected with stationary supports, more than twenty feet from the ground or floor, except scaffolding wholly within the interior of a building and which covers the entire floor space of any room therein, shall have a safety rail of suitable material, properly bolted, secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portions of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and the ends thereof, with such openings as may be necessary for the delivery of materials, and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 2. Floors to be filled in.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling in between the floors are of fireproof material or brickwork, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses to not less than within three tiers of beams below that on which the ironwork is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such buildings do not require filling in between the beams of floors with brick or fireproof material all contractors for carpenter work, in the course of construction, shall lay the underflooring thereon on each story as the building progresses to not less than within two stories below the one to which such building has been erected. Where double floors are not to be used, such contractor shall keep planked over the floor two stories below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractors for the iron and steel work of buildings in course of construction or the owners of such buildings shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work, and for the raising or lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such building, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts. If elevators or elevating machines are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be inclosed or fenced in on all sides by a barrier at least eight feet in height, except on two sides which may be used for taking off and putting on materials, and those sides shall be guarded by an adjustable barrier not less than three nor more than four feet from the floor and not less than two feet from the edge of such shaft or opening.

Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

SECTIONS 1, 2. Inclosure.—[The place where the motorman stands must be inclosed so as to protect him from inclement weather, from November 1 to April 1.]

CHAPTER 957.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 2 (as amended 1906–7, ch. 2566). Fire escapes required.—It shall be the duty of the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of any building already erected, or which may hereafter be erected, in which ten or more persons are employed at the same time in any of the stories above the second story, except three-story buildings used exclusively as stores or for office purposes, and having at least two stairways from the ground floor each three or more feet wide and separated from each other by a distance of at least thirty feet, from one of which stairways shall be easy access to the roof, to provide and cause to be erected and affixed thereto a sufficient number of * * * fire escapes, [of such material, type, and construction as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may determine] the location and number of the same to be determined by the said Commissioners, and to keep the hallways and stairways in every such building as is used and occupied at night properly lighted, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, from sunset to sunrise.

SEC. 3 (as amended, 1906–7, ch. 2566). Signs, lights, etc.—It shall be the duty of the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of * * * any building in which ten or more persons are employed, as set forth in section two of this act where fire escapes are required, also to provide, install, and maintain therein proper and sufficient guide signs, guide lights, exit lights, hall and stairway lights, fire hose, and fire extinguishers in such location and numbers and of such type and character as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may determine.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1906–7, ch. 2566). Elevator shafts.—Each elevator shaft and stairway extending to the basement of the buildings heretofore mentioned shall terminate in a fireproof compartment or inclosure, separating the elevator shaft and stairs from other parts of the basement, and no opening shall be made or maintained in such compartment or inclosure unless the same be provided with fireproof doors. * * *

SEC. 6. Obstructions.—It shall be unlawful to obstruct any hall passageway, corridor, or stairway in any building mentioned in this act with baggage, trunks, furniture, cans, or with any other thing whatsoever.

SEC. 7. Same.—No door or window leading to any fire escape shall be covered or obstructed by any fixed grating or barrier, and no person shall at any time place any encumbrance or obstacle upon any fire escape or upon any platform, ladder, or stairway leading to or from any fire escape.

SEC. 8. Licenses refused, when.—No license shall be issued to any person to conduct any business for which a license is required in any building mentioned in this act until such building has been provided and equipped with a sufficient number of fire escapes and other appliances required by this act.

SECS. 9, 10. Violations; notice.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, with added penalty of $5 for each day's continuance. Notice to erect escapes must be complied with within 90 days unless the time is extended in the discretion of the commissioners.]

CHAPTER 3054.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1. Attendance required.—[Requires attendance to 14 years of age.]

SEC. 5. Violations.—[Any person knowingly employing any child unlawfully absent from school is guilty of a misdemeanor.]

CHAPTER 3056.—Police—Membership in labor organizations

SECTION 1. * * * * *

Paragraph 9 (as amended 1919–20, ch. 1, 41 Stat. 364). Organizations barred.—No member of the Metropolitan police of the District of Columbia shall be or become a member of any organization, or of an organization affiliated with another organization, which itself, or any subordinate, component or affiliated organization of which holds, claims, or uses the strike to enforce its demands. Upon sufficient proof to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia that any member of the Metropolitan police of the District of Columbia has violated the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to immediately discharge such member from the service.

Any member of the Metropolitan police who enters into a conspiracy, combination, or agreement with the purpose of substantially interfering with or obstructing the efficient conduct or operation of the police force in the District of Columbia by a strike or other disturbance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $300 or by imprisonment of not more than six months, or by both.

No officer or member of the said police force, under penalty of forfeiting the salary or pay which may be due him, shall withdraw or resign, except by permission of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, unless he shall have given the major and superintendent one month's notice in writing of such intention.

CHAPTER 3438.—Employment offices

SECTION 1. [Definitions.]

SEC. 2. License.—[License from commissioners is required.]

SEC. 3. Applications.—[Applications must specify names of persons desiring license, and place business is to be conducted. Annual license fee is $25. Applicants must be of good character.]

SEC. 4. Bond.—[Bond must be given in the sum of $1,000, conditioned on the performance of all requirements and duties under the act; also for the benefit of persons aggrieved by the misconduct of the licensed person.]

SEC. 5. Statements in licenses.—[Licenses must give names of licensees and show place of business.]

SEC. 6. Restrictions.—[Agencies may not be conducted in boarding or lodging houses. No application may be received for a child who can not be employed lawfully.]

SEC. 7. Registers.—[Registers must be kept showing names, addresses, work requested, fees received, etc.]

SEC. 8. Fees.—[Employers asking for help may be charged $2 for each employee desired, the fee to secure service for 30 days. Applicants for work may be charged $1, one-half to be returned on demand if no fair opportunity of employment is secured in 15 days. If wages are $25 per month or more, another dollar may be charged. The whole and any travel costs must be refunded if no actual vacancy existed. Receipts must be given for all fees received. Dividing fees with contractors or agents is forbidden.]

SEC. 9. Enticing; outside employment.—[Forbids inducing domestic employees to leave service; requires full details to be given for employment offered outside the city.]

SEC. 10. Immoral resorts.—[Forbids sending females to any place of bad repute.]

ACTS OF 1911–12

CHAPTER 174.—Hours of labor on public contracts

[See under United States, secs. 8921, 8922]

ACTS OF 1912–13

CHAPTER 150.—Public service employees—Hours of labor—Wages—Accidents

SECTION 8. * * *

PARAGRAPH 6. Information covered in report.—* * * The [public utilities] commission shall also ascertain in detail the gross and net income of the public utility from all sources, the amounts paid for salaries to officers and the wages paid to its employees, and the maximum hours of continuous service required of each class. Whenever the information required by this paragraph is obtained it shall be printed in the annual report of the commission. In making such investigation the commission may avail itself of any information in possession of any department of the Government of the United States or of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

PAR. 89. Reports of accidents.—Every public utility shall, whenever an accident attended with loss of human life or personal injury without loss of human life occurs within the District of Columbia, upon its premises, or directly or indirectly arising from or connected with its maintenance or operation, give immediate notice thereof to the commission. In the event of any such accident, the commission, if it deem the public interest requires it, shall cause an investigation to be made forthwith.

CHAPTER 28.—Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 1. Scope of act.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office, or by any express or transportation company in the District of Columbia more than eight hours in any one day or more than six days or more than forty-eight hours in any one week.

SEC. 2. Nightwork.—No female under eighteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in or in connection with any of the establishments or occupations named in section one of this act before the hour of seven o'clock in the morning or after the hour of six o'clock in the evening of any one day.

SEC. 3. Continuous employment.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously at one time in any establishment or occupation named in section one of this act in which three or more such females are employed without an interval of at least three-quarters of an hour; except that such female may be so employed for not more than six and one-half hours continuously at one time if such employment ends not later than half past one o'clock in the afternoon and if she is then dismissed for the remainder of the day.

SEC. 4. List to be posted.—Every employer shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room in any establishment or occupation named in section one of this act in which any females are employed a printed notice stating the number of hours such females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and stopping such work, and the hours of beginning and ending the recess allowed for meals. The printed form of such notice shall be furnished by the inspectors authorized by this act. The employment of any such female for a longer time in any day than that stated in the printed notice shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. Where the nature of the business makes it impracticable to fix the recess allowed for meals at the same time for all females employed, the inspectors authorized to enforce this act may issue a permit dispensing with the posting of the hours when the recess allowed for meals begins and ends, and requiring only the posting of the total number of hours which females are required or permitted to work on each day of the week and the hours of beginning and stopping such work. Such permit shall be kept by such employer upon such premises and exhibited to all inspectors authorized to enforce this act.

SEC. 5. Record.—Every employer shall keep a time book or record for every female employed in any establishment or occupation named in section one of this act, stating the wages paid, the number of hours worked by her on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and stopping such work, and the hours of beginning and ending the recess allowed for meals. Such time book or record shall be open at all reasonable hours to the inspection of the officials authorized to enforce this act. Any employer who fails to keep such record as required by this section, or makes any false statement therein, or refuses to exhibit such time book or record, or makes any false statement to an official authorized to enforce this act in reply to any question put in carrying out the provisions of this act, shall be liable for a violation thereof.

SEC. 6. Inspectors.—The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are hereby authorized to appoint three inspectors, two of whom shall be women, to carry out the purposes of this act at a compensation not exceeding $1,200 each per annum.

SEC. 7. Entering rooms, etc.—The inspectors authorized by this act may in the discharge of their duties enter any place, building, or room where any labor is being performed by females which is affected by the provisions of this chapter whenever such inspectors may have reasonable cause to believe that any such labor is being performed therein.

SEC. 8. Inspection.—The inspectors authorized by this act shall visit and inspect the establishments and places of employment named in section one as often as practicable, during reasonable hours, and shall cause the provisions of this act to be enforced therein and also the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide that all persons employing female help in stores, shops, or manufactories in the District of Columbia shall provide seats for the same when not actively employed," approved March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-five. They shall make a daily report to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and also report any cases of illegal employment contrary to the provisions of this act to the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 9. Violations.—Any person who violates or does not comply with any of the provisions of this act shall upon conviction be punished for a first offense by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50; for a second offense, by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $200; for a third offense, by a fine of not less than $250.

It has been ruled by the corporation counsel of the District that this act does not apply to the female employees of the United States in the District.

It is constitutional. Earnshaw v. Newman, 43 Wash. Law Rep. 198.

Dressmaking is manufacturing within the meaning of this act. Hotchkiss v. District of Columbia, 43 Wash. Law Rep. 706.

REVISED GENERAL STATUTES—1920

Private employment agencies—Tax

SECTION 890. Who to pay.—Employment agencies and intelligence offices: Owners or managers of, in cities and towns of ten thousand inhabitants or more, shall pay a license tax of ten dollars.

Stevedores

SECTIONS 2451, 2452. Licensing.—[Licenses may be granted by a board of commissioners of pilotage to a sufficient number of competent and trustworthy persons to act as stevedores, such license to be valid during good behavior. A bond of $200 is required.]

SEC. 2453. Rights of masters.—Nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to prevent any master of a ship or vessel from loading his own vessel with his own crew.

SEC. 2454. Freedom of choice.—No action shall be maintained in this State to enforce or secure any right given by a ship charter in which charter is a provision giving the charterer, consignee, or shipper a right in any way to interfere with the selection by the master or owner of a stevedore to load or unload his vessel. Every such charter shall be void in this State.

SEC. 2455. Bribery.—It shall not be lawful for any person to accept directly or indirectly any compensation for awarding or causing to be awarded to any person the loading or unloading of any vessel.

SEC. 2456. Interference.—It shall not be lawful for any person to control or attempt to control the owner or master of any vessel in awarding the loading or unloading of his vessel except by solicitation in his own behalf as a contracting stevedore regularly engaged in the business of stevedoring.

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 2522. Checks, etc., to be redeemable.—Any person, firm, or corporation issuing checks, coupons, punch outs, tickets, tokens, or other device in payment for labor, redeemable either wholly or partially in goods or merchandise, at their or any other place of business, shall, on demand of any legal holder thereof, on or after the ninetieth day succeeding the day of issuance, be liable for the full face value thereof in current money of the United States.

SEC. 2523. Payable to bearer.—Any such checks, punch outs, coupons, tickets, tokens, or other device, issued by any person, firm or corporation in payment for labor, shall be considered and treated as payable to bearer in current money of the United States, notwithstanding any contrary stipulation or provision which may be therein contained.

SEC. 2524. Failure to redeem.—In case of failure of any person, firm, or corporation to pay any legal holder of any such check, punch out, ticket, coupon, token, or other device issued by them in payment for labor, the full face value thereof in current money of the United States, on or after the ninetieth day succeeding the day of issuance, when so demanded, such holder may immediately bring suit thereon in any court of competent jurisdiction, and, in addition to recovering the full face value thereof, with legal interest from demand, may recover ten per cent of said amount as attorney's fees in the same suit.

This act is constitutional, except the provision as to an attorney's fee, which is not covered by the title, and is inoperative, but is severable. Prairie Pebble Phosphate Co. v. Silverman, 86 So. 508.

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 3738. Rank.—[Liens of laborers, etc., rank after the expenses of the funeral, last sickness, judgments, and taxes.]

105446°—25——19

Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 3885. Personal earnings.—[No process shall issue to delay the payment of the earnings by personal labor or services of the head of a family residing in the State.]

Hours of labor

SECTION 4016. Ten hours a day's work.—Ten hours of labor shall be a legal day's work, and whenever any person employed to perform manual labor of any kind by the day, week, month, or year renders so many hours of labor, he shall be considered as having performed a legal day's work, unless a written contract has been signed by the person so employed and the employer, requiring a less or greater number of hours of labor to be performed daily.

SEC. 4017. Extra pay.—Unless such written contract has been made, the person employed shall be entitled to extra pay for all work performed by the requirement of his employer in excess of ten hours' labor daily.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 4018. Newsboys, etc.—No boy under ten years of age, and no girl under sixteen years of age shall distribute, sell, expose, or offer for sale (1) newspapers, (2) magazines, (3) periodicals in any street or public place, in any city of six thousand population or more.

SEC. 4019. Age limit.—No child under twelve years of age shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in, about, or in connection with any (1) store, (2) office, or (3) in the transmission or sale of merchandise, (4) or in the transmission of messages, in any city of six thousand population or more.

SEC. 4020. Same.—No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in, about, or in connection with any (1) mill, (2) factory, (3) workshop, (4) mechanical establishment, (5) laundry, (6) or on the stage of any theatre.

SECS. 4021–4025. Certificates.—[Certificates are required for the employment of children under 16 years of age in any factory, workshop, laundry, mine, or mill. Lists of names must be posted at entrances and a copy kept on file. Certificates are to be returned to the child or its parent or guardian at termination of employment. They issue only on approval of the school authorities. Evidence of age, schooling, and normal physical development are required, the child to appear personally. The educational test is ability to read and legibly write English sentences, and school attendance not less than 60 days during the school year next prior to arriving at the age of 14, or to the time of application for the certificate, with instruction in the common branches, including the fundamental operations of arithmetic and through common fractions. The inspector may demand proof of age of any employed child apparently under the age of 16.]

SEC. 4026. Work time; posting.—[Children under the age of 16 may not be employed as above more than 6 days or 54 hours per week, or more than 9 hours per day, nor between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m. A schedule of work time must be posted.]

SEC. 4028. Messengers.—[No person under 18 may be employed in messenger or delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 4030. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under the age of 16 in specified dangerous occupations is forbidden. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 4031. Safety appliances.—It shall be the duty of the owner of any manufacturing establishment, where any person under sixteen years of age is employed, his agents, superintendents or other persons in charge of same, to furnish and supply, when practicable, or cause to be furnished and supplied to him belt shifters or other safe mechanical contrivance for the purpose of throwing belts on or off pulleys; and, whenever practicable, machinery therein shall be provided with loose belts. All vats, pans, saws, planes, cogs, gearing, belting, set screws and machinery of every description therein, which is palpably dangerous, where practicable, shall be properly guarded; and no person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to any planer, saw, belting, shafting or other machinery, or around any vat, or pan, while the same is in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards shall be properly replaced. No person under eighteen years of age shall be allowed to clean machinery while in motion.

SEC. 4032. Wash rooms, etc.—[Suitable wash rooms and water closets are to be provided in manufacturing establishments where children under the age of 16 are employed; and if girls under 16 are employed, water closets for them must have separate approaches and be kept separate from those for men. Dressing rooms for such girls must be provided where the nature of the work requires change of clothing.]

SEC. 4033. Seats.—[Employers of girls under the age of 16 in manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishments, laundries, workshops, renovating works or printing offices must furnish seats and permit their use when duties permit.]

SEC. 4034. Lime washing, etc.—The walls and ceilings of each room in every manufacturing establishment where any person under sixteen years of age is employed shall be limewashed or painted, when, in the opinion of the labor inspector, it shall be conducive to the health or cleanliness of the persons working therein.

SEC. 4035. Enforcement.—[Grand juries and county solicitors of criminal courts have inquisitorial powers; and judges are to charge grand juries to investigate violations.]

SEC. 4036. Posting.—[Copies of the act are to be posted in each room of establishments or offices where children under the age of 16 are employed, and in every pool or billiard room or bowling alley.]

SEC. 4037. State labor inspector.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article the office of State labor inspector is hereby created, such office to be filled by any capable person, male or female, by appointment of the governor for a term of four years, such term to begin from and after such appointment, but said inspector shall have no power or authority except as conferred by this article.

SEC. 4038. Salary, etc.—The said State labor inspector shall receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars, payable monthly out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated, as other salaries of State employees, together with such necessary traveling expenses as may be incurred by him or her in making such trips of inspection not to exceed eight hundred dollars. The inspector shall also be allowed all office stationery and other expenses not to exceed two hundred dollars per year, such expenses to be paid out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated.

SEC. 4040. Exceptions.—[This article does not apply to children receiving industrial education as approved by public authorities, to children in agricultural or domestic employments, nor to boys delivering newspapers to regular subscribers out of school hours.]

Bonds of employees—Railroads

SECTION 4041. Restrictions forbidden.—No common carrier authorized to do business in this State, when requiring of an employee that he give it a bond or undertaking of any nature whatsoever, shall require such employee to have such bond or undertaking executed as a surety by any particular person, company, corporation, association, or firm, or by any one or more of any number of such persons, companies, corporations, associations, or firms named by such common carrier and no such common carrier, shall reject any such bond or undertaking for any reason other than the financial insufficiency of such bond or undertaking.

SEC. 4042. Nonresident bondsmen.—[No nonresident surety may be required, nor any organization other than one formed under the laws of Florida, unless it has a resident agent on whom legal process may be served.]

SEC. 4043. Term; cancellation.—[Bonds must be for definite terms, and may be canceled only with the consent of the parties except for breach of condition. Procedure requires 10 days' notice and a full statement of the reason or reasons for cancellation.]

SEC. 4044. Void acts.—[Bonds, contracts or undertakings made in violation of the above are void.]

Insurance of employees—Group insurance

SECTION 4268. Insurance permitted.—[The provisions forbidding discrimination in life insurance rates is not to be construed as affecting the power of employers to insure employees, with or without annunities, at less than the usual rates, where not less than 50 persons pay premiums through their employer or secretary.]

Telegraph and telephone companies—Accidents, etc., to be reported

SECTION 4410. Reports required.—* * * Such annual report [of telegraph and telephone companies to the State railroad commissioners] shall show * * * the number of employees and the salaries paid each class, the accidents to employees and other persons and the cost thereof. * * *

Railroads—Blacklisting—Discharge

SECTION 4543. Blacklisting.—If any railroad company or other corporation doing business in this State, or any person, agent, or employer of any such company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from the service of any such company or corporation, shall attempt to prevent, by word or writing, sign, or other means, directly or indirectly, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company, or corporation, such person, agent, employer, company, or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or less than one hundred dollars, and such person, agent, employer, company or corporation shall be liable in damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action; but this section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person, agent, employer, company, or corporation from giving in writing to any other person, company, or corporation to whom such discharged person has applied for employment a truthful statement of the reasons for such discharge; and shall furnish to such discharged employee, on his application, to such address as may be given by such discharged employee, within ten days after such application made as aforesaid, a true copy of any such written statement.

SEC. 4544. Liability for damages.—If any railroad company or other corporation doing business in this State shall authorize or permit, with its knowledge and consent, any of its officers, agents, employers, or employees to commit either or any of the acts prohibited by the preceding section, such railroad company or corporation shall be liable in damages to such employee so prevented from obtaining employment, to be recovered by him in a civil action.

SEC. 4545. Statement of cause of discharge.—It shall be the duty of any person, officer, agent, employer, company, or corporation, after having discharged any employee from the service of any such company or corporation, upon written demand by such employee, to furnish to him, within ten days from the application for the same, a full statement in writing of the cause or causes of his discharge, and if any such person, officer, agent, employer, company, or corporation as aforesaid shall refuse within ten days after demand as herein provided to furnish such statement to such discharged employee, it shall be ever after unlawful for any such person, officer, agent, employer, company, or corporation to furnish any statement of the cause of such discharge to any person or corporation, or to in any way blacklist or to prevent such discharged employee from procuring employment elsewhere, subject to the penalties prescribed in section 4543. And on the trial of any person, company, or corporation for a violation of the provisions of sections 4543, 4544, 4545, 4546, or 4547, any other person who may have authorized or permitted, with knowledge and consent as aforesaid, any such offense, or who may have participated in the same, shall be a competent witness, and be compelled to give evidence, and nothing then said by such witness shall at any time be received or given in evidence against him in any prosecution against the said witness, except on an indictment for perjury in any matter to which he may have testified; and on the trial of any such person for any violation of said sections the prosecutions shall have the authority and process of the court trying the case to compel the production in court, to be used in evidence in the case, of the books and papers of any such person, company, or corporation, and a failure to produce the same, after such reasonable notice as the court may in each case provide, shall be in contempt of court, and punishable as such against the custodian or person, company, or corporation having the control or in charge of such books and papers who shall fail to produce the same: Provided, That such written cause of the discharge, when so made as aforesaid, at the request of such discharged employee, shall never be used as the cause for an action for slander or for libel, either civil or criminal, against the person or authority furnishing the same.

SEC. 4546. Employee to have information.—It shall be the duty of any person, company or corporation who has received any request or notice in writing, sign, word or otherwise from any person, company or corporation preventing or attempting to prevent the employment of any person discharged from the service of either of the latter, on demand of such discharged employee, to furnish to such employee within ten days after such demand a true statement of the nature of such request or notice, and if in writing, a copy of the same, and if a sign, the interpretation thereof, with the name of the person, company or corporation furnishing the same, with the place of business of the person or authority furnishing the same; and a violation of this section shall subject the offender to all the penalties, civil and criminal, provided by the foregoing sections.

SEC. 4547. Application.—The provisions of the four preceding sections shall apply to and prevent, under all the penalties aforesaid, railroad companies or corporations under the same general management and control but having separate divisions, superintendents or master mechanics, master machinists, or similar officers, for separate or different lines, their officers, agents, and employees, from preventing or attempting to prevent the employment of any such discharged person by any other separate division or officer or agent or employer of any such separate railroad line or lines.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 4964. Damage caused by operation of cars, etc.—A railroad company shall be liable for any damage done to persons, stock or other property, by the running of the locomotives, or cars, or other machinery of such company, or for damage done by any person in the employ and service of such company, unless the company shall make it appear that their agents have exercised all ordinary and reasonable care and diligence, the presumption in all cases being against the company.

SEC. 4965. Negligence.—No person shall recover damages from a railroad company for injury to himself or his property, where the same is done by his consent, or is caused by his own negligence. If the complainant and the agents of the company are both at fault, the former may recover, but the damages shall be diminished or increased by the jury in proportion to the amount of default attributable to him.

SEC. 4966. Fellow servants.—If any person is injured by a railroad company by the running of the locomotives or cars, or other machinery of such company, he being at the time of such injury an employee of the company, and the damage was caused by the negligence of another employee, and without fault or negligence on the part of the person injured, his employment by the company shall be no bar to a recovery. No contract which restricts such liability shall be legal or binding.

The doctrine of comparative negligence, set forth in section 4965, does not apply to employees, who must, according to section 4966, be "without fault." 24 So. 148.

The abrogation of the defense of fellow-service is not discriminatory and is constitutional. 50 So. 428.

The act does not apply to mining railroads. 54 So. 904.

A negligent employee can not recover even though his negligent act was performed under the orders of a superior. 15 So. 876.

If, however, the injury resulted from the performance of an act in which the injured employee had no part he is presumed to be free from fault. 24 So. 148.

The provision as to restrictive contracts is not void. It does not forbid the giving of a release subsequent to the happening of the accident causing injury. 45 So. 761.

SEC. 4971. What occupations are hazardous.—This act [secs. 4971–4976] shall apply to persons, firms and corporations engaged in the following hazardous occupations in this State; namely, railroading, operating street railways, generating and selling electricity, telegraph and telephone business, express business, blasting and dynamiting, operating automobiles for public use, boating, when boat is propelled by steam, gas, or electricity.

SEC. 4972. Fellow-service not a defense.—The persons, firms and corporations mentioned in section 4971 shall be liable in damages for injuries inflicted upon their agents and employees, and for the death of their agents and employees caused by the negligence of such persons, firms and corporations, their agents and servants, unless such persons, firms and corporations shall make it appear that they, their agents and servants have exercised all ordinary and reasonable care and diligence, the presumption in all cases being against such persons, firms and corporations.

SEC. 4973. Negligence.—The persons, firms and corporations mentioned in section 4971 shall not be liable in damages for injuries to their agents and employees, or for the death of such agents and employees, where same is done by their consent, or is caused by their own negligence. If the employees or agents injured or killed, and the persons, firms and corporations mentioned in section 4971, or their agents and employees are both at fault, there may be recovery, but the damages shall be diminished or increased by the jury in proportion to the amount of default attributable to both: Provided, That damages shall not be recovered for injuries to an employee injured in part through his own negligence and in part through the negligence of another employee, when both of such employees are fellow servants, where the former and the latter are jointly engaged in performing the act causing the injury and the employer is guilty of no negligence contributing to such injury.

SEC. 4974. Assumption of risk.—The doctrine of assumption of risk shall not obtain in any case arising under the provisions of this article, where the injury or death was attributable to the negligence of the employer, his agents or servants.

SEC. 4975. Recoveries exempt.—The writ of garnishment, execution of other processes, shall not issue out of any court to reach any money due or likely to become due as damages under the provisions of this article.

SEC. 4976. Waivers.—Any contract, contrivance or device whatever, having the effect to relieve or exempt the persons, firms and corporations mentioned in section 4971, from the liability prescribed by this article shall be illegal and void.

Employment of labor

SECTION 4979. Wages due deceased employees.—It shall be lawful for any employer, in case of the death of an employee, to pay to the wife or husband, and in case there is no wife or husband, then to the child or children, provided the child or children be over the age of eighteen years, and in case there is no child or children, then to the father or mother, any wages that may be due said employee at the time of his death.

SEC. 4980. Status.—Any wages so paid under the authority of this chapter shall not be considered as assets of the estate and subject to administration.

SEC. 5065. Enticing employees.—Whoever shall entice or persuade by any means whatsoever any tenant, servant or laborer, under contract with another, whether written or verbal, to violate such contract, or shall employ any servant or laborer, knowing him or her to be under contract as aforesaid, shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding sixty days, or by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 5066. Protection as traders.—Any person or persons, firm, joint stock company, association or corporation organized, chartered or incorporated by and under the laws of this State, either as owner or lessee, having persons in their service as employees, who shall discharge any employee or employees or threaten to discharge any employee or employees in their service for trading or dealing, or for not trading or dealing as a customer or patron with any particular merchant or other person or class of persons in any business calling, or shall notify any employee or employees either by general or special notice, directly or indirectly, secretly or openly given, not to trade or deal as a customer or patron with any particular merchant or person or class of persons in any business or calling, under penalty of being discharged from the service of such person, firm, joint stock company, corporation or association shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 5067. Acts of agents, etc.—Any person acting as an officer or agent of any firm, joint stock company, association or corporation of the kind and character as described in the preceding section or for any one of them, who makes or executes any notice, order or threat of the kind therein mentioned and forbidden, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not longer than six months.

SEC. 5068. Seats required.—[Employers of male and female assistants in "mercantile or other business pursuits" are required to furnish seats and permit their use when the duties of such employees will permit.]

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 5070. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under the age of 14 in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations is forbidden. For text of similar law see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

Interference with employment—Conspiracy against workingmen

SECTION 5401. Preventing employment, etc.—If two or more persons shall agree, conspire, combine or confederate together for the purpose of preventing any person or persons from procuring work in any firm or corporation, or to cause the discharge of any person or persons from work in such firm or corporation; or if any person or persons shall verbally or by written or printed communication, threaten any injury to life, property or business of any person for the purpose of procuring the discharge of any workman in any firm or corporation, or to prevent any person or persons from procuring work in such firm or corporation, such person or persons so combining shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars each, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year.

Interference with employment—Restraint of trade

SECTION 5723. What combinations forbidden.—If any person shall be or may become engaged in any combination of capital, skill, or acts by two or more persons, firms, corporations, or associations of persons, or of either two or more of them, for either, any, or all of the following purposes:

1. To create or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce or aids to commerce, or to create or carry out restrictions in the full and free pursuit of any business authorized or permitted by the law of this State.

5. * * * shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, and by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years, or by either such fine or imprisonment. Each day during a violation of this provision shall constitute a separate offense.

Employment of children—Violations of law

SECTION 5750. Employment without consent.—[Employing a child known to be under 15 years of age without the consent of the person having legal control thereof is punishable by imprisonment not over 60 days or fine not exceeding $20.]

SEC. 5751. Unlawful employment.—[Employing a child in violation of the law (secs. 4018–4040) is punishable by a fine not to exceed $50, and continued violation entails a penalty of from $5 to $20 for each day. Penalties are named for retaining certificates after employment ceases, and certifying known false statements.]

Stevedores—Interference with loading, etc., vessels

SECTION 5756. License.—[Acting as stevedore without license involves a penalty of $50 fine or 30 days' imprisonment; each day's violation is a separate offense.]

SEC. 5768. Accepting fee.—Whoever accepts, directly or indirectly, any compensation for awarding or causing to be awarded to any person the loading or unloading of any vessel shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

SEC. 5769. Controlling award of contract.—Whoever controls or attempts to control the owner or master of any vessel in awarding the loading or unloading of his vessel, except by solicitation in his own behalf as contracting stevedore, regularly in the business of stevedoring, shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SECTION 5901. Threatening discharge, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm, joint stock company, association or corporation, organized, chartered or incorporated by and under the laws of this State, either as owner or lessee, having persons in their service as employees, to discharge any employee or employees, or to threaten to discharge any employee or employees in their service for voting or not voting in any election, State, county or municipal, for any person as candidate or measure submitted to a vote of the people. Any person or persons, firm, joint stock company, association or corporation organized, chartered or incorporated under the laws of this State, or operated in this State, violating any of the provisions of this section, shall pay a fine of not more than one thousand dollars.

SEC. 5902. Agent violating law.—Any person acting as an officer or agent of any firm, joint stock companies, associations or corporations of any kind and character hereinbefore described, or any one of them who makes or executes any notice, order or threat of the kind hereinbefore forbidden in the next preceding section, shall pay a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not more than six months.

CHAPTER 7808.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1. Attendance required.—[Children between 7 and 16 years of age are required to attend school "substantially the number of days" the school in the district is in session unless (among other reasons) their services are shown by affidavit to be necessary for the support of a widowed mother or other dependent.]

CHAPTER 7917.—Labor contracts—Intent to defraud

SECTION 1. Misdemeanor.—Any person in this State who shall, with intent to injure and defraud, under and by reason of a contract or promise to perform labor or service, procure or obtain money or other thing of value as a credit, or as advances, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding six months.

SEC. 2. Evidence.—In all prosecutions for a violation of the foregoing section the failure or refusal, without just cause, to perform such labor or service or to pay for the money or other thing of value so obtained or procured shall be prima facie evidence of the intent to injure and defraud.

CHAPTER 9146.—Preference of resident laborers, etc., on public works

SECTION 1. Preference directed.—From and after the passage of this act, every official board in the State of Florida, whether of the State, a county or municipality, which may be charged with the duty of erecting or constructing any public administrative or institutional building, shall give preference in the purchase of material and in letting contracts for the construction of such building to material men, contractors, builders, architects, and laborers, who reside within the State of Florida, whenever such material can be purchased or the services of such material men, contractors, builders, architects, and laborers, can be employed at no greater expense than that which would obtain if such purchase was made, or contract let, or such employment given, to a person, firm or corporation residing beyond the limits of the State: Provided, however, That this act in no way prohibits the right of the said official boards to compare quality of materials proposed for purchase and to compare qualifications, character, responsibility and fitness of material men, contractors, builders, and architects proposed for employment in their consideration of the purchase of materials or employment of persons, firms, and corporations.

GEORGIA

CODE OF 1910

Civil Code

Payment of wages in scrip

Section 2235. Checks, etc., to be redeemed in cash.—Any corporation or person doing business of any kind in this State, who shall issue checks or written evidences of indebtedness for the wages of laborers, shall redeem at full value, in cash, such written evidences of indebtedness, on demand and presentation to the proper person on the regular monthly pay day, and if there be no regular monthly pay day, then upon demand and presentation on any regular business day after thirty days from the issuance thereof; and for every failure to redeem such evidences of indebtedness, said corporation or person shall be liable to the owner thereof in the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered by suit, unless said corporation or person shall, upon the trial, prove insolvency or actual inability to redeem at the time of demand and presentation.

Railroads—Telegraph operators—Engineers

Section 2690. Age limit of operators.—No railroad company shall employ in this State any telegraph operator to receive and transmit dispatches governing the movement of trains, who is less than eighteen years of age, and who has not had at least one year's experience as a telegraph operator, and who has not stood a thorough examination before the railroad superintendent or train master, and received a certificate of his competency from such officer. A written record of said certificate shall be kept in the office of the officer issuing it, and be subject to inspection at any time.

Sec. 2691. Penalty.—Any railroad company violating the requirements of the preceding section shall forfeit for each offense not less than fifty dollars, and not more than five hundred dollars. * * *

Sec. 2696. Engineers to be experienced.—No railway company operating trains in this State shall have employed or allow in charge of one of its locomotives in this State, as a locomotive engineer (except such engines used in yard service), any person who shall not have had as much as three years' actual bona fide experience as a fireman or engineer on a railway locomotive, or who shall not have served an apprenticeship of four years in a regular railroad machine shop, and have had in addition thereto one year bona fide experience as a locomotive fireman.

Railroads—Strikes

Section 2737. Liability of carriers.—Where a carrier receives freight for shipment, it is bound to forward within a reasonable time, although its employees strike or cease to work; but if the strike is accompanied with violence and intimidation so as to render it unsafe to forward the freight, the carrier is relieved as to liability for delay in delivering the freight, if the violence and armed resistance is of such character as could not be overcome by the carrier or controlled by the civil authorities when called upon by it.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

Section 2751. Measure of liability.—Railroad companies are common carriers, and liable as such. As such companies necessarily have many employees who can not possibly control those who should exercise care and diligence in the running of trains, such companies shall be liable to such employe s as to passengers for injuries arising from the want of such care and diligence.

Though this statute imposes on railroad companies a different rule of liability from that applied to other classes of employers, it is not unconstitutional. 54 Ga. 509.
A company is responsible even though others may be using its franchise. 49 Ga. 355.
Employment and injury need not be immediately connected with the running of trains. 95 Ga. 301.

SEC. 2782. Liability declared.—Every common carrier by railroad shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier, or, in case of death of such employee, to his or her persoual representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband, or child, or children of such employee, and if none, theu of such employee's parents; and if noue, then of the next of kin dependent upou such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the uegligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defects or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment: Provided, nevertheless, No recovery shall be had hereunder if the person killed or injured brought about his death or injury by is own carelessness amounting to a failure to exercise ordinary care; or if he, by the exercise of ordinary care, could have avoided the consequences of the defendant's negligeuce. The measure of daunage in case the iujury results in death of the employee shall be that prescribed in sections 4424 and 4425: Provided, That the party or parties for whose benefit recovery may be had under this and the five succeeding sectious may sue and recover in their own name or names in the manner prescribed by section 4424, in case no administrator or executor has been appointed at the time suit is filed. In case death results from injury to the employee, the employer shall be liable unless it make it appear that it, its agents, and employees have exercised all ordinary and reasonable care and diligence, the presumption being iu all cases against the employer. If death does not result from the injury, the presumptions of negligence shall be and remain as now provided by law in case of injury received by an employee in the service of a railroad company.

SEC. 2783. Contributory negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against auy such common carrier by railroad, under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this, the preceding, or the four succeeding sections; to recover damages for personal iujuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence, not amounting to a failure to exercise ordinary care, shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured, or killed, shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 2784. Risk not assumed, when.—In any action brought against any common carrier under and by virtue of any of the provisions of the two preceding sections, to recover damages for injuries to or the death of auy of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of the employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 2785. Contracts of exemption.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by the three precediug sectious, shall, to that extent, be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such common carrier, under or by virtue of any of said sectious, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or, in the event of death, to the person or persous entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action is brought.

SEC. 2786. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under the four preceding sections, unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of actiou accrued.

SEC. 2787. Definition.—The term "commoú carrier," as used in the preceding section[s], shall include the receiver or receivers or other person or corporatiou charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier.

SEC. 2788. Measure of liability of receivers.—The liability of receivers, trustees, assignees, and other like officers operating railroads in this State, or partially iu this State, for injuries and damages to persous in their employ, caused by the negligence of coemployees, or for injuries or damages to personal property, shall be the same as the liability now fixed by the law governing the operation of railroad corporations in this State for like injuries and damages; and a lien is hereby created on the gross income of any such railroad while in the hands of any such receiver, trustee, or assignee, or other person, in favor of such injured employees, or plaintiff, superior to all other liens against defendant under the laws of this State.

Wages as preferred claims—Railroad employees

SECTION 2793. Enforcement of mortgages.—[Wages of railroad employees are a first lien on the property of the company, superior to mortgages or other contract liens, in an amount not exceeding $500 for each employee.]

SEC. 2794. Receiverships.—[Wage debts as above must be first paid out of any funds available or becoming available in the hands of the court or trustee in cases of receivership.]

SEC. 2797. Current wages.—[The receiver operating a railroad under an order or decree of any court must apply the income to necessary expenses of carrying on the business, which shall include the wages of employees.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 3129. Negligence of fellow servants.—Except in case of railroad companies, the master is not liable to one servant for injuries arising from the negligence or misconduct of other servants about the same business.

SEC. 3130. Duty of employer.—The master is bound to exercise ordinary care in the selection of servants, and not to retain them after knowledge of incompetency; he must use like care in furnishing machinery equal in kind to that in general use, and reasonably safe for all persons who operate it with ordinary care and diligence. If there are latent defects in machinery, or dangers incident to an employment, unknown to the servant, of which the master knows or ought to know, he must give the servant warning in respect thereto.

SEC. 3131. Assumption of risk.—A servant assumes the ordinary risks of his employment, and is bound to exercise his own skill and diligence to protect himself. In suits for injuries arising from the negligence of the master in failing to comply with the duties imposed by the preceding section, it must appear that the master knew or ought to have known of the incompetency of the other servant, or of the defects or danger in the machinery supplied; and it must also appear that the servant injured did not know and had not equal means of knowing such fact, and by the exercise of ordinary care could not have known thereof.

Negligence is not imputed where an employee, from pressure of duties, forgets obstructions of which he had knowledge, and is injured thereby. 58 S. E. 252.

SEC. 3132. Contracts waiving liability.—All contracts between master and servant made in consideration of employment, whereby the master is exempted from liability to the servant arising from the negligence of the master or his servants, as such liability is now fixed by law, shall be null and void, as against public policy.

A servant's widow suing for his homicide occasioned by the negligence of a fellow servant must show that it was criminal, unless the principal be a railroad or a druggist. 70 Ga. 434.

Contracts of employment

SECTION 3133. Term.—That wages are payable at a stipulated period raises the presumption that the hiring is for such period; but if anything in the contract shows that the hiring was for a longer term, the mere reservation of wages for a lesser time will not control. An indefinite hiring may be terminated at will by either party.

Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 3134 (as amended 1915, p. 21). What sum may be paid widow, etc.—It shall be lawful upon the death of any person employed by any railroad company or other corporation doing business in this State, who may have wages due him by said railroad company or other corporation, and who shall leave surviving him a widow or minor child or children, to pay all of said wages, when they do not exceed three hundred dollars, and in case such wages exceed three hundred dollars, to pay the sum of three hundred dollars thereof to the surviving widow of such employee, and in case he has no surviving widow, but leaves surviving a minor child or children, then said sum shall be paid to said minor child or children without any administraton upon the estate of said employee; and said fund to the amount of three hundred dollars, after the death of said employee, is hereby exempt from any and all process of garnishment.

SEC. 3135. Payment required.—It shall be the duty of such railroad company, or other corporation, to pay over said fund on the demand of the widow, and in case there be no surviving widow, then on the demand of the minor child or children, or the guardian thereof.

SEC. 3136. Payment is release.—The paying over of the fund under the preceding sections shall operate as a release from all claims against said fund or railroad company or corporation by the estate of said employee or creditors thereof, or the claims of the widow or minor child or children, or the guardian thereof.

Hours of labor in factories, etc.—Employment of children

SECTION 3137 (as amended 1911, p. 65). Ten-hour day.—The hours of labor required of all persons employed in cotton or woolen manufacturing establishments in this State, except engineers, firemen, watchmen, mechanics, teamsters, yard employees, clerical force, and all help that may be needed to clean up and make necessary repairs or changes in or of machinery, shall not exceed ten hours per day, or the same may be regulated by employers so that the number of hours shall not in aggregate exceed sixty hours per week: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any of the aforesaid employees from working such time as may be necessary to make up lost time not to exceed ten days caused by accidents or other unavoidable circumstances.

SEC. 3138. Contracts for longer day.—All contracts made or entered into, whereby a longer time for labor than is provided in the foregoing section shall be required of said employees, shall be absolutely null and void so far as the same relates to the enforcement of said contracts with said employees, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 3139. Penalty.—Any cotton or woolen manufacturing establishment that shall make or enforce any contract in violation of the foregoing section, with any person as an employee therein, shall be subject to a forfeiture of an amount not less than twenty and not more than five hundred dollars for each and every such violation.

SEC. 3140. Who may sue.—Any person with whom said contract is made, or any person having knowledge thereof, shall be competent to institute suit against said cotton or woolen manufacturing establishment; * * *

SEC. 3141. Hours of labor of minors.—The hours of labor by all persons under twenty-one years of age, in all other manufacturing establishments or machine shops in this State, shall be from sunrise until sunset, the usual and customary times for meals being allowed from the same; and any contract made with such persons or their parents, guardians, or others, whereby a longer time for labor is agreed upon or provided for, shall be null and void, so far as relates to the enforcement of said contracts against such laborers.

Employment of children—Corporal punishment forbidden.

SECTION 3142. Punishment of minors.—No boss or other superior in any manufacturing establishment shall inflict corporeal [corporal] punishment upon minor laborers; and the owners of such factory or machine shop shall be directly liable for all such conduct on the part of their employees; and such minor may sue in his own name for damages for such conduct, and the recovery shall be his own property, and not belong to his parents.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 3150. Seats to be provided.—All persons and corporations employing females in manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishments must provide suitable seats, and permit their use by such females when not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they were employed.

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTIONS 3151, 3152, 3154. Requirements; inspections.—[Owners of buildings more than two stories in height, the third and higher stories of which are used as factories or workshops, must have two means of egress, inside or outside of the building, as nearly as possible at opposite ends. Outside exits must have railed landings, and connect with windows or doors. Doors must open outward, and means must be furnished for extinguishing fires. Local authorities are to inspect, and owners must make the required alterations.]

Assignments of wages

SECTION 3465. Contracts void.—Any contract * * * for the assignment of pledge of any unearned wages or salary, for the purpose of securing a loan of money shall be void.

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 3476. Definition.—Hiring is a contract by which one person grants to another either the enjoyment of a thing, or the use of the labor and industry either of himself or his servant, during a certain time, for a stipulated compensation, or where one contracts for the labor or services of another about a thing bailed to him for a specified purpose.

SEC. 3487. Hiring extends to what contracts.—The hire of labor or services is the essence of every bailment in which goods are delivered to another, and compensation paid for care, attention or labor bestowed upon them. It includes the contracts of forwarding and commission merchants, factors, wharfingers, mechanics, and all agents in such transactions.

SEC. 3488. Duty of bailee.—In all such cases, the bailee is not only bound to exercise skill in the labor and work bestowed, but it is a part of the contract that he shall exercise ordinary care and diligence in keeping and protecting the articles intrusted to him.

SEC. 3489. Title to goods, etc., labored on.—In such cases, if the identical article, though materially changed by the labor bestowed, is to be returned, the title remains in the bailor. If the bailee furnishes a portion of the materials, the title to the entire structure is in the party furnishing the larger portion of the materials. If the bailor furnishes material—such as silver for plate—but the contract does not contemplate the use of that material specially, then the title is in the bailee to the article made, until it is delivered.

SEC. 3490. Goods manufactured on shares.—If materials are furnished to be manufactured on shares, the title remains in the bailor until the delivery to him of his portion of the manufactured goods.

SEC. 3491. Right of possession.—The bailee, for hire of labor and service, is entitled to the possession of the thing bailed, pending the bailment. He has, also, a special lien upon the same for his labor and services, until he parts with possession; and if he delivers up a part, the lien attaches to the remainder in his possession for the entire claim under the same contract.

SEC. 3492. Destruction of article.—If the thing bailed for labor and services be destroyed, without fault on the part of the bailee, the loss falls upon the bailor, and the bailee may demand compensation for the labor expended and materials used upon it.

SEC. 3493. Contract entire.—As a general rule, the contract of bailment is an entire contract, and a full performance is a condition precedent to an action upon it.

SEC. 3588. Wrongful discharge.—When the contract is for a year, and the employer wrongfully discharges the agent before the end of the year, the agent may either sue immediately for any special injury from the breach of the contract, or, treating the contract as rescinded, may sue for the value of the services rendered, or he may wait till the expiration of the year and sue for and recover his entire wages.

SEC. 3589. Computing damages.—When an agent has been improperly dismissed before the expiration of his time, earnings which were realized or might have been realized by him up to the end of the term should go in mitigation of damages.

The discharged employee may (1) sue for the injury for the breach of contract; (2) wait until the end of the time he was to serve and sue for the whole amount of wages; (3) sue on quantum meruit on the ground that the contract was rescinded. 56 Ga. 497. The measure of damages for wrongful dismission is actual loss to date of trial. Due diligence must be used to get other employment. 81 Ga. 439.

Actions for personal injuries

SECTION 4422. Intention.—A physical injury done to another gives a right of action, whatever may be the intention of the actor, unless he is justified under some rule of law. The intention should be considered in the assessment of damages.

SEC. 4426. Negligence.—If the plaintiff by ordinary care could have avoided the consequences to himself caused by the defendant's negligence, he is not entitled to recover. But in other cases the defendant is not relieved, although the plaintiff may in some way have contributed to the injury sustained.

This section modifies the common law, which was that any contributory negligence of the servant would defeat recovery against the master. 82 Ga. 109.

If the plaintiff and defendant are both negligent, the plaintiff can recover unless his negligence was equal to or greater than that of the defendant, or unless he could, by the exercise of ordinary care, have avoided the consequences of the defendant's negligence. 47 S. E. 923.

An employee can not recover where the danger is equally obvious to him and his employer. 94 Ga. 535.

An inexperienced person, ignorant that machinery was unsafe, was entitled to recover for injury. 88 Ga. 286.

An employee injured while obeying orders of superior may recover if it was not a rash and dangerous thing to do. 71 Ga. 406.

SEC. 4497. Limitation.—Actions for injuries done to the person shall be brought within two years after the right of action accrues, * * * .

Suits for wages—Exemptions—Assignments

SECTION 5095. Suits to be brought within State.—When suit is brought by attachment in this State against a nonresident of the State and the attachment is levied by service of summons of garnishment, the situs of any debt due by the garnishee to the defendant shall be at the residence of the garnishee in this State, and any sum due to the defendant in attachment shall be subject to said attachment: Provided, That the writ of attachment shall not be used to subject in this State wages of persons who reside out of the State, and which have been earned wholly without the State of Georgia.

SEC. 5298 (as amended 1914, p. 62). What wages exempt.—All persons shall be exempt from the process and liabilities of garnishment on one dollar and twenty-five cents per day of their daily, weekly, or monthly wages and on fifty per cent of the excess thereof, whether in the hands of their employers or others. All wages above the exemption herein provided for shall be subject to garnishment, and garnishee in making answer shall state specifically when the wages therein referred to were earned by defendant and whether the same were earned as daily, weekly, or monthly wages.

"Wages" includes not only per diem wages, but also pay for a laborer at piece or job work. 25 S. E. 27.

Wages have been held to be exempt to forwarding clerk in railroad office. 51 Ga. 576.

Also to a farm laborer hired for six months, but with right to call for his earnings from time to time. 71 Ga. 863.

The wages of a conductor on a street railway are exempt. 38 S. E. 41.

Also a locomotive engineer's monthly wages. 76 Ga. 335.

And the wages of a clerk and bookkeeper in a store. 77 Ga. 306.

And the monthly wages of a private secretary and stenographer. 80 Ga. 570.

Wages were held to be not exempt in the case of school teachers. 54 Ga. 108.

Nor of a railroad passenger conductor. 77 Ga. 386.

Nor of a superintendent in a factory. 73 Ga. 337.

SECS. 5299–5301. Sending wage claims outside State.—[Sending claims outside the State for collection with intent to deprive the debtor of his right to have his wages exempt under the laws of the State, if the parties are subject to process within the State, is a misdemeanor; and the debtor may recover any amount attached in such proceedings, together with damages. Assigning or sending such a claim outside the State and the commencement of proceedings is prima facie evidence of violation.]

Contracts of employment—Enforcement

SECTION 5496. Injunction not to issue.—Generally an injunction will not issue to restrain the breach of a contract for personal services, unless they are of a peculiar merit or character, and can not be performed by others.

PENAL CODE

Interference with employment—Intimidation, etc.

SECTION 121. Conspiracy to prevent employment, etc.—If any two or more persons shall associate themselves together in any society or organization with intent and for the purpose of preventing, in any manner, any person from apprenticing himself to learn and practice any trade, craft, vocation, or calling, or for the purpose of inducing, by persuasion, threats, fraud, or any other means, any apprentice or apprentices to any such trade, craft, vocation, or calling to leave the employment of their employer, or for the purpose, by any means, or preventing or deterring any person from learning and practicing any such trade, craft, vocation, or calling, every such person so associating himself in such society or organization shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 123. Employing laborer under contract.—When the servant, cropper, or farm laborer of another is under written contract attested by one or more witnesses, if any person shall employ such servant, cropper, or farm laborer during the term for which he is employed, knowing that he is so employed, and that the term of service has not expired, such person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 124. Same subject.—Whoever shall violate section 3713 of the Civil Code, on the subject of the employment of tenants, employees, and croppers, shall, on the terms prescribed in the Civil Code, be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 125. Enticing employees.—If any person shall, by offering higher wages or in any other way, entice, persuade, or decoy, or attempt to entice, persuade, or decoy any servant, cropper, or farm laborer, whether under a written or parol contract, after he shall have actually entered the service of his employer, to leave his employer during the term of service, knowing that said servant, cropper, or farm laborer was so employed, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The attempt to entice is an offense, whether or not it was successful. 61 S. E. 289.

SEC. 126. Making threats, etc.—If any person or persons, by threats, violence, intimidation, or other unlawful means, shall prevent or attempt to prevent any person or persons in this State from engaging in, remaining in, or performing the business, labor, or duties of any lawful employment or occupation, such offender or offenders shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 127. Conspiring to prevent employment.—If any person or persons, singly or together, or in combination, shall conspire to prevent or attempt to prevent any person or persons, by threats, violence, or intimidation, from engaging in, remaining in, or performing the business, labor, or duties of any lawful employment or occupation, such offender or offenders shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 128. Hindering laborers.—If any person or persons, singly or by conspiring together, shall hinder any person or persons who desire to labor from so doing, or hinder any person, by threats, violence, or intimidation, from being employed as laborer or employee, such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 129. Hindering employers.—If any person or persons, by threats, violence, intimidation, or other unlawful means, shall hinder the owner, manager, or proprietor for the time being from controlling, using, operating, or working any property in any lawful occupation, or shall by such means hinder such person from hiring or employing laborers or employees, such offender or offenders shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 130. Seats to be provided.—All persons and corporations employing females in manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishments must provide suitable seats, and permit their use by such females when not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they were employed. Any person who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section, and the officers of any corporation which shall fail to comply with said requirements, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Exemption of wages—Unlawful assignment of claims

SECTION 131. Penalty.—Whoever shall violate section 5299 of the Civil Code, relative to transferring claims to parties without the State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars and not exceeding fifty dollars for each account or claim so unlawfully transferred, or assigned, or sent out of this State as aforesaid.

Forgery of cards, certificates, etc., of workmen

SECTION 234. Counterfeiting card of association.—Any person who shall make, alter, forge, or counterfeit any card or receipt of dues, purporting to be given or issued by any association of railway employees, or by any of its officers, to its members, with intent to injure, deceive, or defraud, shall be punished as for a misdemeanor.

SEC. 235. Forging employer's certificate.—Any person who shall falsely make, alter, forge, or counterfeit any letter or certificate purporting to be given by any corporation or person, or officer or agent of such corporation or person, to an employee of such corporation or person at the time of such employee's leaving the service of such corporation or person, showing the capacity or capacities in which such employee was employed by such corporation or person, the date of leaving the service, or the reason or cause of such leaving, with the intent to injure, deceive, or defraud, shall be punished as for a misdemeanor.

SEC. 236. Uttering or having false cards, etc.—Any person who shall willfully and knowingly utter, publish, pass, or tender as true, or who shall have in his possession with intent to utter, publish, pass, or tender as true, any false, altered, forged, or counterfeited letter, certificate, card, or receipt, the forging, altering, or counterfeiting whereof is prohibited by either of the two preceding sections, with intent to injure, deceive, or defraud, knowing the same to be forged, shall be punished as for a misdemeanor: Provided, That nothing in this and the two preceding sections shall be construed to repeal or change any of the laws against the crime of forgery.

Employment of children to support parents living in idleness

SECTION 449. Who are vagrants.—Vagrants are—

* * * * * * *

7. All persons who are able to work and do not work, and who have no property or other means of support, but hire out their minor children and live upon their wages.

* * * * * * *

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 511. Failure to provide fire escapes.—If the owner of a building more than two stories in height shall fail to comply with the requirements of the Civil Code, and, after receiving the notice prescribed in the Civil Code, shall refuse or neglect to make the alterations specified in said written notice, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Railroads—Violation of regulation

SECTION 525. Qualified engineers.—Any railway company violating the provisions of section 2696 of the Civil Code, on the subject of the qualifications of locomotive engineers, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to indictment and punishment in any county in this State in which such inexperienced person shall be allowed to work upon such locomotive.

Contracts of employment—Repayment of advances

SECTION 715. Fraudulently procuring advances.—If any person shall contract with another to perform for him services of any kind, with intent to procure money or other thing of value thereby, and not to perform the service contracted for, to the loss and damage of the hirer, or, after having so contracted, shall procure from the hirer money, or other thing of value, with intent not to perform such service, to the loss and damage of the hirer, he shall be deemed a common cheat and swindler, and upon conviction shall be punished as for a misdemeanor.

SEC. 716. Evidence.—Satisfactory proof of the contract, the procuring thereon of money or other thing of value, the failure to perform the services so contracted for, or failure to return the money so advanced with interest thereon at the time said labor was to be performed, without good and sufficient cause, and loss or damage to the hirer, shall be deemed presumptive evidence of the intent referred to in the preceding section.

NOTE.—This act is constitutional. Vance v. State, 128 Ga. 661, 57 S. E. 889. To sustain conviction, it must be proved that the intent to defraud existed at the time of the execution of the contract. Smith v. State, 108 S. E. 130.

Employment of children

SECTIONS 756, 757. Acrobatic and mendicant employments.—[Any one letting out or apprenticing a child under 12 years of age as a gymnast, contortionist, beggar, or in any immoral exhibition, or receiving such child for such purposes, is guilty of a misdemeanor.]

ACTS OF 1910

Employment of children—Messenger service

SECTIONS 1, 2. Night work.—[The employment of children under 16 years of age in messenger service between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. is a misdemeanor.]

ACTS OF 1911

Department of commerce and labor

SECTION 1 (as amended 1913, p. 82). Creation; commissioner.—A department of commerce and labor is hereby created and established, the duties of which department shall be exercised and discharged by a commissioner, who shall be designated as commissioner of commerce and labor, by an assistant, and by a chief clerk who shall be a stenographer. Said assistant and said chief clerk shall be appointed by the commissioner. Said commissioner of commerce and labor shall be elected by persons qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, at the same time, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as the governor and statehouse officers; and shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless removed in the manner now prescribed by law for the removal of officials of the State government. In case of a vacancy in the office of commissioner of commerce and labor from any cause, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the governor, which appointee shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified. * * * The office of said department shall be kept in the capitol and shall be furnished and provided for as are other departmental offices of the State. Said commissioner and his assistant shall devote their whole time to the duties of their office and shall not hold any other office during their term of office.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1917, p. 88, and 1920, p. 118). Duty of commissioner.—The commissioner, aided by his lawful assistants, shall collect and collate information and statistics concerning labor and its relation to capital, showing labor conditions throughout the State; the hours of labor; the earnings of laborers; and their educational, moral and financial condition, and the best means of promoting their mental, moral and material welfare; shall investigate the cause and extent of labor shortage, and the migration of labor; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the location, capacity of mills, factories, workshops and other industries, and actual output of manufactured products, and also the character and amount of labor employed; the kind and quantity of raw material annually used by them, and the capital invested therein; and such other information and statistics concerning the natural resources of the State and the industrial welfare of the citizens as may be deemed necessary and of interest and benefit to the public and by the dissemination of such data to advertise the various industrial and natural resources of Georgia in order to attract desirable settlers and to bring capital into the State. The department of commerce and labor is also charged with the following duties:

Paragraph A. Free employment offices.—As soon as practicable after the passage of this act, the commissioner shall organize a division of labor or free employment bureau, having for its purpose the listing of the names of all persons desiring employment in this State and the endeavor to secure employment for such persons, and the listing of the names of such persons, firms or corporations applying for labor and the endeavor to supply the demand. In conducting the division of labor the commissioner of labor is herewith authorized and empowered to assist and act in concert with any person or persons, county organization, municipal or governmental agency, having for its purpose the distribution of labor in this State, not conducted for profit, and to cooperate with similar exchanges in other States and with the United States Employment Service, and in every other way the commissioner is charged with the duty of endeavoring to be of assistance to both employer and employee, and of working in harmony with others having a like end in view, and for which no remuneration is received. For securing employment for those who wish employment and for securing labor for those who need help there shall be no charge whatever made or accepted, directly or indirectly, by any person connected with the department of commerce and labor. All officials of the State and the various counties of the State are herewith charged with the duty of lending such aid and assistance as may be called for by the commissioner: Provided, Said commissioner may inquire into the cause of strikes and lockouts, and other disagreements between employer and employees; and, whenever practicable, offer his good offices to the contending parties with a view of bringing about friendly and satisfactory adjustments thereof.

Par. B. Private employment offices.—The commissioner shall exercise jurisdiction over each person, firm or corporation acting as a private employment agent, intelligence bureau or employment agency, hereinafter referred to as agency; shall, as frequently as may be necessary, examine into the condition of each agency; shall require each agent to make application for license to do business, which application must be indorsed by two taxpayers in the county where such agency proposes to conduct business, said license to be granted by the commissioner upon the payment to the State of such tax as may be charged, and the filing of a bond in the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars for the faithful performance of duty, said license to be renewed annually. The commissioner shall require each agency to report to him once a month in writing, showing the names, addresses, and number of persons for whom positions were secured, where secured, the kind of position, the pay of same, the amount of fee collected and the amount still to be collected. Nothing in this paragraph shall authorize an employment agency or person connected with such agency, or any employee thereof, to act as an emigrant agent. If any agent is found violating the law it shall be the duty of the commissioner to immediately proceed to have such person presented to the proper authorities for prosecution and to cancel the license to do business.

Par. C. Emigrant agents.—The commissioner shall exercise jurisdiction over each person, firm or corporation acting as an emigrant agent or agency, hereafter referred to as emigrant agent; shall require each emigrant agent to make application for license to do business, said application to be indorsed by two taxpayers and accompanied by a bond of one thousand ($1,000) dollars for the faithful performance of duty, and the payment of such tax as may be required by law. Each emigrant agent shall make a daily report to the commissioner showing the names, the addresses, and number of people carried out of the State, the points to which they have been carried, the kind and character of work secured for them, the pay to be received by them, the fee charged them or to be collected, and from whom. The emigrant agent must show clearly by whom employed, if paid a salary, or from whom he receives a commission, and how much. The commissioner shall inspect the office and work of each emigrant agent as often as may be necessary, and, if any emigrant agent is found to be violating the law, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to immediately proceed to have such person presented to the proper authorities for prosecution and to cancel the license to do business. Each emigrant agent must secure annually a license to do business. In contemplation of this act, the emigrant agent is any person who shall solicit or attempt to procure labor in this State to be employed beyond the limits of the same.

Par. D. Employers of labor.—Any person desiring to secure labor within the State for the use of himself beyond the boundaries of the State must first notify the commissioner of his intention to secure labor within the State for use outside the State, stating how many laborers are to be secured, where the labor is to be secured, and where said labor is to be transported, the pay to be given said labor, why the labor can not be secured in the State where it is to be used, the average number of laborers employed, and any additional facts concerning the movement of such labor desired by the commissioner. If satisfied that the person desiring to secure such labor is acting bona fide for himself and desires the labor for his sole use and behalf outside the State, the commissioner may issue a permit for the removal of such labor beyond the confine of the State, if in his judgment the labor can be spared by the section from which it is sought to be carried.

Par. E. Violations.—Any person, firm, or corporation, or any employee of such person, firm or corporation, who shall fail and refuse to give any information called for by said act, or who shall make any false representation relative thereto, such person or persons shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished as prescribed in section 1065 of the Penal Code of 1910.

Sec. 3. Blanks to be furnished.—The commissioner shall furnish suitable blanks to the heads of the various industries of this State, upon which answers are desired in the collection of such statistical data.

But no use shall be made in the report of the department of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this act, such information being deemed confidential, and not for the purpose of disclosing any person's private affairs.

All officers of the various counties of this State shall, when called upon, furnish the commissioner such statistical and other information within their official knowledge or keeping, concerning such industrial and other interests, within the purview and intent of this act.

Sec. 4. Law enforcement.—Said commissioner shall make investigation concerning the operation of the various laws relating to the safety of the life and limb of employees, especially those concerning the employment of child labor, and of women, and he shall take legal steps looking to the proper enforcement and due observance of such laws.

Sec. 5. Strikes, etc.—Said commissioner may inquire into the causes of strikes and lockouts, and other disagreements between employers and employees; and, whenever practicable, offer his good offices to the contending parties with a view of bringing about friendly and satisfactory adjustments thereof.

Sec. 6. Reports.—The commissioner shall annually publish a report addressed to the governor, embodying therein such information and statistics as he may deem expedient and proper, which report shall be printed and paid for by the State just as reports of other public officers are printed and paid for. The number of copies of such report to be printed to be designated by the commissioner. He shall also make a full report to the governor as other officers are required to do, embodying therein such recommendations as he may deem calculated to promote the efficiency of his department.

Sec. 7 (as amended 1919, p. 278). Salary, etc.—The commissioner shall receive a salary of thirty-six hundred dollars per annum; the assistant commissioner eighteen hundred dollars per annum; and the chief clerk and stenographer fifteen hundred dollars per annum; and eighteen hundred dollars per annum shall be allowed for the incidental expenses of said department, including the actual traveling expenses of said commissioner, assistant and chief clerk, while traveling for the purpose of collecting information and statistics as provided in this act.

ACTS OF 1912

Bonds of employees—Railroads, etc.

Section 1. Freedom in choice of companies.—From and after January 1st, 1913, no common carrier authorized to do business in this State when requiring of an employee that he give bond or undertaking of any nature whatsoever shall require as surety thereon any one or more specific or certain bonding company or companies as surety thereon: Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be construed so as to prevent any common carrier from specifying the form or verbage [verbiage] of such bond.

SECS. 2, 3. Cancellation; violation.—[Either party may cancel such contract of surety on breach of a condition, after ten days' notice and a statement of the reasons for such action, but this does not affect the right of any person to sue upon the breach of the contract. Violations are misdemeanors.]

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Age limit.—[The employment of children under the age of 14 in mills, factories, laundries, and places of amusement is forbidden, except for children over 12 who are orphans or have dependent widowed mothers.]

SECS. 2, 3. Certificates.—[Children under the age of 14 years and 6 months must have a certificate from the school superintendent stating the age, and that the child has attended school not less than 12 weeks within the 12 months prior to issue. Such certificates must state the name, date, and place of birth, etc.; that the child has appeared before the issuing officer, and that there is satisfactory evidence of age. The commissioner of labor furnishes blanks and receives a duplicate copy of certificates issued. He may investigate as to age and may revoke certificates improperly issued.]

SEC. 4. Night work.—[Children under the age of 14 years and 6 months may not be employed in mills, factories, etc., between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 5. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor is charged with the enforcement of the act.]

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Violations by employers, parents, or school authorities are misdemeanors.]

SEC. 8. Children of widows, etc.—[Self-supporting orphans or children of dependent widows may work in mills, factories, etc., if 12 years of age if it is found by a commission consisting of the county school superintendent, the ordinary of the county, and the head of the local school that their labor is needed for their own or their mothers' support. A certificate will issue, valid for but 6 months, and a period of school attendance may be required before issuance.]

Employment of children—Certificates

SECTION 17. Registry.—[The act providing for registration of vital statistics directs that after 14 years from its passage certified copies of birth registration certificates shall be required, and shall be prima facie evidence of age for children's employment certificates.]

ACTS OF 1916

(Page 101)

SECTION 1. Attendance required.—[Children under the age of 14 must attend school for four months each year, unless, among other reasons, because of poverty their services are needed for the support of parents or other dependents; or unless they are excused in farming districts on account of seasonal agricultural labor.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Inspector

SECTION 1. Appointment authorized.—The commissioner of commerce and labor shall have the power and authority to appoint one factory inspector to aid in the enforcement and observance of the new child labor law, and such other laws as are now or may hereafter come under the jurisdiction of the department of commerce and labor.

SEC. 2. Duties.—Said inspector shall work under the direction and supervision of the commissioner of commerce and labor, and shall make a written report of each inspection of factories, manufacturing establishments, workshops, and mercantile establishments to said commissioner, to be of [on] file in the department of commerce and labor, and shall collect such information and statistics as the commissioner may direct and under the direction and supervision of the commissioner may institute proceedings against any person, firm, or corporation found violating any of the laws with the enforcement of which said department is charged.

SEC. 3. Salary, etc.—The inspector shall receive a salary of $1,200 per annum, payable in the manner prescribed for other statehouse officials, and shall further receive out of the contingent fund of the department of commerce and labor his necessary traveling expenses while on the road making inspections and collecting information and statistics for the department, said expense vouchers to be approved by the commissioner of commerce and labor.

ACT No. 43.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

(Page 388)

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—Every person, firm or corporation, including steam and electric railroads, but not including farming, saw-mill, and turpentine industries, employing wage-workers, skilled or unskilled, engaged in manual, mechanical or clerical labor including all employees, except officials, superintendents, or other heads or sub-heads of departments, who may be employed by the month or year at stipulated salaries, shall make payments in lawful money, or checks, of the United States to said employees, laborers and workers or to their authorized representatives; such payments to be made on such dates during the month as may be decided upon by such person, firm or corporation: Provided, however, That such dates as may be selected shall amount to an equal division of the month in respect to the time of payments, the full net amount of wages or earnings due said employees, laborers and wage-workers, and in case any such employer shall refuse or willfully fail to make payments when demanded, upon the regular days of payment, to such wage-earner, said employer, the members of the firm, the directors, officers, and superintendents or managers of corporations and associations shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars: Provided, No person, firm or corporation is not in a financial condition to pay said wages, [sic] or salary, but insolvency shall be the only defense to an indictment for such an offense, and an extension of time within which to pay said wages or salary shall operate to make the offense under this act to be committed on date last agreed upon for payment of same.

ACTS OF 1923—EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Private employment offices—Wage brokers—License tax

PARAGRAPH 58. Employment offices.—[Upon all employment agencies or bureaus doing business in this State, $50 for each county.]

PAR. 111. Wage brokers.—[Upon each person, firm, or corporation or partnership buying salary or wage accounts and all negotiable papers, $100 for each office and place of business maintained.]

HAWAII

REVISED LAWS—1915

Employment of labor on public works

SECTION 157 (as amended by No. 19, Acts of 1923). Aliens.—All officers, deputies, clerks, assistants, interpreters, police, laborers, and other persons employed in the service of the government of the Territory of Hawaii, or in the service of any county or municipal subdivision of said Territory, shall be citizens or eligible to become citizens of the United States of America; except that in cases where it is not reasonably practicable to obtain citizens competent for such service, persons other than citizens may be employed; * * *

SEC. 158. Violations.—Any public official who shall violate any provisions of section 157 shall be liable upon conviction to a penalty of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, discretionary with the court.

SEC. 159. Semimonthly pay days.—The fifteenth and last days in each month shall be the pay days of all employees engaged in constructing or repairing roads, bridges, or streets for the Territory of Hawaii.

SEC. 160. Aliens not to be employed.—No person shall be employed as a mechanic or laborer upon any public work carried on by this Territory, or by any political subdivision thereof, whether the work is done by contract or otherwise, unless such person is a citizen of the United States, or eligible to become a citizen: Provided, however, That in the event that unskilled citizen labor, or unskilled labor eligible to become citizen labor, can not be obtained to do the required work, the superintendent of public works, or the county board of control, or the mayor, or other chief executive of any municipality, respectively, shall have the power to issue permits to employ other than citizen, or eligible to become citizen, unskilled labor until such citizen, or eligible to become citizen, unskilled labor can be obtained.

SEC. 161. Hours of labor.—Eight hours of actual service on any working day, except on Saturday, on which day only five hours of actual service shall constitute a day's labor for all mechanics, laborers, clerks, and other employees employed upon any public work or in any public office of this Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, whether the work is done by contract or otherwise.

SEC. 162. Contract.—A stipulation that no mechanics, clerks, laborers, or other employees employed upon any public work in the employ of the contractor or subcontractor shall be required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, and that no mechanic or laborer, other than a citizen of the United States, or person eligible to become a citizen, shall be employed, shall be contained in every contract to which the Territory or any political subdivision thereof is a party.

SEC. 163. Violations.—[Violations of sections 160-163 are punishable by a fine of from $10 to $100 for each offense. Each day a mechanic, clerk, etc., is employed contrary to the law is a separate offense. Contracts not in compliance with section 162 are void.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 286. Requirement.—[Attendance is compulsory to 15 years of age, unless 14 and suitably employed under direction of parent or guardian.]

Department of immigration, labor, and statistics

SECTION 643. Department created.—There is hereby established within and for the Territory of Hawaii a department of immigration, labor, and statistics, which shall be in charge of a board of immigration, labor, and statistics.

SEC. 644. Appointed, how.—The board shall be composed of five members, who shall be appointed by the governor in the manner prescribed in section 80 of the organic act, for terms of five years or the unexpired periods thereof, so that the term of one member shall expire on April 30 in each year, beginning with 1912.

SEC. 645. Organization.—One of the members shall be president of the board and shall be so designated in his appointment. The members shall be entitled to reimbursement for their actual expenses in attending meetings of the board. The board may, with the approval of the governor, appoint a commissioner of immigration, labor and statistics, who shall receive such compensation out of the funds at the disposal of the board, as shall be prescribed by the board, with the approval of the governor. The board may appoint such other officers, agents and servants as it may deem necessary, and regulate their powers and duties consistently with law, and may procure for its use necessary offices. It may remove such commissioner and any of its other officers, agents and servants.

SEC. 646. Duties.—The board may make full inquiry, examination and investigation into the condition, welfare, and industrial opportunities of all immigrants and settlers arriving or being within the Territory. It may also collect information with respect to the need and demand for labor by the several agricultural, industrial, and other productive activities throughout the Territory; gather information with respect to the supply of labor afforded by such immigrants and settlers as shall from time to time arrive or be within the Territory; ascertain the occupations for which such persons may be best adapted and bring about intercommunication between them and those requiring labor; investigate the treatment accorded them; cooperate with public and philanthropic agencies designed to aid in the distribution and employment of labor, and devise and carry out such other suitable methods as will tend to prevent or relieve unemployment.

SEC. 647. Powers.—The board may make all contracts and do all acts necessary or proper for securing low rates of fare to immigrants, for paying their passage money and otherwise facilitating their transportation, and for their reception and temporary accommodation.

SEC. 648. Records.—The board shall, as far as possible, keep a record showing the places of residence and the occupations followed by every immigrant brought to Hawaii at the expense of the Territory for at least a year next preceding the embarkation of said immigrant for Hawaii.

SEC. 649. * * * Labor camps, investigations, etc.—The board may inspect all labor camps within the Territory, and all employment and contract labor agencies.

The board shall investigate complaints with regard to fraud or extortion practiced against alien and other immigrants introduced under its auspices, or otherwise, and shall present to the proper authorities the results of such investigation, for action thereon; and shall investigate and study the general social and economic conditions of alien and other immigrants and settlers within the Territory for the purpose of promoting their welfare and that of the Territory, and inducing remedial action by appropriate public and private agencies.

SEC. 651. Reports.—It shall be the duty of the board to make an annual report to the governor, to be by him laid before the legislature. Such report shall give an itemized statement of all moneys received by the board and from what source received, and to whom and for what purpose paid, during the preceding fiscal year. It shall show also the number of immigrants brought to Hawaii at the expense of the Territory during such year, together with the race, nationality, age, sex, conjugal condition, literacy, and the residence and occupation, so far as possible, for at least one year preceding the embarkation of every such immigrant. It shall also show the per capita cost of introducing such immigrants to Hawaii. It shall also show other matters which the board is empowered to investigate or to act upon under this act, and such statistics relating to the Territory of Hawaii as the legislature, or the governor, may from time to time direct to be gathered.

Tenement and lodging houses—Inspection, etc.

SECTION 971. Roof, air space, etc.—Every house or tenement used or occupied as a dwelling for lodgers or contract laborers shall be kept by its owner in good repair, with the roof water-tight, and shall have the capacity of not less than three hundred cubic feet of space for each adult, or nine hundred cubic feet for one man and woman and two children.

SEC. 972. Sanitation.—The yard and grounds about all dwellings shall be well drained and kept free from rubbish of every description, with a closet, or privy, also to be kept in repair by the lodging-house keeper or employer of laborers, for every six adults.

SEC. 973. Access to be given.—Every owner or keeper and every other person having the care or management of a lodging-house or of a dwelling for contract laborers, shall at all times when required by the board of health or its agents give free access to such house or any part thereof.

SEC. 974. Penalty.—Every lodging-house keeper or employer of laborers who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this chapter shall pay a fine not exceeding fifty dollars.

Contracts of employment—Stamp duties

SECTION 1369. Tax on employers.—[A stamp duty of $1 (50 cents on the original contract and 50 cents on the duplicate copy) to be paid by the employer on each contract for labor for each year or fractional part thereof, is prescribed.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 2025. Fee.—[An annual license fee of $25 is required.]

Public service employees—Duties of commission—Accidents

SECTION 2225. Powers of commission.—The [public utilities] commission and each commissioner shall have power to examine into the condition of each public utility doing business in the Territory, the manner in which it is operated with reference to the safety or accommodation of the public, the safety, working hours and wages of its employees, * * * and all matters of every nature affecting the relations and transactions between it and the public or persons or corporations. Any such investigation may be made by the commission on its own motion, and shall be made when requested by the public utility to be investigated, or upon a sworn written complaint to the commission, setting forth any prima facie cause of complaint. All hearings conducted by the commission shall be open to the public. A majority of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 2227. Accidents to be reported.—Every public utility shall report to the commission all accidents caused by or occurring in connection with its operations and service, and the commission shall investigate the causes of any accident which results in loss of life, and may investigate any other accidents which in its opinion require investigation.

Wages—Suits—Exemptions

SECTION 2469. Exemptions.—[Homestead exemption does not apply where wages of mechanics are involved.]

SEC. 2470. Amount exempt.—[Exempts from attachment or execution one-half the wages due every laborer or person working for wages.]

Inducing workmen to leave employment

SECTION 2474. Injunction.—Any person or persons or corporation shall be entitled to an injunction in equity against any other person, persons, or corporation who shall endeavor or threaten, by promise of employment outside the Territory of Hawaii, to induce, entice, or persuade servants or laborers to leave their employment as aforesaid or to aid or abet such leaving, whenever it shall appear that the person, persons, or corporation against whom the injunction is sought are without sufficient property liable to execution within the Territory of Hawaii to respond in damages for said inducing, enticing or persuading servants or laborers to leave their employment as aforesaid or for aiding or abetting such leaving as aforesaid or otherwise that the complainant is without a plain, adequate, and complete remedy at law.

SEC. 2674. What actionable.—Inducing, enticing, or persuading by promise of employment outside the Territory of Hawaii, or attempting to so induce, entice, or persuade any servant or laborer who shall have contracted, either orally or in writing, to serve his employer a specific length of time, to leave the service of said employer during such time, without the consent of said employer, or aiding or abetting, or attempting to aid or abet, any such servant or laborer in leaving said service during the term thereof, for the purpose of leaving the Territory of Hawaii, without the consent of said employer, is hereby declared actionable, and damages may be recovered of any person or persons or corporation committing any of the acts aforesaid.

Garnishment of wages

SECTION 2803. Exemption.—[Court may on hearing direct wage debtor not to pay defendant employee more than 75 per cent of wages, balance to be held to satisfy judgment.]

SEC. 2804. Duty of employer.—[If judgment is certified to employer he shall continue to pay plaintiff 25 per cent of defendant's wages until judgment is extinguished or defendant leaves employment.]

SECS. 2818, 2819. Public employment.—[Provisions as to garnishment of salary or wages apply to officers and employees in the service of the Government of Hawaii or of its municipalities.]

Payment of wages—Deductions, offsets, etc.

SECTION 3446 (as amended 1921, No. 133). Deductions.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, or corporation, within this Territory, to deduct and retain any part or portion of any wages due and payable to any laborer or employee, or to collect any store account, offset, or counterclaim without the written consent or [of] such laborer or employee or by action at court as provided by law.

SEC. 3447. Fines, offsets, etc.—No fines, offsets, or counterclaims shall be collected, deducted, or retained out of any wages due and payable to any laborer or employee by any person, firm, partnership, or corporation in this Territory, unless by action in court and judgment therefor first obtained as provided by law.

SEC. 3448. Penalty.—Any person, partnership, firm, or corporation who shall violate any provision of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than fifty dollars and not more than one hundred dollars.

Interference with employment—Conspiracy

SECTION 4076. Definition.—A conspiracy is a malicious or fraudulent combination or mutual undertaking or concerting together of two or more, to commit any offense or instigate anyone thereto, or charge anyone therewith; or to do what plainly and directly tends to excite or occasion offense, or what is obviously and directly wrongfully injurious to another:

For instance—

* * * * * * *

To prevent another, by indirect and sinister means, from exercising his trade, and to impoverish him;

* * * * * * *

SEC. 4077. Parties.—Any person knowingly acceding to and joining in a conspiracy after the same is formed is a party thereto no less than the one who originally takes part in forming the same.

SEC. 4078. Act not requisite.—It is not requisite that the act agreed upon should be done or attempted in pursuance of the conspiracy; the conspiracy itself constitutes the offense.

SEC. 4079. Act of each is act of all.—The act of each party to a conspiracy, in pursuance thereof, is the act of all.

Employment of children—Night work of girls

SECTIONS 4197, 4198. Age limit.—[Employment of girls under the age of 16 is forbidden between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. in mercantile or manufacturing establishments, canneries, sugar mills, workshops, offices, restaurants, hotels, apartment houses, or as messengers or delivery girls; penalty not less than $50 nor more than $200 fine or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

Inducing workmen to leave employment

SECTION 4201. Penalty.—[Provides penalty for enticing workman under contract by promising employment outside the Territory, fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both.]

Protection of immigrant labor

SECTION 4202. Hiring for emigration forbidden, when.—To aid in preventing newly arrived immigrants into this Territory from being misled by false and mischievous representations of emigrant agents seeking to withdraw such immigrants from the Territory, thereby discouraging the efforts of the Territory and its citizens, made at great expense, to introduce desirable population, the hiring for employment out of this Territory of any immigrant coming into this Territory, or the inducing, abetting, and enticing of such immigrant to leave the Territory by any licensed emigrant agent, is hereby forbidden for the period of thirty days following the date of the arrival of such immigrant into the Territory, except with the consent and approval of the board of immigration, or any legal successor in powers and duties to such board.

SEC. 4203. Records of immigrant laborers.—It shall be the duty of the Territorial board of immigration, or any legal successor in powers and duties to such board, to keep an accurate record open to public inspection of all immigrants subject to the provisions of section 4202, showing among other things the date of the arrival of such immigrant into this Territory.

SEC. 4204. Violations.—Anyone violating the provisions of section 4202 shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall forfeit his license and be subject to a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

ACT No. 64.—Garnishment of wages

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, No. 202). Subsequent employers.—[When a wage earner is subject to a judgment of garnishment, and leaves the service of the garnished employer, any subsequent employer may be furnished a copy of the judgment, and is thereby charged with the payment of the judgment.]

ACTS OF 1917

ACT No. 115.—Factory, etc., regulations—Fire marshal

SECTION 49. Appointment; duties.—(1) The [insurance] commissioner shall be ex-officio Territorial fire marshal, herein designated fire marshal. He shall appoint one of his assistants as chief deputy and may appoint such clerks as he shall find necessary and he shall fix their duties and compensation. All salaries and expenses of the fire marshal department shall be paid out of the treasury of the Territory.

(2) The fire marshal, in conjunction with or through other public officers upon whom any such duties are imposed, if any, shall enforce all laws and ordinances of the Territory and political subdivisions thereof relating to:

(a) The prevention of fires, and the inspection of property, periodically or otherwise, or any other regulations or methods adopted for the prevention of or reduction of loss by fire, or to promote the safety of persons in case of fire;

(b) The manufacture, storage, sale, and use of combustibles and explosives;

(c) The installation and maintenance of automatic or other fire alarm systems and fire extinguishing equipment;

(d) Fire escapes and other means of exit from or access to buildings or parts of buildings or other property in case of fire;

* * * * * * *

(13) Every owner or other person having charge of or control over any building, structure, or other premises, in this section designated "owner," shall construct, keep, and make such building, structure, or other premises, in this section designated "building," safe from loss or damage to property or loss of life, or injury to persons by fire, in this section designated "fire loss."

(14) No such owner shall require, permit, or suffer the public or any employee to go or be in any such place which is not safe, and no such owner shall fail to furnish, provide, and use reasonably adequate protection and safeguards against fire or fail to adopt and use processes and methods reasonably adequate to render such places safe, and no such owner or other person shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to prevent a fire loss in such building so under his charge or control.

IDAHO

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 13.—Immigration and labor

SECTION 1. Bureau of immigration, etc.—There shall be established a bureau of immigration, labor, and statistics, which shall be under the charge of a commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate. The commissioner shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed. The commissioner shall collect information upon the subject of labor, its relation to capital, the hours of labor and the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity. The commisioner shall annually make a report in writing to the governor of the State of the information collected and collated by him, and containing such recommendations as he may deem calculated to promote the efficiency of the bureau.

SEC. 2. Hours on public works; health and safety.—Not more than eight hours actual work shall constitute a lawful day's work on all State and municipal works, and the legislature shall pass laws to provide for the health and safety of employees in factories, smelters, mines, and ore reduction works.

SEC. 4. Employment of children in mines.—The employment of children under the age of fourteen years in underground mines is prohibited.

SEC. 5. Alien labor on public works.—No person, not a citizen of the United States, or who has not declared his intention to become such, shall be employed upon, or in connection with, any State or municipal works.

SEC. 7. Arbitration of labor disputes.—The legislature may establish boards of arbitration, whose duty it shall be to hear and determine all differences and controversies between laborers and their employers which may be submitted to them in writing by all the parties. Such boards of arbitration shall possess all the powers and authority in respect to administering oaths, subpœnaing witnesses, and compelling their attendance, preserving order during the sittings of the board, punishing for contempt, and requiring the production of papers and writings, and all other powers and privileges, in their nature applicable, conferred by law on justices of the peace.

SEC. 8. Duty of commissioner—The commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be prescribed by law.

COMPILED STATUTES—1919

Department of immigration, labor, and statistics

SECTION 251. Department created.—Civil administrative departments of the State government are created as follows:

* * * * * * *

Commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, for the department of immigration, labor, and statistics.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 331. Duties.—The department of immigration, labor and statistics is the bureau of immigration, labor, and statistics heretofore established by law. It shall have power:

1. To promote the welfare of workers and to improve their commercial, industrial, social, and sanitary condition.

2. To collect information upon the subject of labor, its relation to capital, the hours of labor and the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity.

3. To visit and inspect, during reasonable hours, all shops, factories, and mercantile establishments and other places where workmen are employed, as often as practicable, and to cause the provisions of law to be enforced therein.

4. To inspect the sanitary conditions, system of sewerage, system of heating, lighting and ventilating of rooms where persons are employed at labor and the means of exit in case of fire or other disaster, within or connected with shops and factories. To examine the machinery in and about such shops and factories to see that it is not located so as to be dangerous to employees when engaged in their ordinary duties.

5. To collect and compile reliable data which if disseminated would tend to the development of the State by inducing population and capital to come within its borders.

6. To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render employees and places of employment safe.

7. To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, maintenance, and repair of places of employment as shall render them safe.

8. To require the performance of any act necessary for the protection of the life, health, and safety of employees.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1024. Age limit; night work.—[Employment of children under 14 is forbidden in, or in connection with, any mine, factory, workshop, mercantile establishment, store, telegraph or telephone office, laundry, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages; or in any business or service whatever during the hours public school is in session; or after 9 p. m. or before 6 a. m. If over 12, may be employed in occupations named above during vacations of two weeks or more.]

SEC. 1028. Penalties.—[Penalties on employers violating law, and on parents, etc., permitting unlawful employment are fines not to exceed $50; and $5 to $20 for each day's unlawful employment after notice from a truant officer.]

SEC. 1029. Employments forbidden.—[The use, employment, or letting of any child under the age of 16 for theatrical, acrobatic, mendicant, etc., employments is forbidden.]

SEC. 1031. Enforcement.—[Probation officers and school trustees are to bring complaint.]

Employees in slaughterhouses

SECTION 1759. Clothing, etc.—[Outer clothing, aprons, etc., of employees handling meat and meat products must be of sanitary material and cleansed daily; hands must be kept clean.]

SEC. 1760. Toilets, etc.—[Ample and properly equipped toilets, wash rooms, etc., must be provided and maintained separate from work and storage rooms.]

SEC. 1761. Wash rooms.—[Wash rooms must be properly ventilated, windows and doors screened, and cuspidors provided.]

Department of immigration, labor, and statistics

SECTION 2268. Office established.—In conformity with the requirements of section 1, Article XIII, of the constitution of the State of Idaho, a bureau of immigration, labor, and statistics for the State is hereby established, which is the department of immigration, labor, and statistics.

SEC. 2269. Commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, to appoint a competent person as commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, who shall have charge of said department, and who shall hold his office for the term provided in Article XIII of the constitution. He shall receive a salary of $3,600 a year, and such additional sum for general expenses, including his traveling expenses, printing, clerical hire, and other actual and necessary expenses of his office, as the legislature shall authorize and appropriate, to be paid as are the salaries and expenses of other State officers. Before entering upon the duties of his office he shall take oath for the faithful discharge of the duties thereof, the same as other State officers. The secretary of state shall provide a suitable room for the use of said department and furnish the necessary fuel, light, and appurtenances. All books, papers, and documents in the office of said commissioner shall be deemed public records of the State, and shall be transferred by him to his successor in office.

SEC. 2270. Duties.—It shall be, and is hereby made, the duty of said commissioner to collect and compile all reliable data and information at his command, concerning the climate, soil, and various resources of the State; its agricultural, horticultural, mineral, timber and grazing lands, and industries, and the development thereof; * * * the wages and hours of labor, both skilled and common, and its relation to capital; and, generally, any information, which if disseminated abroad, would tend to the development of the State by inducing population and capital to come within its borders. * * *

SEC. 2271. Powers.—In order to enable said commissioner to secure the above required information, he is hereby clothed with the power to call upon officers of the State, county assessors, superintendents of public instruction, and other officers, for such information as he may desire and deem valuable in his department.

SEC. 2274. Report.—The commissioner shall, on or before the first day of December in each year, transmit to the governor a full and complete report of the doings of his office, including a tabulated statement of all statistics accumulated in his office, and a detailed and itemized account of the expenses thereof.

SEC. 2275. Statistics of labor.—The commissioner shall collect information upon the subject of labor, its relation to capital, the hours of labor, and the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity, and assort, systematize, print and present in annual reports to the governor, on or before the first day in December of each year, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in this State, including the penal institutions thereof, particularly concerning the hours of labor, the number of laborers and mechanics employed, the number of apprentices in each trade, with the nativity of such laborers, mechanics, and apprentices, wages earned, the savings from the same, the culture, moral and mental, with age and sex, of laborers employed, and number and character of accidents, the sanitary condition of institutions and other places where labor is employed, as well as the influence of the several kinds of labor, and the use of intoxicating liquor upon the health and mental condition of the laborer, the restrictions, if any, which are put upon apprentices when indentured, the proportion of married laborers and mechanics who live in rented houses, with the annual rental of the same, the average number of members in the families of married laborers and mechanics, the value of property owned by laborers and mechanics, together with the value of property owned by such laborers or mechanics (if foreign born), upon their arrival in this country, and the length of time they have resided here, the subject of cooperation, strikes, or other labor difficulties, trades-unions, and other labor organizations, and their effects upon labor and capital, with such other matter relating to the commercial, industrial, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes, and permanent prosperity of the respective industries of the State, as such department may be able to gather, accompanied by such recommendations relating thereto as the department shall deem proper.

Arbitration of labor disputes—Labor commission

SECTION 2280. Commission created.—There shall be, and is hereby, created a commission to be composed of two electors of the State which shall be designated the labor commission, and which shall be charged with the duties and vested with the powers hereinafter enumerated.

SEC. 2281. Appointment.—The members of said commission shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate; and shall hold office for two years and until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified. One of said commissioners shall have been for not less than six years of his life an employee, for wages, in some department of industry in which it is usual to employ a number of persons under single direction and control and shall be at the time of his appointment affiliated with the labor interest as distinguished from the capitalist or employing interest.

The other of said commissioners shall have been for not less than six years an employer of labor, for wages, in some department of industry in which it is usual to employ a number of persons under single direction and control and shall be at the time of his appointment affiliated with the employing interest, as distinguished from the labor interest. Neither of said commissioners shall be less than 25 years of age, and they shall not be members of the same political party. A political party, within the meaning of this section, shall be held to mean one or more parties supporting one ticket or member of a fusion. Neither of the commissioners shall hold any other State, county, or city office in Idaho during the term of office for which he shall be appointed.

Each of said commissioners shall take and subscribe an oath, to be endorsed upon his commission, to the effect that he will punctually, honestly, and faithfully discharge his duties as such commissioner.

SEC. 2282. Seal.—Such commission shall have a seal and shall not be required to leave their personal labor or business, except to perform the duties devolving upon them as members of the labor commission.

When necessary they may appoint a secretary, who shall be a skillful stenographer and typewriter, and who shall receive a salary of four dollars per day and traveling expenses for every day spent in the discharge of duty under the direction of the commission.

SEC. 2283. Mediation.—It shall be the duty of said commissioners upon receiving authentic information in any manner of the existence of any strike, lockout, or other labor complication in this State affecting the labor or employment of 50 persons or more to go to the place where such complication exists, put themselves into communication with the parties to the controversy, and offer their services as mediators between them: Provided, That in all cases where less than 50 persons are on strike or lockout the commission may, in their discretion, act as though such number of strikers consisted of 50 or more persons. If they shall not succeed in effecting an amicable adjustment of the controversy in that way, they shall endeavor to induce the parties to submit their differences to arbitration, either under the provisions of this chapter or otherwise as they may elect.

SEC. 2284. Arbitration.—For the purpose of arbitration, under this chapter, the labor commissioners and the judge of the district court of the district in which the business in relation to which the controversy shall arise shall have been carried on shall constitute a board of arbitrators, to which shall be added, if the parties so agree, two other members, one to be named by the employer and the other by the employees in the arbitration agreement. If the parties to the controversy are a railroad company and the employees of the company engaged in the running of trains, any terminal within this State of the road, or any division thereof, may be taken and treated as the location of the business within the terms of this section, for the purpose of giving jurisdiction to the judge of the district court to act as a member of the board of arbitration.

SEC. 2285. Agreement to arbitrate.—An agreement to enter into arbitration under this chapter shall be in writing and shall state the issue to be submitted and decided and shall have the effect of an agreement by the parties to abide by and perform the award.

Such an agreement may be signed by the employer, as an individual, firm, or corporation, as the case may be, and execution of the agreement in the name of the employer by any agent or representative of such employer, then and there in control or management of the business or department of business, in relation to which the controversy shall have arisen, shall bind the employer. On the part of the employees the agreement may be signed by them in their own person, not less than two-thirds of those concerned in the controversy signing, or it may be signed by a committee by them appointed. Such committee may be created by election at a meeting of the employees concerned in the controversy, at which not less than two-thirds of such employees shall be present, which election, and the fact of the presence of the required number of employees at the meeting, shall be evidenced by the affidavit of the chairman and secretary of such meeting attached to the arbitration agreement. If the employees concerned in the controversy, or any of them, shall be members of any labor union or workingmen's society, they may be represented in the execution of said arbitration agreement by officers or committeemen of the union or society designated by it in any manner conformable to its usual methods of transacting business, and others of the employees represented by committee as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 2286. Commissioners pro tem.—If upon any occasion calling for the presence and intervention of the labor commissioners under this chapter one of said commissioners shall be present and the other absent, the judge of the district court of the district in which the dispute shall have arisen, as defined in section 2284, shall, upon the application of the commissioner present, appoint a commissioner pro tem, in the place of the absent commissioner, and such commissioner pro tem. shall exercise all the powers of a commissioner under this chapter, until the termination of the duties of the commission with respect to the particular controversy upon the occasion of which the appointment shall have been made, and shall receive the same pay and allowances provided by this chapter for the other commissioners. Such commissioner pro tem. shall represent and be affiliated with the same interests as the absent commissioner.

SEC. 2287. Oath; proceedings.—Before entering upon their duties, the arbitrators shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to the effect that they will honestly and impartially perform their duties as arbitrators, and a just and fair award render, to the best of their ability. The sitting of the arbitrators shall be in the court room of the district court or such other place as shall be provided by the county commissioners of the county in which the hearing is had. The district judge shall be the presiding member of the board. He shall have power to issue subpœnas for witnesses who do not appear voluntarily, directed to the sheriff of the county, whose duty it shall be to serve the same without delay. He shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses, enforce order, and direct and control the examinations.

The proceedings shall be informal in character, but in general accordance with the practice governing the district courts in the trial of civil cases. All questions of practice, or questions relating to the admission of evidence, shall be decided by the presiding member of the board summarily and without extended argument. The sittings shall be open and public. If five members are sitting as such board, three members of the board agreeing shall have power to make an award, otherwise two. The secretary of the commission shall attend the sitting and make a record of the proceedings in shorthand, but shall transcribe so much thereof only as the commission shall direct.

SEC. 2288. Award.—The arbitrators shall make their award in writing and deliver the same, with the arbitration agreement and their oath as arbitrators, to the clerk of the district court of the judicial district in which the hearing was had, and deliver a copy of the award to the employer and a copy to the first signer of the arbitration agreement on the part of the employees. A copy of all the papers shall be preserved by the commission.

SEC. 2289. Records; enforcement of award.—The clerk of the district court shall record the papers delivered to him, as directed in the last preceding section, in the order book of the district court. Any person, who was a party to the arbitration proceedings, may present to the district court of the county in which the hearing was had, or to the judge thereof, in vacation, a verified petition referring to the proceedings and the record of them, in the order book, and showing that said award has not been complied with, stating by whom and in what respect it has been disobeyed.

Thereupon the court or judge thereof, in vacation, shall grant a rule against the party or parties so charged to show cause within five days why said award has not been obeyed, which shall be served by the sheriff as other process. Upon return made to the rule, the judge, or court if in session, shall hear and determine the questions presented and make such order or orders, directed to the parties before him in personam as shall give just effect to the award. Disobedience by any party to such proceedings of any order so made shall be deemed a contempt of the court, and may be punished accordingly. But such punishment shall not extend to imprisonment except in case of willful disobedience. In all proceedings under this section the award shall be regarded as presumptively binding upon the employer and all employees who were parties to the controversy submitted to arbitration, which presumption shall be overcome only by proof of dissent from the submission delivered to the arbitrators, or one of them, in writing, before the commencement of the hearing.

SEC. 2290. Rules.—The labor commission, with the advice and assistance of the attorney general of the State, which he is hereby required to render, may make rules and regulations respecting proceedings in arbitration under this chapter, not inconsistent with this chapter, or the law, including forms, and cause the same to be printed and furnished to all persons applying therefor, and all arbitration proceedings under this chapter shall thereafter conform to such rules and regulations.

SEC. 2291. Application for arbitration.—Any employer and his employees, not less than twenty-five in number, between whom differences exist which have not resulted in any open rupture or strike, may, of their own motion, apply to the labor commission for arbitration of their differences, and upon the execution of an arbitration agreement, as hereinbefore provided, a board of arbitrators shall be organized in the manner hereinbefore provided, and the arbitration shall take place and the award be rendered, recorded, and enforced in the same manner as in arbitrations under the provisions found in the preceding sections of this chapter.

SEC. 2292. Precedence of proceedings.—In all cases arising under this chapter requiring the attendance of a judge of the district court as a member of the arbitration board, such duty shall have precedence over any other business pending in his court, and if necessary for prompt transaction of such other business, it shall be his duty to appoint the district judge of an adjoining district to sit in the district court in his place during the pendency of such arbitration, and such appointee shall receive the same compensation for his services as is now allowed by law to judges appointed to sit in case of change of judge in civil actions. In case the judge of the district court whose duty it shall become under this chapter to sit upon any board of arbitrators shall be at the time actually engaged in a trial which can not be interrupted without loss and injury to the parties and which will, in his opinion, continue for more than three days to come, or is disabled from acting by sickness or otherwise, it shall be the duty of such judge to call in and appoint the district judge of an adjoining district to sit upon such board of arbitrators, and such appointed judge shall have the same power and perform the same duties as member of the board of arbitration as are by this chapter vested in and charged upon the district judge regularly sitting, and he shall receive the same compensation now provided by law to a judge sitting by appointment upon a change of judge in civil cases, to be paid in the same way.

SEC. 2293. Investigations.—If the parties to any such labor controversy as is defined in section 2283 shall have failed at the end of five days after the first communication of said labor commission to them to adjust their differences amicably, or to agree to submit the same to arbitration, it shall be the duty of the labor commission to proceed at once to investigate the facts attending the disagreement.

In this investigation the commission shall be entitled, upon request, to the presence and assistance of the attorney general of the State, in person or by deputy, whose duty it is hereby made to attend, without delay, upon request by letter or telegram from the commission. For the purpose of such investigation the commissioners shall have power to issue subpœnas, and each of the commissioners shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations. Such subpœna shall be under seal of the commission and signed by the secretary of the commission or a member of it, and shall command the attendance of the person or persons named in it at a time and place named, which subpœna may be served and returned as other process by any sheriff or constable in the State.

In case of disobedience of any such subpœna or the refusal of any witness to testify, the district court having jurisdiction, or the judge thereof during vacation, shall, upon the application of the labor commission, grant a rule against the disobeying person or persons or the person refusing to testify to show cause forthwith why he or they should not obey such subpœna or testify as required by the commission, or be adjudged guilty of contempt, and in such proceedings such court, or the judge thereof in vacation, shall be empowered to compel obedience to such subpœna as in the case of a subpœna issued under the order of and by the authority of the court, or to compel a witness to testify as witnesses in court are compelled to testify. But no pereson shall be required to attend as a witness at any place outside of the county of his residence. Witnesses called by the labor commission under this section shall be paid $2 per diem fees out of the expense fund provided by this chapter, if such payment is claimed at the time of their examination.

SEC. 2294. Report.—Upon the completion of the investigation authorized by the last preceding section, the labor commission shall forthwith report the facts thereby disclosed, affecting the merits of the controversy, in a brief and condensed form, to the governor.

SEC. 2295. Communications confidential.—An employer shall be entitled, in his response to the inquiries made of him by the commission in the investigation provided for in the last two preceding sections, to submit in writing to the commission a statement of any facts material to the inquiry, the publication of which would be likely to be injurious to his business, and the facts so stated shall be taken and held as confidential, and shall not be disclosed in the report or otherwise.

SEC. 2296. Compensation.—Said commissioners shall receive a compensation of $6 each per diem, for the time actually expended, and actual and necessary traveling and hotel expenses, while absent from home in performance of duty, and each of the two members of the board of arbitration, chosen by the parties under the provisions of this chapter, shall receive the same compensation for the days occupied in service upon the board. The attorney general, or his deputy shall receive his necessary and actual traveling expenses while absent from home in the service of the commission. Such compensation and expenses shall be paid by the State treasurer upon warrants drawn by the auditor upon itemized and verified accounts of time spent and expenses paid. All such accounts except those of the commissioners, shall be certified as correct by the commissioners, or one of them, and the accounts of the commissioners shall be certified by the secretary of the commission.

It is hereby declared to be the policy of this chapter, that the arbitrations and investigations provided for in it, shall be conducted with all reasonable promptness and dispatch, and no member of any board of arbitration shall be allowed payment for more than 15 days' service, in any one arbitration, and no commissioner shall be allowed payment for more than 10 days' service in the making of the investigation provided for in section 2293 and sections following.

Public employment offices

SECTION 2297. Private agencies for profit abolished; exception.—The further maintenance of private employment offices within the State of Idaho is hereby forbidden: Provided, That nothing in this chapter shall operate to prevent the maintenance of employment offices by religious, benevolent, or charitable societies whenever the same are not conducted for profit: Provided, further, That nothing in this chapter shall prevent the operation of agencies for school teachers or other professional employment, or the maintenance of private employment agencies where no compensation for procuring the employment is exacted from the person for whom the employment is procured.

SEC. 2298. Duty of municipalities.—The duty of maintaining suitable employment offices in the various municipalities of this State is hereby declared to be a function of government, and such offices shall be established and conducted under the municipalities of this State as in this chapter provided.

SEC. 2299. What cities, etc., to have offices.—In all cities and villages of this State having a population of 5,000 or more there shall be established by the authorities thereof a suitable employment agency whereat all persons desiring employment may register their names, the kind of employment desired, and the wages demanded, and at which any person desiring to employ labor of any class may register his name, the kind of labor desired, and the wages which he is willing to pay therefore: Provided, That membership in or affiliation with any religious, political, benevolent, charitable, labor, or any other organization shall never be allowed to influence or control the securing of employment or services at any municipal employment agency, and no employment clerk or other person connected with a municipal employment agency shall ever ask any applicant for employment or services any questions relating to his membership in or affiliations with any religious, political, benevolent, charitable, labor, or other organization, or to his political views on any matters whatever. In such cities the employment office shall be located, where practicable, in the city hall, and where such municipality is a county seat such employment office shall be located, when considered favorable by the municipal authorities, in the county courthouse or in the building used as such.

SEC. 2300. Smaller cities, etc.—In cities and villages having a population smaller than 5,000 it shall be the duty of the municipal authorities to establish a separate employment office when conditions in any such municipality seem to warrant the same, but if no such separate employment office is established it shall be the duty of the municipal authorities to provide for the establishment of such an office in the office of the police judge, or if there be no such official then in the office of a justice of the peace.

SEC. 2301. Equipment.—It shall be the duty of any city or village in which a municipal employment agency is established, as provided in this chapter, to suitably equip such office with the necessary furniture, books, blanks, and stationery for the proper conduct of the business pertaining to such office.

SEC. 2302. Fees.—A fee of $1 shall be charged by any municipal employment office for each position secured for any applicant without the limits of the municipality in which such employment office is situated, and a fee of 50 cents shall be charged for each position secured for any applicant within the limits of the municipality in which such agency is situated.

SEC. 2303. Clerks, etc.—It shall be the duty of the governing authorities of any city or village to determine the number of clerks which it is necessary to employ for the proper conduct of the business of its municipal employment office, but the number of said clerks shall never be greater than is necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such office. Where separate employment offices are maintained, as in this chapter provided, the compensation of chief clerk of any such office shall not exceed the sum of $125 per month, nor shall the salary of any assistant clerk exceed the sum of $100 per month. When the employment office in any municipality is established in the office of a police judge or justice of the peace such police judge or justice of the peace shall be entitled to half of the amount of all fees collected by him in each and every month: Provided, That the compensation of a police judge or a justice of the peace in charge of a municipal employment office shall never exceed the sum of $125 per month. All fees collected by any clerk other than a police judge or justice of the peace and one-half of all fees collected by any police judge or justice of the peace in charge of a municipal employment office shall be deposited with the city or village treasurer to the credit of the general funds of such city or village on the last day of each and every month.

SEC. 2304. Appointment.—All clerks in any municipal employment office shall be appointed by the mayor or acting mayor of such city or village, and such clerks shall hold office during their good behavior. They may be removed by the mayor for incompetency or neglect, but shall never be removed for political or personal reasons.

SEC. 2305. Records.—It shall be the duty of the chief clerk of each municipal employment office established under this chapter to keep a true, accurate, and complete record of all moneys received or expended in such office, and all positions secured for applicants at such office, and it shall be the duty of said clerk to file with the county auditor of the county in which his office is located, on the first Monday in December of each year a complete record of the business transacted in his office during the preceding year, and all moneys received and disbursed.

SEC. 2306. Bonds.—Any municipal employment clerk, other than a police judge or justice of the peace must give bond in a sum equal to twice the amount of his annual salary, and any police judge or justice of the peace in charge of a municipal employment office must give bond in the sum of $1,000 in addition to any bond which he may be, by law, required to give as such police judge or justice of the peace.

SEC. 2307. Violations.—Any violation of the provisions of this chapter, or the making of any false statement or statements in any report, or the charging of illegal fees, or the acceptance of any private consideration for securing employment, shall constitute a misdemeanor which, upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Private employment offices

SECTIONS 2308–2310. Permits; bonds.—[Permits must be obtained from the county commissioners of the county in which any bureau is to be located, and bond given in the sum of $5,000 conditioned on the proper conduct of the office and for the payment of damages to anyone injured by fraud, etc. Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $300, and imprisonment for not less than 30 nor more than 90 days.]

Contracts of employment—Filing, publication, etc.

SECTION 2311. Certain persons to publish notices.—It shall be the duty of any person, persons, company or corporation engaged in working any mine, mines, mining premises or in developing any mining claim or claims, whether quartz or placer, or in the running of any tunnel, or in the erection or repair of any building or other structure, or in the construction of any canal, ditch, railroad, wagon road or aqueduct, in every case where mechanics or laborers are employed in or about the properties above mentioned to make, record, and publish a statement under oath, setting forth the following data:

1. The name or names of the owner or owners of the mine, mines, mining claim or premises, tunnel, building, canal, ditch, railroad, wagon road, aqueduct, or other structure upon which work is being done or upon which it is intended to begin work.

2. The name or names of the person, persons, company or corporation engaged in, or who contemplates engaging in, work upon any of the properties or structures mentioned herein.

3. The conditions under which said person, persons, company or corporation is prosecuting said work, whether as owner, agent, lessee, contractor, subcontractor, contemplative purchaser or lien holder..

4. The principal office of said person, persons, company or corporation, and, if a corporation, the State or county where incorporated and the agent in this State on whom service may be had.

5. The day of the week or month when payment of the laborers, mechanics, and material men will be made, and the place where said payments will be made.

6. A statement of all mortgages and liens against the property on which work is being done, with the amount of each of said incumbrances and whether or not the same is due.

SEC. 2312. Filing notices.—Any person, persons, company, or corporation who shall engage in working, developing, or prospecting any mine, mines, mining claim, or premises, or in running any tunnel, or in repairing or erecting any building, or in constructing any canal, ditch, railroad, wagon road, aqueduct, or other structure, and shall employ any mechanics or laborers in prosecuting said work, shall, before employing said mechanics or laborers or any of them, make a statement under oath containing the data provided for in the preceding section and file the same for record in the office of the recorder of the county in which said labor is being done, and if there be a district recorder, then, also in the office of said district recorder of the district where said mechanics or laborers are employed, and also to post similar statements in his or its office, at the place where the payment of wages is to be made, and in a public and conspicuous place where it can be easily seen at or near the place where said mechanics or laborers are employed.

SEC. 2313. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine of not less than $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 3 months.]

Protection of employees in choice of boarding houses, etc.

SECTION 2322. Restrictions forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any employer, by himself or by his agent, or for any agent of any employer, or for any other person, directly or indirectly, to impose as a condition, express or implied, in or for the employment of any workman or employee, any terms as to the place at which, or the person with whom any workman or employee is to board, lodge, subsist, or reside; or as to the place or store at which he shall purchase his goods, wares, or merchandise; or as to the place at which, or the manner in which, or the person with whom any wages or portion of wages paid to the workman or employee are or is to be expended; and no employer shall, by himself or his agent, nor shall any agent of any employer dismiss any workman or employee from his employment for or on account of the place at which, or the person with whom such workman or employee may board, lodge, subsist or reside, or as to the place or store at which he shall purchase his goods, wares, and merchandise; or for or on account of the place at which, or the person with whom, any wages or portion of wages paid by the employer to such workman or employee are or is expended, or fail to be expended: Provided, That it shall not apply to the collection of hospital fees or dues.

Any employer, who by himself or his agent, or any agent of any employer, or any other person, who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall he fined not less than $100 nor to exceed $300, or be imprisoned in the county jail for not less than 30 days nor to exceed 90 days, or shall suffer both such fine and imprisonment.

Employment of aliens on public works

SECTION 2323. Employment forbidden.—[Persons not citizens or declarants and persons not eligible for citizenship may not be employed on the public works of the State or any municipality; penalty, $10 to $100 fine for each person employed, and imprisonment until the fine is paid.]

Hours of labor

SECTION 2324 (as amended 1923, ch. 93). Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons now employed, or who may hereafter be employed, in manual labor by or on behalf of the State of Idaho, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township, or other municipality of said State, except in cases of extraordinary emergency which may arise in time of war or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life, except agricultural and domestic laborers employed by State institutions, and no time consumed in going to and returning from work shall be a part of said eight hours, and no laborer, workman, mechanic, or other person working less than eight hours per day [shall] be paid more than the proportionate rate per hour for the actual working time put in; Provided, That in all such cases the laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons so employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided further, That not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to the laborers, workmen, mechanics, and other persons so employed by or on behalf of the State of Idaho, or any county, city, township, or other municipality of said State; and laborers, workmen, mechanics, and other persons employed by contractors or subcontractors in the execution of any such contract or contracts with the State of Idaho, or with any county, city, township, or other municipality thereof, shall be deemed to be employed by or on behalf of the State of Idaho, or of such county, city, township, or other municipality thereof, and any person who certifies up for payment the salary or wages of any laborer, workman, mechanic, or other persons working for the State of Idaho, or for any county, city, township, or other municipality therein, at a greater number of hours per day than the number put in at actual labor by such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2325. Contracts.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State of Idaho, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township, or other municipality of said State, with any corporation, person, or persons, for the performance of any labor within the State of Idaho, except agricultural and domestic laborers employed by State institutions, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; and it shall be unlawful for any such corporation, person, or persons to require or permit any laborer, workman, mechanic, or other person to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work, except in the cases and upon the conditions provided in section 2324.

SEC. 2326. Violations.—[Penalties are fines, not less than $50 nor more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.]

SEC. 2327. Limit in mines.—The period of employment of workingmen in all underground mines or workings shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 2328. Eight hours a day's work.—The period of employment of workingmen in smelters, ore-reduction works, stamp mills, concentrators, and other places where metalliferous ores are being treated, refined, and reduced for the purpose of obtaining the metals thereof shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life and property are in imminent danger.

SEC. 2329. Violations.—[Violations of the two preceding sections are punishable by fine, $50 to $300, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.]

Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 2330. Nine-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment, or office, or by any express or transportation company, in this State more than nine hours during any day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than 9 hours during the 24: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section in relation to the hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect females employed in harvesting, packing, curing, canning, or drying any variety of perishable fruit or vegetable. If it shall be adjudicated that the foregoing proviso and exception shall be unconstitutional and invalid for any reason, an adjudication of invalidity of said proviso or of any part of this article shall not affect the validity of the article as a whole or any part thereof.

SEC. 2331. Seats.—Every employer in establishments where females are employed shall provide suitable seats for them and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not engaged in the active duties for which they are employed, and every such employer shall keep posted in an open and conspicuous place in each room where such females are at work a copy of this article printed in such form and style as may be easily read.

SEC. 2332. Violations.—Any employer, overseer, superintendent, or other agent of any such employer who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined for each offense in a sum not less than $10 nor more than $100.

Barber shops

SECTION 2333. Closing time.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons in the State to keep open for business or to work at the barber's trade in any city of the first or second class after the hour of seven o'clock p. m. on any working day: Provided, however, That on Saturday and the day preceding each legal holiday said barber shops may be kept open for business until ten o'clock p. m.

SEC. 2334. Violations.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $25 nor more than $100.

Railroads, etc.—Safety provisions—Accidents

SECTION 2412. Service to be adequate.—Every public utility shall furnish, provide, and maintain such service, instrumentalities, equipment, and facilities as shall promote the safety, health, comfort, and convenience of its patrons, employees, and the public and as shall be in all respects adequate, efficient, just, and reasonable.

SEC. 2463. Safety regulations.—The commission shall have the power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, or regulations, or otherwise, to require every public utility to maintain and operate its line, plant, system, equipment, apparatus, tracks, and premises in such manner as to promote and safeguard the health and safety of its employees, passengers, customers, and the public, and to this end to prescribe, among other things, the installation, use, maintenance, and operation of appropriate safety or other devices or appliances, including interlocking and other protective devices at grade crossings or junction and block or other systems of signaling, to establish uniform or other standards of equipment, and to require the performance of any other act which the health or safety of its employees, passengers, customers, or the public may demand.

SEC. 2465. Accidents.—The commission shall investigate the cause of all accidents occurring within this State upon the property of any public utility or directly or indirectly arising from or connected with its maintenance or operation, resulting in loss of life or injury to person or property, and requiring, in the judgment of the commission, investigation by it, and shall have the power to make such order or recommendation with respect thereto as in its judgment may seem just and reasonable: Provided, That neither the order or recommendation of the commission, nor any accident report filed with the commission, shall be admitted as evidence in any action for damages based on or arising out of the loss of life or injury to person or property in this section referred to. Every public utility is hereby required to file with the commission, under such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe, a report of each accident so occurring of such kinds or classes as the commission may from time to time designate.

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTIONS 2586, 2587, 2589. What buildings to have; type.—[Factory buildings more than two stories in height must be equipped with safe and suitable iron or fireproof ladders attached to the outside of the building, of easy access to the occupants. Failure to provide such ladders subjects to imprisonment for not less than three nor more than six months or a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $300, or both.]

Railroads—Height of wires crossing tracks

SECTION 3459. Approval.—[Stringing of wires must be approved and authorized by the county commissioners.]

SEC. 3460. Height.—[Commissioners may order changes if in their judgment they should be made to guard against accidents, costs to be apportioned. No wires may be less than 25 feet above tracks, except trolley wires, which may be not less than 20 feet.]

SECS. 3461, 3462. Violations.—[Disobedience of orders or neglect of duty by commissioners are misdemeanors.]

Railroads, etc.—Employees' bonds

SECTION 5118. Payment of bonds furnished corporations.—It shall be unlawful for any firm or individual railroad or other corporation doing business within this State to collect or retain from the wages of the persons in their employ the cost of any guaranty or security furnished the said firm, individual, or railroad or other corporation covering the said employees, unless such employees shall have agreed to pay the premium on such guaranty or security.

Wages—Suits—Exemptions

SECTION 5441 (as amended 1923, ch. 20). Exception.—[Homesteads shall not be exempt where judgment is on a debt secured by mechanics', etc., liens.]

Mines—Inspector—Regulations

SECTION 5470 (as amended 1921, ch. 24). Inspector.—[Office of inspector of mines is created to be filled by biennial elections. Bond of $5,000 required. Salary is $2,400.]

SEC. 5471. Not to be interested.—[Inspector must not be interested in mining, milling, or reduction corporations in the State.]

SECS. 5472, 5473. Duties.—[Duties include inspection and the collection of information and statistics. Owners failing to make changes directed to correct unsafe conditions are guilty of a misdemeanor. Each day's continuance is a separate offense.]

SEC. 5474. Records; reports.—[Records of inspections are to be kept in an office in the State capitol. Owners are to report annually as to nature of mine, number of employees, method of working, and other information as the inspector may require.]

SEC. 5475. Complaints.—[On formal complaint in writing, signed by three persons, setting forth prescribed facts, the inspector must in person examine and visit any mine complained of. Names of complainants are not to be divulged unless necessary in court proceedings.]

SEC. 5476. Enforcement.—[If the mine owner neglects or refuses to comply with orders to remedy unsafe conditions, the inspector informs the attorney general, who must bring action to recover penalties.]

SECS. 5477, 5479. Deputies.—[With the consent of the governor, the inspector may appoint deputies at $5 per diem and expenses, to act with or in the place of the inspector in investigating accidents and at coroners' inquests.]

SEC. 5478. Accidents.—[Owner is to notify the inspector of serious or fatal accidents, which he must investigate, and attend inquest if one is held; he may summon and examine and cross-examine witnesses. If the inspector or a deputy can not attend, the owner, etc., must furnish a verified statement of the facts.]

SEC. 5480. Report.—[An annual report must be made to the governor, giving statistics of accidents, of mine operations, inspections and activities generally.]

SECS. 5485–5519 (sec. 5508 amended 1923, ch. 131). Safety provisions.—[Regulations are made for the operation and equipment of mines, including fire protection and exits (more than one if more than 15 men are employed underground); the construction of shafts and hoists; signal codes, the storage and use of explosives and oils; dust prevention; and provisions for enforcement.]

Industrial accident board—Safety regulations

SECTION 6337. Power of board.—The board shall have the power, in addition to other powers herein granted by general rules or regulations:

1. To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render employees and places of employment safe.

2. To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, maintenance, and repair of places of employment as shall render them safe.

3. To require the performance of any act necessary for the protection of the life, health, and safety of employees.

SEC. 6338. Compliance.—Every employer, employee, and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, direction or regulation made or prescribed by the board, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with and observance of every such order, direction, or regulation.

SEC. 6339. Violations.—[Violations and failure to comply with safety provisions are misdemeanors.]

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 6920. Amount.—[Exempts 75 per cent of the wages earned by a judgment debtor within 30 days next preceding the levy of execution on affidavit that such earnings are necessary for the support of a dependent family resident within the State; or 50 per cent if the indebtedness is for actual necessaries. The exemption may not exceed $100 at any one time.]

Wages—Preference—Attorneys' fees—Payment on discharge

SECTION 7376. Assignments.—[Wages of miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks, or laborers for services rendered within 60 days preceding an assignment are preferred in an amount not exceeding $150.]

SEC. 7377. Administration.—[Same in case of death, except that expenses of funeral, of last sickness, charges of administration, and allowances to widow and infant children take precedence.]

SEC. 7378. Executions, etc.—[In cases of executions, attachments, etc., claims for wages may be submitted, under oath, and if not disputed, are to be paid first out of the proceeds of the sale of the property worked upon for 60 days preceding the levy of the writ. Contests must be prosecuted within 10 days or be forever barred, and sufficient funds must be withheld to meet such claims.]

SEC. 7379. Attorneys' fees.—[Attorneys' fees are allowed in successful wage suits if demand in writing for an amount not exceeding the amount found due was made at least 5 days before suit was brought.]

Payment of wages due discharged employees

SECTION 7381. Wages to be paid on discharge.—Whenever any employer of labor shall hereafter discharge or lay off his or its employees without first paying them the amount of any wages or salary then due them, in cash, lawful money of the United States, or its equivalent, or shall fail or refuse on demand to pay them in like money, or its equivalent, the amount of any wages or salary at the time the same becomes due and owing to them under their contract of employment, whether employed by the hour, day, week, or month, each of his or its employees may charge and collect wages in the sum agreed upon in the contract of employment for each day his employer is in default until he is paid in full, without rendering any service therefor: Provided, however, He shall cease to draw such wages or salary 30 days after such default.

SEC. 7382. Claim a lien.—Every employee shall have such lien and all other rights and remedies for the protection and enforcement of such salary or wages as he would have been entitled to had he rendered services therefor in manner as last employed.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 8113. Threats.—[Threats of discharge from employment in attempt to influence votes are forbidden.]

Railroad employees—Illiteracy

SECTION 8352. Employment of illiterate trainmen.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation operating a railroad within the State of Idaho, whereon steam or electricity is used as motive power, to employ any conductor, engineer, fireman, brakeman, switchman, or any other employee whose duty may require him to act as flagman who can not read, write, and speak the English language. Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

ACTS OF 1921

CHAPTER 215.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 75½. Requirement.—[Any child under 18 years of age is required to attend school unless it is 15 and has completed eighth grade or "its help is necessary for its own use or its parents' support," or other good cause.]

ILLINOIS

ARTICLE 4.—Mine regulations

SECTION 29. Laws to be passed.—It shall be the duty of the general assembly to pass such laws as may be necessary for the protection of operative miners, by providing for ventilation, when the same may be required, and the construction of escapement shafts, or such other appliances as may secure safety in all coal mines, and to provide for the enforcement of said laws by such penalties and punishments as may be deemed proper.

Coal mining is not a public employment within the doctrine of the cases subjecting public employments to regulation for the public good. This provision relates only to the enactment of police regulations to promote the safety of miners. 117 Ill. 294.

REVISED STATUTES—1917

CHAPTER 3.—Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 70 (as amended 1921, p. 1). Rank.—[Wages of common laborers and household servants rank with expenses of last illness (including doctor's bill) next after funeral expenses and cost of administration and widow's or children's award.]

CHAPTER 10.—Arbitration of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 19. Appointment of board.—The governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint three persons, not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party, who shall be styled a "State Board of Arbitration," to serve as a State board of arbitration and conciliation; one and only one of whom shall be an employer of labor, and only one of whom shall be an employee, and shall be selected from some labor organization. They shall hold office until March 1, 1897, or until their successors are appointed, but said board shall have no power to act as such until they and each of them are confirmed by the senate. On the first day of March, 1897, the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint three persons as members of said board in the same manner above provided, one to serve for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, or until their respective successors are appointed, and on the first day of March in each year thereafter the governor shall in the same manner appoint one member of said board to succeed the member whose term expires, and to serve for the term of three years or until his successor is appointed. If a vacancy occure [occurs] at any time, the governor shall in the same manner appoint some one to serve out the unexpired term. Each member of said board shall before entering upon the duties of his office be sworn to a faithful discharge thereof. The board shall at once organize by the choice of one of their number as chairman, and they shall as soon as possible after such organization establish suitable rules of procedure. The board shall have power to select and remove a secretary, who shall be a stenographer, and whose salary shall be $2,500 per annum, payable out of the State treasury, upon the warrant of the auditor of public accounts, from any money not otherwise appropriated, said secretary to receive also his necessary traveling and other expenses, to be paid from the State treasury on bills of particulars to be approved by the chairman of the board and the governor.

SEC. 20. Duties.—When any controversy or difference not involving questions which may be the subject of an action at law or bill in equity, exists between an employer, whether an individual, copartnership, or corporation, employing not less than twenty-five persons, and his employees in this State, the board shall upon application as herein provided, and as soon as practicable thereafter, visit the locality of the dispute and make a careful inquiry into the cause thereof, hear all persons interested therein who may come before them, advise the respective parties what, if anything ought to be done or submitted to by both to adjust said dispute, and make a written decision thereof. This decision shall at once be made public, shall be recorded upon proper books of record to be kept by the secretary of said board, and a short statement thereof published in the annual report hereinafter provided for, and the board shall cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of the city, town, or village where said business is carried on.

SEC. 21. Application.—Said application shall be signed by said employer or by a majority of his employees in the department of the business in which the controversy or difference exists, or by both parties, and shall contain a concise statement of the grievances complained of, and a promise to continue on in business or at work without any lockout or strike until the decision of said board, if it shall be made within three weeks of the date of filing said application. As soon as may be after the receipt of said application the secretary of said board shall cause public notice to be given of the time and place of the hearing thereon; but public notice need not be given when both parties to the controversy join in the application and present therewith a written request that no public notice be given. When such request is made, notice shall be given to the parties interested in such manner as the board may order, and the board may, at any stage of the proceedings cause public notice to be given, notwithstanding such request. The board in all cases shall have power to summon as witnesses any operative or expert in the department of business affected, and any person who keeps the records of wages earned in those departments, or any other person, and to examine them under oath, and to require the production of books containing the records of wages paid, and such other books and papers as may be deemed necessary to a full and fair investigation of the matter in controversy. The board shall have power to issue subpœnas, and oaths may be administered by the chairman of the board. If any person, having been served with a subpœna or other process issued by such board, shall willfully fail or refuse to obey the same, or to answer such questions as may be propounded touching the subject matter of the inquiry or investigation, it shall be the duty of the circuit court or the county court of the county in which the hearing is being conducted, or of the judge thereof, if in vacation, upon application by such board, duly attested by the chairman and secretary thereof, to issue an attachment for such witness and compel him to appear before such board and give his testimony, or to produce such books and papers as may be lawfully required by said board; and the said court or the judge thereof shall have power to punish for contempt, as in other cases of refusal to obey the process and order of such court.

SEC. 22. Decisions to be in writing.—Upon the receipt of such application, and after such notice, the board shall proceed as before provided, and render a written decision, which shall be open to public inspection, shall be recorded upon the records of the board and published at the discretion of the same in an annual report to be made to the governor before the first day of March of each year.

SEC. 23. Force of decision.—Said decision shall be binding upon the parties who join in said application for six months or until either party has given the other notice in writing of his or their intention not to be bound by the same at the expiration of sixty days therefrom. Said notice may be given to said employees by posting in three conspicuous places in the shop or factory where they work.

SEC. 23a. Enforcement of award.—In the event of a failure to abide by the decisions of said board in any case in which both employer and employees shall have joined in the application, any person or persons aggrieved thereby may file with the clerk of the circuit court or the county court of the county in which the offending party resides, or in the case of an employer in the county in which the place of employment is located a duly authenticated copy of such decision, accompanied by a verified petition reciting the fact that such decision has not been complied with and stating by whom and in what respects it has been disregarded. Thereupon the circuit court or the county court (as the case may be) or the judge thereof, if in vacation, shall grant a rule against the party or parties so charged to show cause within ten days why such decision has not been complied with, which shall be served by the sheriff as other process. Upon return made to the rule, the court, or the judge thereof, if in vacation, shall hear and determine the questions presented, and to secure a compliance with such decision, may punish the offending party or parties for contempt, but such punishment shall in no case extend to imprisonment.

SEC. 23b. Joint application.—Whenever two or more employers engaged in the same general line of business, employing in the aggregate not less than twenty-five persons, and having a common difference with their employees, shall, cooperating together, make application for arbitration, or whenever such application shall be made by the employees of two or more employers engaged in the same general line of business, such employees being not less than twenty-five in number, and having a common difference with their employers, or whenever the application shall be made jointly by the employers and employees in such a case, the board shall have the same powers and proceed in the same manner as if the application had been made by one employer, or by the employees of one employer, or by both.

SEC. 24. Strike, etc., threatened.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the State board that a strike or a lockout is seriously threatened in the State involving an employer and his employees, if he is employing not less than twenty-five persons, it shall be the duty of the State board to put itself in communication as soon as may be with such employer or employees, and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement between them, or to endeavor to persuade them to submit the matters in dispute to the State board.

SEC. 24a. Duty of mayors, etc.—It shall be the duty of the mayor of every city, and the president of every incorporated town or village, whenever a strike or lockout, involving more than twenty-five employees, shall be threatened or has actually occurred within or near such city, incorporated town, or village to immediately communicate the fact to the State board of arbitration, stating the name or names of the employer or employers and of one or more employees, with their post-office addresses, the nature of the controversy or difference existing, the number of employees involved, and such other information as may be required by said board. It shall be the duty of the president or chief executive officer of every labor organization, in case of a strike or lockout, actual or threatened, involving the members of the organization of which he is an officer to immediately communicate the fact of such strike or lockout to the said board, with such information as he may possess, touching the differences or controversy, and the number of employees involved.

SEC. 24b. Investigation without application.—Whenever there shall exist a strike or a lockout, wherein, in the judgment of a majority of said board, the general public shall appear likely to suffer injury or inconvenience with respect to food, fuel, or light, or the means of communication or transportation, or in any other respect, and neither party to such strike or lockout shall consent to submit the matter or matters in controversy to the State board of arbitration, in conformity with this act, then the said board, after first having made due effort to effect a settlement thereof by conciliatory means, and such effort having failed, may proceed of its own motion to make an investigation of all facts bearing upon such strike or lockout and make public its findings, with such recommendations to the parties involved as in its judgment will contribute to a fair and equitable settlement of the differences which constitute the cause of the strike or lockout; and in the prosecution of such inquiry the board shall have power to issue subpœnas and compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses as in other cases.

SEC. 25. Compensation.—The members of the said board shall each receive a salary of $1,500 a year, and necessary traveling expenses, to be paid out of the treasury of the State upon bills of particulars approved by the governor.

SEC. 26. Service of process.—Any notice or process issued by the State board of arbitration shall be served by any sheriff, coroner, or constable to whom the same may be directed or in whose hands the same may be placed for service.

CHAPTER 10b.—Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 6. Amount.—[Wages earned within 3 months prior to any assignment are to be paid after the costs, commissions, and expenses of assignment.]

CHAPTER 13.—Suits for wages—Attorneys' fees

SECTION 13. Fee allowed, when.—Whenever a mechanic, artisan, miner, laborer, or servant, or employee, shall have cause to bring suit for his or her wages earned and due, and owing according to the terms of the employment, and he or she shall establish by the decision of the court or jury that the amount for which he or she has brought suit is justly due and owing, and that a demand has been made in writing at least three days before suit is brought, for a sum not exceeding the amount so found due and owing, then it shall be the duty of the court before which the case shall be tried to allow to the plantiff, when the foregoing facts appear, a reasonable attorney fee, in addition to the amount found due and owing for wages, and in justice court such attorney's fee shall not be less than $5, and in the county or circuit court, not less than $10, to be taxed as costs of suit.

This act is constitutional. 42 N. E. 386.
Attorneys' fees can not be collected if the amount recovered is less than the amount named in the demand. 49 Ill. App. 36.
This statute does not apply to an action brought by an employee for damages for being discharged, but only when the amount sued for is found to be wages due. 57 Ill. App. 606.
The earnings of a miner working at a given rate per ton are wages within the meaning of this statute. 140 Ill. App. 282.

CHAPTER 24½.—Department of labor, etc.

SECTION 3. Departments.—Departments of the State government are created as follows: * * * The department of labor; the department of mines and minerals; * * * the department of registration and education.

SEC. 4. Heads.—Each department shall have an officer at its head who shall be known as a director, and who shall, subject to the provisions of this act, execute the powers and discharge the duties vested by law in his respective department.

The following offices are hereby created: * * *

Director of labor, for the department of labor; director of mines and minerals, for the department of mines and minerals; * * * director of registration and education, for the department of registration and education.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1921, p. 335). Other officers.—In addition to the directors of departments, the following executive and administrative officers, boards, and commissions, which said officers, boards, and commissions in the respective departments, shall hold offices hereby created and designated as follows:

* * * * * * *

In the department of labor: Assistant director of labor; chief factory inspector; superintendent of free employment offices; chief inspector of private employment agencies; the industrial commission, which shall consist of five officers designated industrial officers.

In the department of mines and minerals: Assistant director of mines and minerals; the mining board, which shall consist of four officers designated as mine officers and the director of the department of mines and minerals; the miners' examining board, which shall consist of four officers, designated miners' examining officers.

* * * * * * *

In the department of registration and education: Assistant director of registration and education; superintendent of registration. * * *

The above-named officers, and each of them, shall, except as otherwise provided in this act, be under the direction, supervision, and control of the director of their respective departments, and shall perform such duties as such director shall prescribe.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1921, p. 340). Boards.—Advisory and nonexecutive boards, in the respective departments, are created as follows:

* * * * * * *

In the department of labor: A board of Illinois free employment office advisers, composed of five persons; a board of local Illinois free employment office advisers, for each free employment office, composed of five persons on each local board.

* * * * * * *

In the department of registration and education.

* * * * * * *

The immigrants commission, composed of five members, one of whom shall be the director of the department of registration and education. The members of each of the above-named boards shall be officers.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1921, p. 341). Qualifications of officers.—Industrial officers: * * * Of the five industrial officers, two shall be representative citizens of the employing class operating under the workmen's compensation act, two shall be representative citizens chosen from among the employees operating under such act, and the other shall be a representative citizen not identified with either the employing or employee classes.

Employment office advisers: Of the five Illinois free employment office advisers, two shall be representative employers, two representatives of organized labor, and one representative citizen who is neither an employer nor an employee.

The five local Illinois free employment office advisers shall have the same qualifications as the Illinois free employment office advisers.

Director of mines: The director of mines and minerals shall be a person thoroughly conversant with the theory and practice of coal mining, but who is not identified with either coal operators or coal miners. Of the four mine officers, two shall be coal operators and two shall be practical coal miners.

Miners' examiners: Each of the three miners' examining officers shall have at least five years' practical and continuous experience as a coal miner and have been actually engaged as a coal miner in this State continuousy for twelve months next preceding his appointment, and no one of whom shall hold any lucrative public office, Federal, State, or municipal.

* * * * * * *

Affiliations forbidden: Neither the director, assistant director, superintendent of registration, nor any other executive and administrative officer in the department of registration and education shall be affiliated with any college or school of medicine, pharmacy, dentistry, nursing, optometry, embalming, barbering, veterinary medicine and surgery, architecture, or structural engineering, either as teacher, officer, or stockholders, nor shall he hold a license or certificate to exercise or practice any of the professions, trades, or occupations regulated.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 8. Powers and duties.—Each advisory and nonexecutive board, except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, shall, with respect to its field of work, or that of the department with which it is associated, have the following powers and duties:

1. To consider and study the entire field; to advise the executive officers of the department upon their request; to recommend, on its own initiative, policies and practices, which recommendations the executive officers of the department shall duly consider; and to give advice or make recommendations to the governor and the general assembly when so requested, or on its own initiative.

2. To investigate the conduct of the work of the department with which it may be associated, and for this purpose to have access at any time to all books, papers, documents, and records pertaining or belonging thereto, and to require written or oral information from any officer or employee thereof.

3. To adopt rules, not inconsistent with law, for its internal control and management, a copy of which rules shall be filed with the director of the department with which such board is associated.

4. To hold meetings at such times and places as may be prescribed by the rules, not less frequently, however, than quarterly.

5. To act by a subcommittee, or by a majority of the board, if the rules so prescribe.

6. To keep minutes of the transactions of each session, regular or special, which shall be public records and filed with the director of the department.

7. To give notice to the governor and to the director of the department with which it is associated of the time and place of every meeting, regular or special, and to permit the governor and the director of the department to be present and to be heard upon any matter coming before such board.

SEC. 9 (as amended 1921, p. 338). Salaries.—The executive and administrative officers whose offices are created by this act shall receive annual salaries, payable in equal monthly installments, as follows:

* * * * * * *

In the department of labor: The director of labor shall receive $7,000; the assistant director of labor shall receive $4,000; the chief factory inspector shall receive $4,000; the superintendent of free employment offices shall receive $3,000; the chief inspector of private employment agencies shall receive $4,000; each industrial officer shall receive $5,000.

* * * * * * *

In the department of registration and education: The director of registration and education shall receive $7,000; the assistant director of registration and education shall receive $3,600; the superintendent of registration shall receive $4,200.

SEC. 10. Free services.—No member of an advisory and nonexecutive board shall receive any compensation.

SEC. 11. Who to give entire time.—Each executive and administrative officer, except the two food standard officers, the members of the mining board, and the members of the normal school board shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office and shall hold no other office or position of profit.

SEC. 12. Appointment.—Each officer whose office is created by this act shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. In any case of vacancy in such offices during the recess of the senate, the governor shall make a temporary appointment until the next meeting of the senate, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office; and any person so nominated, who is confirmed by the senate shall hold his office during the remainder of the term and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. If the senate is not in session at the time this act takes effect, the governor shall make a temporary appointment as in case of a vacancy.

SEC. 13. Term.—Each officer whose office is created by this act, except as otherwise specifically provided for in this act, shall hold office for a term of four years from the second Monday in January next after the election of a governor, and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 15. Bond.—Each executive and administrative officer whose office is created by this act shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, give bond, with security to be approved by the governor, in such penal sum as shall be fixed by the governor, not less in any case than $10,000. conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, which bond shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 17. Offices.—Each department shall maintain a central office in the capitol building at Springfield, in rooms provided by the secretary of state. The director of each department may, in his discretion and with the approval of the governor, establish and maintain, at places other than the seat of government, branch offices for the conduct of any one or more functions of his department.

SEC. 25. Annual reports.—Each director of a department shall annually on or before the first day of December, and at such other times as the governor may require, report in writing to the governor concerning the condition, management, and financial transactions of their respective departments. In addition to such reports, each director of a department shall make the semiannual and biennial reports provided by the constitution. The departments shall make annual and biennial reports at the time prescribed in this section, and at no other time.

SEC. 43. Powers of department of labor.—The department of labor shall have power:

1. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the commissioners of labor, the secretary, other officers and employees of said commissioners of labor;

2. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the superintendents and assistant superintendents of free employment offices, general advisory board of free employment offices, local advisory boards of free employment offices, and other officers and employees of free employment offices;

3. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the chief inspector of private employment agencies, inspectors of private employment agencies, their subordinate officers and employees;

4. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the chief factory inspector, assistant chief State factory inspector, deputy factory inspector, and all other officers and employees of the State factory inspection service;

5. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the State board of arbitration and conciliation, its officers and employees;

6. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the industrial board, its officers, and employees;

7. To foster, promote, and develop the welfare of wage earners;

8. To improve working conditions;

9. To advance opportunities for profitable employment;

10. To collect, collate, assort, systematize, and report statistical details relating to all departments of labor, especially in its relation to commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary conditions and to the permanent prosperity of the maufacturing and productive industries;

11. To collect, collate, assort, systematize, and report statistical details of the manufacturing industries and commerce of the State;

12. To acquire and diffuse useful information on subjects connected with labor in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word;

13. To acquire and diffuse among the people useful information concerning the means of promoting the material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity of laboring men and women;

14. To acquire information and report upon the general condition, so far as production is concerned, of the leading industries of the State;

15. To acquire and diffuse information as to the conditions of employment, and such other facts as may be deemed of value to the industrial interests of the State;

16. To acquire and diffuse information in relation to the prevention of accidents, occupational diseases, and other related subjects.

SEC. 44. Duties as to compensation law.—The department of labor shall exercise and discharge the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the industrial board under an act [the workmen's compensation law] * * * approved June 28, 1913, in force July 1, 1913, or any future amendments thereto or modifications thereof.

Said act and all amendments thereto and modifications thereof, if any, shall be administered by the industrial commission created by this act, and in its name, without any direction, supervision, or control by the director of labor.

The industrial commission shall also, in its name and without any direction, supervision, or control by the director, administer the arbitration and conciliation act.

SEC. 45. Powers of department of mines and minerals.—The department of mines and minerals shall have power:

1. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the State mining board, its officers, and employees;

2. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the State mine inspectors;

3. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the miners' examining commission, its officers, and employees;

4. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the mine fire-fighting and rescue station commission, superintendents and assistant superintendents, other officers, and employees of the several mine rescue stations;

5. To acquire and diffuse information concerning the nature, causes, and prevention of mine accidents;

6. To acquire and diffuse information concerning the improvement of methods, conditions, and equipment of mines, with special reference to health, safety, and conservation of mineral resources;

7. To make inquiries into the economic conditions affecting the mining, quarrying, metallurgical, clay, oil, and other mineral industries;

8. To promote the technical efficiency of all persons working in and about the mines of the State, and to assist them better to overcome the increasing difficulties of mining, and for that purpose to provide bulletins, traveling libraries, lectures, correspondence work, classes for systematic instruction, or meetings for the reading and discussion of papers, and to that end to cooperate with the University of Illinois.

SEC. 46. Mining board.—The mining board in the department of mines and minerals shall:

1. Hold such meetings from time to time as may be necessary for the proper discharge of its duties;

2. Conduct the examination and pass upon the practical and technological qualifications and personal fitness of all persons employed in the department of mines and minerals as inspectors of mines;

3. Conduct examinations and pass upon the practical and technological qualifications and personal fitness of persons seeking certificates of competency as mine managers, mine examiners, and hoisting engineers;

4. Conduct examinations at the capitol on the second Tuesday in September of each year, and at such other times as may be necessary, of candidates for employment as inspectors of mines;

5. Conduct examinations of persons seeking certificates of competency as mine managers, mine examiners, and hoisting engineers at such times and places within the State as shall in the judgment of the board afford the best facilities to the greatest number of candidates;

6. Give public notice, through the public press or otherwise, not less than ten days in advance, announcing the time and place at which any examination is to be held;

7. Prescribe uniform rules, conditions, and regulations for the examination of persons seeking employment as inspectors of mines and of those seeking certificates of competency as mine managers, mine examiners, and hoisting engineers;

8. Report in writing to the director of mines and minerals the names of persons qualified to be employed by the department of mines and minerals as inspectors of mines, and of those authorized to receive certificates of competency as mine managers, mine examiners, and hoisting engineers;

9. Supervise, control, and direct the State mine inspection service;

10. Have power to remove any inspector of mines or to cancel the certificate of any mine manager, mine examiner, or hoisting engineer, as provided in paragraphs (h) and (i) of section 3 of an act * * * approved June 6, 1911, in force July 1, 1911, and all amendments thereto, past or future, or modifications thereof;

11. Preserve and keep on file, for not less than one year, all written examination papers and all other papers of any applicant, and to permit the inspection thereof by any applicant interested, at all reasonable times, and to give to any applicant a certified copy of any or all of his papers.

SEC. 47. Director.—The director of mines and minerals shall be the executive officer of the mining board and shall execute the orders, rules, and regulations made and promulgated by the mining board, and shall issue in the name of the department of mines and minerals certificates of qualification and competency to persons certified to him by the mining board and to no other persons.

SEC. 48. Examining board.—The department of mines and minerals shall exercise and discharge the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the miners' examining commissioners, constituting the miners' examining board for the State of Illinois, under an act * * * approved June 27, 1913, in force July 1, 1913, and all amendments thereto, past or future, or modifications thereof.

Said act and all amendments thereto and modifications thereof, if any, shall be administered by the miners' examining board created by this act, and in its name, without any direction, supervision, or control by the director of mines and minerals, or by the mining board.

SEC. 60 (as amended 1923, p. 621). Department of registration, etc.—The department of registration and education shall, wherever the several laws regulating professions, trades, and occupations which are devolved upon the department for administration so require, exercise, in its name, but subject to the provisions of this act, the following powers:

1. Conduct examinations to ascertain the qualifications and fitness of applicants to exercise the profession, trade, or occupation for which an examination is held; and pass upon the qualifications of applicants for reciprocal licenses, certificates, and authorities;

2. Prescribe rules and regulations for a fair and wholly impartial method of examination of candidates to exercise the respective professions, trades, or occupations;

* * * * * * *

6. Conduct hearings on proceedings to revoke or refuse renewal of licenses, certificates, or authorities of persons exercising the respective professions, trades, or occupations, and to revoke or refuse to renew such licenses, certificates, or authorities;

7. Formulate rules and regulations when required in any act to be administered.

None of the above-enumerated functions and duties shall be exercised by the department of registration and education except upon the action and report in writing of persons designated from time to time by the director of registration and education to take such action and to make such report for the respective professions, trades, and occupations, as follows:

* * * * * *

SEC. 61. Certificates, etc.—All certificates, licenses, and authorities shall be issued by the department of registration and education in the name of such department, with the seal thereof attached.

SEC. 63 (as amended 1919, p. 8). Immigrants' commission—

* * * * * *

The immigrants' commission shall:

(1) Make a survey of the immigrant, alien-born, and foreign-speaking people of the State and of their distribution, conditions of employment, and standards of housing and living;

(2) Examine into their economic, financial and legal customs, their provisions for insurance and other prudential arrangements, their social organization, and their educational needs; keeping in friendly and sympathetic touch with alien groups, and cooperating with State and local officials and with immigrant or related authorities of other States and of the United States.

CHAPTER 38.—Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTIONS 42a, 42b. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 14 years of age in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations is forbidden. For text of similar law see section 2223, Delaware Code.]

CHAPTER 38.—Boycotting and blacklisting

SECTION 46 (as amended 1919, p. 425). Conspiracy to establish boycott, etc.—If any two or more persons conspire or agree together, or the officers or executive committee of any society or organization or corporation, shall issue or utter any circular or edict, as the action of or instruction to its members, or any other persons, societies, organizations, or corporations, for the purpose of establishing a so-called boycott or black list, or shall post or distribute any written or printed notice in any place, with the fraudulent or malicious intent wrongfully and wickedly to injure the person, character, business, or employment, or property of another, * * * or to do any illegal act injurious to the public trade, health, morals, police, or administration of public justice, or to prevent competition in the letting of any contract by the State, or the authorities of any counties, city, town or village, or to induce any person not to enter into such competition, * * * they shall be deemed guilty of a conspiracy; and every such offender, whether as individuals or as the officers of any society or organization, and every person convicted of conspiracy at common law, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, or fined not exceeding $2,000, or both.

A circular by a business association directing members not to do business with A for an alleged default toward another member held not actionable. 54 Ill. App. 233.

To call out members of a trade-union in order to procure the discharge of nonunion employees is not in itself a wrongful and wicked act for which prosecution can be had under this statute. 30 C. L. N. 212.

[Amendment provides that the collective marketing of agricultural and dairy products is not a conspiracy.]

CHAPTER 38.—Intimidation of employers and employees

SECTION 158. Persons combining.—If any two or more persons shall combine for the purpose of depriving the owner or possessor of property of its lawful use and management, or of preventing, by threats, suggestions of danger, or any unlawful means, any person from being employed by or obtaining employment from any such owner or possessor of property, on such terms as the parties concerned may agree upon, such persons so offending shall be fined not exceeding $500, or confined in the county jail not exceeding six months.

SEC. 159. Individuals making threats.—If any person shall, by threat, intimidation or unlawful interference, seek to prevent any other person from working or from obtaining work at any lawful business, on any terms that he may see fit, such person so offending shall be fined not exceeding $200.

SEC. 160. Entering premises to do injury.—Whoever enters a coal bank, mine, shaft, manufactory, building or premises of another, with intent to commit any injury thereto, or by means of threats, intimidation, or riotous or other unlawful doings, to cause any person employed therein to leave his employment, shall be fined not exceeding $500, or confined in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both.

CHAPTER 38.—Trespass on mines, factory premises, etc.

SECTION 268. Trespass on mines, etc.—Whoever, without authority of law and not being the owner or agent of adjoining lands, enters the coal bank, mine, shaft, manufactory, or place where workmen are employed, of another, without the expressed or implied consent of the owner or manager thereof, after notice that such entry is forbidden, shall be fined not exceeding $200, or confined in the county jail not exceeding six months, in the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER 38.—Tips to employees—Leasing space

SECTION 560. Application of law.—It shall be unlawful for the owner, proprietor, lessee, superintendent, manager, or agent of any hotel, restaurant, eating house, barber shop, theater, store, building, office building, factory, railroad, street railroad, fair ground, baseball or football ground, hall used for public meetings or entertainments, or any other building, office, or space which is a place of public accommodation or public resort, to rent, lease, or permit to be used any part, space or portion thereof, for any trade, calling, or occupation, or for the exercise of any privilege, by any person, company, partnership, or corporation, for the purpose of accepting, demanding, or receiving, directly or indirectly, from the customers, patrons, or people who frequent such places of public accommodation or public resort, gratuities or donations, commonly called tips, in addition to the regular, ordinary, and published rate of charge for work performed, materials furnished or services rendered: Provided, That nothing in this section contained shall be construed to prohibit any employee or servant from accepting or receiving gratuities or donations, commonly called tips, if such gratuities or donations, commonly called tips, are not accounted for, paid over, or delivered, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, to any person, company, partnership, or corporation, but are retained by such employee or servant, as and for his absolute and individual property.

SEC. 561. Leases void.—Any lease, contract, agreement, or understanding entered into in violation of the provisions of section 1, of this act shall be absolutely void.

SEC. 562. Violations.—[Penalties are fines not exceeding $10,000, to which may be added imprisonment, three months to one year.]

CHAPTER 38a.—Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships

SECTIONS 1–3. Prior right.—[Debts owing laborers or servants as wages are to be paid by a receiver or trustee, in full if assets permit; if not, pro rata.]

CHAPTER 48.—Hours of labor—Eight-hour day

SECTION 1. Eight hours a day's work.— * * * eight hours of labor between the rising and the setting of the sun, in all mechanical trades, arts, and employments, and other cases of labor and service by the day, except farm employments, shall constitute and be a legal day's work, where there is no special contract or agreement to the contrary.

SEC. 2. Application.—This act shall not apply to or in any way affect labor or service by the year, month, or week; nor shall any person be prevented by anything herein contained from working as many hours overtime or extra hours as he or she may agree, and shall not, in any sense, be held to apply to farm labor.

CHAPTER 48.—Sex no disqualification for employment

SECTION 3. Sex not a bar.—No person shall be precluded or debarred from any occupation, profession, or employment (except military) on account of sex: Provided, That this act shall not be construed to affect the eligibility of any person to an elective office.

SEC. 4. Act construed.—Nothing in this act shall be construed as requiring any female to work on streets or roads, or serve on juries.

CHAPTER 48.—Payment of wages—Modes and times

SECTION 15a. Corporations to pay wages semimonthly.—Every corporation for pecuniary profit engaged in any enterprise or business within the State of Illinois shall as often as semimonthly pay to every employee engaged in its business all wages or salaries earned by such employee to a day not more than eighteen (18) days prior to the date of such payment. Any employee who is absent at the time fixed for payment, or who for any other reason is not paid at that time, shall be paid thereafter at any time upon six days' demand, and any employee leaving his or her employment or discharged therefrom, shall be paid in full following his or her dismissal or voluntary leaving his or her employment, at any time upon three days' demand. No corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall by special contract with employees or by any other means secure exemption from the provision of this act. And each and every employee of any corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall have his or her right of action against any such corporation for the full amount of his or her wages due on each regular pay day as herein provided in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State.

SEC. 15b. Violations.—[Penalties are fines, not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each offense. Failure to pay each employee is a separate offense.]

SEC. 16. Wages to be paid in full.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation doing business within this State to withhold from any of its laborers, servants, or employees any part or per cent of the wages earned by such laborer, servant, or employee, beyond the date of the regular pay day of said corporation, under the guise or pretext that the amount of wages so withheld is to be given or presented to such laborer, servant, or employee as a present or gratuity from said corporation at the expiration of any future date, on condition that the services of such laborer, servant, or employee have been performed to the entire satisfaction of said corporation, or upon condition that such laborer, servant, or employee shall, unless sooner discharged by said corporation, remain in its employ until the expiration of some future date designated by said corporation, or under any other similar pretext or condition, but all such wages shall be paid in full by said corporation on its regular pay day: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be held to abridge the right of any corporation not making or requiring contracts of the class specified above to make such contract or arrangement as may be legal concerning the payment of wages to employees: And provided further, Nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect the right of any corporation to contract for the retention of a part of the wages of said laborers, servants, and employees for the purpose of giving to said servants, laborers, and employees insurance, hospital, sick or other similar relief.

SEC. 17. Void contracts.—All contracts or agreements of the kind and character referred to and described in section 1 [16] of this act, hereafter made by any corporation doing business in this State are hereby declared to be illegal, against public policy, and null and void, and no such agreement or contract shall constitute a defense upon the part of any such corporation, to any action brought by any such laborer, servant, or employee for the recovery of any wages due him and withheld from him by any such corporation, contrary to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 18. Penalty.—Any such corporation doing business in this State who shall violate the provisions of this act shall for each offense forfeit the sum of two hundred dollars, to be recovered from it in any [an] action of debt in the name of the people of the State of Illinois or by any person who may sue for the same.

SEC. 19. Enforcement.—It is hereby made the duty of the several State's attorneys of this State, in their respective counties, to prosecute all actions commenced in the name of the people of the State of Illinois under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 19a. Orders, etc., to be redeemable.—No person, firm, or corporation engaged in any business or enterprise within this State shall issue, in payment of or as evidence of indebtedness, for wages due an employee for labor, any time check, store orders, scrip, or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, unless the same is payable or redeemable upon demand, without discount and for face value, in lawful money of the United States at the office or place of business of such person, firm, or corporation.

SEC. 19b. Violation.—[Violation of the foregoing section is punishable by a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both.]

[As amended 1921, p. 435]

SECTION 20. Age; hours.—[Employment under the age of 14 in theaters, mercantile establishments, offices, hotels, factories, canneries, etc., or at any work for wages during the school term is forbidden; but "temporary and harmless" work may be engaged in for pay outside of school hours. No minor may work more than 8 hours per day or 6 days per week; nor if under 14, between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m.]

SEC. 20a. Registers.—[Registers must be kept of children 14 to 16 years of age.]

SEC. 20b. Posting.—[List of names must be posted in the workroom.]

SEC. 20c. Certificates.—[Employment certificates are required for children under 16 years of age.]

SECS. 20d, 20e. Evidence.—[Issue of certificates calls for equivalent of 6 years of school work, certificate of physical fitness signed by a designated physician, and proof of age.]

SEC. 20f. Receipt.—[Employees must acknowledge receipt of certificates and return same to the issuing officer on termination of employment.]

SEC. 20g. Enforcement.—[Department of labor makes inspections; school boards may make complaints.]

SEC. 20h. Work time.—[Children under the age of 16 may not be employed more than 6 days per week nor 8 hours per day, nor between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. Schedule must be posted.]

SEC. 20i. Dangerous employments.—[Designated list forbidden to children under 16 years of age (see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code, for similar list). Constant standing is forbidden for girls under 16.]

SEC. 20j. Presence.—[Presence in establishment is evidence of employment.]

SECS. 20k, 20l. Enforcement and penalties.—[The department and school officials enforce the law; penalties are fines, $5 to $200 for various acts.]

CHAPTER 48.—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 21. Sewing, etc., in living rooms.—No room or rooms, apartment, or apartments in any tenement or dwelling house used for eating or sleeping purposes, shall be used for the manufacture, in whole or in part, of coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, shirts, ladies' waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, or cigars, except by the immediate members of the family living therein. Every such workshop shall be kept in a cleanly state, and shall be subject to the provisions of this act; and each of said articles made, altered, repaired, or finished in any of such workshops shall be subject to inspection and examination, as hereinafter provided, for the purpose of ascertaining whether said articles, or any of them, or any part thereof, are in a cleanly condition and free from vermin and any matter of an infectious and contagious nature; and every person so occupying or having control of any workshop as aforesaid, shall within fourteen days from the taking effect of this act, or from the time of beginning of work in any workshop as aforesaid, notify the board of health of the location of such workshop, the nature of the work there carried on, and the number of persons therein employed.

SEC. 22. Infectious diseases, etc.—If the board of health of any city or said State inspector finds evidence of infectious or contagious diseases present in any workshop, or in goods manufactured, or in process of manufacture therein, and if said board or inspector shall find said shop in an unhealthy condition, or the clothing and materials used therein to be unfit for use, said board or inspector shall issue such order or orders as the public health may require, and the board of health are [is] hereby enjoined to condemn and destroy all such infectious and contagious articles.

SEC. 23. Importation of sweat shop manufacturers.—Whenever it shall be reported to said inspector or to the board of health, or either of them, that coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, shirts, ladies' waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers or cigars are being transported to this State, having been previously manufactured in whole or part under unhealthy conditions, said inspector shall examine said goods and the condition of their manufacture, and if upon such examination said goods, or any of them, are found to contain vermin, or to have been [made] in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall make report thereof to the board of health, or inspector, which board or inspector shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public health shall require, and the board of health are hereby empowered to condemn and destroy all such articles.

SEC. 26. List of names, etc.—Every person, firm or corporation, agent or manager of a corporation employing any female in any manufacturing establishment, factory, or workshop, shall post and keep posted, in a conspicuous place in every room where such help is employed, a printed notice stating the hours for each day of the week between which work is required of such persons, and in every room where children under sixteen years of age are employed a list of their names, ages, and place of residence.

SEC. 27. Definitions.—The words "manufacturing establishment," "factory," or "workshop," wherever used in this act, shall be construed to mean any place where goods or products are manufactured or repaired, cleaned or sorted, in whole or in part, for sale or for wages. Whenever any house, room, or place is used for the purpose of carrying on any process of making, altering, repairing, or finishing, for sale or for wages, any coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, shirts, ladies' waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, or cigars, or any wearing apparel of any kind whatsoever, intended for sale, it shall within the meaning of this act be deemed a workshop for the purposes of inspection. And it shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation to keep a complete list of all such workshops in his, their, or its employ, and such list shall be produced for inspection on demand by the board of health or any of the officers thereof, or by the State inspector, assistant inspector, or any of the deputies appointed under this act.

SEC. 28. Violations.—Any person, firm, or corporation who fails to comply with any provision of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than three dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

SEC. 43. Blowers for emery wheels, etc.—All persons, companies. or corporations operating any factory or workshop, where emery wheels or emery belts of any description are used, either solid emery, leather, leather-covered, felt, canvas, linen, paper, cotton, or wheels or belts rolled or coated with emery or corundum, or cotton wheels used as buffs, shall provide the same with blowers, or similar apparatus, which shall be placed over, beside or under such wheels or belts in such a manner as to protect the person or persons using the same from the particles of the dust produced and caused thereby, and to carry away the dust arising from or thrown off by such wheels or belts while in operation, directly to the outside of the building, or to some receptable [receptacle] placed so as to receive and confine such dust: Provided, That grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of the grinding contact shall be exempt from the provisions of this act: And provided, This act shall not apply to small shops employing not more than one man in such work.

SEC. 44. Hoods or hoppers.—It shall be the duty of any person, company, or corporation operating any such factory or workshop to provide or construct such appliances, apparatus, machinery, or other things necessary to carry out the purpose of this act, as set forth in the preceding section, as follows: Each and every such wheel shall be fitted with a sheet of [or] cast iron hood or hopper of such form and so applied to such wheel or wheels that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall from such wheels, or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force and be carried off by the current of air into a suction pipe attached to same [said] hood or hopper.

SEC. 45. Suction pipes.—Each and every such wheel six inches or less in diameter shall be provided with a three-inch suction pipe; wheels six inches to twenty-four inches in diameter with four-inch such suction pipe; wheels from twenty-four inches to thirty-six inches in diameter with five-inch suction pipe; and all wheels larger in diameter than those stated above shall be provided each with a suction pipe, not less than six inches in diameter. The suction pipe from each wheel, so specified, must be full size to the main trunk suction pipe, and the main suction pipe to which smaller pipes are attached, shall, in its diameter and capacity, be equal to the combined area of such smaller pipes attached to the same, and the discharge pipe from the exhaust fan connected with such suction pipe or pipes, shall be as large or larger than the suction pipe.

SEC. 46. Fans, etc.—It shall be the duty of any person, company, or corporation operating any such factory or workshop to provide the necessary fans or blowers to be connected with such pipe or pipes, as above set forth, which shall be run at a rate of speed as will produce a velocity of air in such suction or discharge pipes of at least nine thousand feet per minute to an equivalent suction or pressure of air equal to raising a column of water not less than five inches in a U-shaped tube. All branch pipes must enter the main trunk pipe at an angle of forty-five degrees or less, the main suction or trunk pipe shall be below the emery or buffing wheels, and as close to the same as possible, and to be either upon the floor or beneath the floor on which the machines are placed, to which such wheels are attached. All bends, turns, or elbows in such pipes must be made with easy, smooth surfaces, having a radius in the throat of not less than two diameters of the pipe on which they are connected.

Sec. 47. Investigation of complaints.—It shall be the duty of any factory inspector, sheriff, constable, or prosecuting attorney of any county in this State in which any such factory or workshop is situated, upon receiving notice in writing signed by any person having knowledge of such facts, accompanied by the sum of one dollar as compensation for his services, that such factory or workshop is not provided with such appliances as herein provided for, to visit any such factory or workshop and inspect the same, and for such purpose, they are hereby authorized to enter any factory or workshop in this State during working hours, and upon ascertaining the facts that the proprietors or managers of such factory or workshops have failed to comply with the provisions of this act to make complaint of the same in writing before a justice of the peace or police magistrate having jurisdiction, who shall thereupon issue his warrant, directed to the owner, manager, or director, in such factory or workshop, who shall be thereupon proceeded against for the violation of this act and [as] hereinafter mentioned, and it is made the duty of the prosecuting attorney to prosecute all cases under this act.

Sec. 48. Violations.—[Violators may be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100.]

Chapter 48.—Free public employment offices

Section 53 (as amended 1921, p. 443). Number of offices.—The department of labor is authorized to establish and maintain free employment offices, for the purpose of receiving applications of persons seeking employment and applications of persons seeking to employ labor, as follows: One in each city, village, or incorporated town of not less than twenty-five thousand population; one in two or more contiguous cities, villages, or incorporated towns having an aggregate or combined population of not less than twenty-five thousand; and in each city containing a population of one million or over, one central office with as many departments as would be practicable to handle the various classes of labor, and such branch offices not to exceed four at any one time, the location of branch offices to be approved by the governor. Such offices shall be designated and known as Illinois free employment offices.

Sec. 55. Offices; register.—The general superintendent of the central office in each city containing a population of one million or over, and the superintendent of each free employment office in each city containing a population of less than one million, shall, within sixty days after appointment, open an office in such locality as shall have been agreed upon between such general superintendent or superintendent and the secretary of the bureau of labor statistics as being most appropriate for the purpose intended; such office to be provided with a sufficient number of rooms and apartments to enable him to provide and he shall so provide, a separate room or apartment for the use of women registering for situations or help. Upon the outside of each such office, in position and manner to secure the fullest public attention, shall be placed a sign which shall read in the English language, Illinois Free Employment Office, and the same shall appear either upon the outside windows or upon signs in such other languages as the location of each such office shall render advisable. The general superintendent or superintendent of each such free employment office shall receive and register the names of all persons applying for employment or help, designating opposite the names and addresses of each applicant the character of employment or help desired upon blank forms furnished by the bureau of labor statistics, together with such other facts as may be required by the bureau of labor statistics to be used by said bureau: Provided, That no record shall be open to public inspection at any time, and that such statistical and sociological data as the bureau of labor may require shall be held in confidence by said bureau, and so published as not to reveal the identity of anyone: And provided further, That any applicant who shall decline to furnish answers as to the questions contained in application blanks shall not thereby forfeit any rights to any employment the office might secure.

SEC. 57. Methods; strikes, etc.—It shall be the duty of each such superintendent and general superintendent of a free employment office to immediately put himself in communication with the principal manufacturers, merchants, and other employers of labor, and to use all diligence in securing the cooperation of said employers of labor, with the purposes and objects of said employment offices. To this end it shall be competent for such superintendents and general superintendents to advertise in the columns of newspapers, or other mediums, for such situations as he has applicants to fill, and he may advertise in a general way for the cooperation of large contractors and employers in such trade journals or special publications as reach such employers, whether such trade or special journals are published within the State of Illinois or not.

Full information shall be given to applicants regarding the existence of any strike or lockout in the establishment of any employer seeking workers through the Illinois free employment offices.

SEC. 59. Fees forbidden.—No fee or compensation shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through said free employment offices, and any superintendent, general superintendent, department superintendent, assistant department superintendent, assistant superintendent, or clerk who shall accept, directly or indirectly, any fee or compensation from any applicant or from his or her representative shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars and imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days.

SEC. 60. Definitions.—[The act includes work and workers in any legitimate enterprise, professional as well as manual employments being covered.]

CHAPTER 48.—Private employment offices

SECTION 67a. License required, term, etc.—No person shall open, keep, or carry on any employment agency in the State of Illinois unless every such person shall procure a license therefor from the State board of commissioners of labor. Any person who shall open or conduct any such agency without first procuring such license shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) and not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200), or on failure to pay such fine, by imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court. Such license shall be issued by the State board of commissioners of labor, the fee for which in cities having a population of fifty thousand or over shall be fifty dollars ($50) annually and a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25) annually in all cities containing less than fifty thousand population. * * *

Every license shall contain the name of the person licensed, a designation of the city, street, and number of the house in which the person licensed is authorized to carry on the said employment agency, and the number and date of such license. Such license shall not be valid to protect any place other than that designated in the license unless consent is first obtained from the State board of commissioners of labor, or the chief inspector of employment agencies and until the written consent of the surety or sureties on the bond required to be filed by section 2 of this act to such transfer, be filed with the original bond. No such agency shall be located on premises where intoxicating liquors are sold, excepting cafés and restaurants in office buildings. The application for such license shall be filed with the State board of commissioners of labor not less than one week prior to the granting of said license and the State board of labor commissioners shall act upon such application within thirty (30) days from the time of application. Such application shall be accompanied by the affidavits of two persons who have known the applicant or the chief officer thereof, if a corporation, for two years, stating that the said applicant is a person of good moral character. The license shall run for one year from the date thereof and no longer, unless sooner revoked by the State board of commissioners of labor. Such application shall be posted in the office of the State board of commissioners of labor or in the office of the chief inspector of private employment agencies, from the date of filing thereof, and until such application is acted upon; and before any license shall be granted, notice of such application shall be published on three (3) distinct days by the State board of labor commissioners in some daily newspaper of general circulation throughout the county within which the applicant desires to locate such agency.

SEC. 67b. Bonds.—The State board of commissioners of labor shall require such person to file with his application for a license a bond in due form to the people of the State of Illinois, for the penal sum of five hundred dollars ($500), with one or more sureties, to be approved by the said State board of commissioners of labor, and conditioned that the obligor will conform to and not violate any of the duties, terms, conditions, provisions or requirements of this act. If any person shall be aggrieved by the misconduct of any such licensed person, such person may maintain an action in his own name upon the bond of said employment agency, in any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed. All such claims shall be assignable, and the assignee thereof shall be entitled to the same remedies upon the bond of such licensed person, or otherwise, as the person aggrieved would have been entitled to, if such claim had not been assigned. Any claim or claims so assigned may be enforced in the name of such assignee. Any remedies given by this section shall not be exclusive of any other remedy which would otherwise exist.

Sec. 67c. Registers, etc.—It shall be the duty of every such licensed person to keep a register, in which shall be entered in the English language the date of every accepted application for employment, name and address of the applicant to whom employment is offered or promised, written name and address of the person to whom applicant is sent for employment and amount of the fee received. Such licensed person shall also enter, in a separate register, in the English language, the name and address of every accepted applicant for help, the date of such application, the kind of help requested, the names of the persons sent, with the designation of the one employed, the amount of the fee received, and the rates of wages agreed upon. The aforesaid register of applicants for employment and for help shall be open during office hours to inspection by the State board of commissioners of labor, their duly qualified agents, and the officers created by this act.

No such licensed person or his employees shall knowingly make any false entries in such register. It shall be the duty of such licensed persons who employ agents or solicitors to provide each of the said employees with a suitable badge, containing said licensed person's name, and address of such agency and number of such license, and shall file with the State board of commissioners of labor the name of each such employee.

Sec. 67d. Fees.—A registration fee not to exceed two dollars ($2.00) may be charged by such licensed agency when such agency shall be at actual expense in advertising such individual applicant, or in looking up the references of said applicant. In all such cases a complete record of such references shall be kept on file, which record shall, during all business hours, be open for the inspection of the said State board of commissioners of labor, the chief inspector of employment agencies, or his assistants. For such registration fee a receipt shall be given to said applicant for help or employment, giving name of such applicant, date of payment, and character of position or help applied for. Said registration fee shall be returned to said applicants on demand, after thirty (30) days and within sixty (60) days from date of the receipt, less the amount that has been actually expended by said licensed agency for said applicant, and an itemized account of such expenditures shall be presented to said applicant on request at the time of returning the unused portion of such registration fee, provided no position has been furnished by said licensed agency to said applicant.

No licensed person or persons shall, as a condition to registering or obtaining employment for such applicant, require such applicant to subscribe to any publication or exact any other fees, compensation, or reward, other than the registration fee aforesaid, and a further fee, the amount of which shall be agreed upon between such applicant and such licensed person, to be payable at such time as may be agreed upon in writing, but the further fee aforesaid shall not be received by such licensed person before the applicant has been tendered a position by said licensed person. In the event the position so tendered is not accepted by or given such applicant, said licensed person shall refund all fees requested by said applicant, other than the registration fees aforesaid within three (3) days after demand is made therefor. No such licensed person shall send out any applicant for employment without having obtained a bona fide order therefor, and if it shall appear that no employment of the kind applied for existed at the place where said applicant was directed, said licensed party shall refund to such applicant within five (5) days after demand any sum paid by said applicant for transportation in going to and returning from said place and all fees paid by said applicant.

In addition to the receipt herein provided to be given for registration fees, it shall be the duty of such licensed persons to give, to every applicant for employment from whom other fee or fees shall be received, an additional receipt, in which shall be stated the name of such applicant, the date and amount of such other fees; and to every applicant for help from whom other fee or fees shall be received, an additional receipt, stating the name and address of said applicant, the date and amount of such other fee or fees, and the kind of help to be provided. All receipts shall have printed on the back thereof, in the English langnage, the name and address of the State board of commissioners of labor and the chief inspector of employment agencies.

Every such licensed person shall give to every applicant for employment, a card or printed paper containing the name of the applicant, the name and address of such employment agency, and the written name and address of the person to whom the applicant is sent for employment. If an employee furnished fails to remain one week in a situation, through no fault of the employer, a new employee shall be furnished to the applicant for help, if he so elects, or three-fifths (3/5) of all fees paid returned within four (4) days after demand: Provided, Said applicant for help notifies said licensed person within three (3) days of the failure of the applicant to accept the position or the applicant's discharge for cause. If the employee is discharged within one week without said employee's fault, another position shall be furnished, or three-fifths (3/5) of all fees paid returned to the applicant for employment.

Every person shall post in a conspicuous place in each room of such agency, sections three (3), four (4), and five (5) of this act, which shall be printed in languages which persons commonly doing business with such agency can understand. Such printed matter shall also contain the name and address of the State board of labor commissioners and the chief inspector of employment agencies, and shall be furnished by the State board of labor commissioners.

Sec. 67e. Accepting pay to withhold services; labor sent outside city.—No such licensed person shall solicit or receive any fees, compensation, or reward from any employer, in payment for such person's refusal to register or obtain employment for any applicant for employment. Whenever such licensed person, or any other acting for him, agrees to send one or more persons to work as contract or railroad laborers, in any place outside the city in which such agency is located, the said licensed person shall give each of such laborers, in a language with which such laborers are familiar, a statement containing the following items: Name and address of the employer, name and nature of the work to be performed, wages offered, destination of the person employed, terms of transportation and probable duration of employment; and a duplicate of snch statement shall be kept on file in the office of the licensed person sending out such laborers.

Sec. 67f. Immoral resorts; fraudulent notices.—No such licensed person shall send or cause to be sent, any female help or servants, or inmate or performer, to enter any questionable place or place of bad repute, house of ill fame, or assignation house, or to any house or place of amusement kept for immoral purposes, or place resorted to for the purpose of prostitution, or gambling house, the character of which such licensed person knows, either actually or by reputation.

No such licensed person shall knowingly permit questionable characters, prostitutes, gamblers, intoxicated persons, or procurers to frequent such agency. No such licensed person shall accept any application for employment made by or on behalf of any child, or shall place or assist in placing any such child in any employment whatever in violation of the child labor law. * * * For the violation of any of the provisions of this section the penalty shall be a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) and not more than two hundred dollars ($200), or imprisonment in the county jail or house of correction for a period of not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, in addition to the revocation of such person's license. No such licensed person shall publish or cause to be published any fraudulent notice or advertisements of such employment agencies by means of cards, circnlars, or signs, and in newspapers and other publications; and all of its letter heads, receipts, and blanks shall contain the name and address of such employment agency and shall state in all such notices the fact that such licensed person is or conducts an employment agency. No agency shall print, publish, or paint on any sign, window, or insert in any newspaper or publication a name similar to that of the Illinois free employment office. All written communications sent out by such licensed person, directly or indirectly, to any person in regard to help or employment shall have contained therein definite information that such person is an employment agent; and no such licensed person shall knowingly give any false information or make any false promise concerning employment to any applicant who shall register for employment or help. No such licensed agent shall divide fees with or pay a commission to any person to whom applicants are sent for employment or help.

Sec. 67g. Definitions.—Any person, firm, or corporation who, for hire or with a view to profit, shall undertake to secure employment or help, or through the medium of [a] card, circular, pamphlet, or any medium whatsoever, or through the display of a sign or bulletin, offer to secure employment or help, or give information as to where employment or help may be secured, shall be deemed a private employment agency and be subject to the provisions of this act, provided that charitable institutions are not included. The term fee as used in this act means money or a promise to pay money. The term fee also means and includes the excess of money received by any such licensed person over what he has paid for transportation, transfer of baggage, or lodging for any applicant for employment. The term fee as used in this act also means and includes the difference between the amount of money received by any person who furnishes employees or performers for any entertainment, exhibition, or performance, and the amount paid by the said person to the employees or performers whom he hires to give such entertainments, exhibition, or performance. The term privilege as used in this act means and includes the furnishing of food, supplies, tools, or shelter to contract laborers, commonly known as commissary privileges.

Sec. 67k. Construction.—Should one or more of the provisions of this act be held invalid, such invalidity shall in no manner affect any of the valid provisions hereof.

Chapter 48.—Accidents to be reported

Section 73. Reports required.—It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation employing laborers, artisans, mechanics, miners, clerks or any other servants or employees of any character, to make a report to the State bureau of labor statistics of every serious injury entailing a loss of thirty or more days' time, injury or death of every employee caused by accident while in the performance of any duty or service for such employer within thirty (30) days from the date of such injury or death. Such report shall give the name of the employer, character of business of such employer, where located, date of injury or death, name of person killed or injured, character of employment of service, and cause of such injury or death, and when injury alone, then the character and extent of such injury, residence, nativity, and age of the person injured or killed, whether married or single, and, if known, how many persons are dependent upon such employee.

Sec. 74. Annual reports.—It shall be the duty of the State bureau of labor statistics to cause such reports to be made and to enforce the provisions of this act and shall cause all of such accidents or deaths by accidents to be classified into trades or kinds of employment, and shall cause the same to be published at least once each year on or before January 1st.

Sec. 75. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $200.]

Chapter 48.—Department of factory inspection

Section 76. Department created.—There is hereby created and established a separate and distinct department of the State government to be known as the "Illinois Department of Factory Inspection."

Sec. 77. Chief inspector.—The governor shall, upon the taking effect of this act, appoint a chief State factory inspector, whose duty it shall be to exercise general supervision over the department of factory inspection and all of its inspectors, and secure the enforcement of all laws now in force or hereafter enacted relating to the inspection of factories, mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in this State, and to perform such other duties as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law to be performed by the factory inspector. The salary of such chief State factory inspector shall be three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) per annum and his term of office shall be four (4) years.

The governor shall appoint, upon the taking effect of this act, an assistant chief factory inspector at a salary of two thousand two hundred and fifty [dollars] ($2,250.00) per annum; one physician at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500.00) per annum; and thirty (30) deputy factory inspectors, who shall receice a salary of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200.00) per annum; and an attorney for said department at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500.00) per annum.

The duties of the assistant chief factory inspector, medical, expert, and deputy inspectors as herein provided shall be the same as those now or hereafter imposed by law upon the chief State factory inspector and the assistant chief factory inspector and the deputy factory inspectors, and they shall be subject to the supervision and direction of the chief State factory inspector in the discharge of such duties. Said chief State factory inspector and the other inspectors provided for herein shall visit and inspect, at all reasonable hours, as often as practicable, the factories, mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in this State, where goods, wares, and merchandise are manufactured, stored, purchased, or sold at wholesale or retail.

And the chief State factory inspector shall report in writing to the governor on the thirtieth (30th) day of June annually the result of his inspections and investigations, together with such other information and recommendations as he may deem proper. And said inspectors shall make a special investigation into the conditions of labor in this State, or into any alleged abuses in connection therewith, whenever the governor shall direct, and report the results of the same to the governor.

It shall be the duty of the said inspectors to enforce the provisions of this act and perform such other duties as now are or shall hereafter be prescribed by law, and to prosecute all violations of law relating to the inspection of factories, mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in this State before any magistrate or in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

And it shall be the duty of the State's attorney of the proper county, upon request of the chief State factory inspector or his deputies, to prosecute any violation of law which it is made the duty of the factory inspectors to enforce. And it shall be the duty of the attorney for such department to prosecute, when requested by the chief State factory inspector, any infractions or violations of law which is now or may be hereafter made the duty of the factory inspector to enforce.

Said chief State factory inspector shall, by written order filed with the governor, divide the State into inspection districts, due regard being had to the number of establishments and the amount of work required to be performed in each district. And he shall assign to each district a deputy inspector who shall have charge of the inspection in the district to which he is assigned under the supervision of the chief State factory inspector. The chief State factory inspector may at any time, when in his discretion the good of the service requires, change a deputy inspector from one district to another or reassign the districts of the State among the several deputy inspectors under his charge. He may at any time, when the conditions are changed, or in his discretion the good of the service requires, by a like order filed with the governor, redivide the State into inspection districts, changing the territory embraced within the sevaral districts as to him may seem advisable.

Chapter 48.—Protection of employees on buildings

Section 79. Scaffolds, etc.—All scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, ladders, supports or other mechanical contrivances, erected or constructed by any person, firm or corporation, in this State, for the use in the erection, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any house, building, bridge, viaduct, or other structure, shall be erected and constructed in a safe, suitable and proper manner, and shall be so erected and constructed, placed and operated, as to give proper and adequate protection to the life and limb of any person or persons employed or engaged thercon, or passing under or by the same, and in such manner as to prevent the falling of any material that may be used or deposited thereon.

Scaffolding, or staging, swung or suspended from an overhead support, more than twenty (20) feet from the ground or floor, shall have where practicable, a safety rail properly bolted, secured and braced, rising a [at] least thirty-four (34) inches above the floor, or main portion of such scaffolding or staging, and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 81. Strength of floor during construction.—It shall be the duty of the owner of every house, building or structure (except a private house, used exclusively as a private residence) now under construction, or hereafter to be constructed, to affix and display conspicuously, on each floor, of such building, during construction, a placard, stating the load per square floor [foot] of floor surface, which may with safety, be applied to that particular floor, during such construction; or if the strength of different parts of any floor varies, then there shall be such placards for each varying part of such floor. It shall be unlawful to load any such floors, or any part thereof, to a greater extent than the load indicated on such placards, and all such placards shall be verified and approved by the State factory inspector, a deputy factory inspector, or by the local commissioner or inspector of buildings or other proper authority, in the city, town or village, charged with the enforcement of building laws.

SEC. 82. Inspection.—[If State or local authorities are informed of unsafe conditions, they must cause an inspection to be made, and if necessary, notice and warning shall issue, whereupon use of the condemned appliance shall cease until made safe. Access to inspectors must be allowed. Scaffolds, platforms, etc., must be constructed so as to bear four times the weight required to be supported thereby, and must not be dangerously overloaded or crowded.]

SEC. 83. Secondary scaffold.—Any person, firm or corporation in this State hiring, employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erecting, repairing, altering or painting of any water pipe, standpipe, tank, smokestack, chimney, tower, steeple, pole, staff, dome or cupola, when the use of any scaffold, staging, swing, hammock, support, temporary platform, or other similar contrivance are required or used, in the performance of such labor shall keep and maintain at all times, while such labor is being performed, and such mechanical device is in use or operation, a safe and proper scaffold, stay, support or other suitable device, not less than sixteen (16) feet or more below such working scaffold, staging, swing, hammock, support or temporary platform, when such work is being performed, at a height of thirty-two feet, for the purpose of preventing the person or persons performing such labor, from falling in case of any accident to such working scaffold, staging, swing, hammock, support or temporary platform.

SEC. 84. Floors to be filled in.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings in cities, where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors of [or] filling in between the floors are fireproof material or brickwork, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to not less than within three tiers or beams below that on which the ironwork is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such buildings do not require filling in between the beams or floors with brick or fireproof material, all contractors for carpenter work in the course of construction shall lay the underflooring thereof or a safe temporary floor on each story as the building progresses to not less than within two stories or floors below the one to which such building has been erected. Where double floors are not to be used, such owner or contractor shall keep planked over the floor two stories or floors below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractors for the iron or steel work of buildings in the course of construction or the owners of such buildings, shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work and for the raising and lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such buildings, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts.

SEC. 85. Hoist shafts.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be inclosed or fenced in on all sides by a substantial barrier or railing at least eight feet in height. Any hoisting machine or engine used in such building construction shall, where practicable, be set up or placed on the ground, and where it is necessary in the construction of such building to place such hoisting machine or engine on some floor above the ground floor, such machine or engine must be properly and securely supported with a foundation capable of safely sustaining twice the weight of such machine or engine. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more in height, no material needed for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted over public streets or alleys unless such street or alleys shall be barricaded from use by the public. The chief officer in any city, town, or village charged with the enforcement of local building laws, and the State factory inspector are hereby charged with enforcing the provisions of this act: Provided, That in all cities in this State where a local building commissioner is provided for by law, such officer shall be charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of this act, and in case of his failure, neglect or refusal so to do, the State factory inspector shall, pursuant to the terms of this act, enforce the provisions thereof.

SEC. 86. Signals.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus, operated or controlled by other than hand power, are used in the construction, alteration, or removal of any building or other structure, a complete and adequate system of communication by means of signals shall be provided and maintained by the owner, contractor, or subcontractor, during the use and operation of such elevating machines or hoisting apparatus, in order that prompt and effective communication may be had at all times between the operator of engine or motive power of such elevating machine and hoisting apparatus, and the employees or persons engaged thereon, or in using or operating the same.

SEC. 88. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines, $25 to $200, or imprisonment, three months to two years, or both. If prosecution is necessary, a reasonable attorney's fee may be allowed. Liability also accrues for injuries or death due to willful failure to comply with the law.]

CHAPTER 48.—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 89. Guards for dangerous machinery.—All power driven machinery, including all saws, planers, wood shapers, jointers, sandpaper machines, iron mangles, emery wheels, ovens, furnaces, forges, and rollers of metal; all projecting set screws on moving parts; all drums, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, tables, fly wheels, flying shuttles, and hydro-extractors; all laundry machinery, mill gearing, and machinery of every description; all systems of electrical wiring or transmission; all dynamos and other electrical apparatus and appliances; all vats or pans, and all receptacles containing molten metal or hot or corrosive fluids in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop, shall be so located wherever possible, as not to be dangerous to employees or shall be properly inclosed, fenced, or otherwise protected. All dangerous places in or about mercantile establishments, factories, mills or workshops, near to which any employee is obliged to pass, or to be employed shall, where practicable, be properly inclosed, fenced or otherwise guarded. No machine in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, shall be used when the same is known to be dangerously defective, and no repairs shall be made to the active mechanism or operative part of any machine when the machine is in motion.

SEC. 90. Removing guards.—No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard required by this act during the active use or operation of the guarded machine or device except for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced.

SEC. 91. Cut-offs; pulleys, etc.—In every factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop effective means shall be provided for immediately disconnecting the power, so that in case of need or accident any particular machine, group of machines, room, or department can be promptly and effectively shut down.

(a) Where machines require to be started and stopped frequently, they shall, wherever practicable, be provided with tight and loose pulleys, clutch, or other effective disengaging device. When provided with tight and loose pulleys the shifting of the belt shall be accomplished by the use of a belt shifter placed within easy reach of the operator. When a clutch or other disengaging device is used an effective means for throwing such device into or out of engagement shall be provided and shall be placed within easy reach of the operator.

(b) Where machines are direct connected with the prime mover (electric motor, steam, gas, or gasoline engine, or other source of power), a switch, throttle, or other power-controlling device shall be furnished and shall be placed within easy reach of the operator or his coworker.

(c) Where machines are arranged in groups, rooms, or departments and power is supplied by a prime mover located within the confines of such group, room, or department, a switch, throttle, or other power-controlling device shall be furnished and shall be placed within easy reach of the operators affected, so that all shafting, transmitting machinery, and machines of such group, room, or department can be simultaneously shut down.

(d) Where machines are arranged in groups, rooms, or departments and are supplied by power through the use of main or line shafts receiving power from some prime mover located without the group, room, or department, the power-receiving wheel of such main or line shaft shall, wherever possible, be provided with a friction clutch or other effective power-disengaging device, with suitable means for operating the clutch or power-disengaging device, and these means shall be placed within the confines of such group, room, or department and within easy reach of the employees or operatives affected, so that all machines, shafting, and other transmission machinery within such group, room, or department can be simultaneously shut down. In addition to such safeguard, communication, consisting of speaking tubes, electric bells, electric colored lights, or other approved and effective means, shall be provided in all cases covered by this paragraph between each such group, room, or department, and the room in which the engineer or prime mover is located, so that in case of need or accident the motive power of such group, room, or department can be promptly stopped or controlled.

Sec. 92. Hoistways, etc.—All hoistways, hatchways, elevator wells, and wheel holes in factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops shall be securely fenced, inclosed, or otherwise safely protected, and due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same open in order that the said hatchways, elevators, or hoisting apparatus may be used. All elevator cabs or cars, whether used for freight or passengers, shall be provided with some device whereby the car or cab may be held in the event of accident to the shipper rope or hoisting machinery or controlling apparatus.

Sec. 93. Defects to be remedied.—If an elevator, machine, electrical apparatus, or system of wiring, or any part or parts thereof, in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, are in an unsafe condition or are not properly guarded where reasonable to guard the same, the owner or lessee, or his agent, superintendent, or other person in charge thereof, shall, upon notice from the chief State factory inspector, or the assistant chief State factory inspector, remedy such unsafe condition within a reasonable time after receiving such notice.

Sec. 94. Unskilled employees.—No employee of any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, shall operate or tamper with any machine or appliance with which such employee is not familiar and which is in no way connected with the regular and reasonable necessary duties of his employment, unless it be by and with the direct or reasonably implied command, request, or direction of the master or representative or agent.

Sec. 95. Traversing machinery.—The traversing carriage of any self-acting machine must not be allowed to run out within a distance of eighteen (18) inches from any fixed structure, not being part of the machine, if the space over which it runs out is a space through which any employee is liable to pass, whether in the course of his employment or otherwise.

Sec. 96. Food not to be taken into certain factories.—No employee shall take or be allowed to take food into any room or apartment in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop, where white lead, arsenic or other poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dusts or gases under harmful conditions are present, as the result of the business conducted by such factories, mercantile establishments, mills or workshops, and notice to this effect shall be posted in each room or apartment. Employees shall not remain in any such room or apartment during the time allowed for meals, and suitable provision shall be made and maintained by the employer, when practicable, for enabling the employees to take their meals elsewhere in such establishments: Provided, however, That this section shall not apply to such employees whose presence during meal hours may be necessary for the proper conduct of such business.

Sec. 97. Seats.—[Seats must be provided in manufacturing and mercantile establishments in which females are employed, and their use allowed when it will not actually and necessarily interfere with the discharge of duty.]

Sec. 98. Temperature, etc., of workrooms.—In every factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop, where one or more persons are employed, adequate measures shall be taken for securing and maintaing a reasonable, and as far as possible, equable temperature, consistent with the reasonable requirements of the manufacturing process. No unnecessary humidity which would jeopardize the health of employees shall be permitted.

SEC. 99. Air space and ventilation.—In every room or apartment of any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, where one or more persons are employed, at least five hundred (500) cubic feet of air space shall be provided for each and every person employed therein, and fresh air, to the amount specified in this act, shall be supplied in such a manner as not to create injurious drafts, nor cause the temperature of any such room or apartment to fall materially below the average temperature maintained: Provided, Where lights are used which do not consume oxygen, 250 cubic feet of air space shall be deemed sufficient.

[Other provisions relate to the conditions under which artificial ventilation must be resorted to, the supply required varying with window space, cubic content of room per employee, etc. The maximum requirement is 2,000 cubic feet per hour per employee; no air supply is to be drawn from a cellar or basement.]

SEC. 100. Effluvia, etc.—All factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops shall be kept free from gas or effluvia arising from any sewer, drain, privy, or other nuisance on the premises. All poisonous or noxious fumes or gases arising from any process and all dust of a character injurious to the health of the persons employed which is created in the course of a manufacturing process within such factory, mill, or workshop shall be removed, as far as practicable, by either ventilating or exhaust devices.

SEC. 101. Rooms to be cleaned daily.—All decomposed, fetid, or putrescent matter and all refuse, waste, and sweepings of any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop shall be removed and disposed of at least once each day and in such a manner as not to cause a nuisance; and all cleaning shall be done, as far as possible, outside of working hours; but if done during working hours, shall be done in such a manner as to avoid the unnecessary raising of dust or noxious odors. In every factory, mill, or workshop in which any process is carried on which makes the floors wet the floor shall be constructed and maintained with due regard to the health of employees, and gratings or dry standing rooms shall be provided, if practicable, at points where employees are regularly stationed, and adequate means shall be provided for drainage and for preventing seepage or leakage to the floors below.

SEC. 102. Fire escapes.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops sufficient and reasonable means of escape in case of fire shall be provided by more than one means of egress, and such means of escape shall at all times be kept free from any obstruction and shall be kept in good repair and ready for use and shall be plainly marked as such.

SEC. 103. Doors to open outward.—All doors used by employees as entrances to or exits from any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, of a height of two stories or over, shall open outward, slide or roll, and shall be so constructed as to be easily and immediately opened from within in case of fire or other emergency.

SEC. 104. Stairways.—Proper and substantial hand rails shall be provided on all stairways in factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops, and the treads on all stairways shall be so constructed as to furnish a firm and safe foothold.

SEC. 105. Lights in hallways, etc.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills or workshops a proper light shall be kept burning by the owner or lessee in all main passageways, main hallways, at all main stairs, main stair landings and shafts, and in front of all passenger or freight elevators, upon the entrance floors, and upon the other floors, on every workday of the year, from the time that the building is opened for use until the time when it is closed, except at times when the influx of natural light shall make artificial light unnecessary: Provided, That when two or more tenants occupy different floors in one building, such elevator shafts need be lighted only on the floors occupied and used by employees.

SEC. 106. Overloading floors.—No floor space of any workroom in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop shall be so overloaded with machinery or other material as thereby to cause serious risk to or endanger the life or limb of any employee; nor shall there be permitted in any such establishment a load in excess of the safe sustaining power of the floors and walls thereof.

SEC. 107. Passageways between machinery.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops, machines must not be placed so closely together as to be a serious menace to those that have to pass between them. Passageways must be of ample width and head room and must be kept well lighted and free from obstructions.

SEC. 108. Toilets.—[Factories, workshops, and mercantile establishments must be supplied with water closets, etc., one to every 30 male employees and one to every 25 females, separate and plainly marked, properly inclosed, ventilated, cleanly kept, and properly lighted.]

SEC. 109. Wash rooms.—[Wash rooms shall also be provided, if necessary, in factories, etc., one spigot or basin for each 30 employees, and in mercantile establishments one for each 50. If the work is of such character as to make a change of clothing customary or necessary, suitable dressing and washing rooms shall be maintained for each sex.]

SECS. 110, 111. Duty of employers.—[Owners, etc., of buildings to which this law applies must make the needed changes to comply with the provisions thereof, the same to be completed within a reasonable time after notification by the inspector.]

SEC. 112. Reports of accidents.—[Owners or other persons in charge of factories, mercantile establishments, etc., must make immediate reports of accidents resulting in death and monthly reports of all accidents causing the loss of 15 consecutive days, giving cause and character of accident, employment, and sex and age of the injured person.]

SEC. 113. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of the chief State factory inspector and his subordinates to enforce this act, to which end they may visit and inspect at all reasonable times the places covered by it. If a secret process is carried on in any room, the owner may make affidavit that the law is being in all respects complied with, which shall be accepted. If changes have been made which comply with the provisions of this act, they shall not be altered by any other requirement for a term of 12 months.]

SEC. 114. Violations.—[Failing to comply with the act or obstructing the inspector in the performance of his duty or otherwise violating the law subjects to a fine of $10 to $50 for a first offense and $25 to $200 for subsequent offenses, each case to stand committed until the payment of fine and costs, or otherwise discharged by process of law.]

SEC. 115. City ordinances.—Whenever any inspection of machinery, ways, means, instruments, or appliances in, on, about, or connected with any factory, mill, mercantile establishment, or workshop is required to be made by the ordinance of any city, town, or village of a standard equal to that of this act and the inspection required by such ordinances has been made, then and in every such case such inspection shall be accepted by the chief State factory inspector, the assistant chief State factory inspector, and the deputy factory inspectors as a compliance in that respect with the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of the person for whom such inspection has been made to furnish the chief State factory inspector, or his assistants or deputies, with a copy of the report of inspection made under such ordinances.

SEC. 116. Federal inspection.—[Establishments under Federal inspection are not covered by this act.]

SEC. 117. Definitions.—The following terms used in this act shall have the following meaning: The term "factory" means any premises wherein electricity, steam, water, or other mechanical power is used to move or work any machinery employed in preparing, manufacturing, or finishing, or any process incident to the manufacturing of any article or part of any article, or the altering, repairing, ornamenting, or the adapting for sale of any article. The term "mill or workshop" shall include any premises, room, or apartment, not being a factory as above defined, wherein any labor is exercised by way of trade or for the purpose of gain in or incidental to any process of making, altering, preparing, cleaning, repairing, ornamenting, finishing, or adapting for sale any article or part of any article, and to which or over which building, premises, room, or apartment the employer of the person employed or working therein has the right of access or control: Provided, however, That a private house or private room in which manual or other labor is performed by a family dwelling therein, or by any of them, for the exclusive use of the members of such family is not a factory, mill, or workshop within this definition. The term "mercantile establishment" shall include all concerns or places where goods, wares, or merchandise are purchased or sold, either at wholesale or retail.

SEC. 118. Law to be printed.—Copies of this act shall be printed in English and such other languages as may be necessary to disseminate a general knowledge of the provisions herein set forth and shall be supplied by the chief State factory inspector on application.

SEC. 119. Notice to be posted.—For the purpose of disseminating a general knowledge of the provisions of this act among employees the chief State factory inspector shall have prepared a notice covering the salient features of this act, which may be in the following form:

Notice to Owners and Employees of Mercantile Establishments, Factories, Mills, and Workshops

This notice must be posted in a conspicuous place in every office and workroom of this establishment. The object of this notice is to promote the health, comfort, and safety of employees, and requires their attention and cooperation.

1. All machinery when in operation is dangerous, and should be considered so by the operator. It should be so protected as to offer the least possible chance for injury to those who operate it.

2. All machinery must be daily inspected by the operator, and upon discovery of any defects notice of the same shall be given at once to anyone in authority, and the machine not used until repaired.

3. All set screws or other dangerous projections on revolving machinery shall be countersunk or otherwise guarded when possible.

4. Means shall be provided and placed within convenient reach for promptly stopping any machine, group of machines, shafting, or other power-transmitting machinery.

5. Machines must not be placed so closely together as to be a serious menace to those who have to pass between them. Passageways must be of ample width and head room and must be kept well lighted and free from obstructions.

6. All hatchways, elevator wells, or other openings in floors shall be properly inclosed or guarded.

7. The premises must be kept in clean and sanitary condition.

8. Ample and separate toilet facilities for each sex shall be provided, and toilet rooms must be kept clean, well ventilated, and well lighted.

9. Food must not be taken into any workrooms where white lead, arsenic, or other poisonous substances or gases are present under harmful conditions.

10. Proper and sufficient means of escape, in case of fire, shall be provided, and shall be kept free from obstructions.

11. Poisonous and noxious fumes or gases, and dust injurious to health, arising from any process, shall be removed, as far as practicable.

12. All employees are strictly prohibited from attempting to operate, experiment, or tamper with machines or appliances with which they are not familiar and which are in no way connected with their regular duties. All employees are prohibited from jumping on or off moving cars, elevators, machines, or appliances not under their immediate charge or control. All employees are prohibited from carrying to their place of work acids, chemicals, or explosives of any kind which are liable to endanger life or property.

13. Reports must be sent to the office of the State factory inspector, as provided by law, and immediate notice of the death of any employee resulting from accident or injuries must be sent to the same office.

The notice shall be printed on cardboard of suitable character, and the type used shall be such as to make it easily legible. In addition to English, this notice shall be printed in such other languages as may be necessary to make it intelligible to employees. Copies shall be supplied by the chief State factory inspector on application, and must be posted in a conspicuous place in every office and workroom of every establishment covered by the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 48.—Employment of females—Hours of labor

SECTION 121. Ten-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any mechanical or mercantile establishment, or factory, or laundry, or hotel, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office thereof, or in any place of amusement, or by any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any express or transportation or public utility business, or by any common carrier, or in any public institution, incorporated or unincorporated in this State, more than ten hours during any one day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than ten hours during the twenty-four hours of any day.

The inclusion of public institutions is valid legislation. A municipal corporation is, in its private capacity, subject to penal regulations. 100 N. E. 194.

SECS. 122, 123, 125. Violations; enforcement.—[Violations of this act are punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100. The State department of factory inspection is charged with its enforcement. Employers to whom it applies must keep records showing the hours of employment of each female in their establishments.]

The statute is constitutional. People v. Elerding, 254 Ill., 579, 98 N. E. 982.

CHAPTER 48.—Occupational diseases—Preventive regulations

SECTION 153. Preventive device.—Every employer of labor in this State, engaged in carrying on any work or process which may produce any illness or disease peculiar to the work or process carried on, or which subjects the employees to the danger of illness or disease incident to such work or process, to which employees are not ordinarily exposed in other lines of employment, shall, for the protection of all employees engaged in such work or process, adopt and provide reasonable and approved devices, means, or methods for the prevention of such industrial or occupational diseases as are incident to such work or process.

SEC. 154. Working clothing, etc., to be provided, when.—Every employer in this State engaged in the carrying on of any process of manufacture or labor in which sugar of lead, white lead, lead chromate, litharge, red lead, arsenate of lead, or paris green are employed, used or handled, or the manufacture of brass or the smelting of lead or zinc which processes and employments are hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees engaged in any process of manufacture or labor in which poisonous chemicals, minerals or other substances are used or handled by the employees therein in harmful quantities or under harmful conditions, shall provide for and place at the disposal of the employees engaged in any such process or manufacture and shall maintain in good condition and without cost to the employees, proper working clothing to be kept and used exclusively for such employees while at work, and all employees therein shall be required at all times while they are at work to use and wear such clothing; and in all processes of manufacture or labor referred to in this section which are unnecessarily productive of noxious or poisonous dusts, adequate and approved respirators shall be furnished and maintained by the employer in good condition and without cost to the employees and such employees shall use such respirators at all times while engaged in any work necessarily productive of noxious or poisonous dusts.

SEC. 155. Medical examinations.—Every employer engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act [sec. 154], shall, as often as once every calendar month, cause all employees who come into direct contact with the poisonous agencies or injurious processes referred to in section 2 of this act, to be examined by a competent licensed physician for the purpose of ascertaining if there exists in any employee any industrial or occupational disease or illness or any disease or illness due or incident to the character of the work in which the employee is engaged.

SEC. 156. Physicians to make reports.—It is hereby made the duty of any licensed physician who shall make the physical examination of employees under the provisions of section 3 of this act, to make an immediate report thereof to the State Board of Health of the State of Illinois upon blanks to be furnished by said board upon request, and if no such disease or illness is found, the physician shall so report, and if any such disease is found, the report shall state the name, address, sex, and age of such employee and the name of such employer, and the nature of the disease or illness with which the employee is afflicted, and the probable extent and duration thereof, and the last place of employment: Provided, That the failure of any such physician to receive the blanks of the State board of health for the making of such report, shall not excuse such physician from making the report as herein provided.

SEC. 157. Reports to department of factory inspection.—The secretary of the State board of health shall, immediately upon receipt of any report from any physician in accordance with the provisions of section 4 of this act, transmit a copy thereof to the Illinois Department of Factory Inspection.

SEC. 158. Dressing and wash rooms.—Every employer engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act, shall provide, separate and apart from the workshop in which such employees are engaged, a dressing room and lavatory for the use of such employees who are exposed to poisonous or injurious dusts, fumes, and gases, and such lavatory shall be kept and maintained in a clean and wholesome manner and provided with a sufficient number of basins or spigots with adequate washing facilities, including hot and cold water, clean towels, and soap and shower bath, and the dressing rooms shall be furnished with clothes presses or compartments, so that the ordinary street clothes of such employees shall be kept separate and apart from their working clothes.

Such a law is constitutional. See page 359.

SEC. 159. Taking food.—No employee shall take or be allowed to take any food or drink of any kind into any room or apartment in which any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act is carried on, or in which poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dusts, or gases are present as the result of such work or process being carried on in such room or apartment, and the employees shall not remain in any such room or apartment during the time allowed for meals, and suitable provision shall be made and maintained by the employer for enabling the employees to take their meals elsewhere in such place of employment, and a sufficient number of sanitary closed receptacles containing wholesome drinking water shall be provided and maintained for the use of the employees within reasonable access and without cost to them.

SEC. 160. Ventilation.—All employers engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act, shall provide and maintain adequate devices for carrying off all poisonous or injurious fumes from any furnaces which may be employed in any such process or manufacture, and shall also provide and maintain adequate facilities for carrying off all injurious dust, and the floors in any room or apartment where such work or process is carried on shall, so far as practicable, be kept and maintained in a smooth and hard condition, and no sweeping shall be permitted during working hours except where the floors in such workshop are dampened so as to prevent the raising of dust; and all ore, slag, dross, and fume shall be kept in some room or apartment separate from the working rooms occupied by the employees, and where practicable, all mixing and weighing of such ore, slag, dross or fume shall be done in such separate room or apartment, and all such material shall, so far as practicable, be dampened before being handled or transported by employees.

SEC. 161. Cleaning flues, etc.—When any flues are used in any such process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act, and such flues are being cleaned out or emptied, the employer shall in every case provide and maintain a sufficient and adequate means or device, such as canvas bags or other practical device, or by dampening the dust, or some other sufficient method for catching and collecting the dust and preventing it from unreasonably fouling or polluting the air in which the employees are obliged to work, and, wherever practicable, the dust occasioned in any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act, and any polishing or finishing therein, shall be dampened or wet down, and every reasonable precaution shall be adopted by the employer to prevent the unnecessary creation or raising of dust, and all floors shall be washed or scrubbed at least once every working-day; and such parts of the work or process as are especially dangerous to the employees on account of poisonous fumes, dusts, and gases, shall, where practicable, be carried on in separate rooms and under cover of some suitable and sufficient device to remove the danger to the health of such employee, as far as may be reasonably consistent with the manufacturing process, and the fixtures and tools employed in any such process of manufacture, shall be thoroughly washed and cleaned at reasonable intervals.

SEC. 162. Hoods and fans.—All hoppers or chutes or similar devices used in the course of any process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act shall, where practicable, be provided with a hood or covering, and an adequate and sufficient apparatus or other proper device for the purpose of drawing away from the employees, noxious, poisonous or injurious dusts, and preventing the employees from coming into unnecessary contact therewith; and all conveyances or receptacles used for the transportation about or the storage in any place where any such process or manufacture referred to in section 2 of this act is carried on, shall be properly covered or dampened in such way as to protect the health of employees, and no refuse of a dangerous character incident to the work or process carried on in any such place shall be allowed to unnecessarily accumulate on the floors thereof.

SEC. 163. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the State department of factory inspection to enforce the provisions of this act and to prosecute all violations of the same before any magistrate or any court of competent jurisdiction in this State, and for that purpose such department and its inspectors are empowered to visit and inspect at all reasonable times all places of employment covered by the provisions of this act. In the enforcement of the provisions hereof the department of factory inspection shall give proper notice in regard to any violation of this act to any employer of labor in violating it, and directing the installment of any approved device, means or methods reasonably necessary, in his judgment, to protect the health of the employees therein, and such notice shall be written or printed and shall be signed officially by the chief State factory inspector or the assistant chief State factory inspector, and said notice may be served by delivering the same to the person upon whom service is to be had, or by leaving at his usual place of abode or business an exact copy thereof, or by sending a copy thereof to such person by registered mail, and upon receipt of such notice calling the attention of the employer to such violation, he shall immediately comply with all the provisions of this act.

SEC. 164. Inspectors may give orders.—If any occupational or industrial disease or illness or any disease or illness peculiar to the work or process carried on shall be found in any place of employment in this State by the inspectors of the State department of factory inspection, or called to their attention by the State board of health, which disease or illness shall be caused in whole or in part, in the opinion of the inspector, by a disregard by the employer of the provisions of this act, or a failure on the part of the employer to adopt reasonable appliances, devices, means or methods which are known to be reasonably adequate and sufficient to prevent the contraction or continuation of any such disease or illness, it shall be the duty of the department of factory inspection to immediately notify the employer in such place of employment, in the manner provided in section 12 of this act, to install adequate and approved appliances, devices, means or methods to prevent the contracting and continuance of any such disease or illness and to comply with all the provisions of this act.

SEC. 165. Act to be posted.—For the purpose of disseminating a general knowledge of the provisions of this act and of the dangers to the health of employees in any work or process covered by the provisions of this act, the employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room or apartment in which any such work or process is carried on, appropriate notices of the known dangers to the health of any such employees arising from such work or process, and simple instructions as to any known means of avoiding, so far as possible, the injurious consequences thereof, and the chief State factory inspector shall, upon request, have prepared a notice covering the salient features of this act, and furnish a reasonable number of copies thereof to employers in this State, covered by the provisions of this act, which notice shall be posted by every such employer in a conspicuous place in every room or apartment in such place of employment. The notices required by this section shall be printed on cardboard of suitable character and the type used shall be such as to make them easily legible, and in addition to English they shall be printed in such other language or languages as may be necessary to make them intelligible to the employees.

SEC. 166. Violations.—[Penalty for the first offense is a fine, $10 to $100, and for subsequent offenses, $50 to $200.]

SEC. 167 (as amended 1923, p. 351). Damages; compensations.—(a) For any injury to the health of any employee proximately caused by any willful violation of section 1 of this act [sec. 153], or willful failure to comply with any of the provisions of section 1 of this act, a right of action shall accrue to the party whose health has been so injured, for any direct damages sustained thereby; and in case of the loss of life by reason of such willful violation or willful failure as aforesaid, a right of action shall accrue to the widow of such deceased person, his lineal heirs or adopted children, or to any other person or persons who were, before such loss of life, dependent for support upon such deceased person, for a like recovery of damages for the injury sustained by reason of such loss of life not to exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars: Provided, That every such action for damages in case of death shall be commenced within one year after the death of such employee.

(b) 1. If an employee is disabled or dies, and his disability or death is caused by an occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment in one or more of the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act [sec. 154], he or his dependents, as the case may be, shall be entitled to compensation, in the same manner and subject to the same terms, conditions and limitations as are now or may hereafter be provided by the workmen's compensation act for accidental injuries sustained by employees arising out of and in the course of their employment; and for this purpose the disablement of an employee by reason of an occupational disease, arising out of and in the course of his employment in one or more of the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act, shall be treated as the happening of an accidental injury.

2. As used in this subdivision (b) of this section, the word "disability" means the state of being disabled from earning full wages at the work at which the employee was last employed by the employer from whom he claims compensation; the word "disablement" means the act of becoming disabled from earning full wages at the work at which the employee was last employed by the employer from whom he claims compensation; the words "occupational disease" mean a disease peculiar to and due to the nature of an employment in one or more of the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act [sec. 151]; and the word "occupations" means and includes each and every process, manufacture, employment, and process of manufacture or labor referred to in section 2 of this act.

3. The industrial commission shall have jurisdiction over the operation and administration of this subdivision (b) of this section; and it shall have, exercise, perform, and discharge the same rights, powers, and duties with reference to this subdivision (b) of this section as it shall have, exercise, perform, and discharge with reference to the workmen's compensation act, or any amendments thereto or modifications thereof. Notice of the disablement shall be given to the employer, and claim for compensation shall be made, in the same manner and within the same periods of time, respectively, as are now or may hereafter be provided in the workmen's compensation act concerning accidental injuries sustained by employees arising out of and in the course of their employment. Proceedings for compensation hereunder shall be had and maintained in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be provided by the workmen's compensation act with reference to proceedings for compensation for accidental injuries. The procedure and practice provided in the workmen's compensation act, and all amendments thereto and modifications thereof, shall apply to all proceedings hereunder.

4. This subdivision (b) of this section shall apply automatically and without election to all employees and employers engaged in the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act. No common law or statutory right to recover damages for injury or death sustained by any employee by reason of an occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment in one or more of the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act, other than the compensation herein provided, shall be available to any employee who is covered by the provisions of this subdivision (b) of this section, to any one wholly or partially dependent upon him, the legal representatives of his estate, or any one otherwise entitled to recover damages for such injury. The compensation herein provided, together with the provisions of this subdivision (b) of this section shall be the full, complete and only measure of responsibility of any employer engaged in any of the occupations referred to in section 2 of this act.

5. Any common law or statutory right of action to recover damages for injury to the health or death sustained by an employee in this State from an occupational disease prior to the taking effect hereof shall not be affected by this act and every such existing right of action is continued and nothing in this act shall be construed as limiting the right of such action so accrued before the taking effect of this act.

SEC. 168. Construction.—The invalidity of any portion of this act shall not affect the validity of any other portion thereof which can be given effect without such invalid part.

CHAPTER 48.—Protection of chauffeurs

SECTION 175. Shields.—[Automobiles and auto trucks used for the delivery of merchandise or freight must have shields and hoods, so as to protect chauffeurs from wind, dust, and inclement weather.]

SEC. 176. Violations.—[Penalty of $50 is fixed for each day's violation.]

CHAPTER 48.—Factory, etc., regulations—Wash rooms

SECTION 184. Who to provide wash rooms.—Every owner or operator of a coal mine, steel mill, foundry, machine shop, or other like business in which employees become covered with grease, smoke, dust, grime and perspiration to such extent that to remain in such condition after leaving their work without washing and cleansing their bodies and changing their clothing, will endanger their health or make their condition offensive to the public, shall provide and maintain a suitable and sanitary wash room at a convenient place in or adjacent to such mine, mill, foundry, shop or other place of employment for the use of such employees.

SEC. 185 (as amended 1921, p. 445). Equipment, etc.—[Provision for changing clothing must be provided, with lockers and hangers, hot and cold water, showers, and heat in cold weather.]

SEC. 186. Inspection.—[State and county mine inspectors and factory and other inspectors of places of business must inspect such wash rooms and make needed suggestions for changes.]

SECS. 187, 188. Violations.—[Failure to comply entails a fine not to exceed $100, each day's neglect or refusal constituting a separate offense.]

The act is constitutional. People v. Solomon, 265 Ill. 28, 106 N. E. 458.

CHAPTER 52.—Suits for wages—No property exempt

SECTION 16. Wage debts.—[No personal property is exempt from attachment, etc., when the debt is for wages.]

SEC. 19. Team.—[If the use of horse and team are necessary to the performance of labor, the value of same shall be included in wages.]

CHAPTER 55a.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 1. Fire escapes on certain buildings.—* * * all buildings in this State which are four or more stories in height, excepting such as are used for private residences exclusively, but including flats and apartment buildings, shall be provided with one or more metallic ladder or stair fire escapes attached to the outer walls thereof and extending from, or suitably near, the ground to the uppermost story thereof and provided with platforms of such forms and dimensions, and in such proximity to one or more windows of each story above the first, as to render access to such ladder or stairs from each such story easy and safe; the number, location, material, and construction of such escapes to be subject to the approval of the board of supervisors in counties under township organization and a board of county commissioners in counties not under township organization, except in villages, towns, and cities organized under any general or special law of this State such approval shall be had by the corporate authorities of such villages, towns, and cities: Provided, however, That all buildings more than two stories in height used for manufacturing purposes or for hotels, dormitories, schools, seminaries, hospitals, or asylums shall have at least one such fire escape for every fifty (50) persons for which working, sleeping, or living accommodations are provided above the second stories of said buildings; * * *

This act is constitutional. The power conferred upon the inspector is neither legislative nor judicial, but ministerial, and may properly be exercised. Arms v. Ayer, 192 Ill. 601, 61 N. E. 851.

CHAPTER 67.—Exemption of wages from garnishment—Assignment of claims

SECTION 14. Amount.—[$15 of an employee's earnings is exempt from garnishment on a showing that he is the head of a family with which he resides.]

SEC. 32. Sending claim out of State.—[Sending claim out of State for collection by proceedings in attachment, etc., with the intent to deprive resident debtors of their exemption rights under the laws of Illinois is forbidden.]

SEC. 34. Nonresidents.—[Nonresidents sued in the State in garnishment proceedings affecting wages earned outside the State shall have the rights secured to them by the laws of the State of their residence.]

SEC. 34a. Outside earnings.—[Wages earned and payable outside of the State are exempt from attachment in causes of action arising outside the State unless the defendant in the suit is personally served with process.]

CHAPTER 93.—Mine regulations

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, p. 449). Mining board.—[The governor appoints a State mining board with power to pass on applicants for positions as inspectors, economic investigators, and as mine managers, hoisting engineers, and mine examiners. They are also to cause statistics of the industry to be collected. Terms are 2 years at $10 per diem for not over 100 days per year.]

SEC. 2 (as amended 1923, p. 451). Applicants for certificates.—[Proof of age, citizenship and experience and recommendations of character must be submitted, and suitable examinations passed for the various positions, showing practical and technical fitness.]

SEC. 3 (as amended 1923, p. 453). Certificates.—[Certified persons must be employed as managers, examiners, and hoisting engineers, with provisions to meet emergencies. Revocation for cause is provided for.]

SEC. 4. Inspection districts.—[The State is divided into 12 inspection districts.]

SEC. 5. Inspectors.—[The governor appoints from the list of eligibles an inspector for each district. A county inspector may be appointed locally from the list of persons holding certificates as mine managers.

Inspectors are to be supplied with anemometers, safety lamps, etc., and may enter any mine at all reasonable times. They are also sealers of weights and measures. They make annual reports.]

SEC. 6. Salary.—[Pay is $1,800 per annum, with expenses.]

SECS. 7, 8, 9 (as amended 1919, p. 656), 10 (as amended 1921, p. 512), 13, 14 (as amended 1919, p. 656), 15, 16, 18, 19 (as amended 1921, p. 512), 20 (as amended 1923, p. 449), 21 (as amended 1921, p. 512), 22, 23 (as amended 1923, p. 449), 24 (as amended 1921, p. 512), 25, 26, 27 (as amended 1919, p. 656), 28. Safety, etc.—[These sections as amended embody the mining laws of the State. Maps are required, exits, hoists, ventilation, blasting, lighting, signals, etc., regulated, the employment of a checkweighman authorized, etc. No boy under the age of 16, and no woman or girl of any age may work in or about any mine.]

SEC. 29 (as amended 1921, p. 512). Violations.—[Violations entail fines not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not over six months, or both; also liability for damages occasioned by such neglect.]

SEC. 30. [Definitions.]

SECS. 44 (as amended 1921, p. 568), 45–47c. Shot firers.—[The employment of shot firers is required where more than 2 pounds of powder are used in one blast, and in gaseous mines; the firing of shots is also regulated.]

SEC. 60. Examinations of miners.—[All examinations must be held in English and records be kept. Two years' practical experience is required, and 12 practical questions must be answered. Certificates are not transferable.]

SECS. 61–65, 66 (as amended 1923, p. 460), 67. Fire protection.—[These sections direct pipes to be provided, leading from a water supply so as to enable underground fires to be extinguished. Hose, automatic sprinklers in underground stables, or barrels of water with pails at hand, chemical extinguishers, and telephone communication are features provided for. Underground stables in mines must be of fireproof construction.]

SECS. 69–77. Rescue stations.—[Three rescue stations, one in each coal field, and their superintendence and operation are provided for.]

SECS. 79–82. Black powder.—[These sections establish specifications for black powder sold for blasting purposes.]

SECS. 84–92. Permissible explosives.—[The character, testing, making, etc., of explosives that may be sold for blasting in mines are regulated.]

CHAPTER 111a.—Public utilities—Accidents to be reported

SECTION 56. Reports.—[Every accident to or on the property of any public utility endangering the safety, health, or property of any person must be reported to the public utility commission; and if loss of life or limb occurred the report must be made by the speediest means of communication. The commission may investigate, but no proceedings may be used in any trial growing out of the accident.]

SEC. 57. Safety.—[The commission may after hearing, on its own motion or on complaint, make rules, orders, etc., governing the maintenance and operation of public utilities with regard to the safety of employees, passengers, and the public.]

CHAPTER 114.—Railroads—Employees—Safety appliances

SECTION 99. Shelter for flagmen.—* * * When any railroad company is required to keep a flagman at a crossing, it shall have the right to erect and maintain in the highway or street crossed a suitable house for the shelter of such flagman, the same to be so located as to create the least obstruction to the use of such street or highway, and afford the best view of the railroad track in each direction from such crossing.

SEC. 108. Abandoning locomotive.—If any locomotive engineer in furtherance of any combination or agreement, shall willfully and maliciously abandon his locomotive upon any railroad at any other point than the regular schedule destination of such locomotive, he shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and confined in the county jail not less than twenty days nor more than ninety days.

SEC. 109. Intimidation, etc.—If any person or persons shall willfully and maliciously, by any act or by means of intimidation, impede or obstuct, except by due process of law, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company or other corporation[,] firm or individual in this State, or of the regular running of any locomotive engine[,] freight or passenger train of any such company, or the labor and business of any such corporation, firm or individual he or they shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not less than twenty dollars ($20), nor more than two hundred dollars ($200), and confined in the county jail not less than twenty nor more than ninety days.

SEC. 110. Combinations to obstruct.—If two or more persons shall willfully and maliciously combine or conspire together to obstruct or impede by any act, or by means of intimidation, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company or any other corporation, firm or individual in this State, or to impede, hinder or obstruct, except by due process of law, the regular running of any locomotive engine[,] freight or passenger train on any railroad, or the labor or business of any such corporation, firm, or individual, such person shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by fine not less than twenty dollars ($20), nor more than two hundred dollars ($200), and confined in the county jail not less than twenty days, nor more than ninety days.

SEC. 111. Act construed.—This act, shall not be construed to apply to cases of persons voluntarily quitting the employment of any railroad company or such other corporation, firm or individual, whether by concert of action or otherwise, e[x]cept as is provided in section one (1) [sec. 108] of this act.

SEC. 309. First-aid provisions.—All railroads or the receiver or receivers of any railroad operating trains, in whole or in part, within the State of Illinois, shall provide a package containing the articles hereinafter stated, on each train or engine, for first aid to persons who may be injured in the course of the operation of such train or trains.

SEC. 310. Contents of packages.—Every such package shall include the following and such other articles and equipment as may in the judgment and discretion of the management of the railroad or the medical department thereof be useful for the intended purpose:

A standard package to contain two (2) pieces of sterile gauze, one (1) ribbon bandage, one (1) triangular cambric picture bandage in aseptic container, six (6) of these packages to make up one (1) first-aid kit.

SEC. 311. Instruction.—The chief surgeon, one of his assistants or other capable physician shall at reasonable intervals offer first-aid instruction to the engine and train men in his jurisdiction.

SEC. 312. Violations.—[Railroads violating the foregoing provisions are liable to a fine of $5 to $25 for each day's failure to comply; but 3 days are allowed for replacing a package after its use has been reported.]

CHAPTER 122.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 274 (as amended 1919, p. 917). Attendance required.—[Attendance to the age of 16 is required for 7 months per year, unless (among other reasons) 14 years of age and necessarily and lawfully employed during school hours.]

CHAPTER 131a.—Protection of employees on street railways

SECTIONS 8, 9. Vestibules.—[Street cars other than trail cars must have a screen or vestibule so as to fully protect the motorman or driver during the months of November to March, inclusive.]

ACTS OF 1919

Rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons

SECTION 1. Rehabilitation directed.—It shall be the duty of the department of public welfare to direct, as hereinafter provided, the rehabilitation of every physically handicapped person, sixteen (16) years of age or over, residing in the State of Illinois.

"A physically handicapped person" shall mean any person who, by reason of a physical defect or infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury, or disease, is, or may be expected to be, incapacitated for remunerative occupation.

"Rehabilitation" shall mean the rendering of a person physically handicapped, fit to engage in a remunerative occupation.

"Persons residing in the State of Illinois" shall mean any person who is and has been domiciled within the State for one year or more.

This act, however, shall not be construed to apply to aged or helpless persons requiring permanent custodial care, or to blind persons under the care of the State, or to deaf persons under the care of the State, or to any epileptic or feeble-minded person, or to any person who may, in the judgment of the department of public welfare, not be susceptible of such rehabilitation.

SEC. 2. Methods.—The department of public welfare shall have power, and it shall be its duty;

(a) To establish relations with all public and private hospitals to receive prompt and complete reports of any persons under treatment in such hospitals for any injury or disease that may permanently impair their earning capacity. The persons thus reported shall be visited by representatives of the department of public welfare, who shall make records of their condition and report to the department of public welfare. The department of public welfare shall then determine whether the person is susceptible of rehabilitation. Such persons as may be found so susceptible shall be acquainted by the department of public welfare with the rehabilitation facilities offered by the State and the benefits of entering upon remunerative work at an early date. Any person who chooses to take advantage of these rehabilitation facilities shall be registered with the department of public welfare, and a record shall be kept of every such person and the measures taken for his or her rehabilitation. The department of public welfare shall offer to any such person counsel regarding the selection of a suitable occupation and of an appropriate course of training, and shall initiate definite plans for beginning rehabilitation as soon as the physical condition of the person permits.

(b) To arrange with the department of labor to receive reports of all cases of injuries received by employees in the course of employment which may result in permanent disability. The persons thus known to be injured shall be visited, examined, registered and advised in the same manner and for the same purposes as specified in clause (a) of this section.

(c) To receive applications of any physically handicapped persons residing within the State for advice and assistance regarding their rehabilitation. The persons thus known to be physically handicapped shall be visited, examined and advised in the same manner and for the same purposes as specified in clause (a) of this section.

(d) To make a survey to ascertain the number and condition of physically handicapped persons within the State. The persons thus known to be physically handicapped shall be visited, examined, registered and advised in the same manner and for the same purposes as specified in clause (a) of this section.

(e) To arrange for such therapeutic treatment as may be necessary for the rehabilitation of any physically handicapped person registered with the department of public welfare.

(f) To procure and furnish at cost to physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare, artificial limbs and other orthopedic and prosthetic appliances, to be paid for in easy installments.

(g) To establish, equip, maintain and operate in one of the large cities in the State, a school of rehabilitation, and to establish, equip, maintain and operate branches of the school at such other places as may in the judgment of the department of public welfare be necessary. There shall be provided at the school and its branches courses of training in selected occupation for physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare whose physical condition may, in the judgment of the department of public welfare, require special courses of training to render them fit to engage in remunerative employment and who are assigned by the department of public welfare to the school or to any of its branches for the purposes of such special training.

The department of public welfare shall make the necessary rules for the proper conduct and management of the school and its branches; shall have control and care of the building and grounds used by the State for the school and its branches, and shall prescribe the course and methods of training to be given at the school and its branches.

(h) To arrange with the State and local school authorities for training courses in the public schools of the State in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare.

(i) To arrange with any educational institution for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare.

(j) To arrange with any public or private organization or commercial, industrial or agricultural establishment for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare.

(k) To provide for the maintenance, during the prescribed period of training, of physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare: Provided, That the cost of such maintenance shall not exceed ten dollars ($10) per week for twenty weeks unless an extension of time is granted by the department of public welfare.

(l) To arrange for social service to and for the visiting of physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare and their families in their homes during the period of treatment and training and after its completion, and to give advice regarding any matter that may effect rehabilitation.

(m) To cooperate with the department of labor in the placement in remunerative employment of physically handicapped persons registered with the department of public welfare.

(n) To conduct investigations and surveys of the several industries located in the State to ascertain the occupations within each industry in which physically handicapped persons can enter upon remunerative employment under favorable conditions and work with normal effectiveness, and to determine what practicable changes and adjustments in industrial operations and practices may facilitate such employment.

(o) To make such studies and reports as may be helpful for the operation of this act.

(p) To keep the people of the State informed regarding the operation of this act.

(q) To cooperate with any department of the Federal or State Government or with any private agency in the operation of this act.

(r) Provided, however, That no person shall be subject to this act or to any of its provisions, and shall not be examined, registered, or advised unless such person first elects to take advantage of the privileges afforded by this act and to come under its terms and conditions.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The department of public welfare, subject to the provisions of civil service law, which is now or which hereafter may be in force in this State, shall employ such persons as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this act, and shall prescribe their duties, compensation, and terms of employment.

SEC. 4. Rules.—The department of public welfare shall promulgate reasonable rules and regulations relating to the enforcement of the provisions of this act.

Stock for employees of corporations

SECTION 32a (added 1923, p. 282). Authorization.—[Corporations for pecuniary profit are authorized to issue and sell stock to employees under terms and conditions fixed by the stockholders.]

ACTS OF 1921

Labor disputes—Extortion

SECTION 1. Obtaining money.—It shall be unlawful for any person by virtue of representing, or under color of representing, or pretending to represent, any organization, association, or group of workmen or workwomen, to extort or attempt to extort, demand, accept or obtain, or attempt to obtain, from any employer, property owner or property lessee, or from the agent or representative of any of them, money or other property as a consideration for the withholding, withdrawing, settling or terminating of any demand, claim, dispute or controversy relating to the employment of such workmen or workwomen or relating to the handling, delivery or use of materials or supplies.

SEC. 2. Forcing payment.—It shall be unlawful for any person by virtue of representing, or under color of representing, or pretending to represent, any organization, association, or group of workmen or workwomen, to induce or compel, or attempt to induce or compel, an employer, property owner or property lessee, or from the agent or representative of any of them, to pay money or other property as a consideration for withholding, withdrawing, settling or terminating any demand, claim, dispute or controversy relating to the employment of such workmen or workwomen, or relating to the handling, delivery or use of materials or supplies.

SEC. 3. Collecting fines.—It shall be unlawful for any person by virtue of representing, or under color of representing, or pretending to represent, any organization, association, or group of workmen or workwomen, to demand, collect or attempt to collect from any employer, property owner or property lessee, or from the agent or representatives of any of them, any money or other property by way of a fine or penalty, or to impose, enforce or attempt to enforce any such fine or penalty.

SEC. 4. Giving evidence.—No person shall be excused from attending, testifying and producing any books, papers, documents or other evidence in obedience to a subpœna served at the instance of the Attorney General or of the State's attorney before any court, magistrate or grand jury, upon any investigation, proceeding or trial for a violation of the provisions of this act, upon the ground, or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to criminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, in obedience to a subpœna served at the instance of the Attorney General or of the State's attorney except for perjury committed in such testimony.

SEC. 5. Violations.—Any person violating this act shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years.

Metal mine regulations

SECTIONS 1–48. Code.—[This act creates the office of inspector of mines other than coal and enacts a code of regulations for such mines. Inspection, safety provisions, accident reporting, the employment of minors, and penalties for violation are included in the act, which is worked out in detail corresponding generally to the provisions for coal mines, so far as apt.]

Mine regulations—Electricity

SECTIONS 1–3. Safety.—[This act, with two sections added (1923, p. 464), requires transformer rooms to be fireproof and the guarding of curtains, etc., from ignition, limits the voltage of exposed wires, prescribes requirements for guarding, and directs that maps show certain installations. Sand to extinguish fires must be provided.]

INDIANA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 1. Compensation for services

SECTION 66. Compensation.—No man's particular services shall be demanded without just compensation. * * *

BURNS' ANNOTATED STATUTES—1914

Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 993. Suits of nonresidents for wages.—Hereafter no court in this State shall have or entertain jurisdiction in any action of attachment, garnishment, or supplementary proceeding when the plaintiff and principal defendant are both nonresidents of this State, and the money sought to be reached by such attachment, garnishment, or supplementary proceedings is the personal earnings or wages due or owing to the principal defendant from any person or corporation doing business in this State.

SEC. 994. Wages exempt, when.—The wages of all householders in the employ of any person or corporation shall be exempt from garnishment and proceedings supplemental to execution in the hands of such person or corporation so long as such employee remains in such employment, not exceeding twenty-five dollars at any one time, and no exemption shall be allowed as against garnishment except as in this section provided.

SEC. 995.—Garnishee may pay exempted wages.—Any person or corporation in debt for wages, as in the preceding section provided, may, at any time after being served with a garnishee summons, pay to any such employee the amount of wages exempted by the preceding section; and such payment shall discharge such garnishee defendant from liability for the amount so paid, as effectually as if paid before the issuing of such summons.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 2578. Making threats, etc.—Whoever, for the purpose of influencing a voter, seeks, by violence or threats of violence or threats to enforce the payment of a debt; or to eject or threatens to eject from any house he may occupy; or begin a criminal prosecution; or to injure the business or trade of an elector; or, if an employer of laborers or an agent of such employer, threatens to withhold the wages of or to dismiss from service any laborer in his employment; or refuses to allow to any such employee time to attend at the place of election and vote, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars nor less than twenty dollars, imprisoned in the State prison not more than five years nor less than one year, and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for any determinate period.

Employment of children—Certain employments forbidden

SECTION 2623. Children under 15.—[Parents, etc., of children under 15 are forbidden to hire or dispose of them in acrobatic, riding, gymnastic or similar occupations, or in any illegal exhibition or any vocation injurious to health or dangerous to life or limb, under penalty: employers are also penalized.]

SEC. 2624. Children under 18.—[The employment of children under 18 in mendicant occupations, such as street musicians, etc., is prohibited.]

Seats for female employees

SECTIONS 2628, 2629. Seats required.—[All employers of women and girls are required under penalty to "provide suitable seats" for their use "when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties" of their employment.]

Exemption of wages—Unlawful assignment of claims

SECTION 2669. Assignments, transfer, etc.—[Selling, transferring, purchasing, or accepting any claim for collection by attachment or garnishment out of the wages of the debtor, a citizen of the State, with the intent to deprive a resident of the State of his or her exemption rights under the laws of the State, when the parties are within the jurisdiction of the courts of the State, subjects the offender to a fine, and he is also liable for the full amount of the debt collected, with interest and attorney's fee.]

Forced contributions from employees

SECTION 2681. Exacting contributions.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company or corporation operating railroads in Indiana to exact from its employees, without first obtaining written consent thereto in each and every instance, any portion of their wages for the maintenance of any hospital, reading room, library, gymnasium or restaurant.

SEC. 2682. Penalty.—Any paymaster, auditor or employee of any company so exacting from its employees such sums of money shall, upon conviction thereof in any circuit court having competent jurisdiction, be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, as the court may decree.

Although withholding wages without the consent of the employee is an illegal act, it does not absolve a company from its contract to supply hospital treatment to an injured employee whose wages have thus been withheld, nor from its liability in damages for the malpractice of a surgeon employed by it. 52 N. E. Rep. 152.

Railroad employees—Clearance cards—False charges

SECTION 2683a. Statement to be furnished.—Whenever any employee of any railroad company doing business in this State shall be discharged or voluntarily quits the service of such company it shall be the duty of the officer having jurisdiction over such employee upon request of such employee to issue such employee a letter duly signed by such officer setting forth the nature and character of service rendered by such employee to such railroad company and the duration thereof, and truly stating for what cause, if any, such employee has quit or been discharged from such service.

SEC. 2683b. Refusal.—Any officer having jurisdiction over employees referred to in section 1 [2683a] of this act failing or refusing to issue such letter to such employee when so requested by the employee, failing or refusing to state the facts correctly, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine in any sum not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100).

SEC. 2683c. False charges.—Every person who shall by any letter, mark, sign, or designation whatever, or by any verbal statement, falsely and without probable cause report to any railroad or any other company or corporation, or to any person or firm, or to any of the officers, servants, agents, or employees of any such corporation, person, or firm that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent, or an employee of such railroad company, corporation, person, or firm has received any money or thing of value for the transportation of persons or property or for other service for which he has not accounted to such corporation, person, or firm, or shall falsely and without probable cause report that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent, or other employee of any such railroad company, corporation, person, or firm, neglected, failed, or refused to collect any money or ticket for transportation of persons or property or other service when it was their duty so to do, shall on conviction be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100).

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 2901. Amount.—[Wages not over $50, earned within two months prior to the death of the employer, have preference over general debts and legacies.]

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 3841. Provisions required.—* * * Every building in which persons are employed above the second story in a factory, workshop, or mercantile, or other establishment, * * * and every factory, workshop, mercantile, or other establishment of more than two stories in height shall be provided with proper ways of egress or means of escape from fire, sufficient for the use of all persons * * * employed, * * * in such buildings, and such ways of egress and means of escape shall be kept free from obstruction, in good repair, and ready for use at all times, and all rooms above the second story in such building shall be provided with more than one way of egress or escape from fire, placed as near as practicable at opposite ends of the room and leading to fire escape[s] on the outside of such building or to stairways on the inside, provided with proper railings. All outside doors subject to the provisions of this section shall open outward, and all windows open outward or upward. * * * The certificate of the fire chief of the city where said building is located, certifying that the provisions of this act have been complied with, shall be prima facie evidence of a compliance with such requirements.

Secs. 3842, 3843. Additional provisions.—[Other fire escapes, constructed according to specifications issued by the State department of inspection, must be provided on buildings of the classes named above if more than two stories in height, unless deemed by the fire chief to be unnecessary on account of adequate provisions already made. Escapes must be accessible, and trees, telegraph poles, signs, etc., must not interfere with the use of the same. Types of construction are established, but other types may be used if approved by the chief inspector. The location of escapes and of windows and doors giving access thereto is prescribed, and must be as far as possible from stairways, elevator shafts, etc.]

Protection of employees on buildings

Section 3862a. Dangerous occupations.—Every employer or person managing or conducting any business or work or plant in the State of Indiana of the character mentioned in this act is, for the purposes of this act, conducting a dangerous occupation at the time of such occurrence and subject to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 3862b. Flooring, staging, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation engaged in erecting or having erected any building or structure three stories or more in height to begin the erection of any floor or story above the second story or floor from the ground or excavation until a flooring, staging, or protection shall have been laid or placed on the second tier of beams or story from the excavation or ground level or to continue the erection or construction of such building more than two stories or tier of beams above such flooring or protection. Flooring, staging, or protection shall at all times be laid and maintained to within the second story or floor below where workmen are engaged, and in no instance shall workmen be employed more than twenty-five feet above any flooring, staging, or protection. Such floorings, staging, and protections shall be so constructed and of such strength as will prevent the falling of materials or injury to workmen. All persons engaged in work or labor on buildings and other structures shall be protected from falling materials from above them by adequate floorings, stagings, or other protections. It shall be the duty of owners, contractors, and subcontractors to see and require that the provisions of this act are complied with.

Sec. 3862c. Staging or scaffolding.—In the construction of any steel, iron, frame or other building having a clear story of twenty-five feet elevation, from the ground or excavation, a staging or scaffolding with closed plank flooring shall be placed under the whole extent of beams, girders, trusses or joists of such story upon which structural-iron workers, carpenters, masons, or other persons are working, and not more than ten feet below the under side of such beams, girders, trusses or joists. In erecting, constructing, or repairing any wall, chimney, smokestack, tower, cupola, bridge, framework, dome, arch, water pipe, standpipe, tank, pole, staff, coal bunker, roof, dwelling or structure of any kind whatever thirty feet or more in height, where there are no well-defined stories, sections, girders, joists, beams or trusses, crossing or intersecting the same where the employees are working, there shall be staging or scaffolding placed not more than ten feet below where the masons, carpenters, structural-iron workers, or other employees are working on such building, walls, or structures aforesaid, such staging or scaffolding shall be placed and maintained in such manner as to prevent the falling through of such employees or materials, and in such manner that workmen and others having a right to pass under or along or near such structure shall not be injured by the falling of any materials or any workmen. Whenever workmen are employed and are working on any such structures, and are using or working on any staging or scaffolding, swing, hammock or similar contrivance, it shall be the duty of the owner of such structure and all contractors, subcontractors, and employers to maintain, at all times that workmen are employed thereon, railings or other devices to make such staging, scaffolding, hammocks, or other devices safe, and if men are working over and above to keep and maintain a second scaffolding or other device above the one upon which such workmen are employed, so as to prevent any workman from being injured by falling objects from above.

SEC. 3862d. Inspection of appliances.—It is hereby made the duty of all owners, contractors, subcontractors, corporations, agents, or persons whatsoever engaged in the care, operation, management, construction, erection, repair, alteration, removal, painting, handling, or selling of any building, bridge, viaduct, shop, factory, or business of whatsoever kind, or in the erection, repair, or operation, or management of any machinery, mechanism, or contrivance, or in the transmission, generation, or use of any electricity or other power, or in the manufacture, operation, preparation, transportation, production, marketing, or use of any dangerous or other appliances, substance, commodity, or article, to see and require that all metal, wood, rope, chains, wires, elevators, gates, gutta-percha, minerals, chemicals, explosives, machinery, appliances, ways, works, plants, tools, all contrivances, and everything whatsoever used therein are carefully selected, inspected, and tested, so as to detect and exclude defects and dangerous conditions; and that all scaffolding, staging, hoists, elevators, false work, or temporary or permanent structures, machinery, appliances, tools, mechanisms, and all contrivances used are amply, adequately, and properly constructed to bear all weight and adapted to and perform the services and meet the requirements for which they are designed or used with safety; and that they are properly and safely used, operated, handled, and maintained, and that all staging and scaffolding more than 20 feet from the ground are made safe and secure from swaying and provided with safeguards so as to prevent the falling of workmen; and that all dangerous machinery, mechanism, contrivances, tools, hoists, elevators, and cars are securely fenced, guarded, covered, or otherwise protected with safety arrangements and appliances to the fullest extent possible that the operations of such machinery, hoists, elevators, and other devices and contrivances shall permit, and that all shafts, openings, wells, stairways, floor openings, and similar places or conditions of danger, are enclosed and protected, and that all hoists, machinery, or mechanism operated other than by hand power, are, when necessary for the safety of persons employed in or about the same, or for the safety of the general public, provided with a system of communication by means of signals or otherwise, so that at all times there may be prompt and efficient communications between the employees and other persons and the operator of the motive power, and that in the transmission and use of electricity of a dangerous voltage full and complete insulation shall be provided at all points where the public or any employees of the owner, contractor, or subcontractor, transmitting or using said electricity, are liable to come into contact with the wire or wires, and that dead wires are not mingled with live wires, nor to be strung upon the same support, and the arms or supports bearing live wires are especially designated and distinguished by a color or other designation which is instantly apparent, and that live electrical wires carrying a dangerous voltage are strung at such distance from the poles or supports as to permit repair men to freely engage in their work without danger of shock; and, generally, it shall be the duty of all owners, managers, operators, contractors, subcontractors, and all other persons having charge of, or responsible for, any work, mechanism, machinery, appliance, building, factory, plants, means, employment, or business of whatsoever nature, involving risk or danger to employees, or to the public, to use every device, care and precaution which it is practicable and possible to use for the protection and safety of life, limb, and health, limited only by the necessity for preserving the reasonable efficiency of such structure, ways, work, plant, building, factory, elevator, cars, engines, machinery, appliances, apparatus, or other devices or materials, without regard to additional cost of suitable materials or safety appliances, or safe conditions, or operations, the first concern being safety to life, limb and health.

SEC. 3862e. Violations.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars and not more than five hundred dollars for each violation thereof.

[The following act was made a supplement to the foregoing by chapter 167, Acts of 1919:]

SECTION 1. Enforcement of law.—From and after the passage of this act, it shall be and is hereby the duty of the building inspector of every city, if there be a building inspector, and if there be no building inspector then of the mayor, and of the township trustee of every township, the board of trustees of every town and the board of commissioners of every county, to inspect or have inspected any building, or anything attached thereto, located therein, or connected therewith, which is in the course of erection or repair as defined and set forth in the provisions of this act [secs. 3862a–3862e], to ascertain whether or not the provisions of this act have been, or are being complied with. If it appears upon such inspection that the building or anything attached thereto, or located therein, or connected therewith, is being constructed, erected, or repaired, contrary to and in violation of the provisions of this act or of the act to which this act is supplemental, such officer, so charged with the duty of inspecting said building, as aforesaid, shall order the same to be remedied and the provisions of this act complied with, and if such notification be not complied with within reasonable time, he shall prosecute whoever may be responsible for such delinquency and violation.

SEC. 2. Effect of act.—Nothing contained in the provisions of this act shall affect, amend, repeal, or alter in any way the present inspection or dangerous occupation laws of this State, except as herein set forth, but this act shall be deemed additional and supplemental thereto.

Boycotting

SECTION 3884. Combinations to boycott.—Any person, firm or association of persons who shall make any contract or enter into any agreement or make any combination or enter into any arrangement, directly or indirectly, to induce, procure or prevent any wholesale or retail dealer in or manufacturer of merchandise or of supplies or of material or article intended for trade or used by any mechanic, artisan or dealer in the prosecution of his business from selling such supplies to any dealer or to any mechanic or artisan; and any dealer in or manufacturer of such supplies or material or article of trade or supplies or material to be used by any mechanic, artisan or dealer who shall be a party, directly or indirectly, to any such contract, combination or arrangement, or who shall upon the request of any party to any such contract, combination or arrangement refuse to sell such articles of trade, supplies or materials, or articles sold by any dealer or used by any mechanic, or artisan, to any such person or persons who may require them in the prosecution of their said business, for the reason that said dealer, mechanic or artisan is not a member of a combination or association of persons, shall be guilty of conspiracy against trade. And all such contracts, agreements, combinations or arrangements shall be void and of no effect whatever in law.

SEC. 3885. Violations.—[Violations of the preceding section are punishable by a fine or not less than $50 nor more than $2,000, to which may be added imprisonment for any period not exceeding one year.]

SEC. 3886. Forfeiture.—Each and every person, firm, or association of persons who shall in any manner violate the provisions of this act shall, for each and every day that such violation shall be committed and continued after due notice given by the party interested [to the] attorney general or prosecuting attorney, forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars, which may be recovered in the name of the State on the relation of the party injured or on the relation of the prosecuting attorney in any county where the offense is committed or where the offender or offenders reside. And it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of any county to prosecute any such action, and he shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five dollars to be taxed against the defendant, in the event of recovery, as a part of the costs of said action. Any such action may be taken in any circuit or superior court of the county in which the defendant resides or in which he is engaged in business.

SEC. 3887. Damages.—Any person who shall by any such contract or combination as set out in section 1 of this act [sec. 3884], be injured or damaged in his business thereby, or by reason of anything forbidden or declared by this act to be unlawful, may maintain a suit therefor in any court having jurisdiction thereof in the county where the defendant resides or in which he is engaged in business, or in any county where service may be obtained, without respect to the amount in controversy, and the plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to recover all his costs and a reasonable attorney's fee therein.

Private employment offices

SECTION 7131a. License.—[License must be procured from the chief of bureau of statistics. No advertisement similar to name, "Indiana Public Free Employment Bureau" is permitted. All advertisements, etc., must contain the words, "Licensed employment agency." A bond of $1,000 is required, conditioned on compliance with law.]

Sec. 7131b. Fee.—[A license fee of $25 is required.]

Sec. 7131c. Registers, etc.—[Registers of applicants for positions and for employees must be kept. Monthly reports are to be made, showing also results of operations. Registers must always be open to inspection.]

Sec. 7131d (as amended 1921, ch. 108). Fees.—[Registration fee may not exceed 10 per cent of "first month's wage or portion thereof," for which receipt must be given, setting forth name, date, and character of work procured, fee to be returned on demand, if no position is procured; but if the employee abandons employment without cause, no return of fee can be demanded. No fee is allowed without bona fide order for employment or work. Teachers' agencies and professional bureaus are exempt from the provisions of this section, and approved charitable and benevolent organizations from the act, except that they must secure a permit.]

Secs. 7131e-7131h. Violations.—[Penalties are fixed for violations; fees paid to the State are to be used for public employment service.]

Sec. 7131g. Acts forbidden.—[Sending persons to places of bad repute, procuring discharges for purpose of securing positions for applicants, sending residents outside the State without bona fide order or guaranty of employment, or publishing false information or making false entries are forbidden. Violations are punishable by forfeiture of license.]

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments, executions, etc.

Section 7976 (as amended 1917, ch. 109). Amount.—[Where the property of an employer is seized on process of court or is assigned, debts of laborers and employees for work or labor during six months preceding, in an amount not exceeding $50 each, shall be preferred and shall first be paid in full, or pro rata if there be insufficient funds to pay in full after paying costs. The term "employees" includes traveling salesmen, traveling agents and manufacturers' agents.]

Hours of labor

Section 7977. Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of mechanics, workingmen and laborers, excepting those engaged in agricultural or domestic labor, but overwork for an extra compensation by agreement between employer and employee is hereby permitted.

This act applies only to laborers employed by the day, and is not applicable where the circumstances under which the employment is taken imply that more than eight hours' labor will be expected in a day. 5 Ind. App. 172.

Sec. 7978. Application of law.—This act shall apply to all persons, firms, corporations, companies or associations employing labor in this State, and to all mechanics, workingmen and laborers now, or hereafter employed by this State or any municipal corporation herein, through its agents, or officers, or in the employ of persons contracting with the State, or any municipal corporations thereof for performance of labor on the public works of this State, or such corporation.

Sec. 7979. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by a fine not greater than $500, and if the violator be an officer or agent of State, he shall, in addition, be removed from his position.]

Sec. 7980. Secret evasion.—Any party or parties contracting with this State, or any municipal corporation thereof, who shall fail to comply with, or secretly evade, the provisions hereof, by exacting and receiving more hours of labor than is herein fixed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not greater than five hundred dollars, and in addition thereto, in the option of the State or municipal corporation, forfeit such contract.

Payment of wages—Assignments

Section 7981. Who to pay weekly.—Every corporation, association, company, firm or person engaged in this State, in mining coal, ore or other mineral, or quarrying stone or in manufacturing iron, steel, lumber, staves, heading barrels, brick, tile, machinery, agricultural or mechanical implements, or any article of merchandise, shall pay each employee of such corporation, company, association, firm or person, if demanded, at least once every week, the amount due such employee for labor, and such payments shall be in lawful money of the United States, and any contract to the contrary shall be void.

SEC. 7982. Checks, etc., to be redeemable.—Any person, copartnership, corporation or association, or any member, agent or employee thereof, who shall publish, issue or circulate any check, card or other paper, which is not commercial paper payable at a fixed time in any bank in this State, at its full face value, in lawful money of the United States, with eight per cent interest, or by bank check or currency issued by authority of the United States Government, to any employee for such person, copartnership, corporation or association, in payment of any work or labor done by such emplyee, or in payment for any labor contracted to be done by such employee, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 7983. Price of merchandise.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, association, firm or person described in section one (1) [7981] of this act, or the officers and agents of such, to sell, directly or indirectly, to any employee of such corporation, association, firm or person, any merchandise or supplies at a higher price than such merchandise or supplies are sold by such corporation, company, association, firm or person to others for cash.

SEC. 7983a. Failure to pay wages.—Every corporation, company, association, firm or person who shall fail for ten days after demand of payment has been made to pay employees for their labor, in conformity with the provisions of this act, shall be liable to such employee for the full value of his labor, to which shall be added a penalty of one dollar for each succeeding day, not exceeding double the amount of wages due, and a reasonable attorney's fee, to be recovered in a civil actiou and collectible without relief.

SEC. 7983b. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100.]

SEC. 7983c. Construction of act.—This act shall not in any way affect the liens of laborers, as now secured to them by the laws of this State.

SEC. 7986. Fines.—It shall be unlawful for any employer to assess a fine on any pretext against any employee and retain the same or any part thereof from the wages of said employee at the time of payment fixed in this act, or at auy other time, and a change in the current rate of wages paid is prohibited without a written notice given to each employee so affected twenty-four hours before such change shall take place.

SEC. 7987. Assigning future wages.—The assignment of future wages, to become due to employees from persons, companies, corporations or associations affected by this act, is hereby prohibited, nor shall any agreement be valid that relieves said persons, companies, corporations or associations from the obligation to pay weekly, the full amount due, or to become due, to any employee in accordance with the provisions of this act: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be coustrued to prevent employers advancing money to their employees.

This is a constitutional provision. 65 N. E. 521.
An assignment of future earnings under a contract to make stated contributions to a relief fund is within the prohibition of this statute. 103 N. E. 360.

SEC. 7988. Violations.—[Violations of the two preceding sections entail a fine not exceediug $200.]

SEC. 7989. Enforcement.—It is hereby made the duty of the chief inspector and of the department of inspection to enforce the provisions of this act by the processes of the courts, and in the name of the State; and, upon their failure so to do, any citizen of the State is hereby authorized to do the same in the name of the State.

SEC. 7995. Assignments, scrip.—[Where wages, earned or unearned, are assigned or transferred and the assignee or transferee gives the employee a check, ticket or token, or an order for goods or other commodity, the same shall be at once due and payable in lawful money to the full amount of the wages assigned; if not paid on demand, collectible by suit, with reasonable attorney's fees.]

SEC. 8002. Procuring waiver as to payment of wages.—It shall be unlawful for any owner, corporation, association, company, firm or person engaged in mining coal, ore or other minerals or quarrying stone, or in manufacturing iron, steel, lumber, staves, heading, barrels, brick, tile, machinery, agricultural or mechanical implements or any article of merchandise, to directly or indirectly procure any person or persons to execute a contract or agreement to waive his or their legal right to demand of or receive from such owner, corporation, association, company, firm or person, at least once every two weeks, payment of the amount due such person or persons for labor performed, in lawful money of the United States.

This section is valid and within the power of the legislature. 121 Ind. 366.

SEC. 8003. Procuring contracts as to purchase of goods, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any owner, corporation, association, company, firm or person engaged in this State in mining coal, ore or other minerals or quarrying stone, or in manufacturing iron, steel, lumber, staves, heading, barrels, brick, tile, machinery, agricultural or mechanical implements, or any article of merchandise to directly or indirectly procure any person or persons to execute any contract or agreement by the terms of which such person or persons agree to purchase any article of merchandise, food, groceries or supplies of any particular person, corporation, association, firm or company, or any particular place, shop or store in this State.

SEC. 8004. Coercion to buy.—It shall be unlawful for any owner, manager, superintendent, operator, bank boss, agent or employer employed in any of the occupations described in section 1 of this bill [sec. 8002], to hold out any tokens or inducements, or make any threats or promises of reward, or in any other way by words or acts, to coerce any of their employees to buy any article of merchandise, food, groceries or supplies of any particular person, corporation, association, firm or company, or at any particular place, shop or store in this State.

SEC. 8005. Attempts to coerce.—It shall be unlawful for any owner, manager, superintendent, operator, bank boss, agent or employer to attempt by words or acts to coerce any of their employees to buy any article of merchandise, food, groceries or supplies of any particular person, corporation, association, firm or company, or at any particular place, shop or store in this State.

SEC. 8006. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine of not more than $200.]

Blacklisting, etc.

SECTION 8007. Preventing employee from obtaining employment.—If any person, agent, company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, shall prevent, or attempt to prevent, by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company or corporation, such person, agent or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, and such person, agent, company or corporation shall be liable in penal damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action; but this section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person or agent of any company or corporation from informing in writing any other person, company or corporation to whom such discharged person or employee has applied for employment, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge.

SEC. 8008. Blacklisting.—If any railway company or any other company or partnership or corporation in this State shall authorize, allow or permit any of its or their agents to blacklist any discharged employees, or attempt by words or writing, or any other means whatever, to prevent such discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left said company's service, from obtaining employment with any other person, or company, said company shall be liable to such employee in such sum as will fully compensate him, to which may be added exemplary damages.

The provision in the above section relative to employees who have voluntarily left service is void, not having been expressed in the title of the act as required by the State constitution. 69 N. E. 1003.

SEC. 8009. Statement of cause of discharge.—It shall be the duty of any person, agent, company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, upon demand by such discharged employee, to furnish him in writing a full, succinct and complete statement of the cause or causes of his discharge, and if such person, agent, company or corporation shall refuse so to do within a reasonable time after such demand, it shall ever after be unlawful for such person, agent, company or corporation to furnish any statement of the causes of such discharge to any person or corporation, or in any way to blacklist or to prevent such discharged person from procuring employment elsewhere, subject to the penalties prescribed in section 1 of this act [sec. 8007]: Provided, That said written cause of discharge, when so made by such person, agent, company or corporation at the request of such discharged employee shall never be used as the cause for an action for slander or libel, either civil or criminal, against the person, agent, company or corporation so furnishing the same.

Liability of railroad companies, etc., for injuries to employees

SECTION 8017. When liable.—Every railroad or other corporation, except municipal, operating in this State, shall be liable for damages for personal injury suffered by any employee while in its service, the employee so injured being in the exercise of due care and diligence, in the following cases:

First. When such injury is suffered by reason of any defect in the condition of ways, works, plant, tools, and machinery connected with or in use in the business of such corporation, when such defect was the result of negligence on the part of the corporation, or some person intrusted by it with the duty of keeping such way, works, plant, tools, or machinery in proper condition.

Second. Where such injury resulted from the negligence of any person in the service of such corporation, to whose order or direction the injured employee at the time of the injury was bound to conform, and did conform.

Third. Where such injury resulted from the act or omission of any person done or made in obedience to any rule, regulation or by-law of such corporation, or in obedience to the particular instructions given by any person delegated with the authority of the corporation in that behalf.

Fourth. Where such injury was caused by the negligence of any person in the service of such corporation who has charge of any signal, telegraph office, switch yard, shop, roundhouse, locomotive engine or train upon a railway, or where such injury was caused by the negligence of any person, coemployee or fellow-servant engaged in the same common service in any of the several departments of the service of any such corporation, the said person, coemployee or fellow-servant, at the time acting in the place, and performing the duty of the corporation in that behalf, and the person so injured, obeying or conforming to the order of some superior at the time of such injury, having authority to direct; but nothing herein shall be construed to abridge the liability of the corporation under existing laws.

This statute is unconstitutional except in its application to railroad corporations. 80 N. E. 529.

The law does not apply to electric railways. 72 N. E. 145.

Law held valid and applicable to electric railways. 80 N. E. 841.

This section does not relieve an employee from that caution and care of himself required by common law. 55 N. E. 440.

The common-law doctrine of the assumption of risk is operative in connection with this act except to the extent that is set forth in terms in the statute. 67 N. E. 986.

The employer can not plead assumption of risk when the injury complained of results from the negligence of the persons designated by the statute. 78 N. E. 1033.

The general liability fixed in subsection 2 is not nullified by the specific enumeration of persons in subsection 4. 153 Ind. 420.

A brakeman charged with the duty of opening and closing a switch for the passage of the train on which he is employed is not in charge of a switch yard so as to make the company liable for his negligence under subsection 4. 149 Ind. 167.

Violation by an engineer of a city ordinance regulating the speed of trains is such negligence as to make the company liable to an employee injured by such violation. 152 Ind. 345.

A locomotive engineer not acting under special orders, but engaged in the discharge of the regular duties of his employment, must be regarded as acting under the orders of some superior. 114 Fed. 918.

A machine capable of moving itself and the cars attached, but primarily constructed and used as a pile driver, is not a locomotive within the meaning of subsection 4. 67 N. E. 1057.

A resident of Illinois was injured in Indiana. Held by the supreme court of Illinois that he could recover under the above section in the courts of that State. 52 N. E. 951.

A workman put in temporary charge of other employees in the absence of the foreman does not by his negligent manner of laboring charge his employer with liability under this section. 152 Ind. 680.

One at work in a gas main by order of his superintendent, and injured by an explosion caused by the superintendent coming near with a lighted lantern could recover under this section. 54 N. E. 414.

A switch target moving automatically with the opening and closing of a switch is not a signal within the meaning of this section. Only signals complete within themselves, and not subsidiary parts of other devices, are meant. 83 N. E. 369.

SEC. 8018. Measure of damages.—The damages recoverable under this act, shall be commensurate with the injury sustained unless death results from such injury, when, in such case, the action shall survive and be governed in all respects by the law now in force as to such actions: Provided, That where any such person recovers a judgment against a railroad or other corporation, and such corporation takes an appeal, and, pending such appeal, the injured person dies, and the judgment rendered in the court below be thereafter reversed, the right of action of such person shall survive to his legal representative.

SEC. 8020. Contracts waiving rights.—All contracts made by railroads or other corporations with their employees, or rules or regulations adopted by any corporation releasing or relieving it from liability to any employee having a right of action under the provisions of this act are hereby declared null and void. The provisions of this act, however, shall not apply to any injuries sustained before it takes effect, nor shall it affect in any manner any suit or legal proceedings pending at the time it takes effect.

This section is constitutional. A contract releasing a company from liability on payment of a sum from its relief fund is void. 49 N. E. 582.

An agreement that the beneficiary of a relief fund will not also sue for damages is not forbidden by this section. 53 N. E. 290.

A contract with a relief department agreeing that the acceptance of benefits therefrom shall operate as a release of all claims against the railroad is nothing more than a contract for a choice between two modes of compensation, and is not a release within the meaning of the above section. Acceptance by a widow of such benefit will not bar her action as administratrix in behalf of her children. 152 Ind. 345.

The law of the place of accident and not of the company's main office determines a claimant's right to recover. 108 Fed. 320.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 8020a. Acts of fellow servants.—Any person, firm, or corporation while engaged in business, trade or commerce within this State, and employing in such business, trade, or commerce five or more persons shall be liable and respond in damages to any person suffering injury while in the employ of such person, firm, or corporation, or in case of the death of such employee, then to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and if none, then to such employee's parents; and if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee, where such injury or death resulted in whole or in part from the negligence of such employer or his, its or their agents, servants, employees, or officers, or by reason of any defect, mismanagement, or insufficiency, due to his, its or their carelessness, negligence, fault, or omission of duty.

SEC. 8020b. Burden of proof.—In any action prosecuted under the provisions of this act, the burden of proving that such injured or killed employee did not use due care and diligence at the time of such injury or death, shall be upon the defendant, but the same may be proved under the general denial. No such employee who may have been injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of negligence or contributory negligence by reason of the assumption of the risk thereof in any case where the violation by the employer or his, its, or their agents or employees, of any ordinance or statute enacted, or of any rule, regulation, or direction made by any public officer, bureau or commission, was the cause of the injury or death of such employee. In actions brought against any employer under the provisions of this act for the injury or death of any employee, it shall not be a defense that the dangers or hazards inherent or apparent in the employment in which such injured employee was engaged, contributed to such injury. No such injured employee shall be held to have been guilty of negligence or contributory negligence where the injury complained of resulted from such employee's obedience or conformity to any order or direction of the employer or of any employee to whose orders or directions he was under obligations to conform or obey, although such order or direction was a deviation from other rules, orders, or directions previously made by such employer.

SEC. 8020c. Assumption of risks.—In any action brought against any employer under or by virtue of this act to recover damages for injuries or the death of any of his, its, or their employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of the employment in any case where the violation of such employer or his, its, or their agents or employees of any ordinance or statute enacted, or of any rule, direction, or regulation made by any public officer or commission, contributed to the injury or death of such employee; nor shall such injured employee, be held to have assumed the risk of the employment where the injury complained of resulted from his obedience to any order or direction of the employer or of any employee to whose orders or directions he was under obligation to conform or obey although such order or direction was a deviation from other orders or directions or rules previously made by such employee. In any action brought against any employer under the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to or the death of, any of his, its, or their employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of any defect in the place of work furnished to such employee, or in the tool, implement, or appliance furnished him by such employer, where such defect was, prior to such injury, known to such employer or by the exercise of ordinary care might have been known to him in time to have repaired the same or to have discontinued the use of such defective working place, tool, implement, or appliance. The burden of proving that such employer did not know of such defect, or that he was not chargeable with knowledge thereof in time to have repaired the same or to have discontinued the use of such working place, tool, implement, or appliance, shall be on the defendant, but the same may be proved under the general denial.

SEC. 8020d. Damages.—The damages recoverable under this act shall be commensurate with the injuries sustained, and in case death results from such injury, the action shall survive: Provided, That where any such injured person recovers a judgment under the provisions of this act and an appeal is taken from such judgment, and pending such appeal, the injured person dies and said judgment be thereafter reversed; or where such injured person dies after said judgment is reversed and before trial, the right of action of such person shall survive to his or her personal representative, and such action may be continued in the name of such personal representative, for the benefit of the person entitled under this act to receive the same.

SEC. 8020e. Contracts of waiver.—Any contract, rule, regulation, by-law, or device whatsoever, the purpose, intent, or effect of which would be to enable any employer to exempt himself or itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such employer may set off therein by special plea any sum such employer has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for and on behalf of such injured employee that may have been paid to him or to the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action is brought, but in no event shall the amount of such set-off exceed the amount paid to such employee or other person entitled thereto out of such insurance, relief benefit or indemnity fund.

SEC. 8020f. Limit of liability.—Where any action is brought on account of the death of any person under this act, the liability of any such employer shall not exceed $10,000, and the provisions of the law now in force as to parties plaintiff shall apply.

SEC. 8020g. Questions for jury.—All questions of assumption of risk, negligence or contributory negligence shall be questions of fact for the jury to decide, unless the cause is being tried without a jury, in which case such questions shall be questions of fact for the court.

SEC. 8020h. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this act unless the same is commenced within two years from the date the cause of action accrued.

SEC. 8020i. Definitions.—The terms "employer," "persons," "firm," and "corporation" shall include receivers or other persons charged with the duty of managing, conducting or operating business, trade or commerce.

SEC. 8020j. Pending suits.—This act shall not apply to injuries received by any employee before the passage of the same nor affect any suit or legal proceedings pending in any court at the time of its passage.

SEC. 8020k. Construction of statute.—This act shall be construed as supplemental to all laws and parts of laws now in force concerning employers and employees, and shall repeal only such laws and parts of laws as are in direct conflict with the provisions of this act. Nothing in this act shall be held to limit the duty or liability of employers or to impair the rights of their employees under the common law or any other existing statute or to affect the prosecution of any pending proceeding or right of action now existing.

Employment of women and children—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 8021. Hours of labor of children.—No person under sixteen years of age, and no female under eighteen years of age, employed in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, laundry, renovating works, bakery or printing office, shall be required, permitted or suffered to work therein more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day, unless for the purpose of making a shorter day on the last day of the week; nor more hours in any one week than will make an average of ten hours per day for the whole number of days which such person or such female shall so work during such week; and every person, firm, corporation or company employing any person under sixteen years of age, or any female under eighteen years of age, in any establishment as aforesaid, shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room where such help is employed a printed notice stating the number of hours of labor per day required of such person for each day of the week, and the number of hours of labor exacted or permitted to be performed by such persons shall not exceed the number of hours of labor so posted as being required. The time of beginning and ending the day's labor shall be the time stated in such notice: Provided, That such female under eighteen and persons under sixteen years of age may begin after the time set for beginning and stop before the time set in such notice for the stopping of the day's labor, but they shall not be permitted or required to perform any labor before the time stated on the notices as the time for beginning the day's labor, nor after the time stated upon the notices as the hour of ending the day's labor.

Sec. 8023. Nightwork.—No person or corporation, or officer or agent thereof, shall employ any woman or female young person in any capacity for the purpose of manufacturing, between the hours of 10 o'clock at night and 6 o'clock in the morning.

Sec. 8024. Operating elevators.—No person, company, corporation or association shall employ or permit any young person to have the care, custody, management of or to operate any elevator.

Sec. 8025. Safety appliances for elevators, etc.—It shall be the duty of the owner or lessee of any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, laundry, renovating works, bakery, or printing office, where there is an elevator, hoisting shaft or wellhole, to cause the same to be properly and substantially inclosed or secured, if in the opinion of the chief inspector it is necessary, to protect the lives or limbs of those employed in such establishment. It shall also be the duty of the owner, agent, or lessee of each of such establishments to provide or cause to be provided, if in the opinion of the chief inspector, the safety of persons in or about the premises should require it, such proper trap or automatic doors so fastened in or at all elevator-ways as to form a substantial surface when closed, and so constructed as to open and close by the action of the elevator in its passage, either ascending or descending, but the requirements of this section shall not apply to passenger elevators that are closed on all sides. The chief inspector shall inspect the cables, gearing, or other apparatus of elevators in the establishments above enumerated and require that the same be kept in safe condition with proper safety devices whereby the cabs or cars will be securely held in event of accident to the cable or rope or hoisting machinery, or from any similar cause.

Until orders are received from the commissioner, failure to provide guards is not negligence. 82 N. E. 114.

Sec. 8026. Hand rails, etc., on stairways.—Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways in all establishments above enumerated, and where, in the opinion of the chief inspector it is necessary, the steps of said stairs in all such establishments shall be substantially covered with rubber, securely fastened thereon, for the better safety of persons employed in said establishments. The stairs shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom. All doors leading in or to such establishments aforesaid shall be so constructed as to open outwardly where practicable, and shall be neither locked, bolted, nor fastened during working hours.

Sec. 8027. Communication with engine room.—In every manufacturing or other establishment, where the machinery used is propelled by steam, communication shall be provided between each room where such machinery is placed and the room where the engineer is stationed, by means of speaking tubes, electric bells, or appliances that may control the motive power, or such other means as shall be satisfactory to the chief inspector: Provided, That in the opinion of the inspector such communication is necessary.

Sec. 8028. Accidents.—It shall be the duty of the owner, agent, superintendent, or other person having charge of any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, mine, quarry, laundry, renovating works, bakery or printing office within this State, or of any floor or part thereof, to report in writing to the chief inspector all accidents or injury done to any person in such premises within forty-eight hours of the time of the accident, stating as fully as possible the extent and cause of such injury, and the place where the injured person is sent, with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the chief inspector. The chief inspector is hereby authorized and empowered to fully investigate the causes of such accident, and to require such reasonable precautions to be taken as will, in his judgment, prevent the recurrence of similar accidents.

Sec. 8029. Guards, etc., for machinery.—It shall be the duty of the owner of any aforesaid establishment, or his agent, superintendent or other person in charge of the same, to furnish and supply, or cause to be furnished and supplied therein, in the discretion of the chief inspector, where machinery is used, belt shifters or other safe mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys; and whenever possible, machinery therein shall be provided with loose pulleys; all vats, pans, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws and machinery of every description therein shall be properly guarded, and no person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to any planer, saw, belting, shafting or other machinery, or around any vat or pan, while the same is in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards shall be promptly replaced. By attaching thereto a notice to that effect, the use of any machinery may be prohibited by the chief inspector should such machinery be regarded as dangerous. Such notice must be signed by the chief inspector, and shall only be removed after the required safeguards are provided, and the unsafe or dangerous machine shall not be used in the meantime. Exhaust fans of sufficient power shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off dust from emery wheels and grindstones and dust-creating machinery from establishments where used. No person under sixteen years of age, and no female under eighteen years of age, shall be allowed to clean machinery while in motion.

The duty to provide guards is put upon the employer by the statute, and is not dependent on the request of the employee to have the machine guarded. 69 N. E. 1033.
The servant does not assume the risk of the master's negligent disregard of his statutory duty, even though he is aware of it. 73 N. E. 899.
Failure to provide statutory guards is negligence per se. 84 N. E. 549. But not as to machinery whose use without guards is not dangerous. 88 N. E. 69.

Sec. 8030. Toilets; wash rooms; seats.—[Separate wash rooms and toilets must be provided for each sex. A dressing room shall be provided for female employees. Seats must be provided for female employees at their work for their use when not actively engaged.]

Sec. 8031. Time for meals.—Not less than sixty minutes shall be allowed for the noonday meal in any aforesaid establishment in this State. The chief inspector shall have the power to issue written permits in special cases, allowing shorter mealtime at noon, and such permit must be conspicuously posted in the main entrance of the establishment, and such permit may be revoked at any time the chief inspector deems necessary, and shall only be given where good cause can be shown.

Sec. 8032. Walls to be limewashed, etc.—The walls and ceilings of each room in every establishment aforesaid, shall be limewashed or painted, when in the opinion of the chief inspector it shall be conducive to the health or cleanliness of the persons working therein.

Sec. 8033. Inspection.—The chief inspector, or other competent person designated for such purpose by the chief inspector, shall inspect any building used as aforesaid, or anything attached thereto, located therein, or connected therewith which has been represented to be unsafe or dangerous to life or limb. If it appears upon such inspection that the building or anything attached thereto, located therein, or connected therewith, is unsafe or dangerous to life or limb, the chief inspector shall order the same to be removed or rendered safe and secure, and if such notification be not complied with within a reasonable time, he shall prosecute whoever may be responsible for such delinquency.

Sec. 8034. Sweat shops.—No room or rooms, apartment or apartments in any tenement or dwelling house shall be used for the manufacture of coats vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, furs, fur trimmings, fur garments, shirts, purses, feathers, artificial flowers or cigars, for sale, excepting by the immediate members of the family living therein. No person, firm or corporation, shall hire or employ any person to work in any one room or rooms, apartment or apartments, in any tenement or dwelling house, or building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house at making, in whole, or in part, any vests, coats, trousers, knee pants, fur, fur trimmings, shirts, purses, feathers, artificial flowers or cigars, for sale, without obtaining first a written permit from the chief inspector, which permit may be revoked at any time the health of the community, or of those employed therein, may require it, and which permit shall not be granted until an inspection of such premises is made by the chief inspector or a deputy inspector, and the maximum number of persons allowed to be employed therein shall be stated in such permit. Such permit shall be framed and posted in a conspicuous place in the room, or in any one of the rooms to which it relates.

Sec. 8035. Air space.—No less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space shall be allowed for each person in any workroom where persons are employed during the hours between six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening, and not less than four hundred cubic feet of air space shall be provided for each person in any workroom where persons are employed between six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning. By a written permit the chief inspector may allow persons to be employed in a room where there are less than four hundred cubic feet, but not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space for each person employed between six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning: Provided, Such room is lighted by electricity at all times during such hours while persons are employed therein. There shall be sufficient means of ventilation provided in each workroom of every manufacturing or mercantile establishment, laundry, renovating works, bakery or printing office within this State, and the chief inspector shall notify the owner in writing to provide, or cause to be provided, ample and proper means of ventilation for such workroom, and shall prosecute such owner, agent or lessee if such notification be not complied with within twenty days of the service of such notice.

Sec. 8036. Discrimination in employment.—Proprietors, agents or managers of any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, mine or quarry, laundry, renovating works, bakery or printing office, are prohibited from discriminating against any person or persons, or class of labor seeking work, by posting notices or otherwise.

Sec. 8037. Notaries' fees.—It shall be unlawful for notaries public and other officers to receive more than ten cents for the preparing and certifying to a "certificate of parent or guardian," provided for in this act.

Sec. 8038. Definitions.—The language used in this act shall be interpreted to have the following meaning: The word "person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, company or association. The word "child" means a person under the age of fourteen years. The words "young person" means a person of the age of fourteen years and under the age of eighteen years. The word "woman" means a female of the age of eighteen years and upwards. The words "manufacturing or mercantile establishment, mine, quarry, laundry, renovating works, bakery or printing office" means any mill, factory, workshop, store, place of trade, or other establishment where goods, wares or merchandise are manufactured or offered for sale, or any mine or quarry where coal and stone are mined and quarried for the market, and persons are employed for hire.

A street railway repair shop is included. 77 N. E. 372.

Sec. 8039. Inspectors to be appointed.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act a department of inspection is hereby created, and the governor shall, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint a chief inspector to have charge of said department. Said inspector shall hold and continue in office after the expiration of his term of office until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. The term of office of the chief inspector shall be for four years. The annual salary of such chief inspector shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1,800) and actual expenses when absent from home in the discharge of his official duties. Said chief inspector shall, by and with the consent of the governor, appoint a sufficient number of deputies to enforce the provisions of this act, not to exceed five (5), one of which shall be a chief deputy inspector, whose salary shall be one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per annum and actual expenses when absent from home in the discharge of his official duties. The salaries of such other deputies as may be appointed shall be one thousand dollars ($1,000) each per annum and actual expenses when absent from home in the discharge of their official duties. But said actual expenses for the department of inspection shall in no year exceed the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000), and the duties of the deputy inspectors shall be such as shall be assigned them by the chief inspector. Said chief inspector shall also employ a stenographer at a salary not to exceed six hundred dollars ($600) per annum. The salary and actual expenses of said deputy inspectors and stenographer shall be paid monthly as due, on voucher duly attested before some officer authorized to administer oaths, and approved and signed by the chief inspector, and the salary and actual expenses of the chief inspector shall be paid in monthly installments, out of the treasury of the State, upon warrants of the auditor of state, and the total annual appropriations of ten thousand nine hundred dollars ($10,900) for such payments aforesaid is hereby made out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided, That the auditor of state shall issue no warrant, except upon itemized bills, sworn to, and presented by the chief inspector provided for in this act.

SEC. 8041. Record, reports, etc.—The chief inspector shall keep a record of all inspections and examinations made by his department and copies of all notices and orders made by him, and at the close of his term of office transfer the books containing the same to his successor. He shall make an annual report of his doings as such inspector to the governor at the close of each fiscal year and cause the same to be printed, at the expense of the State, not later than the first day of January next ensuing, in such numbers as the governor may approve. Such inspector and deputy inspectors shall have power as notaries public to administer oaths and take affidavits in matters connected with the enforcement of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 8042. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the chief inspector to cause this act to be enforced and to cause all violators of the same to be prosecuted, and for that purpose he is empowered to visit and inspect at all reasonable hours, and as often as shall be practicable and necessary, all manufacturing or other establishments to which this bill relates. It shall be the duty of the chief inspector to examine into all violations of laws made for the benefit or protection of labor and to prosecute all violations thereof. It shall be unlawful for any person to interfere with, obstruct, or hinder said chief inspector or deputy inspectors while in the performance of his or their duties, or to refuse to properly answer questions asked by him or them with reference to any of the provisions hereof.

SEC. 8043. Furnishing blanks, etc.—It shall be the duty of the chief inspector to supply all blanks necessary to make reports to his office, as required in this act, and be furnished copies of this act, which shall be conspicuously posted or hung, and kept posted or hung, in each workroom of every manufacturing or other establishment to which it relates, in the State, by the proprietor or occupant thereof.

SEC. 8044. Prosecuting attorney.—The prosecuting attorney of any county of this State is hereby required upon request of the chief inspector, or of any other person of full age, to commence and prosecute to a termination before any court of competent jurisdiction, in the name of the State, actions or proceedings against any person or persons reported to him to have violated the provisions of this act.

SEC. 8045. Violation.—[Violations of this act are punishable by a fine of not more than $50 for the first offense and not more than $100 for the second offense, to which may be added imprisonment of not more than ten days, and for the third offense a fine of not less than $250 and not more than thirty days in jail.]

SEC. 8046. Appeals.—Any person, company, corporation, or association aggrieved by any order of the chief inspector may appeal to the circuit court in the county where the person, firm, or corporation owns, leases, or occupies the factory or buildings in relation to which said order relates, within ten days after notice of such order shall have been given. Said appeal shall operate as a supersedeas, shall be made in writing, and contain a brief statement of the facts and reasons for such appeal and a citation for the chief inspector to appear before said court, and said court or any judge thereof may direct the time of appearance and manner of service. Said court may review the doings of the chief inspector, may examine the questions in issue, and may confirm, change, or set aside the doings of the chief inspector, in this particular case, and may make such orders in the premises, including orders as to costs, as it may find to be proper and equitable.

SEC. 8047. Counsel, fees, etc.—In case of an appeal from any order of the chief inspector the prosecuting attorney of the circuit court shall appear as counsel for the State to sustain and defend such orders, and in case such order be sustained on such appeal a fee of twenty-five dollars shall be taxed against the appellant as the prosecuting attorney's fee, which fee shall be taxed as costs in the case.

Bureau of statistics

[This office was abolished by chapter 79, Acts of 1917. However, its duties were continued, and devolved upon the industrial board, which was created by chapter 106, Acts of 1915. The law prescribing the duties, etc., of the bureau is reproduced below.]

SECTION 9341. Duties.—The duties of said bureau shall be to collect, systematize, tabulate, and present in annual reports, as hereinafter provided, statistical information and details relating to agriculture, manufacturing, mining, commerce, education, labor, social and sanitary conditions, vital statistics, marriages and deaths, and to the permanent prosperity of the productive industry of the people of the State.

SEC. 9347. Statistics of labor.—In addition to the other duties now imposed by law on the chief of the Indiana Bureau of Statistics, he shall collect, compile, and systematize statistics, with reference to the subject of labor in its social, educational, industrial, and general condition, wages and treatment of all classes of our working people, to the end that the effects of the same upon the permanent prosperity and productive industry may be shown, and shall report to the legislature, in convenient form, the results of his investigation.

SEC. 9348. Reports, etc.—The duties of such bureau shall be to collect * * * assort, systematize, print, and present in biennial reports to the legislature statistical details relating to all departments of labor in this State, including the penal institutions thereof, particularly concerning the hours of labor, the number of laborers and mechanics employed, the number of apprentices in each trade, with the nativity of such laborers, mechanics, and apprentices, wages earned, savings from the same, the culture, moral, and mental, with age and sex of person employed, the number and character of accidents, the sanitary condition of institutions where labor is employed, as well as the influence of the several kinds of labor, and the use of intoxicating liquors upon the health and mental condition of the laborers, the restrictions, if any, which are put upon apprentices when indentured, the proportion of married laborers and mechanics who live in rented houses, with the average annual rental of the same, the average number of members in the families of married laborers and mechanics, the value of property owned by laborers or mechanics (if foreign born) upon their arrival in this country, and the length of time they have resided here, the subjects of cooperation, strikes, or other labor difficulties, trades-unions, and other labor organizations, and their effects upon labor and capital, with such other matter relating to the commercial, industrial, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes and permanent prosperity of the respective industries of the State, as such bureau may be able to gather, accompanied by such recommendations relating thereto as the bureau may deem proper.

SEC. 9349. Power of chief.—The chief or duly authorized deputy shall have power to examine witnesses under oath, to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers while acting in any part of this State, and witnesses may be summoned by said chief or authorized deputy thereof by its process, in the same manner administer oaths and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties herein required of said bureau.

SEC. 9350. Refusing to answer questions.—Any county, municipal, or township officer, corporation, firm, individual, or association doing business within this State, who shall neglect or refuse for thirty days to answer questions by circular or upon personal application, or who shall refuse to obey the summons and give testimony according to the provisions of this act [secs. 9347 to 9350, inclusive], shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, to be collected by the order of the chief of said bureau of statistics in an action wherein the State of Indiana shall be plaintiff.

SEC. 9355. Information to be furnished.—It shall be the duty of the several city, incorporated town, county, and township assessors, trustees, officers of school boards, and boards of health, in their respective cities, towns, counties, and townships; the agents or superintendents of all manufacturing, mining, and mechanical establishments; the managers and superintendents of all corporations, manufacturing, mechanical, and transportation companies and associations; and county superintendents of schools—to make reports and answer questions relating to the duties of said bureau, upon such blanks as may be furnished to them for such purposes by said bureau. And the chief of said department shall have power to administer oaths, and to examine witnesses, under oath, on questions relating to production, manufacturing, mining, transportation, labor, wages, savings, and respecting such other matters as relate to the duties of said bureau.

SEC. 9357. Penalty.—Any person or persons authorized by the bureau to collect statistics, or to answer questions relating thereto, who shall neglect or refuse to make true returns, as provided for in this act, shall forfeit and pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars.

Accidents to employees of public utilities

SECTIONS 10052a, 10052t4. Reports.—[Street and interurban railways, telegraph and telephone companies, heat, light, water and power companies and companies furnishing public elevator or warehouse service must report to the public service commission every accident occasioning loss of life upon their premises within the State. The commission may investigate the accident if it deems the public interest requires it, giving to the public utility due notice of the time and place of the investigation.]

Inspection of vessels

SECTIONS 10477–10482. Inspections required.—[Annual inspections must be made of the boiler, engine and machinery of every steamboat, naphtha or gas engine launch used for carrying passenger, freight or merchandise for hire on the inland waters of the State. Inspectors must have certificates of authority from the State factory inspector, and must report inspections to him for filing in his office. Certificates of inspection and a commission to operate must be issued and kept posted on the boat. If unsafe, notice must be posted until repairs are made.]

ACTS OF 1915

CHAPTER 51.—Termination of employment—Service letter

SECTION 1. Letter to be given.—Whenever any employee of any person, firm or corporation doing business in this State shall be discharged or voluntarily quits the service of such person, firm or corporation it shall be the duty of such person, firm or the officer of the corporation having jurisdiction over such employee upon written request of such employee, to issue such employee a letter duly signed by such person, firm or officer setting forth the nature and character of service rendered by such employee and the duration thereof, and truly stating for what cause, if any, such employee has quit or been discharged from such service: Provided, That this section shall not apply to any person, firm or corporation which does not require written recommendations or written applications showing qualifications or experience for employment.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine, $100 to $500.]

CHAPTER 106.—Industrial board

SECTION 50 (as amended 1919, ch. 57). Creation.—There is hereby created the industrial board of Indiana, which shall consist of five members, two of whom shall be attorneys, and not more than three of whom shall be of the same political party, appointed by the governor, one of whom he shall designate as chairman.

The chairman of said board shall be an attorney of recognized qualifications.

Each member of the board shall hold his office for four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless removed by the governor, except that the three present members of said board shall continue to serve for and during the terms for which they have been appointed, unless removed as hereinafter provided, and of the two additional members hereby provided for, one shall be appointed for two years and one for four years. Thereafter, upon the expiration of the term of any member, the governor shall appoint his successor for the full term of four years.

Each member of the board shall devote his entire time to the discharge of the duties of his office and shall not hold any other position of trust or profit or engage in any occupation or business interfering with or inconsistent with the discharge of his duties as such member.

Any member of said board may be removed by the governor at any time for incompetency, neglect of duty, misconduct in office or other good cause, to be stated in writing in the order of removal.

In case of a vacancy in the membership of said board, the governor shall appoint for the unexpired term.

SEC. 51 (as amended 1919, ch. 57). Salaries.—The annual salary of each member of the board shall be four thousand dollars.

The board may appoint a secretary at a salary of not more than twenty-five hundred dollars a year and may remove him. The secretary shall have the authority to administer oaths and issue subpœnas.

The board, subject to the approval of the governor, may employ and fix the compensation of such clerical and other assistants as it may deem necessary. The clerical and other assistants shall be employed with special reference to their qualifications for the discharge of the duties assigned to them, and without regard to their political affiliations, except that not more than sixty per cent of such employees shall be of the same political party: Provided, That none of the present employees shall be discharged merely to establish such political proportion.

The members of the board and its assistants shall be entitled to receive from the State their actual and necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the board, but such expenses shall be sworn to by the person who incurred the same and shall be approved by the chairman of the board before payment is made.

All salaries and expenses of the board shall be audited and paid out of the State treasury in the manner prescribed for similar expenses in other departments or branches of the State service.

SEC. 52. Transfer of powers.—The rights, powers, and duties conferred by law upon the State bureau of inspection of the State of Indiana are hereby continued in full force and are hereby transferred to the industrial board hereby created and shall be held and exercised by them under the laws heretofore in force and the said State bureau of inspection is hereby abolished. The present chief inspector of said State bureau of inspection is hereby made a member of said industrial board until the expiration of one year from the date of the taking effect of this act and until his successor is appointed and qualified. The deputy inspectors heretofore appointed by the governor as deputy inspectors in said State bureau of inspection, to wit: Inspector of buildings, factories, and workshops, inspector of boilers, and inspector of mines and mining, together with their assistant inspectors, are hereby continued in their respective offices, at their present salaries, until the expiration of the terms for which they are respectively appointed and until their successors are appointed and qualified, and each of them respectively shall have and perform all the rights, powers, and duties now held and performed by each of them, respectively, together with such other rights, powers, and duties as may be prescribed by said industrial board. Upon the termination of the said terms of office for which said deputy inspectors have been appointed, said industrial board, with the concurrence of the governor, shall appoint their successors to serve during the pleasure of said industrial board.

SEC. 54. Offices.—The board shall be provided with adequate offices in the capitol or some other suitable building in the city of Indianapolis, in which the records shall be kept and its official business be transacted during regular business hours; it shall also be provided with necessary office furniture, stationery, and other supplies.

The board or any member thereof may hold sessions at any place within the State as may be deemed necessary.

CHAPTER 111.—Inspection of steam boilers

SECTION 1. Equipment required.—It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation owning or using or causing to be used any steam boiler for generating steam to be applied to machinery, or for steaming and heating purposes in all industrial institutions subject to inspection by the State bureau of inspection, to provide them with a full complement of gauge cocks, some visible means of indicating the water level, one steam gauge, one fusible plug properly inserted, one or more safety valves, all to be kept in good working order (the area of said valve, if known as pop valve, shall be in the ratio of one (1) square inch of area to three (3) square feet of grate surface), a lever and ball safety valve in the ratio of one (1) square inch of area to two (2) square feet of grate surface.

SEC. 2. Inspections.—[Inspections must be made semiannually and certificates issued.]

SEC. 3. Gauges, etc.—[Steam gauges must be in boiler house, also convenient to engineer if in another room or more than 40 feet from the boiler gauge. Safety valves are to be loaded only as allowed by inspector's certificate.]

SEC. 4. Frequency of inspections.—[Apparatus used for power or under pressure must be inspected internally every six months, heating apparatus annually. Cast-iron boilers may not carry over 25 pounds pressure.]

SECS. 5, 6. Insurance; certificates.—[Insurance companies making inspections must report in 14 days. If insurance is canceled, reason must be given. If inspector finds boiler safe he issues certificate; if not, owner is notified, and use forbidden. If owner disagrees, an appeal lies to the deputy inspector.]

SEC. 7. Duty of owner.—[Owners must prepare for inspection by cooling and cleaning the boiler and removing manhead or handhold plates.]

SECS. 8–29. Construction, etc.—[Detailed and technical provisions cover the construction, installation, equipment, permissible pressure, etc., of boilers subsequent to passage of the act.]

SEC. 30. Enforcement.—[County attorneys are to aid the State labor officials in the enforcement of this act.]

CHAPTER 118.—Arbitration and conciliation of labor disputes

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—The provisions of this act shall apply to all controversies arising between an employer or employers and employees engaged in any kind of business within the State of Indiana where more than fifty (50) employees are involved.

SEC. 2. Board to be appointed.—Whenever any controversy arises between an employer or employers and employees as provided in this act which threatens the public welfare and convenience, the governor may, upon his own motion or upon application as provided in section three (3), appoint a board of mediation and conciliation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act with respect to such controversy. The board of mediation and conciliation in any such case shall consist of three (3) members which three members of said board shall be appointed by the governor of the State of Indiana. But no member shall be appointed to such board if he is directly interested in the business of the employer or is an employee of such employer. The secretary of state shall be the secretary of any such board so created and shall keep a permanent record of all proceedings of such board and of the boards of arbitration provided for in this act, and the same shall be open for public inspection at his office. The members of a board of mediation and conciliation when appointed, shall receive ten dollars ($10) per day for each day actually employed and all necessary traveling and hotel expenses while engaged in the performance of their duties: Provided, however, That the secretary of state shall not receive compensation for acting as secretary of the said board. Such board may also employ clerical assistants, in carrying out the provisions of this act. A board of mediation and conciliation when appointed shall be provided with suitable quarters in the statehouse whenever required for their work.

SEC. 3. Applications by parties.—Whenever a controversy concerning wages, hours of labor or conditions of employment shall arise between an employer or employers and their employees subject to this act, interrupting or threatening to interrupt the business in which such employer or employers and employees are engaged to the detriment of the public interest, either party to such controversy may apply to the governor for the appointment of a board of mediation and conciliation for the purpose of bringing about an amicable adjustment of the controversy, stipulating in such application that they are willing to resume or continue work pending the action of the board. The governor may, in his discretion, appoint such board and the board when appointed shall with all practicable expedition put itself in communication with the parties to such controversy and shall use its best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to bring them to an agreement; and if such efforts to bring about an amicable adjustment through mediation and conciliation shall be unsuccessful, the said board shall at once endeavor to induce the parties to submit their controversy to arbitration in accordance with the provisions of this act. In any case in which a controversy arises over the meaning or the application of any agreement reached through mediation under the provisions of this act either party to the agreement may apply to the board of mediation and conciliation for an interpretation of such agreement and the board may be reconvened by the governor for the purpose and shall give its opinion as soon as may be practicable. Such application shall be signed by duly accredited representatives of the employer or employers and of the employees, and in the case of the employees, such representative may be the officers of a labor organization representing a majority of the employees, or a committee duly selected by the employees.

SEC. 4. Investigations.—Whenever any controversy shall arise between an employer or employers and employees and the board of mediation and conciliation, appointed by the governor for the purpose, shall be unable to induce the parties to such controversy to submit their differences to a board of arbitration, as provided in this act, it shall be the duty of such board of mediation and conciliation to immediately make an investigation of the cause and circumstances of the controversy. Said board shall have power in making such investigation to compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books and papers pertinent to the investigation. The board shall publish their findings in the controversy and file the same with the governor and cause certified copies thereof to be served upon the representatives of the parties to the controversy.

SEC. 5. Arbitration.—Whenever a controversy shall arise between an employer or employers and employees which can not be settled through mediation and conciliation in the manner provided in this act, such controversy may be submitted to the arbitration of a board of three (3) members, which three members of said board shall be appointed by the governor of the State of Indiana. No member of such board shall be directly interested in the business of the employer or employers or an employee of such employer or employers.

SEC. 6. Agreements.—The agreement to arbitrate—

First. Shall be in writing;

Second. Shall be signed by duly accredited representatives of the employer or employers and of the employees; and in the case of the employees such representatives may be the officers of a labor organization representing a majority of the employees or a committee selected by the employees.

Third. Shall state specifically the question to be submitted to the said board for decision.

Fourth. Shall stipulate that a majority of said board shall be competent to make a valid and binding award;

Fifth. Shall fix a period from the date of the appointment of the arbitrators necessary to complete the board, as provided for in the agreement, within which the said board shall commence its hearings:

Sixth. Shall fix a period from the beginning of the hearing within which the said board shall make and file its award: Provided, That this period shall be thirty (30) days unless a different period be agreed to.

Seventh. Shall provide for the date from which the award shall become effective and shall fix the period during which the said award shall continue in force.

Eighth. Shall provide that the parties shall agree to resume work until the award is given and that they will each faithfully execute the award.

Ninth. Shall provide that the award and the papers and proceedings, including the testimony relating thereto, certified under the hands of the arbitrators, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the county wherein the controversy arises or the arbitration is entered into, and shall be final and conclusive upon the parties to the agreement.

Tenth. May also provide that any difference arising as to the meaning or the application of the provisions of an award made by a board of arbitration shall be referred back to the same board or to a subcommittee of such board for a ruling, which ruling shall have the same force and effect as the original award; and if any member of the original board is unable or unwilling to serve, another arbitrator shall be named in the same manner as such original member was named.

SEC. 7. Powers of arbitrators.—For the purposes of this act the arbitrators herein provided for, or either of them, shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, issue subpœnas, require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of such books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents material to a just determination of the matters under investigation as may be ordered by the arbitration board and may invoke the aid of any court to compel witnesses to attend and testify and to produce such books, papers, contracts, agreements, and documents as the arbitrators may desire.

SEC. 8. Procedure.—Every agreement of arbitration under this act shall be acknowledged by the parties thereto before a notary public or other person authorized to take acknowledgments and when so acknowledged shall be delivered to the board of mediation or conciliation or transmitted to the board to be filed in the office of the secretary of the board.

If the parties to an arbitration desire the reconvening of a board of arbitration to pass upon any controversy arising over the meaning or application of an award, they shall jointly so notify the governor in writing, and shall state in such written notice the question or questions to be submitted to such reconvened board. The governor shall thereupon promptly communicate with the members of the board of arbitration, or a subcommittee of such board if any appointed for such purpose pursuant to the provisions of the agreement of arbitration, and arrange for the reconvening of said board or subcommittee, and shall notify the respective parties to the controversy of the time and place at which the board will meet for hearings upon the matters in controversy to be submitted to it.

SEC. 9. Organization.—The board of arbitration shall organize and select its own chairman and make all necessary rules for conducting its hearings; but in its award or awards the said board shall confine itself to findings or recommendations as to the questions specifically submitted to it or matters directly bearing thereon. All testimony before said board shall be given under oath or affirmation. The board of arbitration may employ such assistants as may be necessary in carrying on its work. The board of arbitration shall furnish a certified copy of its awards to the respective parties to the controversy, and shall transmit the original, together with the papers and proceedings and a transcript of the testimony taken at the hearings, certified under the hands of the arbitrators, to the board of mediation and conciliation, and a copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court in the county wherein the award was made. Findings of any board of mediation and conciliation and any board of arbitration shall be competent evidence in any court of the State in any matter growing out of the controversy but may be controverted by the party against whom it is introduced: Provided, however, That in case any arbitration agreement or labor contract has been entered into between any such employer and such employees or a majority thereof, which provides for the arbitration of any matter by the public service commission of Indiana or members thereof, such commission or members thereof, shall continue to act as a board of arbitration for all such matters as so agreed upon by the parties thereto.

SEC. 10. Appropriation.—The sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500) annually, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to carry out the purposes of this act. * * *

CHAPTER 39.—Factory, etc., regulations—Gas masks

SECTION 1. Masks to be furnished.—Whenever, in the course of their duties or employment, workmen are required to carry on their work in any inclosed room, apartment, building, basement, or other structure, or other inclosure, not wholly in the open air, in which inclosure there may be accumulations of dangerous, noxious, or deleterious gases, it shall be the duty of the person, firm, or corporation for whom such work is being performed to supply such workmen with serviceable gas masks to be worn while such work is being performed.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $50 to $500. The industrial board shall execute and administer the provisions hereof.]

CHAPTER 192—Free public employment offices

[Sections 1–3 relate to the formation of an employment commission. This was abolished by ch. 3, Acts of 1920, and its powers and duties conferred upon the industrial board.]

SECTION 4. Employment commission.—It shall be the duty of the employment commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority

SEC. 4. (a) Establish offices, duties.—To establish and conduct free employment offices in the State where in the opinion of the commission such action may be deemed advisable and expedient to public welfare; to do all in its power within the limitations of this act to bring together employers seeking employees and applicants for employment seeking employers; to make known the opportunities for self-employment in the State; to devise and adopt the most efficient means within its power to avoid unemployment; to provide employment and to prevent distress from involuntary idleness, and to extend vocational guidance to minors seeking employment.

SEC. 4. (b) Establish sections.—To establish and maintain such sections of the employment service as will best serve the public welfare and which shall include—

1. Men's section.
2. Woman's section.
3. Farm labor section.
4. Soldiers' and sailors' section, whose duties shall include complete cooperation with the Federal Board for Vocational Education, division for rehabilitation of crippled soldiers and sailors in endeavoring to secure suitable employment and fair treatment of the veterans of the World War.
5. Junior section, whose duties and authority shall include: Jurisdiction over all matters contemplated in this act pertaining to securing employment for all minors who avail themselves of the free employment service; so to conduct its affairs that at all times it shall be in harmony with laws relating to child labor and compulsory education; to aid in inducing minors over sixteen, who can not or do not for various reasons attend day school, to undertake promising skilled employment; to aid in influencing minors who do not come within the purview of compulsory education laws and who do not attend day school to avail themselves of continuation or special courses in existing night schools, vocational schools, part-time schools, trade schools, business schools, vestibule schools, library schools, university extension courses, etc., so as to become more skilled in such occupations or vocations to which they are respectively inclined or adapted; to aid in securing vacational employment on farms for town and city boys who are interested in agricultural work and particularly town and city high school boys who include agriculture as an elective study; to cooperate with various social agencies, schools, etc., in group organization of employed minors, particularly those of foreign parentage, in order to promote the development of real, practical Americanism in a broader knowledge of the duties of citizenship; to investigate methods of vocational rehabilitation of boys and girls who are maimed or crippled, and to provide ways and means, subject to the approval of the commission, for minimizing such handicap.

SEC. 4. (c) Advertising.—To advertise in the columns of the newspapers or other media, for such situations as it has applicants to fill, and to advertise in a general way for the cooperation of large contractors and employers in such trade journals or special publications as reach such employers, whether such trade or special journals are published within the State of Indiana or not; to collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction; to investigate economic developments and the extent and causes of unemployment and remedies therefor within and without the State, with the view of preparing for the information of the general assembly such facts as in its opinion may make further legislation desirable.

SEC. 4. (d) Local offices.—To enter an agreement with the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township, or school corporation in the State for such period of time as may be deemed desirable for the purpose of establishing and maintaining local free employment offices, and for the extension of vocational guidance to minors.

SEC. 4 (e) Cooperation.—By and with the advice of the governor to enter into any such cooperative agreement as may be deemed desirable by the commission with the U. S. Employment Service or such bureau of U. S. Department of Labor as the Secretary thereof may hereafter designate, or other Federal agency as Congress may hereafter authorize, for the purpose of securing financial aid from the United States Government for the establishment and maintenance of free public employment service and the extension of vocational guidance to minors under and by virtue of any such agreement as aforesaid to pay from any funds appropriated by the State for the purpose of this act, any part or the whole of the salaries, expenses of rent, maintenance and equipment of offices, and other expenses necessary to the maintenance of the joint system provided for by such agreement.

SEC. 4. (f) Reciprocal agreements.—By and with the advice of the governor to enter into reciprocal and cooperative agreements with neighboring States in seeking a solution to such employment problems, which because of their peculiar nature are not local but extend beyond the borders of the State.

SEC. 4. (g) Gifts.—To receive, accept, and use in the name of the people of the State or any community or municipal corporation, as the donor may designate by gift or device, any moneys, buildings, or real estate for the purpose of extending vocational guidance to the minors of the State, and for the purpose of giving assistance to deserving maimed or crippled boys and girls through vocational rehabilitation.

SEC. 5. Local authorities.—It shall be lawful for the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township or school corporation in the State to enter into cooperative agreement with the employment commission, and to appropriate and expend the necessary money and to permit the use of public property for the joint establishment and maintenance of such offices as may be mutually agreed upon, and for the extension of vocational guidance to minors.

SEC. 6. Fees forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any officer, employee, or agent of the aforesaid employment commission to charge or receive, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through said free employment offices, or from any person who becomes the beneficiary of the services of any division of the employment commission, any fee, compensation, or anything of value, and any officer or employee who shall directly or indirectly accept any fee or compensation from any applicant or beneficiary, or from his or her representative, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than fifty dollars, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days.

SEC. 9. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated annually, from the general funds of the State of Indiana, the sum of thirty-eight thousand dollars ($38,000) for the purpose of enforcing and administering the provisions of this act.

SEC. 11. Definitions.—The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, agent, manager, representative, or other persons having control or custody of any employment, place of employment, or any employee.

The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment or to go or work or be at any time in any place of employment.

ACTS OF 1920—EXTRA SESSION

CHAPTER 3.—Free public employment offices

[Section 1 abolishes the employment commission created by ch. 192, Acts of 1919, and transfers its powers and duties to the industrial board.]

SECTION 2. Who to have charge.—The industrial board shall from time to time designate one of their members who shall have immediate charge of the free employment service in Indiana and who shall be known as and shall, in addition to any other duties he may be required to perform, act in the capacity of the State director, Indiana free employment service. In establishing and maintaining such sections of the free employment service as will best serve the public welfare, the woman's section of the free employment service as now provided by law shall be consolidated with the department of women and children in the industrial board and all rights, powers, and duties of such woman's section shall be exercised and discharged by the director of the department of women and children.

ACTS OF 1921

CHAPTER 86.—Employees' stock, profit-sharing, etc.

SECTIONS 1–3. Powers of corporations.—[Corporations formed under the laws of the State for manufacturing, mining, mechanical, chemical, or building purposes may fix conditions under which they may issue or sell capital stock to their employees, share profits, and provide medical services, insurance, old-age pensions, recreation, and make provisions for their general welfare.]

CHAPTER 132.—Employment of children

SECTION 1. Attendance officers.—[The appointment of an attendance officer for each school attendance district is provided for.]

SEC. 2. Powers.—[Attendance officers and school officials may enter any place where minors are employed, to enforce this act.]

SEC. 5. School attendance.—[Children must attend school until 16 except as otherwise provided.]

SEC. 6. Work permits.—[Children over 14 and under 16 who have completed eight grades of school may procure an employment certificate.]

SEC. 18. Age limit.—[Employment under 14 in any gainful occupation other than farm labor or domestic service is forbidden, with no employment whatever during school hours.]

SEC. 19. Certificates.—[Certificates are required to 18. If the employer requests, a certificate for a minor over 18 it must be furnished. The superintendent of schools is the issuing officer; must have proof of age, of physical fitness, of schooling, and of prospective employment.]

SEC. 20. Physical examination.—[Whenever required, minors between 14 and 18 employed in other than farm and domestic service must submit to a physical examination by a medical inspector or designated physician; females may have female physicians as inspectors.]

SEC. 21. Work time.—[Boys under 16 and girls under 18 may not be employed at other than farm labor or domestic service more than 8 hours per day nor more than 48 hours or 6 days per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. Schedule of hours and register of names of minors under 16 must be posted.]

SEC. 22. Employments forbidden; sixteen years.—No minor under the age of sixteen years shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in any capacity in any of the following occupations: Oiling, wiping or cleaning machinery or assisting therein; operating or assisting in the operation of, or off-bearing at any of the following machines or apparatus, whether power driven or not: Circular or band saws; wood shapers; wood joiners; planers; stamping machines used in sheet metal or tinwork manufacturing; stamping machines in washer or nut factories, or any other stamping machine used in stamping metal; boiler or other steam-generating apparatus; dough bakers or cracker machinery of any description; wire or iron straightening machinery; rolling-mill machinery; punch; shears; drill press; grinding or mixing mills; calendar rolls in rubber manufacturing; laundry machinery; corrugating rolls of the kind used in roofing and washboard manufacturing; metal or paper cutting machines; corner-staying machines in paper-box factories; assorting, manufacturing or packing tobacco; in or about any mine, quarry, or excavation; or in any hotel; theater; bowling alley; or in any other occupation dangerous to life or limb; or injurious to the health or morals of such minor.

SEC. 23. Same; eighteen years.—No minor under the age of eighteen years shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in any capacity in any of the following occupations: Oiling and cleaning moving machinery; in the operation of emery wheels except for the sharpening of tools used by an apprentice in connection with his work; or at any abrasive, polishing or buffing wheel; in the operation of any elevator, life [lift], or hoisting machine; in or about establishments where nitroglycerine, dynamite, dualin, guncotton, gunpowder, or other high explosives are manufactured, compounded or stored; in dipping, dyeing or packing matches; in any saloon, distillery, brewery, or any other establishment where malt or alcoholic liquors are manufactured, packed, wrapped, or bottled; or in any other occupation dangerous to life or limb, or injurious to the health or morals of such minor. No boy under the age of eighteen years shall be employed or permitted to work as a messenger for a telegraph or messenger company in the distribution, transmission, or delivery of goods or messages before 6 o'clock in the morning or after 10 o'clock in the evening of any day; and no girl under eighteen years shall be employed in any capacity where such employment compels her to remain standing constantly.

SEC. 24. Same; twenty-one years.—No boy or girl under the age of twenty-one years of age shall be permitted to work in any public pool or billiard room,

SEC. 26. Enforcement.—[The State industrial board must enforce; obstruction or hindrance is unlawful.]

SEC. 27. Penalties.—[Fines for first and subsequent offenses, with imprisonment for repeated violations, are provided.]

SEC. 28. Defenses.—In all actions for damages for personal injuries by any minor or by his parent, guardian, or personal representative, because of his being employed, retained in employment, required or permitted to work in violation of any provision of sections 18 to 28, inclusive, of this act, the employer shall not be permitted to defend upon the ground that such minor had assumed any risk of the employment, or that the injury was due to the negligence of a fellow servant, or to the contributory negligence of such minor. In any such action it shall be sufficient to allege and prove that such minor was employed, retained in employment, required or permitted to work in violation of any provision hereof and that the injury arose out of such employment or the performance of such work.

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 42.—Department of mines and mining

SECTION 1. Department created.—There is hereby created an administrative department to be known as the department of mines and mining.

SEC. 2. Board; members; appointment; qualification.—The powers and duties of the department of mines and mining is hereby vested in a board which shall consist of four members, who shall be appointed by the governor. Two of such members shall be practical coal miners, and two members shall be active and experienced coal operators. Of the four members originally appointed, one practical coal miner and one coal operator shall be appointed for terms of two years and one miner and one operator for terms of four years. Thereafter, all appointments shall be made for terms of four years. In any case, a member of the board shall serve until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. The governor shall fill all vacancies occurring in the membership of the board for unexpired terms, and may remove any member of the board, after a hearing, for cause. The members of the board shall perform their services as such, free of charge to the State: Provided, however, That the members of the board shall receive traveling and necessary expenses incurred, while engaged in their official duties. The board shall organize by the election of a chairman, who shall serve for a term of one year. The chief mine inspector shall be ex officio, the secretary of the board, and shall keep the record of the official proceedings of the board. The board shall hold meetings at such times and places as it may determine. Special meetings in cases of emergency may be called by the chairman or the secretary of the board.

SEC. 3. Chief mine inspector; assistants.—The governor shall appoint a chief mine inspector for a term of four years. The chief mine inspector, with the approval of the governor, shall appoint five assistant mine inspectors for a term of four years. No person shall be appointed chief mine inspector, or assistant mine inspector who has not had ten years' experience as a practical miner. The governor may remove the chief mine inspector, and the chief mine inspector may remove any assistant mine inspector at any time, for cause. The chief mine inspector, with the approval of the governor, may employ and fix the salary and compensation of such clerks, stenographers and assistants, as may be necessary to carry on the work of the board.

SEC. 4. Powers and duties.—The department of mines and mining shall have the power, and it shall be its duty:

1st. To execute and administer the laws of this State concerning coal mines;

2d. To collect and diffuse information concerning the nature, causes and prevention of mine accidents, the improvements of methods, conditions, and equipment of mines, with special reference to health, safety, and the conservation of mineral resources, and the economic conditions respecting mining and the mining industry;

3d. To promote the technical efficiency of all persons working in and about the mines of this State and to assist them the better to overcome the increasing difficulties of mining;

4th. To supervise and direct the State mine inspection service;

5th. To submit any bills embodying recommendations for new, additional, supplemental or amendatory legislation, which the board may agree upon to the general assembly.

SEC. 5. Construction of act; repeal; appropriation.—(A) This act shall be interpreted and construed as additional and supplemental legislation to the laws now concerning coal mines, but all laws or parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, except that no act passed at this session of the general assembly shall be repealed hereby.

(B) All work or proceedings begun under the provision of any law which the department of mines and mining is by this act empowered to execute and administer, shall be concluded and determined by the department of mines and mining in accordance with the provisions of such law, and nothing contained in this act shall be construed to effect pending litigation growing out of, connected with, or based upon proceedings had under such law.

(C) For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the necessary money is hereby annually appropriated out of the general fund not otherwise used.

CHAPTER 64.—Factory, etc., regulations—Buildings

SECTION 1. Building council.—[An administrative building council is created, consisting of an administrative committee of 3 members—the chairman of the industrial board, the secretary of the State board of health, and the State fire marshal; and an advisory committee of 12 members—3 engineers, 3 architects, 3 contractors, and 3 building mechanics—submitted from the membership of their respective organizations, and appointed or removed by the administrative committee, with the approval of the governor. Terms are four years.]

SEC. 2. Organization; compensation.—[Each committee effects its own organization; members receive no compensation for their services.]

SEC. 3. Meetings.—[Regular meetings of the council are to be held quarterly.]

SEC. 4. Administrative committee; powers, etc.—It shall be the duty of the administrative committee and it shall have power, jurisdiction and authority: To administer, execute and enforce any and all laws now in force or hereafter enacted in this State relative to the construction, repair, or maintenance of places of employment and public buildings, as shall render the same safe and sanitary. To ascertain, fix and order such reasonable standards, rules, regulations, classifications, approval of plans and specifications of places of employment and public buildings as shall be necessary to carry out the purpose of this act. The majority of the administrative committee shall constitute a quorum for the exercise of the powers or authority conferred upon it. In case of a vacancy the remaining two members of the administrative committee shall exercise all the powers and authority of the administrative committee until such vacancy is filled.

SEC. 5. Duty of advisory committee.—It shall be the duty of the advisory committee to cooperate with the administrative committee in an advisory capacity to furnish such information as may be necessary, and to carry out such duties that may be conferred upon it by the administrative committee. The advisory committee shall not have power or authority to issue rules and regulations of its own volition, however: The committee may recommend to the administrative committee such rules and regulations as are deemed practical, applicable, and considered necessary.

SEC. 6.—Regulations binding on employer and owner.—Every employer and every owner of a place of employment or a public building now or hereafter constructed shall so construct, repair, or maintain such place of employment or public building, and every architect, engineer, or any one who designs a building shall so prepare the plans and specifications for the construction of such place of employment or public building, as to render the same safe and sanitary, in accordance with the rules and regulations as promulgated by the administrative committee.

SEC. 7. Supervisory authority.—The administrative committee is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise such supervision of every place of employment and public buildings in the State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such places of employment or public buildings to be safe, sanitary, and to secure the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of every employee in and every frequenter of such place of employment, and the safety of the public or tenants in any such public buildings.

SECS. 9, 10. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is to be in cooperation with local officials. Times for compliance may be fixed and extensions granted by the administrative committee.]

SEC. 11. Appeals.—[Employers dissatisfied with orders may appeal to the circuit court of local jurisdiction.]

SEC. 12. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines of not less than $10 nor more than $100.]

SEC. 13. Definitions.—[Terms are as commonly used. "Frequenter" is a person other than an employee who is in a place of employment "under circumstances which render him other than a trespasser." "Public building" means a "structure used in whole or in part as a place of resort, assemblage, loading, trade, traffic, occupancy, or use by the public, or by two or more tenants."]

CHAPTER 69.—Railroads—Height of wires over tracks

SECTION 1. Regulation.—[The public service commission is authorized to regulate the crossing of railroad and street railway tracks by electric power transmission and distribution wires; but wires may not be less than 22 feet above the rails.]

CHAPTER 177.—Mine regulations

SECTION 1. Definitions.—(A) The term "mine" as used in this act includes the working in every shaft, slope or drift which is used or has been used, in the mining and removing of coal from and below the surface of the ground. The term "operator" as used in this act, is hereby defined to mean any corporation, company, firm, person, proprietor, lessee, or occupier of any coal mine in this State or any person upon whose account the mine is operated.

SEC. 2. Maps.—(A) The operator of each mine shall make or cause to be made, an accurate map or plan of the workings of such mines on a scale of not less than two hundred feet to one inch, showing the area mined or excavated, the arrangement of haulage roads, air courses, break throughs, brattices, air bridges, or overcasts, and doors used in directing the air currents in such mine, the location and connection with such excavation of the mine of the lines of all adjoining lands with the names of the owners of such land so far as known, marked on the map. Such map shall show a complete working of the mine, and, when completed, shall be certified to by the operator, agent or engineer making the survey or map to be a true and correct working map of said mine.

(B) The operator or agent shall deposit with the chief inspector of mines a true copy of such map within thirty days after the completion of the survey of the same, the date of which shall be shown on each copy, the original map and survey to be kept at the office of such mine open for inspection of all interested persons at all reasonable times. Such map and copy thereof, shall be extended each year between the first day of May and the first day of September, and shall be filed as required in making the original survey showing the exact workings of the mine at the date of the last survey.

(C) At the request of the operator of any coal mine the owner of the land, the miners working therein or other persons interested in the workings of such mine, the chief inspector of mines shall make, or cause to be made, an accurate map of the workings thereof, on a scale of not less than two hundred feet to the inch, showing the area mined or excavated and the location and connections of the mines of all adjoining lands therewith, and the names of the owners of such lands so far as known. Such map shall be sworn to by the surveyor to be a correct map of the workings of such mine, and shall be kept on file in the office of the chief inspector of mines for examination at all times. All expenses shall be paid by the party causing such survey and map to be made. In case the operator of any mine shall fail or refuse to furnish a map as required by this law it shall be the duty of the chief inspector of mines to appoint a competent mining engineer to make the survey and maps and file and deposit them as required by law, and for his service he shall be entitled to a reasonable fee to be paid by the party whose duty it was to make such survey and map, and shall be entitled to a lien on the mine and machinery to the same extent as is now provided by law for other work and labor performed in and about the mines of this State.

(D) Upon the payment of the fees, the chief inspector of mines shall make within a reasonable time, and deliver to the party so demanding the same, an accurate copy of any map or plan on file in his office.

(E) The original map or plan of any coal mine or the copy filed with the chief inspector of mines or a certified copy, issued under the hand and seal of such inspector, shall be evidence in any court of record in this State.

(F) In order that the maps, reports and other records, pertaining to the office of the chief inspector of mines may be properly preserved, a room shall be set aside and furnished in a suitable manner as an office for said inspector.

(G) It shall be obligatory upon the operators of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal, 15 feet in width on each side of the property line in each seam or vein of coal worked by them.

SEC. 3. Rights of adjoining land owners.—(A) The tenant or occupant of any land or lands on which a coal mine is opened and operated, the person or persons operating such mine, or the agent of any of them, shall permit any person or persons interested in or having title to any land or lands coterminous with the land or lands on which such mine is located, to have ingress and egress together with surveyors and assistants, into said mine, for the purpose of measuring, exploring and surveying such mine, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not any coal has been, or is being, mined and taken from the lands so owned by such person or persons; it being provided that such survey and measurements shall be made not oftener than once a month and shall be made at the expense of the party making such measurements or survey.

(B) Any land owner, tenant, occupant, agent or mine operator, who shall refuse permission to permit such measurements, exploration or survey, as provided for above, shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars ($100) for each refusal to the person so refused, which shall be collectible by suit in any court of competent jurisdiction in the State.

(C) If the owner of any coterminous land, or his agent desires to make an examination, measurement or survey of any such mine or any part thereof, situated and operated on adjoining lands, then the operator or superintendent of such mine shall, upon demand, provide every proper facility for making such survey with accuracy and safety to the owner of such coterminous land or to any surveyor or assistants who may make such examination or survey, by driving good air into, dangerous gases from, the part to be so examined and surveyed, and shall remove any obstructions that will prevent such survey, and shall provide any assistance if so called for by the surveyor, so that the encroachments, if any, on such coterminous lands may be clearly determined by such examination or survey. Any persons violating paragraph "C" of this section shall forfeit twenty dollars ($20) a day for each day which he refuses to comply with such demand, which amount such coterminous owner may collect by suit in any court of the State.

SEC. 4. Abandoned workings.—(A) Before a mine or any part of a mine is abandoned, the owner or agent shall make a survey showing the farthest extremity of the workings of such mines, and a map thereof made and filed within thirty days thereafter at the office of the county recorder in the county where such mine is located; said map shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the mining engineer making the map, and of the mine boss in charge of the underground workings of said mine. Such map shall be properly labeled and filed by the recorder and preserved as a part of the records of the land on which said mine is located, and the recorder shall receive for said filing from said owner or agent a fee of fifty cents.

(B) The entrance of an abandoned mine shall be securely fenced off by the owner of said land on which said entrance is located, so that no injury can arise therefrom.

(C) When approaching abandoned workings which are supposed to contain dangerous accumulation of water or gases, the excavation approaching such places shall not exceed eight feet in width, and there shall be constantly kept, at a sufficient distance (not less than three yards in advance) one bore hole near the center of the workings and sufficient flank bore holes on each side.

(D) When two or more veins are worked in the same mine, they shall be so operated that no danger will occur to the miners working in either vein.

SEC. 5. Escape shaft; number of workmen.—(A) It shall be unlawful for any operator to allow more than ten (10) persons to work in any mine at any one time after five thousand (5,000) square yards have been excavated, until a second outlet shall have been made: Provided, That all air and escape shafts sunk hereafter, shall be separated from the hoisting shaft by at least two hundred (200) feet of natural strata, and shall be provided with stairways not less than two (2) feet in width, at an angle of not more than fifty (50) degrees, with landings at easy and convenient distance, and with guard rails attached to each set of stairs from the top to the bottom of the same, and shall be available at all times to all employees engaged in such mines. Also, provided, That the stairways, landings and guard rails shall be of suitable design and strength to accomplish the purpose for which they are intended, and shall be kept free from obstructions. And that when the escape and air shafts are combined, the escape shaft and air shaft shall be separated by a good, substantial partition from top to bottom: Provided, further, Where the approach or approaches to the escape shaft crosses an air course, entry or other passageway used as an air course, either as an intake or return, the air current shall be conducted by an overcast or undercast, over or under the point where such approaches cross the air course, and that all approaches to escape shafts shall be kept free from falling slate, mine tracks, mine cars and other debris, and shall be used only as a means of ingress or egress to or from the escape shaft.

(B) All water coming from the surface or out of any strata in such shaft shall be conducted by rings or otherwise to prevent it from falling down the shaft and wetting persons who are descending or ascending the shaft.

(C) In lieu of the stairway hereinabove provided for, the operator may provide at such outlet or escape shaft a hoisting apparatus, which shall be at all times available to all persons in the mine, the same signals to be used as provided by law for use at hoisting shafts.

(D) The traveling roads or gangways to said outlet shall be separated from the hoisting shaft by at least two hundred (200) feet of natural strata, and not less than four (4) feet in height and four (4) feet wide, and shall be kept as free from water as the average haulage roads in such mines.

(E) At all points where the passageway to the escapement shaft or other place of exit, is intersected by other roadways or entries, conspicuous boards shall be placed indicating the direction it is necessary to take in order to reach such place of exit.

(F) It shall be unlawful to erect any inflammable structure or building or powder magazine on the surface so near the escapeway as to jeopardize the safety of the workmen in case of fire.

(G) Fans shall be located and maintained at such place as not to be directly over the opening of an air shaft or escapement shaft, and all fans hereafter installed shall be arranged so as to enable the operator, when desirable, to reverse the air current: Provided further, That escape shafts already constructed under the provisions of the law prior to the year 1913 shall not be affected by this act, except, they shall be maintained according to the provisions herein.

(H) All escape shafts and underground approaches thereto shall be examined at least once each week, or oftener if necessary, to keep same in safe condition.

SEC. 6. Hoisting apparatus.—(A) The rope used for hoisting and lowering in every mine shall be a wire rope, and it shall be securely fastened to the shaft of the drum where two separate ropes are used, and at least one whole lap shall remain on the drum when the cage is at rest on the lowest caging place in the mine, and it shall be examined by some competent person every morning before the men descend into the mine.

(B) The operator of every mine shall provide a cover ¼-inch boiler plate overhead on all carriages or cages used for lowering or hoisting persons into and out of the mines, and on top of every shaft an approved safety gate; also an approved safety spring on top of every slope. Approved safety catches shall be attached to every cage used for the purpose of hoisting or lowering persons.

(C) All persons are prohibited from riding on the cages when coal or dirt is being hoisted.

(D) It shall be unlawful for any person desiring carriage upon any cage to approach nearer than six (6) feet to any "cage" landing when such cage is not at rest at such landing; or to crowd onto said cage in a rude or boisterous manner; or to enter upon any such cage when there are already upon the same, one person for each three square feet of the floor space of such cage: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall effect any person in charge of the operation of such cage, or the machinery moving or affecting the same: And, provided further, That, as many persons may, after the passage of this act, enter a cage for carriage as the same will accommodate, giving each person three square feet of floor space.

(E) An adequate brake shall be attached to every drum used for lowering or raising persons into or out of all shafts or slopes.

(F) An approved indicator shall be attached to every hoisting apparatus in addition to any mark on the rope, which shall show to the hoisting engineer the position of a cage or load in the shaft or slope.

(G) The operator of every mine shall keep the top and the entrance thereof securely fenced off by vertical or flat gates, covering and protecting the mouth of such mine. Two lamps shall be kept lighted at all times when the mine is in operation, except when electric lights are used, one on each side of the shaft, not more than ten (10) feet from said shaft in each vein where men get on or off the cages. There shall be gates hung at each vein, other than the lower one, so that at all times, except when coal is actually being placed on the cage, or when empty cars are being taken off the cage, there shall be a barrier preventing any one falling into the shaft.

(H) The operator shall not place in charge of any engine used for conveying into or hoisting out of any mine any but certified and sober engineers.

(I) The engineer in charge of such engine shall allow no person, except such as may be deputed for that purpose by the operator or agent, to interfere with it or any part of the machinery, and no person shall interfere, or in any way intimidate the engineer in the discharge of his duties. He shall not permit any one to loiter in the engine room, and he shall hold no conversation with any officer of the company or other person while the engine is in motion, or while his attention should be occupied with the business of hoisting. A notice to this effect shall be posted on the engine house in some conspicuous place. He shall thoroughly inform himself of the established code of signals. Signals must be delivered in the engine room in a clear and unmistakable manner, and when the signal is received that men are on the cage, said cage shall not travel to exceed 600 feet per minute.

SEC. 7. Signals and speaking tubes.—(A) The operator of every mine shall provide and maintain a metal tube from the top to the bottom of the mine, suitably adapted to the free passage of sound, through which conversation may be held between persons at each vein and the top of the mine.

(B) There shall be a code of signals at all mines, with a signal bell at the top and bottom of each mine. One bell shall signify to hoist coal, or empty cage, and also to stop either when in motion; two bells shall signify that men are coming up; when return signal is received from the engineer, men will get on the cage and ring one bell to hoist; four bells shall signify to hoist slowly, implying danger. The engineer's signal for men to get on the cage shall be three bells. A whistle may be used at the top of the mine instead of a bell. A copy of the above code of signals shall be printed and conspicuously posted at the top and bottom of the shaft and in the engine room.

SEC. 8. Weighmen; inspection.—(A) The operator of every mine at which the miners are paid by weight, shall provide suitable and accurate scales of standard manufacture for the weighing of coal which may be procured from such mines; such operator shall be required to keep United States standard weights to test said scales.

(B) At every mine where the coal mined is paid for by weight it shall be the duty of the weighman and the checkweighman to examine and balance the scales each morning, and in no case shall any coal be weighed until such scales are tested by the United States standard weights and found to be correct. Said weighman shall accurately weigh, and he shall, together with the checkweighman, record the weight of each miner's car of coal delivered, which record shall be kept open at all reasonable hours for inspection of all miners or other persons pecuniarily interested in the product of such mine: Provided, That if the weighman and checkweighman shall disagree, work may continue until the chief inspector of mines can be present, and any erroneous weights made during such time shall be rectified. When difference shall arise between the weighman and checkweighman, or operator, of any mine as to the correctness of the scales, the same shall be referred to the chief inspector of mines, whose duty it shall be to see and regulate the same at once.

(C) The chief inspector of mines, and miners employed in the mine, the owner of the land and others personally interested in the royalty or rental of such mine, shall, at all proper times have full right of access to make examination of scales or apparatus used for weighing coal in or about said mine, including the records in which the weights of coal are kept, to determine the amount of coal mined, for the purpose of attesting the accuracy thereof.

SEC. 9. Checkweighman.—(A) Whenever the mining of coal is paid for by weight, the miners employed in mining the same shall have the right of selecting and keeping in the weight office, or at the place of weighing the coal, a checkweighman, who shall be vested with the same rights as described in section "8" of this act, said checkweighman to be paid by said miners.

SEC. 10. Ventilation; examination.—(A) The operator of every mine shall provide and maintain, hereafter, for every such mine, a sufficient amount of ventilation affording not less than 100 cubic feet of air per minute for each and every person employed therein, and 300 cubic feet per minute for each mule, horse, or other animal, in said mine, measured at the intake of the split or subdivision of the air, and as much more as the circumstances require. It shall be forced and circulated around main entries, cross entries, and working faces throughout the mine, so that all open places shall be free from standing gas of whatsoever kind, to such an extent that the entire mine shall be in a fit state at all times for the men working therein, and will render harmless all noxious or dangerous gases generated therein.

(B) Every mine where fire-damp is known to exist, shall be carefully examined with a safety lamp by a certified competent fire boss, immediately before each shift, and in making said examination, it shall be the duty of the fire boss at each examination, to leave at the face of every place examined, evidence of his presence; and it shall be unlawful for any person to enter any mine or part of mine generating fire-damp, until it has been examined by the fire boss and reported by him to be safe. The fire boss shall, further, report any injury or defects in the brattices, trap doors, regulating doors, and overcasts, where such injury or defect may cause a derangement or diminution of the ventilating air current. The fire boss shall make note of, and report any dangerous or unlawful conditions in the working places of the mine, and report the same in a suitable manner to the mine boss, whose duty it shall be to see that such dangerous or unlawful conditions are corrected and made safe before men shall enter therein.

(C) The ventilation required by this act, may be provided by any suitable appliance or appliances, but in no case shall a booster fan be installed in the inside workings of a mine engendering dangerous explosive gases, without having secured a permit from the chief inspector of mines in writing, to install such booster fan: Provided, That this provision relating to booster fans, shall not be applicable to mines using booster fans prior to the year 1921.

(D) In case that a furnace is used for ventilation purposes, it shall be built in such a manner as to prevent the communication of fire to any part of the workings, by lining the upcast with incombustible material, for a sufficient distance from the said furnace. But in no case, shall a furnace be used at the bottom of the shaft in the mine for the purpose of producing a hot upcast of air, where hoisting appliances and buildings are built directly over the shaft.

(E) The operator shall employ a certified, competent mine boss who shall be an experienced coal miner, and shall keep careful watch over the ventilating equipment, and the airway, and shall see, that as the miners advance their excavation, all loose coal, slate, and rock overhead, are taken down, or carefully secured against falling on the traveling airways.

(F) The mine boss shall measure the air currents at least once a week at the inlet and outlet, and at or near, the face of the entries; he shall keep a record of such measurements, which shall be entered in a book kept for that purpose; the said book shall be open for inspection of the chief inspector of mines. The mine boss shall also, on or about the first day of each month, mail to the chief inspector of mines a true copy of such air measurements, stating also the number of persons employed in or about said mine, the number of mules and horses used, and the number of days worked in each month. Blanks for this purpose shall be furnished by the state to the chief inspector of mines, and by the chief mine inspector to each mine boss.

(G) The currents of air in mines shall be split so as to give separate currents to not more than seventy-five persons at work, and the chief inspector of mines shall have discretion to order a separate current for a smaller number of men, if special conditions render it necessary.

(H) Whenever the chief inspector of mines shall find men working without sufficient air, or under any unsafe conditions, he shall first give the operator a notice, giving the facts, and a reasonable time to rectify the same, and upon his failure to do so he may order the men out of the mine, or portion of said mine, and at once order said mine or part thereof, stopped, until such mine, or part of mine shall be put in proper condition. And the chief inspector of mines shall immediately bring suit against such operator, for failure to comply with the provisions of this section.

(I) "Break throughs" or airways shall be made in each room and entry at least every forty-five feet. All "break throughs" or airways, between entries, except those last made near the working face of the entry, shall be closed up and made air tight.

(J) The doors used in assisting or directing the ventilation of the mine when coal is being hauled through them, shall be opened and closed by the persons designated to do the same, so that the drivers or other persons may not cause the doors to stand open, but nothing herein shall prevent the use of automatic or mechanical doors, subject to the approval of the chief inspector of mines.

(K) In case the roadways or entries of any mine are so dry that the air becomes charged with dust, such roadways or entries shall be regularly and thoroughly sprinkled. And it shall be the duty of the chief inspector to see that this provision is carried out.

(L) In every mine where it is necessary to keep up continuous ventilation, there shall be installed and maintained a device which will make a record disclosing the steam or other pressure at all times, and such record shall be preserved for inspection at any time.

(M) Whenever an abandoned, or worked-out portion of a mine generates, or is liable to generate, dangerous mine gases in such quantity as to jeopardize the safety of the men working in said mine, and the said gases can not be removed or rendered harmless by ventilating currents of air without endangering the safety of the men working in said mine, the operator thereof, may, if he shall so elect, seal off said abandoned or worked out area of said mine, with approved seals of concrete or masonry, so constructed as will insure air-tight sealing up of said abandoned or worked-out area. Said seals shall be firmly imbedded at the bottom and top, and with end hitchings in the ribs of the coal, so as to insure the greatest factor of strength therefrom. Said seals shall be of sufficient thickness and strength as will resist any external or internal pressure against such seals. There shall be imbedded within such seal, a gas pipe, in such a manner as will afford an opportunity to determine the contents and pressure within said sealed off territory. Said gas pipe shall be provided with a valve, which, when closed tight, shall be securely locked, so as to prevent any tampering therewith by an unauthorized person. Examination of the seals, and the pressure within said seals, shall be made once each week, and a report of the condition of such seals and pressure shall be sent to the chief inspector of mines upon the monthly air reports. Samples of the contents within said seals of the mine shall be taken at least every three months and analysis made thereof. A copy of the result of said analysis with a sample of said contents shall be sent to the chief mine inspector for verification every three months and oftener should conditions require it. Releasing of gas from the sealed off territory shall be through a pipe line, and in such manner as will not endanger the safety of the men in the mine: Provided, however, That drill holes from the surface to sealed off territory, within the mine, may be used in lieu of other means of drainage of said mine gases from the enclosed territory.

SEC. 11. Electricity.—(A) In all coal mines of the State of Indiana, all trolley wires crossing places on main haulage roads where persons or animals are required to travel, shall be safely guarded and protected by substantial, efficient board, or other guards, so that such person or animal passing thereunder shall not come in contact with said trolley or other live wire.

(B) All trolley wires, when placed along travelways or haulage roads, shall be placed on one side of said haulage road and trolley wire shall not be placed less than five inches outside of the rail or track.

(C) All underground trolley wires shall be securely supported upon efficient and approved insulated hangers, and all trolley wires kept taut at all times.

(D) There shall be an efficient headlight on all motors in mines, when in use.

(E) On every motor trip of cars on the main haulage roads, there shall be an efficient bell, red light, or other device approved by the department of inspection of mines and mining upon the rear end of said trip, and the motorman in charge of said motor is hereby prohibited from making said trip unless one of said devices is properly placed thereon.

(F) Hereafter where electricity is installed no higher than two hnndred seventy-five (275) volts shall be used undergronnd, except for transmission, or for application to transformers or other apparata, where the high voltage circnit is stationary. High voltage motors and transformers shall be installed in snitable chambers, bnilt of fireproof constrnction, and well ventilated, and shall not be placed on intake, or between intake and return air courses. All high voltage lines and apparata mnst be clearly marked, to indicate their danger. Main and distribution switchboards for high voltage shall be made of insulating and incombustible material, such as marble or slate, and to be free of all metallic veins, or of material equivalent thereto. Same shall be installed in a dry place. All switches or other instrnments used in connection with high voltage shall be installed on snitable switchboards, with at least three-foot passageway in front and rear properly floored, and kept locked by a door at each end that can be opened from the inside without a key. With higher than medinm voltage, there shall not be any live metal work on the front of switchboard, and the entry circuit must be protected by an oil breaker switch on each pole equipped with antomatic overload trip.

(G) To insnre safety, all conductors with higher than medium voltage shall be provided with sufficient insulation of standard manufacture and steel armored covering, or its eqnivalent, covering to be grounded at least every four hnndred (400) feet. No gronnding of phase of alternating current shall be permitted. All branch trolley lines shall be provided with automatic trolley switches, or sectional insnlators, or line switches, or other devices to cut off the cnrrent. All joints and conductors shall be mechanically and electrically efficient. When joints are completed, they shall be insulated to the same extent as the rest of the wire. Both rails on main haulage roads shall be bonded and cross-bonded at points not to exceed three hundred (300) feet apart. All apparata, such as transformer cases or switch cases, generators or motor frames and pipe work on rear of switchboards, shall be properly grounded.

(H) By low voltage herein is meant a voltage of less than one hundred ten (110) volts. By medinm voltage herein is meant a voltage ranging from one hundred ten (110) volts to two hundred seventy-five (275) volts. By high voltage herein is meant a voltage above two hundred seventy-five (275) volts.

SEC. 12. Explosives.—(A) It shall be unlawful to have any keg of powder or part thereof or other explosive in the mine except in a tight wooden box, the type and kind to be approved by the department of inspection of mines and mining, secured by a suitable lock, and snch box shall not be placed at a less distance than seventy-five (75) feet from the working face: or to have any detonator or dynamite caps within five feet of any powder, dynamite, or other explosives, or to have more than ten detonators, or dynamite caps at any one time. Said detonators or dynamite caps shall be placed in a secure container, and shall not be placed nearer than five feet from any powder, dynamite, or other explosive.

(B) Whenever any person is about to open a keg or box containing powder or other explosives, he shall place and keep his light at least five feet distant from said explosive, and in such position that the air current can not carry sparks to it; and no person shall approach nearer than five feet to any open box or keg containing powder or other explosives with a light or pipe or any other thing containing fire.

(C) It shall be unlawful for any person to take or have in his possession, or under his control within any coal mine in the State of Indiana, any dynamite cap, dynamite, or other high explosive without first obtaining in writing the consent of the mine foreman or other person in charge of the operation of said mine, setting forth the use for which any such cap or explosive may be particnlarly intended.

(D) It shall be unlawful for any person for the purpose of blasting coal in any mine in this State to prepare any "shot" in such a way that the distance from the drill hole to the "loose end," chance, or end of cutting shall be more than five feet, measured at right angles to the direction of the hole: or to place any charge of powder, or other explosive, in any drill hole prepared for any "shot," in which the breast of coal to be dislodged is of greater width than the depth of the drill hole; or to use in preparing any "shot," more than six pounds of powder; or to place any powder in any drill hole for the purpose of preparing any "shot," without measuring the amount so placed therein with a substantial measure so made as to indicate the weight of blasting powder measured therein; or to open a keg, can, or other package containing powder, by means of a pick or in any other manner except in pursuance of the manner provided in the manufacture of such keg, can, or package; or to sell or offer for sale any keg, can, or package containing powder, unless such can, keg, or package be provided with a sufficient device for opening the same, and permitting the discharge therefrom of all the powder therein contained; or to store any blasting powder, dynamite, or other high explosive in any coal mine; or to prepare any drill bit more than three and one-quarter (3¼) inches in diameter, to be used in boring holes for the purpose of preparing any shot; or to use any dynamite or other high explosive in conjunction with black powder. It shall be unlawful for any operator or lessee of any coal mine, coal shaft, or slope coal mine to refuse, fail, or neglect to sharpen and prepare for use any bit for preparing drill holes, if such bit is three and one-quarter (3¼) inches in diameter, or less, and such operator, or lessee, or his representative, has been requested to prepare and sharpen the same by any owner of such bit or bits.

(E) It shall be unlawful for any person for the purpose of blasting coal in any mine in this state, except in any mine producing block coal, to drill any hole past the end of his cutting, "loose end" or "chance."

(F) If, upon inspection of any working place in any coal mine, there shall be found the remnants of drill holes drilled past the cutting, loose end or chance, or the remnants of any shot measuring more than the maximum width, or if any miner shall be found to have in his possession in his working-place, any keg, can or package, containing powder, and which has been opened in any other manner than that provided by law, the same, or either thereof respectively, shall be, and constitute prima facie evidence that the workman in whose working-place such evidence is found, is guilty of a violation of paragraphs "D," "E" and "G" of this section, or a part thereof as the case may be.

(G) It shall be the duty of the operator or owner of any coal mine wherein fire clay or other noninflammable material suitable for use in tamping in preparing shots cannot be readily obtained, to provide and deposit within said mine, such material and at points within five hundred (500) feet from the face of each entry in such mine. In case any dispute may arise as to the duty of any such operator or owner thereunder, such dispute shall be finally determined by the chief inspector of mines.

(H) In the process of charging or tamping a hole, no person shall use any iron or steel needle or tool, except as herein provided. The needle used in preparing the blast shall be made of copper, and the tamping bar shall be tipped with at least five inches of copper. No coal dust or any material that is inflammable, or that may create a spark, shall be used for tamping, and some soft material shall be placed next to the cartridge, or explosive.

(I) It shall be unlawful in any coal mine for any person to explode or light any shot in any working place simultaneously with the explosion or lighting of any shot by the same, or any other person in any other working place on the same entry, except in working places where the coal is undercut by machinery.

(J) Blasting powder or other explosives shall not be taken into or out of a mine, or moved from place to place in a mine along any entry or haulage way where there are electric wires, while the power is on such wires, except when such powder or explosive is conveyed in approved insulated cars or packages.

SEC. 13. Shot firers.—(A) In all mines in this state where coal is blasted, and where more than ten (10) men are employed as miners, and where more than two (2) pounds of powder is used for any one blast; and also, in all mines in this state where gas is generated in dangerous quantities, the person, persons, firm or corporation operating such mine or mines, [shall employ at the expense of such person, persons, firm or corporation operating such mine or mines,] a sufficient number of practical, experienced miners, to be designated as shot firers, whose duty it shall be to inspect and do all the firing of all blasts, prepared in the manner required by the laws of the State of Indiana, concerning the preparation of shots or blasts in mines where shooting or blasting is done, in said mine or mines: Provided, That the employer shall be the judge of the qualifications of the said person employed as shot firer, and shall have the right to discharge said shot firer, for any reason the said employer shall deem sufficient, without recommendation or interference by the miners working in said mine.

(B) The shot firers shall, immediately after the completion of their work, daily post a notice in a conspicuous place at the mine, in which shall be indicated the number of shots fired; also the number of shots they did not fire, if any, specifying the number of the room and designation of the entry, and giving the reasons for not firing the same.

(C) In addition they shall also keep a daily permanent record, in which shall be entered the number of shots or blasts fired, the number of shots or blasts failing to explode and the number of shots or blasts that in their judgment were not prepared in the manner required by the laws of the State of Indiana concerning the preparation of shots or blasts in mines where shooting or blasting is done and which they refuse to fire, giving reasons for same; the record to be in the custody of the mine managers, and to be available for inspection at all times by parties interested, and public officials.

(D) The superintendent or mine manager shall not permit the shot firers to do any blasting, exploding of shots, or do any firing whatever, until each and every miner and employee is out of the mine except the shot firers, mine superintendent, mine manager and man or men necessarily engaged in charge of the pumps and stables: Provided, however, That nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the employment in such mine of a reasonably necessary number of men, during such time for the purpose of securing the workings in case of fire therein.

(E) No miner or other person shall alter or change any drill hole, by increasing its depth, diameter, or otherwise, after the same shall have been approved by the shot firer.

(F) No shot firer, whether voluntarily, or by command or request of any person, shall fire any unlawful shot, or any shot which in his judgment, exercised as aforesaid, from his inspection thereof, made as aforesaid, shall not be prepared in the manner required by the laws of the State of Indiana concerning the preparation of shots or blasts in mines where shooting or blasting is done.

(G) No person or persons shall order, command, or induce by threat or otherwise, any shot firer to fire any unlawful shot, or any shot which in his judgment after due inspection, shall not be prepared in the manner required by the laws of the State of Indiana, concerning the preparation of shots or blasts in mines where shooting or blasting is done.

(H) Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $100 to $200, or imprisonment not exceeding three months, or both.]

SEC. 14. Mine boss.—(A) The mine boss shall visit and examine every working place in the mine at least every alternate day while the miners of such place are, or should be, at work, and shall examine and see that each and every working place is properly secured by timbering, and that the safety of the mine is assured. He shall see that a sufficient supply of timbers are always on hand at the miner's working place. He shall also see that all loose coal, slate, and rock overhead, wherein miners have to travel to and from their work, are taken down, or carefully secured.

(B) Whenever, such mine boss shall have an unsafe place reported to him, he shall order and direct that the same be placed in a safe condition; and until such is done, no person shall enter such unsafe place, except for the purpose of making it safe. Whenever any person working in said mine shall learn of such unsafe place he shall at once notify the mine boss thereof, and it shall be the duty of said mine boss to give him, properly filled out, an acknowledgment of such notice of the following form:

I hereby acknowledge receipt of notice from _____ of the unsafe condition of the mines as follows _____

Dated this _____ day of _____ 19___,

_____,

Mine Boss.

The possession by the person of such written acknowledgment shall be proof of the receipt of such notice by said mine boss whenever such question shall arise; and upon receipt of such notice, said mine boss shall at once inspect such place and proceed to put the same in good and safe condition. As soon as such unsafe place has been repaired to the approval of said mine boss, he shall then give permission for the men to return to work therein, but no person shall return to work therein until such repairs have been made and permission given.

(C) Whenever any accident whatsoever has occurred in any mine which shall delay the ordinary and usual workings of such mine for twenty-four consecutive hours, or has resulted in such injury to any person as to cause death, or require the attendance of a physician or surgeon, it shall be the duty of the person in charge of such mine, to notify the chief inspector of mines of such accident, without delay.

SEC. 15. Traveling-way timbers; first aid; life checks.—(A) There shall be cut at the bottom of the shaft, a traveling way sufficiently high and wide to enable persons to pass the same in going from one side to the other, without passing over or under the cage.

(B) On all single track hauling roads, wherever hauling is done by power, and on all gravity or incline planes in mines, upon which the persons employed in the mines must travel on foot to and from their work, places of refuge must be provided in the side wall, not less than three (3) feet in depth, measuring from side of car, and four (4) feet wide and not more than twenty (20) yards apart, unless there is a clear space at least three (3) feet between the side of the car and the side of the wall, which space shall be deemed sufficient for the safe passing of men.

(C) On all hauling roads in which the hauling is done by draft animals, whereon men have to pass to and from their work on foot, places of refuge must be cut in the side wall at least two and one-half (2½) feet deep, measuring from the side of the car, and not more than twenty (20) yards apart, but such places shall not be required in entries from which rooms are driven at regular intervals not exceeding twenty (20) yards, and whenever there is a clear space of two and one-half (2½) feet between the car and the rib such places shall be deemed sufficient for the safe passage of men.

(D) All places of refuge shall be whitewashed and kept clear of obstructions, and no material shall be stored therein, excepting in cases of emergency, nor be allowed to accumulate therein.

(E) It shall unlawful for any operator, lessee, or agent, of any coal mine within the State of Indiana, to make, dig, construct or cause to be made, dug or constructed, any entry or trackway in any coal mine in the State of Indiana, where drivers are required to drive with mine car or cars, unless there shall be a space provided on one or both sides continuously of any track or tracks measured from the rail, in any such entry, of at least two (2) feet in width, free from any props, loose slate, débris, or other obstruction, so that the driver may get away from the car or cars and track in event of collision, wreck, or other accident: Provided, That this paragraph shall in no wise be construed to permit the gobbing up of the space provided for in the act of March 9, 1907, same being chapter 197, Acts 1907, but all said entries shall be maintained as in said act provided.

(F) It shall be unlawful for any employee, person, or persons to knowingly, purposely, or maliciously place any obstruction within said space as herein provided: Provided, That the geological veins of coal, numbers three and four, commonly known as the lower and upper veins in the block coal fields of Indiana, shall be exempt from the provisions of paragraphs "D" and "E" of this section.

(G) Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine not to exceed $200, to which may be added imprisonment not exceeding 60 days.]

(H) The operator of every mine shall keep a sufficient supply of timber at the mine, and shall deliver all props, caps, and timber (of proper length) to the rooms of the workmen, when needed and required, so the employees may at all times be able to properly secure the workings from caving in.

(I) Every operator operating mines in this State shall place a blackboard near the mine entrance sufficiently large, stating thereon in figures the length of all timbers in use in said mine. The miners shall register thereon, when needing timber for securing working places, their respective numbers, under the figures indicating the proper lengths of timber required: Provided, That the operator may provide any other efficient method for registering the kind of timbers the miner desires and insuring prompt delivery of said timbers to the miner's working place.

(J) At every mine where ten or more men are employed inside it shall be the duty of the operator thereof to keep always on hand, readily accessible and near the mouth of the mine, a properly constructed and comfortable stretcher; a woolen and waterproof blanket; a roll of bandages in good condition for immediate use for bandaging and dressing wounds of anyone injured in such mine; a supply of linseed oil, lime, camphor, turpentine, antiseptic gauze, dressing, and surgeon's splints for the dressing of broken bones; also to provide comfortable apartment near the mouth of the mine, in which anyone so injured may rest while awaiting transportation to his home, and to provide for the speedy transportation of anyone injured in such mine to his home.

(K) The operator of every mine shall be, and is hereby, required to report to the chief inspector of mines on or before the 15th day of each calendar month the name of the person in charge of such mine, the number of tons of coal produced at such mine during the preceding month, the amount of wages paid employees during such month, the amount of money expended for improvements during said month, together with such other information as may be necessary to enable said inspector to prepare his annual report as required by law.

(L) No person or persons shall be employed in and about coal mines in this State unless and until such person so employed shall have filed with his employer a statement showing the age, residence, birthplace, and next of kin of such person so employed, and the employer shall keep such statement on file and available so long as such employee is employed in and about such coal mine. Every person, firm, corporation, partnership, or association operating a coal mine in the State of Indiana shall at all times provide a book, check, token, or other method of registration for all persons entering or leaving such mine, and it shall be unlawful for any person to enter or leave such mine without indicating by such book, check, token, or other method of registration the fact that he is entering or leaving such coal mine, and each day that such person, firm, corporation, partnership, or association shall fail to provide such book, check, token, or other method of registration shall be a separate offense.

(M) Any neglect, refusal, or failure to do the things required to be done by paragraph (L) of this section, on the part of the person, firm, corporation, partnership, or association herein required to do them, or any violation of the provisions or requirements hereof, shall be deemed a misdeamor, punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) or more than five hundred dollars ($500), or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six (6) months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 16. Buildings, washhouse, etc.—(A) No boiler house shall be erected nearer than thirty-five feet (35′) of the mine opening.

(B) All explosive materials shall be stored in fireproof buildings on the surface located not less than three hundred (300) feet from any other building.

(C) [Employer must upon written request of employees furnish a suitable washhouse or washroom.]

(D) [The washhouse or washroom shall be properly lighted and heated, be provided with all necessary facilities except that employer need not furnish soap or towels.]

(E) [Suitable hangers or baskets may take the place of lockers.]

(F) [Operator shall be required to furnish a shower bath for every fifteen men using same.]

(G) [The washhouse or washroom shall be ventilated and fumigated when necessary.]

(H) [Failure to comply with the requirements entails a fine not to exceed $500, to which may be added imprisonment not to exceed 60 days.]

NOTE.—The provision as to washhouses is valid, even though operative only on petition of the workmen. The act does not deny equal protection of the laws nor due process of law. Booth v. Indiana, 237 U. S. 391, 35 Sup. Ct. 617. In charging a violation of this provision, it must be alleged that the wash room or house was requested. Hewitt v. State, 171 Ind. 283, 86 N. E. 63.

SEC. 17. Miner's examination board—Dangerous occupation—(A) The business of mining coal is hereby declared a dangerous occupation, industry, and business. In every county in this State where the business of coal mining is carried on, or shall hereafter be carried on, the board of county commissioners of such counties shall appoint a miner's examination board, said board to consist of two resident coal miners who shall have had at least five years' practical experience in mining coal, and shall, at the time of their appointment, be engaged as miners of coal in the county wherein they are appointed, and one resident of said county who is a coal operator.

(B) It shall be lawful for the coal miners individually or through their organizations, to recommend coal miners for such appointment on such boards and for coal operators to recommend some coal operator for such appointment. Said members of said board shall hold office until the first Monday of the January next, following their appointment or until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified. Any vacancy occurring on any of the said boards may be filled by the board of county commissioners at any regular session of said board. Appointments shall be made on the first Monday, of each January of each year, or any time thereafter: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any county in this State unless there is located in such county a coal mine employing ten (10) or more miners.

(C) Each board shall organize by electing one of their number president, and one member as secretary, and one as treasurer: Provided, That the same member may serve as both secretary and treasurer. Each member shall, within ten days after his appointment, qualify, by taking oath or affirmation before some qualified officer, that he will faithfully, honestly, and impartially discharge his official duties, which oath shall be filed with the auditor of the county in which he resides and from which he is appointed. The member being chosen as treasurer shall qualify by filing with the auditor his bond in the penal sum of five hundred dollars, which bond shall be approved by the board of county commissioners. Members of said board shall receive as compensation for their service the sum of four dollars ($4.00) per day for each day actually engaged in their official duties, and all legitimate and necessary expenses incurred in attending the meetings of said board, which sum shall be allowed by the county commissioners, and money for the payment of the same shall be appropriated by the county council, and the county treasurer shall pay the same.

(D) No person shall be employed or engaged as a miner in any coal mine in this State without first obtaining a certificate of competency and qualifications so to do, from the miners' examining board of some county in the State of Indiana; Provided, That the above provisions shall not prevent the employment of a person not having such certificate to work in the same room with, or under, the direction of a miner having such certificate, for the purpose of becoming qualified to become a miner, and to receive such certificate under the provisions of the section. Provided, That any male person desiring to work with a qualified miner to become qualified, shall first obtain a permit from the miners' examining board by stating his age, nativity and residence, and paying the sum of one dollar ($1.00) therefor. The miners' examining board shall grant a permit to all applicants who are of legal age and who have such intelligence and character that they will not be a menace to life and property.

(E) It shall be the duty of the chief mine inspector to prepare the form of certificates, permits, and books specified and provided for in this section, and it shall be the duty of all miners' examining boards in this State to use and adopt the forms prescribed and prepared by the chief mine inspector. All expenses provided for, and authorized by, this section, shall be paid out of the county treasury of the counties where the boards contracting the same are located.

(F) The said board shall keep a permanent book for the purpose of registering the names of all applicants for certificates of competency and qualifications, and of all persons applying for permits to work for the purpose of learning the business or occupation of mining. Said book shall contain a printed form of application which shall be filled out, signed and sworn to by each applicant, showing his name, address, nativity, date of birth, race and residence of parents, if living, and what experience, if any, such applicant has had in mining, and the location of mines where such applicant has been employed, if at all, for at least two years prior to the application; all applicants shall sign such application and be sworn to the same, by some member of the miners' examining board, or other authorized person.

(G) Each applicant for a certificate or permit shall pay said miners' examining board at the time of application, a fee of one dollar ($1.00). All money received by said board shall be paid over to the county treasurer, at least once a month.

(H) The said board shall, annually, on the first Wednesday of January of each year, report to the board of county commissioners appointing them, names of all persons applying for certificates and permits, the amount of money received and disbursed, the names of all persons granted certificates and permits, and the names of all persons refused certificates and permits.

(I) In every case where an applicant is refused a permit or certificate, it shall be the duty of said examining board to keep a complete record of the questions asked, and answers given, and the secretary of said board shall furnish a copy of same to any applicant desiring an appeal to any court of competent jurisdiction, free of charge.

(J) It shall be the duty of said board to meet on the first Wednesday of each month, but when the said day falls on a legal holiday, then the day following, and said meeting shall be public, and when necessary the meeting shall be continued from day to day for not to exceed three days, if business requires.

(K) The examination of all applicants shall be public, and in the English language: Provided, however, That in the event of a non-English speaking applicant so desiring, an interpreter shall be employed, which interpreter shall first be sworn to correctly and truly interpret all questions and answers in the performance of his duty. The members of the board shall have power and authority to administer oaths, and all applicants for certificates and permits shall be first sworn and orally examined in regard to their qualifications. All applicants for qualification certificates may be required to furnish satisfactory evidence of their experience in mining and shall possess sufficient knowledge to be able to understand warnings in regard to dangerous gases and explosives. In no event shall an applicant be deemed competent and qualified unless he appears in person before said board and answers intelligently at least fifteen questions propounded to him, pertaining to practical mining, which questions shall cover dangerous gases and other combustibles and explosives, and the preparation of shots, and timbering, but in no event shall technical questions be included in the examination: Provided, further, That when an applicant possesses a miners' qualification certificate of some other State where a miners' qualification law may be in effect, he shall be entitled to a qualification certificate in this State, without the formality of an examination.

(L) Said board shall keep accurate records in permanent form, of all proceedings of all sessions held by them, containing the names and addresses of all applicants for permits and certificates, and the action taken thereon, which records shall be open for inspection at all times by persons interested. All sessions shall be held in public, but the boards shall, when requested by three miners, or may on their own motion, separate the applicants and exclude those not examined from the room where the examination is being held.

(M) It shall be unlawful for any person to disclose to any applicant, before his examination, the questions to be asked or the answers thereto: Provided, That in counties, in this State where, according to the last report of the chief mine inspector there are less than one hundred and fifty coal miners employed, the miners' examining board of such counties shall hold meetings only on the first Wednesdays of January, April, July, and October of each year. The miners' examining board in any county, shall employ an interpreter at any meeting where a majority deem it necessary, which interpreter shall first be sworn to correctly and truly interpret all questions and answers in the performance of his duty, and for any false interpretation or fraudulent acts or violations of any provisions of this act, shall be subject to the punishment prescribed in paragraph (T) of this section.

(N) All applicants who shall answer fifteen questions correctly, and shall be otherwise qualified and adjudged competent under this section, shall be granted a certificate, which certificate shall not be transferable. No certificate shall be issued unless signed by at least two members of the board. No permit shall be transferable nor issued to any miner under the age prescribed by law.

(O) Any applicant being refused a certificate or permit by any miners' examining board and feeling himself aggrieved, may appeal to the circuit or superior court, located in the county where such board is located, and such court shall have power to issue such orders therein, as may be lawful and just, but no costs shall be assessed or adjudged against any member of a miners' examining board upon such review of their action.

(P) The prosecuting attorney, chief mine inspector, or any member of any miners' examining board, having information that any person has obtained a certificate or permit by means of fraud, misrepresentation or by other unlawful means, or has permitted, or is permitting any other person to use his certificate of permit, or that any person is using the certificate or permit which was issued to another person, shall file information before the judge of the circuit or superior court located in the county where such person is resident or employed, and cause summons to be issued as in civil cases: Provided, however, If such officers fail or refuse to file such information, then any private citizen may file such information on the relation of the State of Indiana. If the court or jury shall, after a trial or hearing in such cause, find that such certificate or permit has been unlawfully or wrongfully issued, or that such person has used the certificate or permit of another or permitted another to use his certificate or permit, then the judgment shall be that such certificate or permit be revoked, and that costs be adjudged as in other civil cases: Provided, further, That any person who obtains a certificate or permit by means of fraud, misrepresentation or by other unlawful means, or has permitted, or is permitting any other person to use his certificate or permit, or any person who uses or permits to be used, a certificate or permit issued to another, shall also be subjected to the penalties provided in paragraph (T) of this section.

(Q) No person shall hereafter be engaged as a miner in any coal mine in this State, without first obtaining a permit or certificate as required by this section. No person, firm, or corporation, shall employ any person as a miner who does not hold a certificate or permit, as aforesaid, and no mine foreman or superintendent or other person shall permit or suffer any person to be employed under him in any mine under his charge or under his supervision, as a miner, who does not hold such certificate or permit.

(R) No certificate of competency or qualification shall be granted to any applicant who has not had two years' experience in mine work.

(S) It shall be the duty of the chief mine inspector, and all his assistants, and all miners' examining boards, and prosecuting attorneys, to investigate all complaints of the violation of this section, and to prosecute all such violations.

(T) Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500; imprisonment not exceeding 6 months may be added. Member of miners' examining board shall forfeit his office, in addition.]

(U) It is provided that all the rights, liabilities, acts, proceedings, and certificates issued under provisions of chapter 276, Acts of 1911, approved March 6, 1911, shall not be deemed to have been changed, or invalidated and all the acts, proceedings, rights, liabilities and certificates issued under the provisions thereof are hereby legalized, validated, and carried in full force and effect the same as if this act had not been enacted.

SEC. 18. Employment of minors and females.—(A) No male person under the age of 16 years, or female of any age, shall be permitted to enter any mine in this State for the purpose of employment therein, and the parents or guardians of boys shall be required to furnish an affidavit as to the age of said boy or boys when there is any doubt in regard to their age, and in all cases of such boys applying for work, the operator of any mine shall see that the provisions of this section are not violated.

SEC. 19. Duties of inspector.—(A) It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of mines to enter, examine, and inspect any and all coal mines, and the works and machinery belonging thereto, at any reasonable time, by day or night, but so as not to hinder or obstruct the working of any coal mine more than is reasonably necessary in the discharge of his duties; and the operator of such coal mine is hereby required to furnish the necessary facilities for such entry, examinatiou, and inspection.

(B) Should the operator fail or refuse to permit such inspection, or furnish such facilities, the operator so failing, shall be deemed to have committed a misdemeanor, and it is hereby made the duty of such chief inspector to charge such operator with such violation, under oath in any court having jurisdiction.

(C) The chief mine inspector shall devote his entire time and attention to the duties of his office. He, or his assistants, shall make personal inspection, at least three times a year, of all coal mines, in this State, and shall see that every precaution is taken to insure the health and safety of the workman therein employed, that the provisions and requirements of this act are faithfully carried out, and that the penalties of the law are euforced against all who wilfully disobey its requirements.

(D) The chief mine inspector shall also collect aud tabulate the following facts: The number and thickness of each vein or stratum of coal and their respective depths below the surface, which are now worked or may hereafter be worked; the kind or quality of coal; how the same is mined, whether by shaft, slope, or drift; the number of mines in operation in each county, the owners thereof; the number of men employed in each mine, and the aggregate yearly production of tons from each mine; estimate the amount of capital employed at each mine; and give any other information relative to coal and mining that he may deem necessary, all of which facts, so tabulated, together with a statement of the condition of mines as to safety and ventilation, he shall freely set forth in his annual report together with his recommendation as to such other legislation on the subject of mining as he may think proper.

(E) It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of mines, in addition to his other duties, to examine all scales used at any mine for the purpose of weighing coal taken out of said mine. The scales shall be tested by sealed weights; the same shall be furnished to said chief inspector of mines by the auditor of State on requisition, the cost of which shall be audited by the auditor of State, and paid out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated. And on inspection, if the scales are found incorrect and, after written notice by the chief inspector of mines, it shall be unlawful for any operator to use or suffer the same to be used, until the scales are adjusted to weigh correctly.

(F) It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of mines to see to the strict enforcement of all laws relating to mines and mining, to investigate all violations of the law relating thereto, file complaints and make affidavits against such violators before the proper court of record, and to see to the enforcement of all penalties prescribed by the statutes of the State for disobedience to its provisions relating to mines and mining, and failure to do so may be sufficient cause for his removal from office.

(G) The chief inspector of mines shall make an annual report of all matters now required by law to be reported, which report shall be published and shall in every respect comply with the laws pertaining to the inspection of mines.

(H) The chief inspector of mines and mining shall receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00), and each of his assistant inspectors of mines and mining shall receive an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500.00), and such chief inspector, and such assistant inspectors shall receive in addition to such salaries their actual expenses while in the discharge of their actual duties. The chief inspector of mines and mining may appoint a stenographer, at an annual salary of not to exceed twelve hundred dollars ($1,200.00), and said chief inspector, assistant, and stenographer shall be paid monthly as due on sworn vouchers approved by the mining board of Indiana. For the purpose of carrying out this section the necessary money is hereby annually appropriated out of the general fund not otherwise used.

(I) It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of mines to hold examinations for certificate of competency at such places and time as he may designate, and to publish notice of such examination, stating the time and place where such examinations are to be held, and shall make and publish rules and regulations under which such examination shall be conducted.

(J) For the purpose of providing for the expense of holding the examinations and issuing the certificates herein provided for, each applicant, before entering upon examination, shall pay the chief inspector of mines one dollar, a receipt for which must be indorsed upon each certificate before it becomes effective. Examinations for certificates of competency shall be public and open to all citizens of the United States, and at least fifteen days' notice of such examination shall be given by publication in a newspaper published in the city where such examination is to be held. No certificate shall be issued to any person entitling him to serve in more than one of the capacities set out in this section, but two or more certificates may be issued to the same person on proper examination.

(K) Certificates of competency shall be issued by the chief inspector of mines to any person who shall prove satisfactory upon examination, either written or oral, or both, as may be prescribed by such chief mine inspector, that he is qualified by experience and technical knowledge to perform the duties of either mine boss, fire boss, or hoisting engineer.

(L) It shall be unlawful for any person to serve in the capacity of mine boss, fire boss, or hoisting engineer at any mine, without having first received from the chief inspector of mines a certificate of service or competency.

(M) It shall be unlawful for any operator of any mine in this State to employ any person in the capacity of mine boss, fire boss, or hoisting engineer unless such person has a certificate of service or competency from the chief inspector of mines: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall effect any certificate of service heretofore issued.

(N) Whenever the chief inspector of mines shall find that any mine or part thereof is liberating, or is liable to liberate, explosive gas in dangerous quantities from the coal or strata surrounding the coal in said mine, or any part thereof, such chief inspector of mines shall make a written finding to such effect in which such mine or part thereof liberating, or liable to liberate, explosive gas in dangerous quantities shall be appropriately designated and a copy of such finding shall be delivered to the operator of such mine. The chief mine inspector shall, as a part of such finding, designate the kind of lamps proper to be used in such mine or part thereof, in order to avoid danger from explosions of gas, and shall also in such finding fix the time within which such lamps shall be installed, after the expiration of the time fixed by the chief inspector of mines, in such finding, for the installation of lamps, no light or lamp other than a locked safety lamp, or an approved electric lamp shall be used in such mine, or part thereof, designated in such finding, except as may be permitted in writing by the chief inspector of mines. The operator of any mine, upon receiving notice from the chief inspector of mines, that one or more safety lamps are necessary to the safety of the men in such mine, shall at once procure and keep for use such number of safety lamps as may be necessary. All safety lamps or electric lamps used for examination of any mine, or which may be used for working in any mine shall be furnished by, and be the property of, the operator of the mine in which such lamps are used, and shall remain in the custody of some competent person designated by the operator, who shall clean, prepare, fill, trim, charge, examine, and deliver the same locked and in safe condition to the men when entering the mine, and shall receive the same from the men at the end of their shift. Said person or persons receiving such lamps shall be responsible for the condition and proper use thereof while in their possession, and for the safe return of said lamps to the place from whence they have received them.

(O) It shall be the duty of said chief inspector to investigate and ascertain the cause of any accident reported under this act, as soon as his official duties will permit: Provided, That if loss of life shall occur by reason of any such accident, said inspector shall immediately, with the coroner of the county in which such accident may have occurred, go to the scene of the accident. They shall investigate and ascertain the cause of such loss of life, and have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and administer oaths or affirmations to them, and the costs of such investigations shall be paid by the county in which the accident occurred, as costs of coroner's inquest are now paid.

(P) The result of all coal-mine inspections made by the chief inspector of mines, or any of his assistants, showing all his conclusions as to the condition of safety of the mines and orders given in the inspection of any coal mine, shall be posted in writing at the entrance to such mine immediately upon the conclusion of each inspection, and to enable said inspector and his assistants to discharge all the duties created by this act the number of assistants is hereby fixed at five.

(Q) The chief mine inspector and his assistants shall possess the qualifications and be appointed in manner as now provided by law.

(R) Such chief mine inspector and each of his assistants are hereby charged with the duty of enforcing this act relating to the health and safety of persons and property employed and used in and about the coal mines of the State.

(S) The chief inspector of mines and each of his assistants are hereby empowered to act as police officers, with full power to arrest and detain any person found violating any provisions of this act or any other mining law, or engaged in any attempt to violate any such law or part thereof, or against whom there is found any evidence of a previous violation of such law: Provided, however, That no such person shall be detained for any period of time longer than twenty-four hours, without warrant or the filing of a charge against him in a court of competent jurisdiction. Such chief mine inspector and each of his assistants shall also have power to immediately stop the operation of any coal mine, or part thereof, in which any dangerous or unlawful condition is found: Provided, however, That where conditions exist justifying him to do so he may grant a reasonable length of time for making necessary repairs: And, provided further, That where any stop is enforced, such chief mine inspector, and his assistants, shall each have power to subsequently allow such mine or part of mine to be reopened when the dangerous or unlawful conditions have been remedied or removed, so that they no longer exist.

(T) The chief inspector of mines shall have power, in his discretion, to order the sprinkling of any coal mine or part of mine, by notice in writing to the operator thereof, or person in charge of the same, and after receiving such notice, it shall be unlawful for any person to act in violation thereof, and to admit such sprinkling. Copies of any notices given hereunder, shall be posted at the mine entrance, by the inspector of mines.

(U) Whoever, being the chief mine inspector or an assistant thereof, shall fail, neglect, or refuse to perform any duty required of him by this or any other law relating to the health and safety of persons employed in coal mines and matters connected therewith, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), and upon a second conviction for an offense hereunder, shall, upon certification of judgment thereof to the proper officer holding the power of appointing his successor, be immediately removed from office by such officer without any further proceedings.

SEC. 21. Assignment of wages.—(A) Whenever any merchant or dealer in goods or merchandise, or any other person, shall take from any employee or laborer for wages, who labors in or about any mine in this State, an assignment of such employee's wages, earned or unearned, due or to become due, or shall take from such employee or laborer any order on his employer for any such wages, and shall issue or give to any such employee or laborer, in consideration of, or in payment for, any such assignment or transfer or order, any check, other than a check on a solvent bank, or any ticket, token, or device payable or redeemable, or agreed to be payable or redeemable, in goods, wares, or merchandise or anything other than lawful money of the United States, such check, ticket, token or device shall at once become due and payable in lawful money of the United States, for and to the extent of the full amount of the wages assigned or relinquished for it, and the holder of such checks, ticket, token or device shall, after demand, have the right to collect the same, with reasonable attorney's fees, by suit in any court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 22. Injury to safety appliances.—(A) Any person who shall, knowingly, injure or interfere with any safety lamp, air course, or with any brattice or obstruct or throw open doors, or disturb, any part of the machinery, or ride upon a loaded car or wagon in any mine, or do any act whereby the lives or health of the persons, or the security of the mines or machinery, are endangered, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 23. Mines in other States.—(A) Whenever any mine or mines, the shaft or opening of which is located in any State other than the State of Indiana, shall have entries or workings underground extending into and within the State of Indiana, a compliance with the laws of the State in which the shaft or opening of said mine is located governing mines and mining, shall be taken, deemed and considered a full compliance with the law of the State of Indiana, governing mines and mining as to all that part of said entries and workings lying and being within the State of Indiana.

(B) In the case of any mine or mines, the shaft or opening of which is located in any State other than the State of Indiana, the employees in the entries or workings of such mines extending into and within the State of Indiana, shall be controlled and governed by the laws of the State in which the shaft or opening of such mine is located in any and all matters pertaining to their employment, including compensation laws and suits for damages for personal injuries.

SEC. 24. Penalties.—(A) [Any willful neglect, refusal or failure to do the things required by any section of this act is punishable by a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment for a period of not exceeding six months, or both.]

SEC. 25. Application of act.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to any mine that does not employ ten or more men.

SEC. 26. Construction.—This act shall not be construed as repealing or in any wise affecting the operation of the Indiana workman's compensation act applicable to the coal mines of the State of Indiana.

SEC. 28. Construction of sections.—If any section of this act shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, it shall not affect any other section of this act.

IOWA

CODE OF 1897—SUPPLEMENT, 1913—SUPPLEMENTAL SUPPLEMENT, 1915

Street railways—Vestibules—Toilets

SECTION 768–h. Vestibules.—[Inclosure of front and rear platforms from November 1 to April 1 is required for the protection of employees; same to be heated and seats provided for motormen and conductors.]

SEC. 768–i. Toilet facilities.—Every person, partnership, company or corporation owning or operating a street railway in this State shall provide and maintain toilet facilities for the use of the employees at some suitable location upon each line, or run, and the running schedule of said cars, or the operating rules, shall be such as will permit said employee to use said toilet facilities.

SEC. 768–j. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $100, each day's violation being a separate offense.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 1123. Attempting to influence voter.— * * * Any employer who shall refuse to an employee the privilege, conferred by this section, or shall subject such employee to a penalty or reduction of wages because of the exercise of such privilege, or shall in any manner attempt to influence or control such employee as to how he shall vote, by offering any reward, or threatening discharge from employment, or otherwise intimidating or attempting to intimidate such employee from exercising his right to vote, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars.

Labor organizations, etc.—Incorporation

SECTION 1642. Organization.—Any three or more persons of full age, a majority of whom shall be citizens of the State, may incorporate themselves for the establishment of * * * trades-unions or other labor organizations, * * * by signing, acknowledging, and filing for record with the county recorder of the county where the principal place of business is to be located, articles of incorporation, stating the name by which the corporation or association shall be known, which shall not be the same as that of any such organization previously existing, its business or objects, the number of trustees, directors, managers or other officers to conduct the same, and the names thereof for the first year.

Railroads—Electric light, etc., poles

SECTION 2033–k. Location of poles.—[The erection of any pole or other structure for the support of wires less than 6 feet from the nearest rail of any track over which freight cars run is forbidden.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 2071. Injuries caused by negligence.—Every corporation operating a railway shall be liable for all damages sustained by any person, including employees of such corporation, in consequence of the neglect of the agents, or by any mismanagement of the engineers or other employees thereof, and in consequence of the willful wrongs, whether of commission or omission, of such agents, engineers, or other employees when such wrongs are in any manner connected with the use and operation of any railway on or about which they shall be employed, and no contract which restricts such liability shall be legal or binding.

Nor shall any contract of insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity in case of injury or death, entered into prior to the injury, between the person so injured and such corporation, or any other person or association acting for such corporation, nor shall the acceptance of any such insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity by the person injured, his widow, heirs, or legal representatives after the injury, from such corporation, person, or association, constitute any bar or defense to any cause of action brought under the provisions of this section, but nothing contained herein shall be construed to prevent or invalidate any settlement for damages between the parties subsequent to injuries received.

In all actions hereafter brought against any such corporation to recover damages for the personal injury or death of any employee under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this section, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier or corporation of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee; nor shall it be any defense to such action that the employee who was injured or killed assumed the risks of his employment.

This section is constitutional. 127 U. S. 210.

The intention of this statute is merely to give employees a right of action for injuries arising from the negligence of coemployees, and not to change the degree of care necessary as between master and servant. 26 Iowa, 363.

The company is not liable to an employee under circumstances that would not have rendered it liable to one not an employee. 107 Iowa, 682.

This statute does not confer upon a widow the right to sue for the death of her husband occasioned by the wrongful act of a railroad company. 83 N. W. 815.

A railway company can not avoid liability under this statute by requiring of its employees more than reasonable care in the discharge of their duties. 88 Iowa, 380.

This statute is not unconstitutional, being applicable to all persons or corporations engaged in a peculiar business. 20 Iowa, 338.

It seems not to be applicable to street railways. 68 Fed. 82.

A receiver, operating a railroad under the appointment of a court, is within the terms of this section. 62 Iowa, 728.

The statute applies only to accidents growing out of the use and operation of railroads. One who is required in the course of his employment by a railroad company to go upon a train is to be regarded as being engaged in its operation, notwithstanding his employment may not be connected with the running of its trains. 41 Iowa, 344.

The running of special trains by a construction company engaged in constructing a road is operating it within the meaning of this statute. 43 Iowa, 406.

A clinker man in a roundhouse injured while coupling tanks moved by engines is within the statute. 87 Iowa, 206.

So is a bridge worker who is required in the course of his employment to ride on trains. 47 Iowa, 375.

So is a section hand. 36 Iowa, 372.

And a man engaged in shoveling gravel from a gravel train. 43 Iowa, 406.

Or in the operation of a dirt train. 36 Iowa, 52.

Or running a hand car. 137 U. S. 507.

The ordinary work of a section gang is not within the statute. 107 N. W. 616.

Operating a ditching machine which worked by the movement along the track of the train of which it forms a part is within the statute. 73 Iowa, 576.

An employee injured while operating a derrick situated on a flat car, worked by moving the car, recovered under this statute. 73 Iowa, 576.

As did one injured by the caving of a sand bank where he had been engaged in loading a train. 72 Iowa, 709.

And one injured in a coal house by the negligent moving of a plank over which coal had been carried to the tender of a live engine. 106 Iowa, 54.

But employees elevating coal to a platform from which tenders were to be filled were not within the statute. 70 Iowa, 555.

Nor repair men at work on a track and not injured by the operation of the road. 68 Iowa, 22.

Nor a car repairer who worked on cars while not in motion, though sometimes required to ride from place to place on trains of the company for the purpose of making such repairs at different places. 64 Iowa, 644.

The foreman of an iron gang on a bridge, who controlled the speed of trains by signals, was directing the operation of trains in such a sense as to fix the liability of the railway company for the death of an employee at the bridge, caused by a train running at too great speed. 72 N. W. 545.

The fact that an employee is foreman of a crew of men whom he directs and whom he may hire or discharge does not prevent his being a coemployee with such workmen so that he can recover under this section for injuries received by their negligence. 60 Iowa, 230.

A written contract by which an employee agrees to hold the company harmless for injuries received in doing certain acts which he is advised are dangerous is admissible for the purpose of showing the existence of the rule and of notice to the employee of such rule and of the danger. 73 Iowa, 158.

This section does not make the employer responsible for negligent acts of an employee done tortiously or outside the line of duty. 78 N. W. 698.

The clause as to restrictive contracts is constitutional. 134 N. W. 1135.

So also of acceptance of benefits. 108 N. W. 902, 31 Sup. Ct. 259.

Railroads—Payment of wages

SECTION 2110–b1. Duty of railway companies.—Every railway corporation operating or doing business in the State of Iowa shall as often as semimonthly pay to every employee engaged in its business all wages or salaries earned by such employee to a day not more than eighteen days prior to the date of such payment. Any employee who is absent at the time fixed for payment, or who for any other reason is not paid at that time, shall be paid thereafter at any time upon six days' demand, and any employee leaving his or her employment or discharged therefrom shall be paid in full following his or her dismissal or voluntary leaving his or her employment at any time upon six days' demand. No corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall by special contract with the employees or by any other means secure exemption from the provisions of this act. And each and every employee of any corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall have his or her right of action against any such corporation for the full amount of his or her wages due on each regular pay day as herein provided in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State.

SEC. 2110–b2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $100. Each day's delay is a separate offense.]

Railroads—Wires over tracks

SECTIONS 2120–d–2120–j. Height.—[Railroad commissioners have general supervision and may make regulations as to electric wires crossing railroad tracks; but in no case shall a height of less than 22 feet above the top of the rails be prescribed.]

Railroads—Accidents to be reported

SECTION 2120–k. Reports.—[Any serious accident resulting in personal injury or loss of life must be immediately reported to the railroad commissioners, who may investigate and report to the governor; not available as evidence in damage suits.]

Bureau of labor statistics—Inspection, etc., of factories

SECTION 2469. Commissioner.—The bureau of labor statistics shall be under the control of a commissioner, biennially appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the executive council, whose term of office shall commence on the first day of April in each odd-numbered year and continue for two years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. He may be removed for cause by the governor, with the advice of the executive council, record thereof being made in his office; any vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. He shall give bonds in the sum of two thousand dollars with sureties to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and take the oath prescribed by law. He shall have an office in the capitol, safely keep all records, papers, documents, correspondence, and other property pertaining to or coming into his hands by virtue of his office, and deliver the same to his successor, except as hereinafter provided. * * *

SEC. 2470. Duties.—The duties of said commissioner shall be to collect, assort, systematize, and present in biennial reports to the governor statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State, especially in its relations to the commercial, social, educational, and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes, the means of escape from, and the protection of life and health in factories, the employment of children, the number of hours of labor exacted from them and from women, and to the permanent prosperity of the mechanical, manufacturing, and productive industries of the State; and he shall, as fully as practicable, collect such information and reliable reports from each county in the State, the amount and condition of the mechanical and manufacturing interests, the value and location of the various manufacturing and coal productions of the State, * * * and in said biennial report he shall give a statement of the business of the bureau since the last regular report, and shall compile and publish therein such information as may be considered of value to the industrial interests of the State, the number of laborers and mechanics employed, the number of apprentices in each trade, with the nativity of such laborers, mechanics' and apprentices' wages earned, the savings from the same, with age and sex of laborers employed, the number and character of accidents, the sanitary condition of institutions where labor is employed, the restrictions, if any, which are put upon apprentices when indentured, the proportion of married laborers and mechanics who live in rented houses, with the average annual rental, and the value of property owned by laborers and mechanics; and he shall include in such report what progress has been made with schools now in operation for the instruction of students in the mechanic arts and what systems have been found most practical, with details thereof. Such report shall not contain more than six hundred printed pages, and shall be of the number, and distributed in the manner, provided by law. He shall make a report to the governor during the year 1906, and biennially thereafter. * * *

Said commissioner may from time to time, with the consent of the executive council, issue bulletins containing information of importance to the industries of the State and to the safety of wage earners.

SEC. 2471. Witnesses.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall have the power to issue subpœnas, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties herein required by said bureau, said testimony to be taken in some suitable place in the vicinity to which testimony is applicable. Witnesses subppœnaed and testifying before the commissioner of the bureau shall be paid the same fees as witnesses before a justice's court, such payment to be made out of the general funds of the State on voucher by the commissioner, but such expense for witnesses shall not exceed one hundred dollars annually. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this section, who shall willfully neglect or refuse to attend or testify at the time and place named in the subpœna, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days: Provided, however, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside the county in which he resides to testify.

SEC. 2472. May enter premises.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall have the power to enter any factory or mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, when the same is open or in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics such as are contemplated by this chapter, and to examine into the methods of protection from danger to employees, and the sanitary conditions in and around such buildings and places, and make a record thereof. If the commissioner shall learn of any violation of, or neglect to comply with the law in respect to the employment of children, or in respect to fire escapes, or the safety of employees, or for the preservation of health, he shall give written notice to the owner or person in charge of such factory or building, of such offense or neglect, and if the same is not remedied within sixty days after service of such notice, such officer shall give the county attorney of the county in which such factory or building is situated, written notice of the facts, whereupon that officer shall immediately institute the proper proceedings against the person guilty of such offense or neglect. And any owner or occupant of such factory or mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or any agent or employee of such owner or occupant, who shall refuse to allow any officer or employee of said bureau to so enter, or who shall hinder him, or in any way deter him from collecting information, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 2473. Definition.—The expressions "factory," "mill," "workshop," "mine," "store," "business house," and "public or private work," as used in this chapter, shall be construed to mean any factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, where wage earners are employed for a certain stipulated compensation.

SEC. 2474. Report to bureau.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator, or manager of every factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or any other establishment where labor is employed, as herein provided, to make to the bureau, upon blanks furnished by said bureau, such reports and returns as said bureau may require for the purpose of compiling such labor statistics as are contemplated in this chapter; and the owner, operator or business manager shall make such reports or returns within sixty days from the receipt of blanks furnished by the commissioner, and shall certify under oath to the correctness of the same. Any owner, operator or manager of such factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, as herein stated, who shall neglect or refuse within thirty days after the receipt of notice given by said commissioner to furnish to the commissioner of labor such reports or returns as may be required by the commissioner in order to enable him to fully comply with the duties enjoined upon him by section twenty four hundred and seventy (2470), supplement to the code, 1907, and amendments thereto and supplementary thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and cost of prosecution, or imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 2475. Information confidential.—In the reports of the commissioner no use shall be made of names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by sections twenty-four hundred and seventy and twenty-four hundred and seventy-one of this chapter, such information being deemed confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs; and any officer or employee of the bureau of labor statistics violating this provision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

SEC. 2476. Reports to be preserved.—No report or return made to said bureau in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and no schedule, record, or document gathered or returned by its officers or employees, shall be destroyed within two years of the collection or receipt thereof. At the expiration of two years all records, schedules, or papers accumulating in said bureau during said period that may be considered of no value by the commissioner may be destroyed, provided the authority of the executive council be first obtained for such destruction.

SEC. 2477 (as amended 1921, ch. 209). Woman factory inspector.—One of the factory inspectors in the bureau of labor statistics shall be a woman, who shall, in addition to the general duties required of her, under the direction of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, inspect the sanitary and general conditions under which the women and children are at work in all factories, workshops, hotels, restaurants, stores, and any other places where women and children are employed; collect statistics and make recommendations and report the same to the commissioner of labor, who shall make special reference thereto in his biennial report to the governor, and said woman factory inspector shall render any other or additional service under the direction of the labor commissioner as will tend to promote the health and general welfare of the women and children employees of this State. The appointment by the commissioner of all factory inspectors shall be subject to the approval of the executive council. Said commissioner shall be allowed the necessary postage, stationery, and office expenses. The said salaries and expenses shall be paid as the salaries and expense of other State officers are provided for. The commissioner or any officer or employee of the bureau of labor statistics shall be allowed in addition to his salary his actual and necessary traveling expenses while in the performance of his duties, said expenses to be audited by the executive council and paid out of the general fund of the State upon a voucher verified by the commissioner or his deputy; but the total amount of the expenses for the officers and employees of said bureau other than the salaries shall not exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000) per annum.

Accidents in factories, mercantile establishments, etc.—Reports

SECTION 2477-1a. Records to be kept.—Manufacturers, manufacturing corporation, proprietors, or corporations operating any mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, mines other than those subject to inspection by the State mine inspector, or business houses, shall keep a careful record of any accidents occurring to an employee while at work for the employer, when such accident results in the death of the employee or in such bodily injury as will or probably may prevent him from returning to work within four days thereafter. The said record shall at all times be open to inspection by an inspector of the bureau of labor statistics. Within forty-eight hours after the occurrence of an accident, the record of which is herein required to be kept, a written report thereof shall be forwarded to the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, and said commissioner may require further and additional report to be furnished him should the first report be by him deemed insufficient. No statement contained in any such report shall be admissible in any action arising out of the accident therein reported. Any employer who fails to keep the record or to furnish the report as herein provided shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 2477–a. Age.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any mine, factory, mill, workshop, laundry, packing house, mercantile establishment where more than 8 persons are employed, operating elevators, in livery stables or garages, or as messengers or in delivery service; unless the place or business is owned or operated by the child's parents.]

SEC. 2477–a1. Street trades.—[Forbidden to boys under 11 and girls under 18, unless permitted to boys under 11, in exceptional cases; permits required to 16.]

SEC. 2477–b. Dangerous occupations.—[Dangerous occupations are forbidden under 16, brief list, "or in occupations dangerous to life or limb." No female under 21 may be employed where she must stand constantly.]

SEC. 2477–c (as amended 1919, ch. 139). Work time.—[Employment under 16 years of age is limited to 8 hours per day and 48 per week, but not between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m., and to 40 hours a week where there are part-time schools or classes; no delivery or messenger service under 18 years of age between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. in cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants.]

SEC. 2477–d. Certificates.—[Certificates are required to 16; issued on evidence of age, school attendance completing sixth grade, and medical certificate. Inspection officers may require evidence of age of children apparently under 16.]

SEC. 2477–e. Penalties.—[Penalties for false statements, violations, etc., are fines not to exceed $100, or imprisonment not over 30 days.]

SEC. 2477–f. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is by the commissioner of labor statistics, mine inspectors, etc.]

Free public employment offices

SECTION 2477–g (as amended 1921, ch. 209). Bureau established.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of Iowa shall, within thirty days after the taking effect of this act, establish in his office at Des Moines, Iowa, a department to be called The State Free Employment Bureau, and the said commissioner is hereby authorized and directed to establish such department and to adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this act. He shall, with the approval of the executive council, appoint a competent person who shall be placed in charge of such work and be known as the chief clerk of the State free employment bureau. His term of office shall be the same as that of commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics. All printing, postage, stationery, and other necessary office expenses, including telephone and telegraph bills used to properly carry on the work of such free employment bureau, shall be paid by the State in the same manner as are paid the other expenses of the office of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 2477–g2. Lists to be printed.—The chief clerk of the State free employment bureau shall cause to be printed the number of all applicants and the character of the employment desired by the applicants and the number of those desiring to employ labor, and the class thereof, which have been received by him since making up his last list, and cause a true copy of said list to be mailed to the auditors of the several counties of Iowa, and to the clerks of all cities and towns within the State of Iowa having a population of five hundred or more, according to the last State or national census. Said list shall be mailed out as above provided with such frequency as will in his judgment best serve the needs of the public but not oftener than once each week nor less frequent[ly] than one [once] each month. Said list shall be immediately posted on receipt thereof by the county auditors or city and town clerks in an accessible, conspicuous and public place in their respective communities and shall at all times be subject to the inspection of all persons desiring employment and all persons wishing to employ labor. The chief clerk of the State free employment bureau, with the consent of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics and with the approval of the executive council may adopt and use such other methods of disseminating information as will in their judgment be helpful in bringing the unemployed in touch with those desiring to employ such labor. No fee or compensation shall be received, either directly or indirectly, from persons residing within this State applying for employment or help to said State free employment bureau.

SEC. 2477–g3. Defacing, etc., lists.—Any person who shall deface, mutilate, destroy, or remove any of the lists required to be posted by the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

Private employment offices

SECTION 2477–h. Return of fees.—[Agencies charging fees must return them within the time agreed upon, or within a reasonable time, if no employment is secured; but $1 may be retained as a filing fee.]

SEC. 2477–i. Applications.—[A copy of all applications and contracts, with a statement of the amount to be paid, must be furnished persons applying to or contracting with employment agencies.]

SEC. 2477–j. Dividing fees.—[Splitting fees with employers or their agents is forbidden.]

SEC. 2477–k. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is in the hands of the commissioner of labor and statistics.]

SEC. 2477–l. Violations.—[Violations, or refusing inspection of records is a misdemeanor.]

Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 2477–n (as amended 1923, ch. 230). Application for board.—When any dispute arises between any person, firm, corporation or association of employers and their employees or association of employees, of this State, except employers or employees having trade relations directly or indirectly based upon interstate trade relations operating through or by State or international boards of conciliation, which has or is likely to cause a strike or lockout, involving ten (10) or more wage earners, and which does or is likely to interfere with the due and ordinary course of business, or which menaces the public peace, or which jeopardizes the welfare of the community, and the parties thereto are unable to adjust the same, either or both parties to the dispute, or the mayor of the city, or the chairman of the board of supervisers of the county in which said employment is carried on, or on petition of any twenty-five (25) citizens thereof over the age of twenty-one (21) years, or the labor commissioner, after investigation, may make written application to the governor for the appointment of a board of arbitration and conciliation, to which board such dispute may be referred under the provisions of this chapter; and the manager of the business of any person, firm, corporation, or association of such employers, or any organization representing such employees, or if such employees are not members of any organization, then a majority of such employees affected may make the application as provided in this chapter, but in no case shall more than twenty (20) employees be required to join in such application.

SEC. 2477–n1 (as amended 1923, ch. 230). Nominations of members.—The governor shall at once upon application made to him as herein provided, and upon his being satisfied that the dispute comes within the provisions of the preceding section, notify the parties to the dispute of the application for the appointment of a board of arbitration and conciliation and make request upon each party to the dispute that each of them recommend within three (3) days from the date of notice, the names of five (5) persons who have no direct interest in such dispute and are willing and ready to act as members of the board, and the governor shall appoint from each list submitted one (1) of such persons recommended. Should either of the parties fail or neglect to make any recommendation within the said period, the governor shall, as soon thereafter as possible, appoint a fit person who shall be deemed to be appointed on the recommendation of the parties in default. The members of the board so appointed shall within five (5) days of their appointment recommend to the governor the name of one (1) person who is ready and willing to act as a third member of the board, and upon failure or neglect upon their part to make such recommendation within the said period, or upon the failure or refusal of the person so recommended to act, the governor shall as soon thereafter as possible appoint some person to act as the third member of the board.

SEC. 2477–n2. Decisions, binding, when.—In all cases when the application is made by both parties to the dispute, they shall set forth in the application whether or not they agree to be bound by the decision of the board of arbitration and conciliation; and if both parties agree to be so bound by such decision, then the same shall be binding and enforceable as set out in section seven [2477–n6] of this act.

SEC. 2477–n3. Organization, etc., of board.—Each member of the board shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, be sworn to a faithful and impartial discharge thereof: They shall organize at once by the choice of one of their number as chairman, and one of their number as secretary, and shall have power to employ all necessary clerks and stenographers to properly carry out the duties of their appointment. The members of the board shall receive a compensation of five dollars per diem for the time actually employed, together with their traveling and other necessary expenses, the same to be payable out of the State treasury upon warrants drawn by the State auditor.

SEC. 2477–n4 (as amended 1923, ch. 230). Powers.—For the purpose of this inquiry the board shall have all the powers of summoning before it and enforcing the attendance of witnesses, of administering oaths, and of requiring witnesses to give evidence, to produce books, papers, and other documents or things as the board may deem requisite to the full investigation of the matters into which it is inquiring, as is vested in the district court in civil cases. Any member of the board may administer an oath, and the board may accept, admit, and call for such evidence as in equity and good conscience it thinks material and proper, whether strictly legal evidence or not.

A subpœna or any notice may be delivered or sent to any sheriff, constable, or any police officer who shall forthwith serve the same, and make due return thereof, according to directions. Witnesses in attendance and officers serving subpœnas or notices shall receive the same fees as are allowed in the district court, payable from the State treasury, upon the certificate of the board that such fees are due and correct. The board shall have the same power and authority to maintain and enforce order at the hearings and obedience to its writs of subpœna as is by law conferred upon the district court for like purposes.

SEC. 2477–n5. Investigations.—The board shall as soon as practical visit the place where the controversy exists, and make careful inquiry into the cause, and the said board may, with the consent of the governor, conduct such inquiry beyond the limits of the State. The board shall hear all persons interested who come before it, advise the respective parties what ought to be done or submitted to by either or both of the parties to the dispute to adjust said controversy, and make a written decision thereof, which shall at once be made public and open to public inspection and shall be recorded by the secretary of the board, and a copy of such report shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the city or town in which the controversy arose and shall be open for public inspection.

SEC. 2477–n6. Status quo for ten days.—The board of arbitration and conciliation shall within ten days from the date of their appointment unless such time shall be extended by the governor, complete the investigation of any controversy submitted to them, and during the pendency of such period neither party shall engage in any strike or lockout. Any decision made by the board shall date from the date of the appointment of the board and shall be binding upon the parties who join in the application as herein provided for a period of one year.

SEC. 2477–n7 (as amended 1923, ch. 230). Decision to be rendered.—Within five (5) days after the completion of the investigation, unless the time is extended by the governor for good cause shown, the board or a majority thereof shall render a decision, stating such details as will clearly show the nature of the controversy and the point[s] disposed of by them, and make a written report to the governor of their findings of fact and of their recommendation to each party to the controversy. Every decision and report shall be filed in the office of the governor, and a copy served upon each party to the controversy, and a copy furnished to the labor commissioner for publication in the report of the commissioner, who shall cause such decision and report to be published at a rate of not to exceed thirty-three and one-third cents (33⅓c.) per ten (10) lines of brevier type or its equivalent, in two (2) newspapers of general circulation in the county in which the business is located upon which the dispute arose. All evidence taken and exhibits and documents offered shall be carefully preserved and at the close of the investigation shall be filed in the office of the governor of the State and shall only be subject to inspection upon his order.

SEC. 2477-n8. Expenses.—The expenses incurred under the provisions of this act shall be audited by the executive council and shall be paid out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated upon warrants drawn by the auditor of State.

Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTION 2478. Inspectors.—[The governor appoints 3 from a list of those found eligible by board of examiners.]

SECS. 2480, 2481. Examinations.—[Examinations are held biennially.]

SEC. 2482. Districts.—[The State is divided into 3 districts; inspectors are furnished instruments, test weights, etc., and shall inspect mines at least every 6 months and report on accidents causing loss of life.]

SEC. 2483 (as amended 1921, ch. 209). Office.—[The general office is at the capitol.]

SEC. 2484. Neglect, etc.—[Charges of neglect or malfeasance are heard by the board of examiners convened by the governor for the purpose. If sustained, the inspector is removed, but may appeal to the courts.]

SECS. 2485–2496-e. Provisions for safety.—[Owners, etc., are required to furnish maps, provide escape shafts, ventilation, means of communication and signals, and the use of illuminating oils, powder, etc., is regulated. Mine foremen, pit bosses and hoisting engineers must have certificates at mines employing 5 or more persons, the same to be granted on examination by the State board of examiners. Checkweighmen may be employed, coal must be weighed before screening unless otherwise agreed to in writing, scrip must be redeemable in money at its face value, wages are payable semimonthly, any coercion as to trading is forbidden. Shot examiners must be employed "in all mines where the coal is blasted from the solid," such examiners to be certified as competent by the State mine inspector.]

Mine regulations—Gypsum mines

SECTIONS 2496-f–2496-n. Safety.—[Two distinct openings are required in mines where 5 or more men are employed; ventilation and speaking tubes must be supplied, an experienced hoisting engineer employed, timbers be supplied, maps be furnished, and fatal accidents be reported to the county coroner and the State mine inspector. The State mine inspector is charged with the enforcement of the law.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 2823-a. Term.—[Attendance 24 weeks per year to 16 is required unless (among other exemptions) 14 and regularly employed.]

Assignment of wages

SECTION 3047. Spouses to unite.—[Assignments of wages by the head of any family must be in writing, the same joint instrument to be signed by both husband and wife.]

Employers' liability—Contributory negligence

SECTION 3593-a. Burden of proof.—In all actions brought in the courts of this State to recover damages caused by the negligence of the defendant, the burden of proving contributory negligence shall rest upon the defendant: Provided, That this act shall only apply to actions brought by an employee against his or her employer, or by a passenger against a common carrier, and in such cases contributory negligence may be pleaded in mitigation of damages.

Execution on judgments for wages not to be stayed

SECTION 3996. Exception.—On all judgments for the recovery of money, except those rendered on any appeal or writ of error, or in favor of a laborer or mechanic for his wages, * * * there may be a stay of execution, * * *

Exemption of wages from execution—Sending claims out of the State

SECTION 4011 (as amended 1919, ch. 65; 1921, ch. 149). Amount exempt.—[To residents who are heads of families earnings of the 90 days next preceding the levy are exempt from execution, etc.]

SEC. 4018. Sending claims out of State.—[Sending a claim against a resident of the State outside the State for collection, or transmitting such claim to a nonresident, with the intent of depriving the debtor of his exemption rights under the State law is a misdemeanor.]

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships, etc.

SECTION 4019. Amount.—[When the property of any employer is assigned or seized for debt, debts owing employees for services during the 90 days preceding, not exceeding $100, shall be preferred to all other debts after the payment of costs.]

SEC. 4022. Rank.—[Allowed claims for wages are prior to all claims or liens except prior mechanics' liens for labor in opening or developing coal mines.]

Exemption of wages—Earnings outside State

SECTION 4071–a. Exemption allowed.—Wages earned outside of this State by a nonresident of this State and payable outside of this State, shall in all cases where the garnishing creditor is a nonresident of this State, be exempt from attachment or garnishment where the cause of action arises outside of this State; and it shall be the duty of the garnishee in such cases to plead such exemption, unless the defendant shall be personally served with original notice in this State.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 4999. Seats to be provided.—All employers of females in any mercantile or manufacturing business or occupation shall provide and maintain suitable seats, when practicable, for the use of such female employees, at or beside the counter or workbench where employed, and permit the use thereof by such employees to such extent as the work engaged in may reasonably admit of. Any neglect or refusal to comply with the provisions of this section by any employer shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars.

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 4999–a1. Toilet rooms.—[Every manufacturing establishment, workshop, or hotel where five or more persons are employed must be supplied with properly screened and ventilated water closets, in the proportion of at least one to every 20 employees. Separate provisions must be made for the sexes. Adequate washing facilities must be provided for all employees in factories, mercantile establishments, etc.; and if the labor makes a change of clothing necessary, wholly or in part, a dressing room or rooms with lockers and washing facilities for each sex must be furnished. Suitable drinking water is also to be supplied.]

SEC. 4999–a2 (as amended 1921, ch. 180). Safety appliances, etc.—It shall be the duty of the owner, agent, superintendent, or other person having charge of any manufacturing or other establishment where machinery is used, to furnish and supply or cause to be furnished and supplied therein, belt shifters or other safe mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing belts on and off pulleys, and, wherever possible, machinery therein shall be provided with loose pulleys; all saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws, and machinery of every description therein shall be properly guarded. No person under sixteen years of age and no female under eighteen years of age shall be permitted or directed to clean machinery while in motion. Children under sixteen years of age shall not be permitted to operate or assist in operating dangerous machinery of any kind: Provided, That this clause shall not be interpreted to include pupils working under an instructor in manual-training departments in the public schools of the State or under an instructor in a school shop or industrial plant in a course approved by the State board for vocational education for vocational educational purposes.

SEC. 4999–a3. Defective appliances.—In all cases where the property, works, machinery, or appliances of an employer are defective or out of repair, and where it is the duty of the employer from the character of the place, work, machinery or appliances to furnish reasonably safe machinery, appliances or place to work, the employee shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk, by continuing in the prosecution of the work, growing out of any defect as aforesaid, of which the employee may have had knowledge when the employer had knowledge of such defect, except when in the usual and ordinary course of his employment it is the duty of such employee to make the repairs, or remedy the defects. Nor shall the employee under such conditions be deemed to have waived the negligence, if any, unless the danger be imminent and to such extent that a reasonably prudent person would not have continued in the prosecution of the work; but this statute shall not be construed so as to include such risks as are incident to the employment. And no contract which restricts liability hereunder shall be legal or binding.

Sec. 4999–a4. Blowers for polishing machines, etc.—All persons, companies or corporations operating any factory or work shop where emery wheels or emery belts of any description, or tumbling barrels used for rumbling or polishing castings, are used, shall provide the same with blowers and pipes of sufficient capacity, placed in such a manner as to protect the person or persons using same from the particles of dust produced or caused thereby, and to carry away said particles of dust arising from or thrown off such wheels, belts or tumbling barrels while in operation, directly to the outside of the building, or to some receptacle place[d] so as to receive or confine such particles or dust: Provided, however, That grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of grinding contact, and small emery wheels which are used temporarily for tool grinding, are not included within the provisions of this section, and the shops employing not more than one man at such work may, in the discretion of the commissioner of the bureau of labor of the State, be exempt from the provisions hereof.

Any factory, workshop, print shop, or other place where molten metal or other material which gives off deleterious gases or fumes is kept or used shall be equipped with pipes or flues so arranged as to give easy escape to such gases or fumes into the open air, or provided with other adequate ventilators.

Sec. 4999–a5. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the bureau of labor of the State, and the mayor, and chief of police of every city or town, to enforce the provisions of the foregoing sections. Any person, whether acting for himself or for another or for a copartnership, joint-stock company or corporation, having charge or management of any manufacturing establishment, workshop, or hotel, who shall fail to comply with the provisions of said sections, within thirty days after being notified in writing to do so, by any one of said officers whose duty it may be to enforce the provisions of said sections, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

Whenever any person, in any manufacturing or other establishment wherein machinery is used and wherein or whereon guards or safety appliances have been provided, shall remove such guards or safety appliances from any machine or other equipment or shall so adjust such guards or safety appliances as to destroy their purpose of preventing bodily injuries or safeguarding health, excepting whenever it becomes necessary to remove some or all of the guards, including springs or pressure bars that may properly come under this act, to enable the employee operating said machine to perform certain special work that can not be performed with guard, it shall be the duty of said employee or employer to immediately replace them after said work has been completed. Any person, who may neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars, or more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed thirty days.

Sec. 4999–a6. Protection against fire.—All buildings, structures or enclosures of three or more stories and such other buildings of a less number of stories as are included by law and which buildings are not equipped with fire escapes or which buildings may hereafter be erected or the fire escapes of which are renewed or in need of renewal, shall be equipped with such protection against fire and means of escape as is by law provided. The word "building" used in the law relating to fire escapes and protection against fire and means of escape from buildings shall be held to include all of the structures or inclosures embraced in this section or referred to more specifically in the law relating to fire escapes, protection against fire and means of escape from buildings. When a basement is five feet or over above ground it shall be counted as a story.

SEC. 4999–a7. Number of fire escapes.—[A formula is given by which the number of fire escapes on buildings of three or more stories in height is to be determined; the location, spacing, etc., are also regulated, and time allowances stated within which exit of employees, etc., must be possible by the use of the fire escapes supplied or to be supplied in buildings of the various kinds of construction. The use of sprinkler systems may extend the time allowance.]

SEC. 4999–a8. Construction.—[Fire escapes are of three classes, A, B, and C. Standards of type and construction are fixed for each, or approval by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics. Necessary windows or openings must be furnished, and ways and paths of access kept open and clear, and windows and doors not locked. Suitable signs must indicate exits.]

SEC. 4999–a9. Buildings classified.—[Classes of buildings are fixed, and the type or class of escape for each indicated.]

SEC. 4999–a9a. Doors to open outward.—[Doors of all structures where the hazard is deemed sufficient by the inspector must open outward and not be fastened against exit.]

SEC. 4999–a10. Enforcement.—[Building inspectors in cities and the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics are charged with enforcement. Inspectors finding defects, etc., must give notice of changes required, from which an appeal to the commissioner may be taken. The commissioner is to make necessary rules and regulations for carrying out the law.]

SEC. 4999–a11. Violations.—[Violations of the law or of orders are misdemeanors, punishable by fine, $25 to $100, and $25 additional for each week's delay.]

Inspection, etc., of steam boilers

SECTION 5026. Steam gauges, etc., to be provided.—Any person owning or operating steam boilers in this State shall provide the same with steam gauge, safety valve and water gauge, and keep the same in good order. Any person neglecting so to do shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

Blacklisting

SECTION 5027. Blacklisting.—If any person, agent, company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, shall prevent or attempt to prevent by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company or corporation, except by furnishing in writing on request a truthful statement as to the cause of his discharge, such person, agent, company or corporation shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred nor less than one hundred dollars, and shall be liable for all damages sustained by any such person.

SEC. 5028. Acts of agents.—If any railway company or other company, partnership or corporation shall authorize or allow any of its or their agents to blacklist any discharged employee, or attempt by word or writing or any other means whatever to prevent such discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left said company's service, from obtaining employment with any other person or company, except as provided for in the preceding section, such company or copartnership shall be liable in treble damages to such employee so prevented from obtaining employment.

Bribery of employees

SECTION 5028–n. Receiving bribes.—It shall be unlawful for any agent, representative or employee, officer or any agent of a private corporation, or a public officer, acting in behalf of a principal in any business transaction, to receive, for his own use, directly or indirectly, any gift, commission, discount, bonus or gratuity connected with, relating to or growing out of such business transaction; and it shall be likewise unlawful for any person, whether acting in his own behalf or in behalf of any copartnership, association or corporation, to offer, promise or give directly or indirectly any such gift, commission, discount, bonus or gratuity. Any person violating the provisions of this act or any of them shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25), nor more than five hundred dollars ($500), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 5028–o. Witnesses not excused.—No person shall be excused from attending, testifying or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents before any court or in obedience to the subpœna of any court having jurisdiction of the misdemeanor on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary, or otherwise, required of him, may tend to incriminate him or to subject him to a penalty or forfeiture. But no person shall be liable to any criminal prosecution, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before said court or in obedience to its subpœna or in any such case or proceeding: Provided, That no person so testifying or producing any such books, papers, contracts, agreements or documents shall be exempted from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying: Provided, This act shall not apply to those cases in which the principals, being the contracting parties, have knowledge of and consent to the payment of a commission to an agent or representative.

False charges against employees of railroads, etc.

SECTION 5028-w1. What acts misdemeanors.—Every person who shall by any letter, mark, sign or designation whatever, or by any verbal statement, falsely and without probable cause, report to any railroad or any other company or corporation, or to any person or firm, or to any of the officers, servants, agents or employees of any such corporation, person or firm, that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or any employee of such railroad company, corporation, person or firm has received any money or thing of value for the transportation of persons or property or for other service for which he has not accounted to such corporation, person or firm, or shall falsely and without probable cause report that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or other employee of any railroad company, corporation, firm or person, neglected, failed or refused to collect any money or ticket for transportation of persons or property or other service when it was their duty so to do, shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days.

Anti-trust law—Labor organizations exempt

SECTION 5067-a (as amended 1919, ch. 213). Status of labor.—* * * The labor of a human being either mental or physical is not a commodity or article of commerce and it shall not be unlawful for men and women to organize themselves into or carry on unions for the purpose, by lawful means of lessening the hours of labor or increasing the wages, or bettering the condition of the members of such organizations; or lawfully carrying out their legitimate purposes.

ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 183.—Public printing—Wages and hours of labor

SECTION 10. Union conditions.—* * * The contracts for printing and binding let under this act shall provide that as an assurance of satisfactory work being performed, those offices doing work for the State shall pay the wages and work the hours established by the typographical union in the city where said work is done.

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 18.—Factory, etc., regulations—Elevators

SECTION 1. Safety.—[Elevators and machinery connected therewith, hoistways, hatchways and the like must be constructed, equipped, and guarded so as to be safe. Hoisting devices under the jurisdiction of the mine inspector are not affected by this act.]

SECS. 2-4. Standards; conference board.—[The governor is to appoint a conference board for the purpose of adopting a code of standards as to the construction, equipment, maintenance, and operation of elevators, such standards to have the force of law, and to be observed as regards all elevators coming under this act. The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics is charged with the duty of inspection, and the enforcement of the provisions of this act.]

SEC. 5. Ordinances.—[Cities and towns may enact ordinances as to elevators not in conflict with this act or the rules authorized by it.]

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or imprisonment not over 30 days, or both.]

KANSAS

GENERAL STATUTES—1915

Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 421. Arbitration tribunals.—The district court of each county, or a judge thereof in vacation, shall have the power, and upon presentation of a petition as hereinafter provided it shall be the duty, of said court or judge to issue a license or authority for the establishment within and for any county within the jurisdiction of said court, of a tribunal for voluntary arbitration and settlements of disputes between employers and employed in the manufacturing, mechanical, mining, and other industries.

SEC. 422. Petition.—The said petition shall be substantially in the form hereinafter given, and the petition shall be signed by at least five persons employed as workmen, or by two or more separate firms, individuals or corportions within the county who are employers within the county: Provided, That at the time the petition is presented, the judge before whom said petition is presented may, upon motion, require testimony to be taken as to the representative character of said petitioners; and if it appears that the requisite number of said petitioners are not of the character they represent themselves to be, the establishment of the said tribunal may be denied, or he may make such other order in that behalf as shall to him seem fair to both sides.

SEC. 423. License.—If the said petition shall be signed by the requisite number of either employers or workmen, and be in proper form, the judge shall forthwith cause to be issued a license, authorizing the existence of such a tribunal and containing the names of four persons to compose the tribunal, two of whom shall be workmen and two employers, all residents of said county, and fixing the time and place of the first meeting thereof; and an entry of the license so granted shall be made upon the journal of the district court of the county in which the petition originated.

SEC. 424. Duration, jurisdiction, etc.—Said tribunal shall continue in existence for one year from the date of the license creating it and may take jurisdiction of the dispute between employers and workmen in any mechanical, manufacturing, mining, or other industry, who may submit their disputes in writing to such tribunal for decision. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the tribunal shall be filled by the judge or court that licensed said tribunal. Disputes occurring in one county may be referred to a tribunal already existing in an adjoining county. Said court at the time of the issuance of said license shall appoint an umpire for said tribunal, who shall be sworn to impartially decide all questions that may be submitted to him during his term of office. The umpire shall be called upon to act after disagreement is manifested in the tribunal by failure to agree during three meetings held and full discussion had. His award shall be final and conclusive upon such matters only as are submitted to him in writing and signed by the whole of the members of the tribunal, or by parties submitting the same. And the award of said tribunal shall be final and conclusive upon the questions so submitted to it: Provided, That said award may be impeached for fraud, accident, or mistake.

SEC. 425. Organization.—The said tribunal when convened shall be organized by the selection of one of their number as chairman, and one as secretary, who shall be chosen by a majority of the members.

SEC. 426. Compensation, etc.—The members of the tribunal and the umpire shall each receive as compensation for their services, out of the treasury of the county in which said disputes shall arise, two dollars for each day of actual service. The sessions of said tribunal shall be held at the county seat of the county where the petition for the same was presented, and a suitable room for the use of said tribunal shall be provided by the county commissioners.

SEC. 427. Submissions.—All submissions of matters in dispute shall be made to the chairman of said tribunal, who shall file the same. The chairman of the tribunal shall have power to administer oaths to all witnesses who may be produced, and a majority of said tribunal may provide for the examination and investigation of books, documents and accounts necessary, material and pertaining to the matters in hearing before the tribunal, and belonging to either party to the dispute. The umpire shall have power where necessary to administer oaths and examine witnesses, and examine and investigate books, documents and accounts pertaining to the matters submitted to him for decision.

SEC. 428. Rules.—The said tribunal shall have power to make, ordain and enforce rules for the government of the body when in session, to enable the business to be proceeded with in order, and to fix its sessions and adjournments, but such rules shall not conflict with this statute nor with any of the provisions of the constitution and laws of the State: Provided, That the chairman of said tribunal may convene said tribunal in extra session at the earliest day possible, in cases of emergency.

SEC. 429. Statements to be in writing.—Before the umpire shall proceed to act, the question or questions in dispute shall be plainly defined in writing and signed by the members of the tribunal or a majority thereof, or by the parties submitting the same; and such writing shall contain the submission of the decision thereof to the umpire by name, and shall provide that his decision thereon after hearing shall be final; and said umpire must make his award within five days from the time the question or questions in dispute are submitted to him. Said award shall be made to the tribunal; and if the award is for a specific sum of money, said award of money or the award of the tribunal, when it shall be for a specific sum, may be made a matter of record by filing a copy thereof in the district court of the county wherein the tribunal is in session. When so entered of record it shall be final and conclusive, and the proper court may, on motion of anyone interested, enter judgment thereon; and when the award is for a specific sum of money may issue final and other process to enforce the same: Provided, That any such award may be impeached for fraud, accident, or mistake.

SEC. 430. Form of petition.—The form of the petition praying for a tribunal under this act shall be as follows:

"To the district court of _____ County [or a judge thereof, as the case may be]: The subscribers hereto being the number and having the qualifications required in this proceeding, being desirous of establishing a tribunal of voluntary arbitration for the settlement of disputes in the manufacturing, mechanical, mining and other industries, pray that a license for a tribunal of voluntary arbitration may be issued, to be composed of four persons and an umpire, as provided by law."

Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 2164. Duty of corporations.—All corporations doing business in this State, which shall employ any mechanics, laborers, or other servants, shall pay the wages of such employees as often as semimonthly: Provided, This act shall not apply to the State or any municipal corporation.

SEC. 2165. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $50 to $500 for each offense.]

Strikes of railroad employees, etc.

SECTION 3755. Abandonment of locomotives.—If any locomotive engineer, in furtherance of any combination or agreement, shall willfully and maliciously abandon his locomotive upon any railroad, at any other point than the regular schedule destination of such locomotive, he shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and confined not less than twenty days nor more than ninety days in the county jail.

SEC. 3756. Intimidation, etc.—If any person or persons shall willfully and maliciously by any act or by means of intimidation, impede or obstruct, except by due process of law, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company, or other corporation, firm, or individual in this State, or of the regular running of any locomotive engine, freight or passenger train of any such company, or the labor and business of any such corporation, firm, or individual, he or they shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and confined in the county jail not less than twenty days nor more than ninety days.

SEC. 3757. Conspiracy.—If two or more persons shall willfully and maliciously combine or conspire together to obstruct or impede by any act, or by means of intimidation, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company, or any other corporation, firm, or individual in this State, or to obstruct, hinder, or impede, except by due process of law, the regular running of any locomotive engine, freight or passenger train on any railroad, or the labor or business of any such corporation, firm, or individual, such persons shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine not less than twenty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and confined in the county jail not less than twenty days nor more than ninety days.

SEC. 3758. Act construed.—This act [secs. 3755–3757] shall not be construed to apply to cases of persons voluntarily quitting the employment of any railroad company, or such other corporation, firm, or individual, whether by concert of action or otherwise, except as is provided in section one of this act [sec. 3755].

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 4219. Attempting to influence vote.—Any person or corporation who shall refuse to an employee the privilege hereby conferred, or shall subject an employee to a penalty or deduction of wages because of the exercise of such privileges, or who shall in any manner attempt to influence or control such voter as to how he shall vote, by offering any reward, or by threatening his discharge from employment, or otherwise intimidating him from a full and free exercise of his right to vote, or shall directly or indirectly violate the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

Wages—Exemptions—Preference

SECTION 4553. Widow's preference.—[Grants the widow of a deceased workman his personal earnings exempt to him from attachments, etc.]

SEC. 4564. Wage preference.—[Wage debts owed by a deceased employer rank with expenses of last sickness and of administration, funeral expenses being a prior charge.]

SEC. 4703. Personal property not exempt.—[No personal property of any wage debtor is "exempt from attachment or execution for the wages of any clerk, mechanic, laborer or servant."]

SEC. 4705. Wages exempt, when.—Wages earned out of this State and payable out of this State shall be exempt from attachment or garnishment in all cases where the cause of action rose [arose] out of this State, unless the defendant in the attachment or garnishment suit is personally served with process; and if the writ of attachment or garnishment is not personally served on the defendant, the court issuing the writ of attachment or garnishment shall not entertain jurisdiction of the cause, but shall dismiss the suit at the cost of the plaintiff.

Free public employment offices

SECTIONS 5849–5857. Bureau established.—[These sections contain provisions for the organization of a free employment bureau, under a director of free employment, the purpose of which is to establish and maintain free employment offices in cities of the first and second class. The duties of the director and of the officials of the cities concerned are prescribed, printing provided for, and a system of registration and reports, arrangements to secure harvest labor, etc. (See the act, chapter 62, Acts of Extra Session, 1920, declared cumulative of acts now in force, but in apparent conflict in several respects with the above sections, and being of later enactment, must be regarded as the current law.)]

Private employment offices

SECTIONS 5858, 5859. Licenses.—[Licenses must be procured from the director of the State free employment bureau before any private agency can open. The fee in cities of 20,000 or over is $25 per annum, and in smaller cities, etc., $10. Licenses may issue for fractional parts of the year, but not for less than one-third of the full annual rate.]

SECS. 5860, 5861. Bonds.—[Bond in the sum of $500 is required in all cases, conditioned on compliance with the act. The director of free agencies may bring action thereon in case of violations.]

SEC. 5862. Revocation.—[Licenses may be revoked for violations, after written complaint filed, and hearing.]

SEC. 5863. Register.—[Registers of persons applying for help must be kept open to inspection at all reasonable times.]

SEC. 5864. Fees.—[Registration fees may not exceed $1 in amount unless the wage or salary be more than $3 per day, when $2 may be charged. Receipts are required, and the fee must be returned in full, on demand, if no position is procured in 3 days.]

SECS. 5865, 5866. False statements; complaints.—[False notices, etc., and false or fraudulent entries are forbidden. If informed of violations, the director must file complaint with the attorney general or county attorney.]

SEC. 5867. Violations.—[Failure to comply entails a penalty of $50 to $100, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

Hours of labor on public works—Wages

SECTION 5870 (as amended 1923, ch. 157). Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the State of Kansas, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township or other municipality of said State, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, which may arise in time of war or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life: Provided, That in all such cases the laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons so employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided, further, That not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to laborers, workmen, mechanics, and other persons so employed by or on behalf of the State of Kansas, or any county, city, township or other municipality of said State. And laborers, workmen, mechanics and other persons employed by contractors or subcontractors in the execution of any contract or contracts within the State of Kansas, or within any county, city, township or other municipality thereof, shall be deemed to be employed by or on behalf of the State of Kansas, or of such county, city, township or other municipality thereof: Provided, further, That any cities of the second or third class owning or operating municipal light and water plants be and the same are hereby exempted from the provisions of this act: Provided, further, that this act shall not apply to township or county work in dragging or grading dirt roads.

SEC. 5871. Applies to all contracts.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State of Kansas, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township, or other municipality of said State, with any corporation, person or persons, for the performance of any work or the furnishing of any material manufactured within the State of Kansas, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; and it shall be unlawful for any such corporation, person or persons to require or permit any laborer, workman, mechanic or other person to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work or in furnishing or manufacturing such material, except in the cases and upon the conditions provided in section 1 of this act [sec. 5870].

SEC. 5872. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $50 to $1,000, or imprisonment 6 months, or both.]

This law is constitutional. 61 Kans. 257; 24 Sup. Ct. 124.

This act does not apply to persons taking contracts, but only to laborers working by the day. 49 Pac. Rep. 329.

It is superior to a city ordinance fixing ten hours as a day's work on streets by persons working out poll tax. 55 Pac. 336.

A school district is a municipality within the meaning of this act. 69 Pac. 172.

This act controls contracts by cities for municipal improvements. A municipal corporation is such an agent of the State as to be controlled by those limitations which the State sees fit to provide for itself. 67 Pac. Rep. 519.

It does not furnish ground for a suit for pay for overtime labor rendered under an executed contract. 65 Pac. 638.

Payment of wages on termination of employment

SECTION 5880. Wages to be paid, when.—It shall be unlawful for any firm or corporation employing labor within this State, to refuse or neglect to pay to any person leaving its service either by resignation or discharge any money due as wages within ten days from the termination of such services, and such payment must be made either at the place of discharge or at any office of such company or corporation within the State as may be designated by the party employed, he giving notice in writing to the foreman or party in charge of such work.

SEC. 5881. Violations.—[Where employers fail to pay wages as required above, the wages continue at the same rate until paid, but not for more than 60 days unless action was begun within that time.]

This statute is valid legislation. Livingston v. Oil Co., 216 Pac. 296.

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 5885. Priority of wages.—[All wages due laborers or employees other than officers of a corporation, earned within 6 months preceding insolvency, "shall be preferred to every other debt or claim."]

Factory, etc., regulations—Provisions for safety

SECTION 5886. Elevator shafts.—Every person owning or operating any manufacturing establishment which may contain any elevator, hoisting-shaft or well-hole shall cause the same to be properly and substantially inclosed or secured, in order to protect the lives or limbs of those employed in such establishment.

SEC. 5887. Stairways.—Proper and substantial hand-rails shall be provided in all stairways in manufacturing establishments. The stairs shall be properly secured at the sides and ends, and all doors leading into such establishments shall be so constructed as to open outwardly, and shall be neither locked, bolted, nor fastened during working hours.

SEC. 5888. Fire escapes.—In all manufacturing establishments three or more stories high, at least one fire-escape, and as many more as may be reasonably necessary, shall be provided on the outside of said establishment, connecting with each floor above the first, well fastened and secured, and of sufficient strength. Each of said fire escapes shall have landings or balconies not less than six feet in length and three feet in width, guarded by iron railings not less than three feet in height, and embracing at least two windows at each story, and connecting with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings, and the balconies or landings shall be connected by iron stairs not less than eighteen inches wide, the steps not to be less than six inches tread, placed at a proper slant, and protected by a well-secured hand-rail on each side, with twelve-inch drop-ladder from the lower platform reaching to the ground.

SEC. 5889. Belt shifters, guards, etc.—Every person owning, or operating any manufacturing establishment in which machinery is used shall furnish and supply for use therein belt-shifters or other safe mechanical contrivance, for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys; and wherever it is practicable, machinery shall be operated with loose pulleys. All vats, pans, saws, planers, cog gearing, belting, shafting, set-screws and machinery of every description used in a manufacturing establishment shall, where practicable, be properly and safely guarded, for the purpose of preventing or avoiding the death of or injury to the persons employed or laboring in any such establishment; and it is hereby made the duty of all persons owning or operating manufacturing establishments to provide and keep the same furnished with safeguards as herein specified.

SEC. 5890. Action for injuries.—If any person employed or laboring in any manufacturing establishment shall be killed or injured in any case wherein the absence of any of the safeguards or precautions required by this act shall directly contribute to such death or injury, the personal representatives of the person so killed, or the person himself in case of injury only, may maintain an action against the person owning or operating such manufacturing establishment for the recovery of all proper damages. In cases where the action is brought by the personal representative of the deceased, said action shall be governed in all respects not herein provided for by the provisions of the statutes now in force which authorize and regulate the bringing of actions to recover damages in cases where the death of one is caused by the wrongful act or omission of another: Provided, Action shall be commenced in the county where the accident occurred.

SEC. 5891. Failure to provide appliances.—In all actions brought under and by virtue of the provisions of this act, it shall be sufficient for the plaintiff to prove in the first instance, in order to establish the liability of the defendant, that the death or injury complained of resulted in consequence of the failure of the person owning or operating the manufacturing establishment where such death or injury occurred to provide said establishment with safeguards as required by this act, or that the failure to provide such safeguard directly contributed to such death or injury.

Sec. 5892. Definition.—Manufacturing establishments, as those words are used in this act, shall mean and include all smelters, oil refineries, cement works, mills of every kind, machine and repair shops, and, in addition to the foregoing, any other kind or character of manufacturing establishment, of any nature or description whatsoever, wherein any natural products or other articles or materials of any kind, in a raw or unfinished or incomplete state or condition, are converted into a new or improved or different form.

Sec. 5893. "Person" defined.—Wherever the expression occurs in this act in substantially the following words: "Every person owning or operating any manufacturing establishment," or where language similar to that is used, the word "person" in that connection shall be held and construed to mean any person or persons, partnership, corporation, receiver, trust, trustee, or any other person or combination of persons, either natural or artificial, by whatever name he or they may be called.

Assumption of risk is not a defense where an employer has failed to comply with the provisions of the law. 90 Pac. 821.

The act excludes the defense of contributory negligence. 109 Pac. 657.

Violation by an employer resulting in injury is prima facie evidence of negligence. 95 Pac. 1047.

The plaintiff is not required to show the practicability of safeguards. 109 Pac. 657.

A grain elevator where corn is shelled and wheat is cleaned is a manufacturing establishment within the meaning of this act. 133 Pac. 709.

And so is a railroad carpenter shop, though nothing made therein is offered for sale, being exclusively for the use of the company. 131 Pac. 575.

Protection of employees on buildings

Section 5894. Workmen may make complaint.—Whenever it shall come to the notice of any workman, laborer or mechanic employed in the construction, repairing or painting of any building, tower, tank, or other structure, or of any other person or persons, that the staging, scaffolding, stays or other appliances used for the purpose of supporting said workmen, laborers, or mechanics, their tools, and all necessary material, while at work on such building, tower, tank, or other structure, are not of sufficient strength to safely carry the weight of such workmen, laborers, or mechanics, their tools, and all necessary material, while working thereon, or if any elevator, derrick or hoist used for the purpose of raising or lowering workmen or material to be used in the aforesaid construction, repairing or painting are not of sufficient strength to do the work required of them, or are not surrounded by the proper safeguards, said workmen, laborers, mechanics or other person or persons may make complaint to the State factory inspector, who shall forthwith inspect, or cause to be inspected by his assistant or deputy, such insufficient staging, scaffolding, stays, elevators, derricks, hoists or other appliances used in the said construction, repairing, or painting, and if found upon inspection to be insufficient and unsafe, or not properly surrounded by safeguards, it shall be the duty of the said State factory inspector, his assistant or deputy, to then and there notify the contractor, owner, superintendent or person in charge of the construction, repairing or painting of said building, tower, tank or other structure, of the conditions of such staging, scaffolding, stays, elevators, derricks, hoists or other appliances used as aforesaid. It shall then become incumbent upon the said contractor, owner, superintendent or person having in charge the said construction, repairing, or painting, having been so notified, to immediately reconstruct, repair, strengthen, or cause to be reconstructed, repaired, or strengthened, such defective staging, scaffolding, stays, elevators, derricks, hoists, or other appliances, and put in place and maintained, or cause to be put in place and maintained, such railing or other safeguards as may be deemed necessary by the said inspector, his assistant or deputy, to bring them safely within the provisions of this act [secs. 5894, 5895].

Sec. 5895. Duty of contractors, etc.—Any contractor, owner, superintendent or person in charge of the construction, repairing or painting of any building tower, tank or other structure, who, after having received notice from the State factory inspector, his assistant or deputy, shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act [secs. 5894, 5895] and the demands of the said inspector, his assistant or deputy, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for such offense, and an additional fine of five dollars for each day the said work is continued after such notice until the provisions of this act have been fully complied with.

Accidents on railroads, etc.—Reports and investigations

SECTION 5943. Reports required.—Wherever loss of life or serious personal injury shall occur in or about any factory, workshop, work yard, mill or other industrial establishment, or on any building in course of construction, or in the operation of any railroad, street-car line, public works, or in or about any passenger or freight elevator or other place, works or yards, where machinery or motive power is used, by reason of defects or faults in machinery, appliances, tools, scaffolding, ropes, cables or other appliances or materials used in construction or in the operation of said machinery or appliances, or motive power, so used, it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, manager, superintendent, or foreman in charge thereof, within twenty-four hours shall [to] mail a notice to the State factory inspector with a true and complete statement so far as known of the manner in which such accident occurred, and the cause and casualties thereof: Provided, Such statement shall not be competent evidence in any court in this State. If on receipt and examination of such statement and in his judgment the circumstances shall warrant, it shall be the duty of the State factory inspector to immediately go or send a deputy to the scene of such accident, and to make such investigation and recommendations and require such alterations of the machinery and appliances causing such accident as may be necessary to prevent a recurrence of said accident, and for the safety and protection of other persons there employed. In case any person is killed in an accident as described in the foregoing, and a coroner's inquest is held, the State factory inspector or his deputy may attend and participate in the inquest, upon the request of the coroner and county attorney, and ascertain by the testimony before the coroner the cause of such accident, for the purpose of securing such information as may be necessary to prevent a repetition of such accident.

SEC. 5944. Reports by inspector.—The State factory inspector shall incorporate in his annual report to the governor a report of said accidents occurring, the cause and casualties of said accidents as ascertained, whether fatal or nonfatal, and a record of the recommendations made in such cases.

SEC. 5945. Violations.—[Failure to comply with this act entails penalty of $100 to $500, or imprisonment 30 to 90 days, or both.]

SEC. 5946. Exemptions.—Provided, That this act shall not apply to the coal or salt mines of this State.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 5947. Seats to be provided.—The proprietor, manager, or person having charge of any mercantile establishment, store, shop, hotel, restaurant, or other place where women or girls are employed as clerks or help therein in this State shall provide chairs, stools, or other contrivances for the comfortable use of such female employees and shall permit the use of the same by such female employees for the preservation of their health and for rest when not actively employed in the discharge of their respective duties.

SEC. 5948. Penalty.—Any proprietor, manager, or other person violating the preceding section of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

Blacklisting

SECTION 5949. Blacklisting.—Any employer of labor in this State, after having discharged any person from his service, shall not prevent or attempt to prevent by word, sign, or writing of any kind whatsoever any such discharged employee from obtaining employment from any other person, company, or corporation except by furnishing in writing, on request, the cause of such discharge.

SECS. 5951, 5952. Violations.—[Penalty for violation entails a fine of $100 and imprisonment 30 days; also threefold damages and attorney's fee.]

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 6272–6287, 6292 (as amended 1919, ch. 231), 6293–6341, 6342 (as amended 1917, ch. 241), 6343–6345, 6346 (as amended 1917, ch. 241), 6348–6354. Regulations.—[These sections combine various laws affecting coal mines in the State. Maps are required, at least two openings, the inspection of steam boilers used in and around mines, ventilation, the employment of a mining boss, a State mine inspector is provided for, the installation of telephone systems, etc. The use of explosives, illuminating oils, the weighing of coal, the operation of hoists, the fencing of machinery, shafts, etc., are regulated; wash rooms are required, and the employment of a checkweighman by the miners permitted.]

Payment of wages—Coal miners

SECTION 6355. Changing or altering car checks.—It shall be unlawful for any person to change, exchange, substitute, alter, or remove any number or check number placed upon any car or pit car in or about any mine in the State of Kansas with the intent to cheat or defraud any other person out of the value of his services in mining and loading the coal or mineral contained in such car or pit car; and it shall be unlawful for any person, with the intent to cheat or defraud another, to place any number or check number upon any car or pit car loaded by any other person in or about any mine.

SEC. 6356. Violations.—[Fine of $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both, are penalties for violations.]

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 6403. Minors.—[This section relates to acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations of children under 14. See similar law of Delaware (more complete), sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

Injunctions in labor disputes

SECTION 7146. Notice and hearing.—No injunction whether interlocutory or permanent in any case between employer and employee, or between employers and employees, or between employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms, or conditions of employment shall be issued without previous notice, and an opportunity to be heard on behalf of the parties to be enjoined, which notice, together with a copy of the motion, petition, or other pleading upon which the application for such injunction will be based, shall be served upon the parties sought to be enjoined a reasonable time in advance of such application. But if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or judge that the immediate and irreparable injury is likely to ensue to the complainant, and that the giving of notice of the application or the delay incident thereto would probably permit the doing of the act sought to be restrained before notice could be served or hearing had thereon, the court or judge, may, in his discretion, issue a temporary restraining order without notice. Every such order shall be indorsed of record, shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice, and shall by its terms expire within such time after entry, not to exceed seven days, as the court or judge may fix, unless within the time so fixed the order is extended or renewed for a like period, after notice to those previously served, if any, and for good cause shown, and the reasons for such extension shall be entered of record.

SEC. 7147. Security for costs and damages.—No restraining order or interlocutory order of injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant in such sum as the court or judge may deem proper, conditioned upon the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who may be found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained thereby.

SEC. 7148. Contents.—Every order of injunction or restraining order shall set forth the reasons for the issuance of the same, shall be specific in terms, and shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the petition, motion, or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained; and shall be binding only upon the parties to the suit, their agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, or those in active concert with them, and who shall by personal service or otherwise have received actual notice of the same.

SEC. 7149. When granted.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of the State of Kansas, or a judge or the judges thereof, in any case between an employer and employee, or between employers and employees, or between employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or by his agent or attorney. And no such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means to do so; or from attending at or near a house or place where any person resides or works, or carries on business, or happens to be for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or of peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute; or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means to do so; or from paying or giving to or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling at any place in a lawful manner and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto.

Exemption of wages—In executions

SECTIONS 7435, 7436. Wages exempt on affidavit.—[If the judgment debtor makes affidavit that earnings for personal services within 3 months prior to the judgment are necessary for the support of his family, such earnings are exempt; except that ten per cent monthly may be taken and applied to the debt, plus $4 court costs.]

Railroads, etc.—Accidents to be reported

SECTION 8360. Reports required.—[Common carriers and all public utilities covered by this statute are required to report to the public utilities commission all accidents attended with loss of life or serious personal injury, which the commission may investigate if it deems the public interest requires such action.]

Railroads—Height of wires over tracks

SECTIONS 8450–8452. Regulations.—[The board of railroad commissioners is authorized to make reasonable rules as to the stringing of wires over tracks; but they may not be less than 25 feet above same, except trolley and feed wires of electric railroads, which may not be less than 22 feet. Complaints by interested parties must be investigated and violations prosecuted.]

Railroads—Liability for injuries to employees

SECTION 8480. Injuries caused by fellow servants, etc.—Every company, corporation, receiver, or other person operating any railroad in this State shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier operating such railroad, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow and children, or husband and children, or children, or mother or father of the deceased, and if none, then the next of kin dependent upon such employee for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such carrier; or by reason of any insufficiency of clearance of obstructions, of strength of road bed and tracks or structure, of machinery and equipment, of lights and signals, or rules and regulations, and of number of employees to perform the particular duties with safety to themselves and their coemployees, or of any other insufficiency, or by reason of any defect, which defect is due to the negligence of said employer, its officers, agents, servants, or other employees in its cars, engines, motors, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, boats, works, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 8481. Negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier by railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier, its officers, agents, servants, or other employees of any Federal or State statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 8482. Risks not assumed, when.—Any action brought against any common carrier, under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, to recover damages for injuries to or the death of any of its employee[s], such employees shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier, its officers, agents, servants, or other employees of any Federal or State statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 8483. Waivers.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such common carrier may set off therein any sum contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

SEC. 8484. Rights survive.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representatives for the benefit of those entitled to recover under this act, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury.

Railroads—Provisions for safety

SECTION 8492. Flagmen required, when.—All persons or corporations operating railroads in the State of Kansas are hereby required to protect engines, trains, or cars which may at any time obstruct main tracks over which scheduled trains or trains under special orders are operated or run, by stationing a reliable and competent flagman in such a position as to stop approaching trains.

SEC. 8493. Same.—When any train or trains, engines or cars are obstructing any main line or other tracks that are being used for main-line purposes they shall be protected against approaching trains at all times regardless of the use of any manual or automatically controlled block system or signal, or any yard limit board, by a reliable and competent flagman with both visible and audible signals.

SEC. 8494. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is a fine, $100 to $1,000.]

SEC. 8495. Violations by employees.—[Flagmen, etc., failing or neglecting to carry out orders given as above may be fined $10 to $50 for each offense.]

Railroads—Shelter for repair tracks

SECTION 8545. Shelters required, when.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company or corporation or other persons who own, control, or operate any line of railroad in the State of Kansas to build or repair railroad equipment at division points where shops are located without providing sheds, so constructed that they may be entirely inclosed, over the tracks exclusively used for such repair work, so that all men permanently employed for such repairs may be protected during storms or other inclement weather or from extreme heat: Provided, Nothing in this act shall relate to temporary repairs made at places other than regular shops.

SEC. 8546. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $100.]

Street railways—Protection of employees, etc.

SECTION 8702 (as amended 1917, ch. 255). Closed vestibule.—[Requires vestibule to be inclosed November to March, inclusive, and a temperature to be maintained not less than is healthful and comfortable; also a seat for the motorman, to be used "under reasonable restrictions."]

SEC. 8703. Toilets on cars.—[Interurban cars must be provided with proper toilet facilities to which employees shall have access.]

SEC. 8704. Penalties.—[Penalties are fixed for violations, each day each car is operated without compliance being an offense.]

Railroads—Structures over tracks

SECTION 8706. Regulations.—[Forbids the erection of any overhead crossing less than 22 feet above the rails.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 9415. Compulsory attendance.—[Requires attendance at school until 15, unless 14, able to read and write the English language, and "actively and regularly employed for his own support or for the support of those dependent upon him."]

SEC. 9416 (as amended 1923, ch. 182). Penalties.—[Parents, guardians, and employers violating the provisions of this act are subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25, and may be committed to the county jail until paid.]

Department of labor and industry

SECTION 10414. Department created.—A department of labor and industry is hereby created, to be under the control of a commissioner of labor and industry, * * *. [See ch. 262, Acts of 1921.]

SEC. 10416. Duties of commissioner.—The commissioner of labor and industry shall be ex officio State factory inspector, State mine inspector, and director of the free employment bureaus, and is hereby given full jurisdiction over and control of factory, workshop, and mill inspection, mine inspection and the free employment bureau, and all the duties now imposed by existing laws upon the commissioner of the bureau of labor and industry and State factory inspector, State mine inspector and director of the free employment bureau shall from and after taking effect of this act, devolve upon the commissioner of labor and industry appointed as herein provided.

SEC. 10418. Woman inspector.—The commissioner of labor and industry shall appoint as one of the deputy State factory inspectors a woman who, under the direction of the commissioner of labor and industry, shall have charge of the enforcement of all laws relating to the health, sanitary conditions, surroundings, hours of labor and all other laws affecting the employment of female wage earners. Such woman shall be a qualified elector of this State, shall have had at least two years' actual experience along the line of her labors as prescribed by this act and who shall have been a resident of the State of Kansas for at least two years immediately preceding such appointment.

SEC. 10420. Appointees.—All appointees made by the commissioner of labor and industry shall be under his direction and control, and shall hold their office during his pleasure.

SEC. 10421. Bonds.—The commissioner of labor and industry, assistant commissioner, deputy factory inspectors, and deputy mine inspectors shall give bond for the faithful performance of their duties in such sum as the executive council shall determine.

SEC. 10423. Scope of reports.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner to collect, assort, arrange, and present in annual reports to the governor, to be by him biennially transmitted to the legislature, statistical details relating to all departments of labor and industrial pursuits in the State; to the subjects of cooperation, strikes, and other labor difficulties; to trade-unions and other labor organizations and their effect upon labor and capital; to other matters relating to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions prevailing within the State; and the exploitation of such other subjects as will tend to promote the permanent prosperity of the respective industries of the State. It shall also be the duty of the commissioner of the bureau to cause to be enforced all laws regulating the employment of children, minors, and women; all laws established for the protection of health, lives, and limbs of operators in workshops and factories, on railroads, and other places; and all laws enacted for the protection of the working classes now in force or that may hereafter be enacted. In its annual report the bureau shall also give an account of all proceedings which have been taken in accordance with the provisions of this act, or any of the other laws herein referred to, and in addition thereto such remarks, suggestions, and recommendations as the commissioner may deem necessary for the information of the legislature.

SEC. 10424. Question blanks.—The commissioner is hereby authorized to furnish and deliver a written or printed list of interrogatories to any person, company, or the proper officer of any corporation operating within the State, and require full and complete answers to be made thereto, and returned under oath. The commissioner shall have a seal, and have power to take and preserve testimony, to issue subpœnas and administer oaths, and examine witnesses under oath in all matters relating to the duties herein required by said bureau, such testimony to be taken in some suitable place in the vicinity to which the testimony is applicable. Witnesses subpœnaed and testifying before the commissioner of said bureau shall be paid the same fees as witnesses before the district court; such payment to be made from the incidental fund of the bureau. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this act who shall willfully neglect or refuse to attend, or refuse to answer any question propounded to him concerning the subject of such examination as provided in this act, or if any person to whom a written or printed list of interrogatories has been furnished by said commissioner shall neglect or refuse to answer and return the same under oath, such person or persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon complaint of the commissioner before a court of competent jurisdiction, and upon conviction thereof, such person or persons shall be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, however, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside of the county in which he resides to testify. In the report of said bureau no use shall be made of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this act, unless by written permission, such information being deemed confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs; and any officer, agent, or employee of the bureau violating this provision shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars or be imprisoned not more than one year.

SEC. 10425 (as amended 1917, ch. 228). Inspection of establishments.—The commissioner of labor and industry as State factory inspector, his deputies, assistants, and special agents, shall have power to enter any factory or mill workshop, private works or State institution having shops or factories, mercantile establishment, laundry, or any other place of business where and when labor is being performed, when the same are open or in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics such as are contemplated by this act, and to examine into the methods of protection from danger to employees and the sanitary conditions in and around such buildings and places and to keep a record thereof of such inspection. If it shall be found upon such investigation that the heating, lighting, ventilation, or sanitary arrangement of any such establishment or place is such as to be injurious to the health of persons employed or residing therein, or that the means of egress in case of fire or other disaster are not sufficient, or that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, saws, cogs, or machinery in any such establishment or place are so located or are in a condition so as to be dangerous, or are not sufficiently guarded, or that the vats, pans, or any other structures filled with molten metal or hot liquid are not surrounded with proper safeguards for preventing accidents or injury to those employed at or near them, or that the construction or condition of any building or buildings, or any boiler, machinery, or other appurtenance in or about any place as described in this section is such as to be dangerous or injurious to the persons employed or residing therein, or that the methods of operation are such as to be unnecessarily dangerous or injurious to the persons employed or residing therein, or that any other condition which is within the control of the owner, proprietor, agent, or lessee of any such building, establishment, or place be found to be dangerous or injurious to any persons employed therein or to any other person or persons, the officer making such inspection shall notify in writing the owner, proprietor, agent, or lessee of such building, establishment, or place to provide such safeguards or safety devices, or to make such alterations or additions, or to make the changes in methods of operation by him deemed necessary for the safety and protection of the employees or other persons endangered by such conditions, and it shall be the duty of the person or persons receiving such notice to use all proper diligence to comply with the recommendations contained in said notice, and immediately upon completion thereof to mail or deliver a written notice to the commissioner of labor at Topeka, Kansas, stating that said safeguards or safety devices have been provided or that said alterations or additions or changes in methods of operation have been fully made, and if such safeguards or safety devices are not provided, or said alterations or additions or changes in methods of operation are not made, and the commissioner of labor notified thereof, as provided herein, within thirty days, or within such time as such safeguards or safety devices can be provided or said alterations or additions or said changes in methods of operation can be made, and the commissioner of labor notified thereof, with proper diligence upon the part of such owner, proprietor, agent, or lessee, said owner, proprietor, agent, or lessee so notified shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon complaint of the commissioner of labor, as State factory inspector, or his deputy or special agent, before a court of competent jurisdiction, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum of not less than $25 nor more than $200, or by imprisonment not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. No person, firm, or corporation, nor any officer, agent, or employee thereof, shall remove or require to be removed, or made ineffective any practical safeguard around or safety attachment to any machinery, vats, pan, or other apparatus or device mentioned in this section while the same is in use, except for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all safeguards or safety attachments so removed shall be promptly replaced before the said dangerous machine, apparatus, or device is put into use or operation, and any person, firm, or corporation, or any officer, agent, or employee thereof, who shall require or permit such unnecessarily dangerous machine apparatus, or device under his or their control to be used or operated without said safeguard being in proper place and condition for the safety and protection of the operator or other person or persons, or who shall require or permit the continuance of such unnecessarily dangerous or injurious method of operation which has been prohibited by the commissioner of labor or his deputy by written recommendation, as provided in this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100, and each day of continued violation of this provision shall constitute a separate offense. Any employee or other person who shall operate any dangerous machine, apparatus, or device for which a practical safeguard or safety attachment is provided, and of which said person or persons have knowledge, without such safeguard or safety attachment being in proper place for the protection of such employee or other persons, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than $5 nor more than $25, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided further, That all orders and findings of the commissioner of labor and industry under this act shall be reasonable. Any person, company, or corporation dissatisfied with an order of the commissioner of labor and industry under this act may, within thirty days after the same is made and promulgated, commence an action in any court of competent jurisdiction against the commissioner of labor and industry as defendant, to vacate and set aside any such order, finding, or decision of the commissioner of labor and industry, on the ground that such order, finding, and decision is unlawful or unreasonable. Action brought under this section shall have precedence in any court, and on motion shall be advanced over any civil cause of a different nature pending in such court, and such action shall be tried and determined as other civil actions.

Sec. 10426. Definitions.—The following expressions used in this act shall have the following meanings: The expression "person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, company, or association. The expression "children" means minor persons under the age of fourteen years. The expression "minor" means a male person under the age of twenty-one years, or a female person under the age of eighteen years. The expression "women" means female persons of eighteen years of age and upward. The expression "factory" means any premises where steam, water, or other mechanical power is used in aid of any manufacturing process there carried on. The expression "workshop" means any premises, room, or place, not being a factory as above defined, wherein any manual labor is exercised by way of trade, or for the purpose of gain in or incidental to any process of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or adapting for sale any article or part of an article, and to which or over which premises, room or place the employer of the person or persons working therein has the right of access or control: Provided how- ever, That the exercise of such manual labor in a private house, or a private room, by the family dwelling therein, or by any of them, or in case a majority of persons therein employed are members of such family, shall not of itself constitute such house or room a workshop within this definition. The aforesaid expressions shall have the meanings above defined for them respectively in all laws of this State relating to the employment of labor, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context.

SEC. 10427. Duty of officers.—All State, county, township, and city officers are hereby directed to furnish said commissioner, upon his request, such statistical or other information contemplated by this act as shall be in their possession as such officers.

SEC. 10428. Annual reports.—The annual reports of the bureau of labor and industry provided for in this act shall be printed in the same manner and under the same regulations as the report of the executive officers of the State: Provided, Not less than three thousand nor more than ten thousand copies of the report shall be printed and distributed annually, as the judgment of the commissioner may deem best: And provided further, That said report shall not contain more than six hundred pages. The blanks and other stationery required in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be furnished by the secretary of state upon the requisition of the commissioner of said bureau, and paid for from the printing fund of the State.

SEC. 10430. Same.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized and required to publish annually a report of his department, and said report shall contain the information and matter required by law for the full period since his last report.

Employment of women and children—Minimum wage—Hours of labor

SECTION 10495. Basis of law.—The State of Kansas exercising herewith its police and sovereign power declares that inadequate wages, long-continued hours and unsanitary conditions of labor, exercise a pernicious effect on the health and welfare of women, learners and apprentices, and minors.

SEC. 10496. What employment unlawful.—It shall be unlawful to employ women, learners, and apprentices and minors in any industry or occupation within the State of Kansas under conditions of labor detrimental to their health or welfare and it shall be unlawful to employ women, learners, and apprentices and minors in any industry within the State of Kansas at wages which are not adequate for their maintenance and for more hours in any one day than is consonant with their health and welfare, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 10497 (as amended 1921, ch. 263). Wages and hours of women, etc.—The court of industrial relations may establish such standard of wages, hours, and conditions of labor for women, learners and apprentices, and minors employed within this State as shall be held hereunder to be reasonable and not detrimental to health and welfare: Provided, however, The court may establish different minimum hours and standards for each class in an occupation of different localities in the State, when, in the judgment of the court the different conditions obtaining justify such action.

SEC. 10500 (as amended 1921, ch. 263). Records of women, minors, etc.—Every employer of women or of learners and apprentices, or of minors shall keep a register of all such persons employed by him; and every such employer shall on request permit the court or any of its members, or agents, to inspect such register.

SEC. 10502 (as amended 1921, ch. 263). Conditions prejudicial.—If after investigation the court of industrial relations is of the opinion that in any occupation the wages, hours, and conditions, sanitary and otherwise, are prejudicial to the health or welfare of any substantial number of the classes of employees named in this act and are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living and to maintain the worker in health it shall publish a notice, not less than once a week for four successive weeks in the official State paper, that it will on a date and at a place named in said notice, hold a public meeting at which all persons will be given a hearing; and, after said publication of said notice and said meeting, the court of industrial relations may, in its discretion, make and render such an order as may be proper or necessary, and require all employers in the occupation affected thereby to observe and comply with such determinations and said order. Said order shall become effective in sixty days after it is made and rendered and shall be in full force and effect on and after the 60th day following its making and rendition. The court of industrial relations shall, in so far as it is practicable, mail a copy of any such order to every employer affected thereby; and every employer affected by any such order shall keep a copy thereof posted in a conspicuous place in each room of his establishment. Whenever wages, hours, or conditions of labor have been made mandatory in any occupation, upon petition of either employers or employees, the court of industrial relations may at its discretion reopen the question.

SEC. 10509. Violations.—A violation of any provision of this act shall constitute a misdemeanor, and anyone convicted thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars for each such misdemeanor.

SEC. 10511. Penalties.—Any employer who employs any woman, or minor, learner or apprentice in any occupation at less than the minimum wage or for a greater number of hours in a day or week fixed or under sanitary or other conditions forbidden by order or license issued by the commission, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars for each such misdemeanor. Any woman or minor or learner or apprentice who shall receive less than the minimum wage or shall be compelled to work for a greater number of hours than that fixed by order or license issued by the commission shall be entitled to recover in a civil action the full amount of the legal minimum wage, and compensation at the same rate for the number of hours of overtime work as herein provided for, together with costs and attorney's fees to be fixed by the court, notwithstanding any agreement to work for such lesser wage or greater number of hours. In such action, however, the employer shall be credited with any wages which have been paid upon account.

SEC. 10515. Act construed.—This act is to be construed as supplemental to existing laws regulating the employment of women, learners and apprentices, and minors.

SEC. 2. General status.—Such corporations shall in all other respects be organized in the same manner as other corporations, not formed for profit as now provided by law and when organized shall have all the powers now given by law to such corporations.

CHAPTER 29.—Court of industrial relations

SECTION 1. Court created.—There is hereby created a tribunal to be known as the court of industrial relations, which shall be composed of three judges who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. Of such three judges first appointed, one shall be appointed for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, and one for a term of three years, said terms to begin simultaneously upon qualification of the persons appointed therefor. Upon the expiration of the term of the three judges first appointed as aforesaid, each succeeding judge shall be appointed and shall hold his office for a term of three years and until his successor shall have been qualified. In case of a vacancy in the office of judge of said court of industrial relations the governor shall appoint his successor to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The salary of each of said judges shall be five thousand dollars per year, payable monthly. Of the judges first to be appointed, the one appointed for the three-year term shall be the presiding judge, and thereafter the judge whose term of service has been the longest shall be the presiding judge: Provided, That in case two or more of said judges shall have served the same length of time, the presiding judge shall be designated by the governor.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 261). Power of court.—The court of industrial relations shall have such power, authority, and jurisdiction and shall perform such duties as are in this act set forth.

SEC. 3. Employments, etc., affected.—(a) The operation of the following named and indicated employments, industries, public utilities, and common carriers is hereby determined and declared to be affected with a public interest and therefore subject to supervision by the State as herein provided for the purpose of preserving the public peace, protecting the public health, preventing industrial strife, disorder, and waste, and securing regular and orderly conduct of the businesses directly affecting the living conditions of the people of this State and in the promotion of the general welfare, to wit: (1) The manufacture or preparation of food products whereby, in any stage of the process, substances are being converted, either partially or wholly, from their natural state to a condition to be used as food for human beings; (2) the manufacture of clothing and all manner of wearing apparel in common use by the people of this State whereby, in any stage of the process, natural products are being converted, either partially or wholly, from their natural state to a condition to be used as such clothing and wearing apparel; (3) the mining or production of any substance or material in common use as fuel either for domestic, manufacturing, or transportation purposes; (4) the transportation of all food products and articles or substances entering into wearing apparel, or fuel, as aforesaid, from the place where produced to the place of manufacture or consumption; (5) all public utilities as defined by section 8329, and all common carriers as defined by section 8330 of the General Statutes of Kansas of 1915.

(b) Any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any such industry or employment, or in the operation of such public utility or common carrier, within the State of Kansas, either in the capacity of owner, officer, or worker, shall be subject to the provisions of this act, except as limited by the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. Office.—Said court of industrial relations shall have its office at the capitol of said State in the city of Topeka, and shall keep a record of all its proceedings which shall be a public record and subject to inspection the same as other public records of this State. Said court, in addition to the powers and jurisdiction heretofore conferred upon, and exercised by, the public utilities commission, is hereby given full power, authority, and jurisdiction to supervise, direct, and control the operation of the industries, employments, public utilities, and common carriers in all matters herein specified and in the manner provided herein, and to do all things needful for the proper and expeditious enforcement of all the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. Rules and regulations.—Said court of industrial relations is hereby granted full power to adopt all reasonable and proper rules and regulations to govern its proceedings, the service of process, to administer oaths, and to regulate the mode and manner of all its investigations, inspections, and hearings: Provided, however, That in the taking of testimony the rules of evidence, as recognized by the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas in original proceedings therein, shall be observed by said court of industrial relations; and testimony so taken shall in all cases be transcribed by the reporter for said court of industrial relations in duplicate, one copy of said testimony to be filed among the permanent records of said court, and the other to be submitted to said supreme court in case the matter shall be taken to said supreme court under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. Continuous operation.—It is hereby declared and determined to be necessary for the public peace, health, and general welfare of the people of this State that the industries, employments, public utilities, and common carriers herein specified shall be operated with reasonable continuity and efficiency in order that the people of this State may live in peace and security and be supplied with the necessaries of life. No person, firm, corporation, or association of persons shall in any manner or to any extent willfully hinder, delay, limit, or suspend such continuous and efficient operation for the purpose of evading the purpose and intent of the provisions of this act; nor shall any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons do any act or neglect or refuse to perform any duty herein enjoined with the intent to hinder, delay, limit, or suspend such continuous and efficient operation as aforesaid, except under the terms and conditions provided by this act.

SEC. 7. Disputes.—In case of a controversy arising between employers and workers, or between groups or crafts of workers, engaged in any of said industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, if it shall appear to said court of industrial relations that said controversy may endanger the continuity or efficiency of service of any of said industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, or affect the production or transportation of the necessaries of life affected or produced by said industries or employments, or produce industrial strife, disorder, or waste, or endanger the orderly operation of such industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, and thereby endanger the public peace or threaten the public health, full power, authority, and jurisdiction are hereby granted to said court of industrial relations, upon its own initiative, to summon all necessary parties before it and to investigate said controversy, and to make such temporary findings and orders as may be necessary to preserve the public peace and welfare and to preserve and protect the status of the parties, property, and public interests involved pending said investigations, and to take evidence and to examine all necessary records, and to investigate conditions surrounding the workers, and to consider the wages paid to labor and the return accruing to capital, and the rights and welfare of the public, and all other matters affecting the conduct of said industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, and to settle and adjust all such controversies by such findings and orders as provided in this act. It is further made the duty of said court of industrial relations, upon complaint of either party to such controversy, or upon complaint of any ten citizen taxpayers of the community in which such industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers are located, or upon the complaint of the attorney general of the State of Kansas, if it shall be made to appear to said court that the parties are unable to agree and that such controversy may endanger the continuity or efficiency of service of any of said industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, or affect the production or transportation of the necessaries of life affected or produced by said industries or employments, or produce industrial strife, disorder, or waste, or endanger the orderly operation of such industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, and thereby endanger the public peace or threaten the public health, to proceed and investigate and determine said controversy in the same manner as though upon its own initiative. After the conclusion of any such hearing and investigation, and as expeditiously as possible, said court of industrial relations shall make and serve upon all interested parties its findings, stating specifically the terms and conditions upon which said industry, employment, utility, or common carrier should be thereafter conducted in so far as the matters determined by said court are concerned.

SEC. 8. Orders.—The court of industrial relations shall order such changes, if any, as are necessary to be made in and about the conduct of said industry, employment, utility or common carrier, in the matters of working and living conditions, hours of labor, rules and practices, and a reasonable minimum wage, or standard of wages, to conform to the findings of the court in such matters, as provided in this act, and such orders shall be served at the same time and in the same manner as provided for the service of the court's findings in this act: Provided, all such terms, conditions and wages shall be just and reasonable and such as to enable such industries, employments, utilities or common carriers to continue with reasonable efficiency to produce or transport their products or continue their operations and thus to promote the general welfare. Service of such order shall be made in the same manner as service of notice of any hearing before said court as provided by this act. Such terms, conditions, rules, practices, wages, or standard of wages, so fixed and determined by said court and stated in said order, shall continue for such reasonable time as may be fixed by said court, or until changed by agreement of the parties with the approval of the court. If either party to such controversy shall in good faith comply with any order of said court of industrial relations for a period of sixty days or more, and shall find said order unjust, unreasonable or impracticable, said party may apply to said court of industrial relations for a modification thereof and said court of industrial relations shall hear and determine said application and make findings and orders in like manner and with like effect as originally. In such case the evidence taken and submitted in the original hearing may be considered.

SEC. 9. Industrial conditions.—It is hereby declared necessary for the promotion of the general welfare that workers engaged in any of said industries, employments, utilities or common carriers shall receive at all times a fair wage and healthful and moral surroundings while engaged in such labor; and that capital invested therein shall receive at all times a fair rate of return to the owners thereof. The right of every person to make his own choice of employment and to make and carry out fair, just, and reasonable contracts and agreements of employment, is hereby recognized. If, during the continuance of any such employment, the terms or conditions of any such contract or agreement hereafter entered into, are by said court, in any action or proceeding properly before it under the provisions of this act, found to be unfair, unjust or unreasonable, said court of industrial relations may by proper order so modify the terms and conditions thereof so that they will be and remain fair, just and reasonable and all such orders shall be enforced as in this act provided.

SEC. 10. Notice of hearings.—Before any hearing, trial or investigation shall be held by said court, such notice as the court shall deem necessary shall be given to all parties interested by registered U. S. mail addressed to said parties to the post office of the usual place of residence or business of said interested parties when same is known, or by the publication of notice in some newspaper of general circulation in the county in which said industry or employment, or the principal office of such utility or common carrier is located, and said notice shall fix the time and place of said investigation or hearing. The costs of publication shall be paid by said court out of any funds available therefor. Such notice shall contain the substance of the matter to be investigated, and shall notify all persons interested in said matter to be present at the time and place named to give such testimony or to take such action as they may deem proper.

SEC. 11. Employees.—Said court of industrial relations may employ a competent clerk, marshal, shorthand reporter, and such expert accountants, engineers, stenographers, attorneys and other employees as may be necessary to conduct the business of said court; shall provide itself with a proper seal and shall have the power and authority to issue summons and subpœnas and compel the attendance of witnesses and parties and to compel the production of the books, correspondence, files, records, and accounts of any industry, employment, utility, or common carrier, or of any person, corporation, association or union of employees affected, and to make any and all investigations necessary to ascertain the truth in regard to said controversy. In case any person shall fail or refuse to obey any summons or subpœna issued by said court after due service then and in that event said court is hereby authorized and empowered to take proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction to compel obedience to such summons or subpœna. Employees of said court whose salaries are not fixed by law shall be paid such compensation as may be fixed by said court, with the approval of the governor.

SEC. 12. Enforcement of orders.—In case of the failure or refusal of either party to said controversy to obey and be governed by the order of said court of industrial relations, then and in that event said court is hereby authorized to bring proper proceedings in the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas to compel compliance with said order; and in case either party to said controversy should feel aggrieved at any order made and entered by said court of industrial relations, such party is hereby authorized and empowered within ten days after service of such order upon it to bring proper proceedings in the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas to compel said court of industrial relations to make and enter a just, reasonable and lawful order in the premises. In case of such proceedings in the supreme court by either party, the evidence produced before said court of industrial relations may be considered by said supreme court, but said supreme court, if it deem further evidence necessary to enable it to render a just and proper judgment, may admit such additional evidence in open court or order it taken and transcribed by a master or commissioner. In case any controversy shall be taken by either party to the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas under the provisions of this act, said proceedings shall take precedence over other civil cases before said court, and a hearing and determination of the same shall be by said court expedited as fully as may be possible consistent with a careful and thorough trial and consideration of said matter.

SEC. 13. Action to suspend.—No action or proceeding in law or equity shall be brought by any person, firm or corporation to vacate, set aside, or suspend any order made and served as provided in this act, unless such action or proceeding shall be commenced within thirty days from the time of the service of such order.

SEC. 14. Unions, etc.—Any union or association of workers engaged in the operation of such industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers which shall incorporate under the laws of this State shall be by said court of industrial relations considered and recognized in all its proceedings as a legal entity and may appear before said court of industrial relations through and by its proper officers, attorneys, or other representatives. The right of such corporations, and of such unincorporated unions or associations of workers, to bargain collectively for their members is hereby recognized: Provided, That the individual members of such unincorporated unions or associations who shall desire to avail themselves of such right of collective bargaining shall appoint in writing some officer or officers of such union or association, or some other person or persons as their agents or trustees with authority to enter into such collective bargains and to represent each and every of said individuals in all matters relating thereto. Such written appointment of agents or trustees shall be made a permanent record of such union or association. All such collective bargains, contracts, or agreements shall be subject to the provisions of section nine of this act.

SEC. 15. Protection of witnesses.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to discharge any employee or to discriminate in any way against any employee because of the fact that any such employee may testify as a witness before the court of industrial relations, or shall sign any complaint or shall be in any way instrumental in bringing to the attention of the court of industrial relations any matter of controversy between employers and employees as provided herein. It shall also be unlawful for any two or more persons, by conspiring or confederating together, to injure in any manner any other person or persons, or any corporation, in his, their, or its business, labor, enterprise, or peace and security, by boycott, by discrimination, by picketing, by advertising, by propaganda, or other means, because of any action taken by any such person or persons, or any corporation, under any order of said court, or because of any action or proceeding instituted in said court, or because any such person or persons, or corporation, shall have invoked the jurisdiction of said court in any matter provided for herein.

SEC. 16. Restricting output.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation engaged in the operation of any such industry, employment, utility, or common carrier willfully to limit or cease operations for the purpose of limiting production or transportation or to affect prices for the purpose of avoiding any of the provisions of this act; but any person, firm, or corporation so engaged may apply to said court of industrial relations for authority to limit or cease operations, stating the reasons therefor, and said court of industrial relations shall hear said application promptly; and if said application shall be found to be in good faith and meritorious, authority to limit or cease operations shall be granted by order of said court. In all such industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers in which operation may be ordinarily affected by changes in season, market conditions, or other reasons or causes inherent in the nature of the business, said court of industrial relations may, upon application and after notice to all interested parties, and investigation, as herein provided, make orders fixing rules, regulations, and practices to govern the operation of such industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers for the purpose of securing the best service to the public consistent with the rights of employers and employees engaged in the operation of such industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers.

SEC. 17. Violations.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, or for any association of persons, to do or perform any act forbidden, or to fail or refuse to perform any act or duty enjoined by the provisions of this act, or to conspire or confederate with others to do or perform any act forbidden, or to fail or refuse to perform any act or duty enjoined by the provisions of this act, or to induce or intimidate any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any of said industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers to do any act forbidden, or to fail or refuse to perform any act or duty enjoined by the provisions of this act for the purpose or with the intent to hinder, delay, limit, or suspend the operation of any of the industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers herein specified or indicated, or to delay, limit, or suspend the production or transportation of the products of such industries, or employments, or the service of such utilities or common carriers: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as restricting the right of any individual employee engaged in the operation of any such industry, employment, public utility, or common carrier to quit his employment at any time, but it shall be unlawful for any such individual employee or other person to conspire with other persons to quit their employment or to induce other persons to quit their employment for the purpose of hindering, delaying, interfering with, or suspending the operation of any of the industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers governed by the provisions of this act, or for any person to engage in what is known as "picketing" or to intimidate by threats, abuse, or in any other manner any person or persons with intent to induce such person or persons to quit such employment, or for the purpose of deterring or preventing any other person or persons from accepting employment or from remaining in the employ of any of the industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers governed by the provisions of this act.

SEC. 18. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of a fine not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding 1 year, or both.]

SEC. 19. Offenses of officers, etc.—Any officer of any corporation engaged in any of the industries, employments, utilities, or common carriers herein named and specified, or any officer of any labor union or association of persons engaged as workers in any such industry, employment, utility, or common carrier, or any employer of labor coming within the provisions of this act, who shall willfully use the power, authority, or influence incident to his official position, or to his position as an employer of others, and by such means shall intentionally influence, impel, or compel any other person to violate any of the provisions of this act, or any valid order of said court of industrial relations, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $5,000 or by imprisonment in the State penitentiary at hard labor for a term not to exceed two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 20. Court may assume control.—In case of the suspension, limitation, or cessation of the operation of any of the industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers affected by this act, contrary to the provisions hereof, or to the orders of said court made hereunder, if it shall appear to said court that such suspension, limitation, or cessation shall seriously affect the public welfare by endangering the public peace, or threatening the public health, then said court is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to take proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State to take over, control, direct, and operate said industry, employment, public utility, or common carrier during such emergency: Provided, That a fair return and compensation shall be paid to the owners of such industry, employment, public utility, or common carrier, and also a fair wage to the workers engaged therein, during the time of such operation under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 21. Submissions.—When any controversy shall arise between employer and employee as to wages, hours of employment, or working or living conditions, in any industry not hereinbefore specified, the parties to such controversy may, by mutual agreement, and with the consent of the court, refer the same to the court of industrial relations for its findings and orders. Such agreement of reference shall be in writing, signed by the parties thereto; whereupon said court shall proceed to investigate, hear, and determine said controversy as in other cases, and in such case the findings and orders of the court of industrial relations as to said controversy shall have the same force and effect as though made in any essential industry as herein provided.

SEC. 22. Taking evidence.—Whenever deemed necessary by the court of industrial relations, the court may appoint such person, or persons, having a technical knowledge of bookkeeping, engineering, or other technical subjects involved in any inquiry in which the court is engaged, as a commissioner for the purpose of taking evidence with relation to such subject. Such commissioner when appointed shall take an oath to well and faithfully perform the duties imposed upon him, and shall thereafter have the same power to administer oaths, compel the production of evidence, and the attendance of witnesses as the said court would have if sitting in the same matter. Said commissioner shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law or by the order of said court, to be approved by the governor.

SEC. 23. Presumption as to wages.—Any order made by said court of industrial relations as to a minimum wage or a standard of wages shall be deemed prima facie reasonable and just, and if said minimum wage or standard of wages shall be in excess of the wages theretofore paid in the industry, employment, utility or common carrier, then and in that event the workers affected thereby shall be entitled to receive said minimum wage or standard of wages from the date of the service of summons or publication of notice instituting said investigation, and shall have the right individually, or in case of incorporated unions or associations, or unincorporated unions or associations entitled thereto, collectively, to recover in any court of competent jurisdiction the difference between the wages actually paid and said minimum wage or standard of wages so found and determined by said court in such order. It shall be the duty of all employers affected by the provisions of this act, during the pendency of any investigation brought under this act, or any litigation resulting therefrom, to keep an accurate account of all wages paid to all workers interested in said investigation or proceeding: Provided, That in case said order shall fix a wage or standard of wages which is lower than the wages theretofore paid in the industry, employment, utility or common carrier affected, then and in that event the employers shall have the same right to recover in the same manner as provided in this section with reference to the workers.

SEC. 24. Investigations.—With the consent of the governor, the judges of said court of industrial relations are hereby authorized and empowered to make, or cause to be made, within this State or elsewhere, such investigations and inquiries as to industrial conditions and relations as may be profitable or necessary for the purpose of familarizing themselves with industrial problems such as may arise under the provisions of this act. All the expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties by the individual members of said court and by the employees and officers of said court, shall be paid by the State out of funds appropriated therefor by the legislature, but all warrants covering such expenses shall be approved by the governor of said State.

SEC. 25. Remedies cumulative.—The rights and remedies given and provided by this act shall be construed to be cumulative of all other laws in force in said State relating to the same matters, and this act shall not be interpreted as a repeal of any other act now existing in said State with reference to the same matters referred to in this act, except where the same may be inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 26. Construction.—The provisions of this act and all grants of power, authority and jurisdiction herein made to said court of industrial relations shall be liberally construed and all incidental powers necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act are hereby expressly granted to and conferred upon said court of industrial relations.

SEC. 27. Reports.—Annually and on or before January first of each year, said court of industrial relations shall formulate and make a report of all its acts and proceedings, including a financial statement of expenses, and shall submit the same to the governor of this State for his information. All expenses incident to the conduct of the business of said court of industrial relations shall be paid by the said court on warrants signed by its presiding judge and clerk, and countersigned by the governor and shall be paid out of funds appropriated therefor by the legislature. The said court of industrial relations shall, on or before the convening of the legislature, make a detailed estimate of the probable expenses of conducting its business and proceedings for the ensuing two years, and attach thereto a copy of the reports furnished the governor, all of which shall be submitted to the governor of this State and by him submitted to the legislature.

SEC. 28. Provisions severable.—If any section or provision of this act shall be found invalid by any court, it shall be conclusively presumed that this act would have been passed by the legislature without such invalid section or provision, and the act as a whole shall not be declared invalid by reason of the fact that one or more sections or provisions may be found to be invalid by any court.

Mere legislative declaration that a business is affected with a public interest is not conclusive. Though the conduct of business generally affects the public, it is not therefore brought so closely under State regulation as to authorize the fixing of prices or of wages. A small packing house whose output is without any considerable influence on the welfare of the State, can not be thus supervised, and in so far as the industrial court act permits the fixing of wages therein, it is unconstitutional as depriving the owners of property and liberty of contract without due process of law. Chas. Wolff Packing Co. v. Court of Industrial Relations (1923), 262 U. S. 522, 43 Sup. Ct. 630.

CHAPTER 62.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Bureau created.—In order to promote the establishment and maintenance of free employment offices for men, women and juniors who are legally qualified, seeking employment, and for employers desiring workers, there shall be created in the department of labor and industry a free employment bureau. It shall be in charge of the labor commissioner, who shall appoint, with the approval of the governor, an assistant who shall receive a salary of $2,000 per annum, who shall have supervision of the free employment bureau under the direction of the labor commissioner. There shall also be appointed in said bureau such assistants and other employees as are necessary to carry out the purpose of the act. Other than as above provided, no salary shall be in excess of $1,800 per annum.

SEC. 2. Duties.—It shall be the province and duty of the said bureau, under the direction of the labor commissioner, with the approval of the governor, to establish and maintain a system of free employment offices not exceeding four outside Topeka, provided that from June 1 to August 15 additional offices may be maintained as may be necessary to properly distribute labor necessary for the wheat harvest in the State; maintain a system for clearing labor between the several counties, and adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to maintain and conduct such bureau.

SEC. 3. Farm labor.—It shall be the further duty of the said director of the State free employment service to secure and list, as far as practicable, from the farm agents of the various counties of the State, or county clerks or such other authority to be designated by the county commissioners, the number of extra laborers required from time to time in each community for the purpose of equally distributing labor to meet such demand and to direct idle labor to employment.

SEC. 4. Expenses.—Out of the appropriations made under this act, the labor commissioner, with the approval of the governor, is authorized to employ such assistants, clerks and other persons; to rent suitable offices; to purchase supplies, material, equipment, office fixtures, and apparatus, and to incur such travel and other expense as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. Appropriation.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $10,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920; $25,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921.

SEC. 6. Act cumulative.—This act shall be construed as cumulative of all other acts now in force.

CHAPTER 261.—Court of industrial relations—Determinations

SECTION 2. Cooperation.—In any matter pending before the court of industrial relations, if it shall be brought to the attention of such court that there is a matter pending before the public utilities commission in relation to the rate charged by the employer, the court of industrial relations may order such matters to be heard and determined at the same time by such commission and court of industrial relations, sitting as one body, the presiding judge of said court of industrial relations presiding, and in case of a tie vote, the presiding judge of said court of industrial relations shall cast an additional vote.

CHAPTER 262.—Court of industrial relations—Administration of labor laws

SECTION 1. Jurisdiction transferred.—The jurisdiction conferred by law upon the commissioner of labor and industry of the State of Kansas is hereby conferred upon the court of industrial relations, and said office of commissioner of labor and industry is hereby abolished.

SEC. 2. Duties devolve on court.—All the laws relating to the powers, authority, jurisdiction, and duties of the commissioner of labor and industry of this State are hereby adopted, and all the duties now imposed by existing laws upon the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector, State mine inspector, and director of the free employment bureau shall from and after the taking effect of this act devolve upon the court of industrial relations.

SEC. 3. Employees.—The court of industrial relations may employ such deputy factory inspectors, deputy mine inspectors, and clerical force of said department of labor and industry as [are] necessary in carrying out the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 263.—Court of industrial relations—Employment of women

SECTION 1. Commission abolished.—The jurisdiction conferred by law upon the industrial welfare commission of the State of Kansas is hereby conferred upon the court of industrial relations, and said industrial welfare commission and all boards organized thereunder are hereby abolished: Provided, That all orders and rules heretofore made by the industrial welfare commission and now in force shall continue in force until the same may be changed or repealed by the court of industrial relations.

SEC. 2. Jurisdiction transferred.—All laws relating to the powers, authority, jurisdiction, and duties of the industrial welfare commission of this State are hereby adopted except as amended and repealed in this act; and all the duties imposed upon the industrial welfare commission or any board thereof shall from and after the taking effect of this act devolve upon the court of industrial relations.

SEC. 6. Employees.—The court of industrial relations may employ such inspectors and clerical force as may be necessary in carrying on the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7. Review.—The orders of the industrial court under the provisions of this act may be reviewed in the same manner as is now provided for the review of its decisions by chapter 29 of the Session Laws of 1920.

STATUTES—1915

Bureau of agriculture, labor, and statistics

SECTION 31. Bureau established.—A bureau of agriculture, labor, and statistics is established, and shall be under the management of an officer, who shall be known as the commissioner of agriculture, labor, and statistics. In one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two there shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, a commissioner, who shall hold his office until the first Monday in January, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, and until his successor has qualified, unless sooner removed by the governor, who shall also have power to fill a vacancy in the office occurring from any cause. At the general election held in November, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, and every four years thereafter, there shall be elected a commissioner, who shall enter upon the discharge of his duties on the first Monday in January after his election, and hold his office for four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 32. Duties of commissioner.—The commissioner shall keep his office at the seat of government, and devote his entire time and attention to the duties of his office. Before entering upon his duties he shall take the oath of office and execute bond to the Commonwealth, with good sureties, worth at the time, jointly or severally, twenty-five thousand dollars, to be approved by the governor, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office; and shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars, payable at the same time the salary of the governor is paid.

SEC. 33. Purpose of bureau.—The efforts of the bureau shall be directed to the promotion of agriculture, horticulture, manufactures, and to matters relating to labor and statistics; and the commissioner shall promote and encourage, as far as practicable, the organization of agricultural and horticultural societies and other associations in the several counties, and ascertain the agricultural, horticultural, mechanical, commercial, and educational condition of every county, giving, in detail, the quantity and quality of land under cultivation; the kinds, amounts, and value of the annual field crops; the annual production of orchards, gardens, dairies, and mines; the quantity and value of domestic manufactures; the kinds, value, and increase of live stock; the annual products of mechanical industry and skill; the character of labor employed in mines, factories, and the cultivation of the soil, and the prices paid therefor; the value of exports and imports; the number of miles of railroads, turnpikes, navigable streams, and post offices, and names of same, in each county; how and by whom turnpikes and other public roads are operated and kept in repair; the name, location, and population of cities, towns, and villages; the number and value of schoolhouses and churches; the names, capital, and purposes of charitable institutions, together with such other vital, social, physical, and political statistics as he may deem proper and expedient.

SEC. 34. Information to be furnished.—The auditor of public accounts, assessors of the several counties, and all other officers of the State and counties, shall furnish the commissioner with such information within their power as he may require in regard to the matters connected with the bureau; and as a further means of procuring information, the commissioner shall put himself in communication with the different agricultural, horticultural, and labor societies, manufacturing and mining companies, and such other organizations or persons in or out of the State, as he may deem proper.

SEC. 36 (as amended 1916, ch. 95). Reports.—He shall before the assembling of each regular session of the general assembly compile a report giving a general review of the agricultural, horticultural, mineral, and industrial resources of the State with brief notices of each county, the character of labor generally employed in mines, factories, and the cultivation of the soil and the price paid therefor, and such other information as he is required to gather; he shall have a sufficient number, not exceeding five thousand, printed for the use of the general assembly and for general distribution. * * *

SEC. 41. Clerk.—The commissioner is allowed a clerk or clerks, to be selected by himself, the salary of whom shall not exceed, in the aggregate, twelve hundred dollars per annum.

SEC. 42. Appropriation.—The sum of thirteen thousand dollars is hereby annually appropriated, out of any funds in the hands of the treasurer not otherwise appropriated, for the support and maintenance of this bureau. Said amount shall cover all expenses of every kind growing out of this act, including commissioner's salary and clerk's pay, and all expenses connected with and growing out of this department of the State government.

Employment of children

SECTION 326. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[This section embodies provisions similar to those found in sec. 2223 of the Delaware Code, as to the employment of children under 16 in begging, peddling, etc.]

SEC. 331A. 1 (as amended 1916, ch. 23). Age limit.—No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in or in connection with any factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, store, office, printing establishment, bakery, laundry, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, theater, motion-picture establishment, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to employ any child under fourteen years of age in any business or service whatever during any part of the term during which the public schools of the district in which the child resides are in session. Nor shall any child under fourteen year of age be permitted to perform in or appear upon the stage of any theater, motion-picture establishment or other place of public amusement, whether for pay or not.

[Amendment provides for employment in theaters of child under 16 from outside the State in custody of adult who constantly accompanies such child.]

2. Certificates.—[Requires certificates for children between 14 and 16 employed in the establishments, etc., named above; lists are to be kept. Labor inspector may demand certificate of child apparently under 16; failure to produce same or to produce evidence of age is prima facie evidence of a violation of the act.]

3, 4 (as amended 1920, ch. 152), 5, 6. Issue.—[Issue of certificates by school authorities, on evidence of age, physician's certificate, and five years' schooling.]

7. Work time.—[Forbids employment of children under 16 in any establishment, etc., named in (1) for more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, or more than 8 hours per day, or between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m.]

8. Enforcement.—[Truant officers may visit such establishments, etc., for purposes of enforcement, and may inspect lists.]

9. Dangerous, etc., employments.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in enumerated occupations (closely similar to list in secs. 3145, 3148 of the Delaware Code), or "in other occupations dangerous to the life or limb or injurious to the health or morals of such child, and as to these matters, the decision of the county physician or city health officer, as the case may be, shall be final."]

10. Belt shifters, guards.—It shall be the duty of the owner of any manufacturing establishment where any person under twenty-one years of age is employed, his agents, superintendents or other persons in charge of same, to furnish and supply, when practicable, or cause to be furnished and supplied to him, belt shifters or other safe mechanical contrivance for the purpose of throwing belts on or off pulleys; and, whenever practicable, machinery therein shall be provided with loose belts. All vats, pans, saws, planes, cogs, gearings, belting, set screws and machinery of every description which is palpably dangerous, shall be properly guarded and no person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to any such appliances or machinery, while the same is in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards shall be promptly replaced. No person under eighteen years of age shall be allowed to clean machinery while it is in motion.

11. Messengers.—[Forbids messenger or delivery service by minors between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

12. Females not to stand.—[Forbids employment of females under 21 in any work requiring them to remain standing constantly.]

13. Walls, etc., to be painted.—The walls and ceiling of each room in every manufacturing establishment where minors are employed shall be limewashed or painted when, in the opinion of the labor inspector, it shall be conducive to the health or cleanliness of the persons working therein.

14. Posting.—[Requires act to be posted in workrooms.]

15. Street trades.—[Street trades forbidden in cities of first, second, or third class for boys under 14 and girls under 18. Boys 14 to 16 may secure a badge authorizing them to engage in street trades between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. only, if they can qualify for an employment certificate. If the educational qualifications are lacking, a badge will issue authorizing employment only outside of school hours. Enforcement is by truant officers, police officers, and juvenile court probation officers.]

16. Violations.—[Penalities of fine or imprisonment or both are entailed by violations by parents, employers, and persons hindering inspectors.]

Railroads—Overhead obstructions—Accidents

SECTION 776. Bridges, etc., over tracks.—[Except in cities having charter power to regulate their height, no bridge or passageway over railroad tracks shall be less than 22 feet above the track without written authority from the railroad commission. If any bridge, tunnel, or other obstruction is less than seven feet above the roof of freight cars used on the road, telltales shall be erected at such height and distances as the commission shall determine.]

SEC. 777. Notice of accidents.—Notice of every accident which may occur and be attended with loss of life shall be given within five days thereafter by the company operating the road on which the accident occurred, to the railroad commission, and such company shall furnish the commission all information requested by it concerning the cause of the accident.

Railroads—Obstructing operations, injuring property, etc.

SECTION 802. Hindering, etc., transportation by violence.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to prevent, hinder, or delay, or attempt to prevent, hinder, or delay, by violence, the transportation of freight or passengers in this State, by any individual, firm, company, corporation, or association doing business in this State, or to interfere with, by violence, any person or agency engaged in the conduct of commerce and traffic in this State in such manner as to obstruct or impede the movement and conduct of such commerce or traffic; but nothing herein shall be construed to prevent any person, or class of persons, from quitting their employment at any time they see proper.

SEC. 803. Coercion, etc.—And it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to prevent or hinder, or attempt to prevent or hinder, by coercion, intimidation, or any trespass or violent interference therewith, the free and lawful use of his or its property, by any individual, firm, company, corporation, or association engaged in the business of transporting freight and passengers, and in the conduct of commerce and traffic in this State, or the free and lawful use of said property by any agent or employee of the owner thereof.

SEC. 804. Violations.—[Offenses are punishable by fines, $25 to $200, or imprisonment, 10 days to six months, or both.]

Enticing employees

SECTION 1349. Persuasion to abandon contract.—If any person shall willfully entice, persuade, or otherwise influence any person or persons, who have contracted to labor for a fixed period of time, to abandon such contract before such period of service shall have expired without the consent of the employer, he shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, and be liable to the party injured for such damages as he or they may have sustained.

Payment of wages

SECTION 1350. Penalty.—Any corporation or person or persons having the ownership or control of any factory, mine, or workshop in this Commonwealth, who shall violate the provisions of section 244 of the constitution, * * * shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on trial and conviction, had in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars for each violation thereof.

A mining company paid its employees monthly in lawful money, and between pay days issued checks to its employees on their application, payable in merchandise at the company's store. The balance at the end of the month was paid in cash, but no outstanding checks were redeemed. This was held not to be a violation of the statute. 28 S. W. 502.

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 1701A. Wages earned outside of State.—Wages earned out of this State and payable out of this State shall be exempt from attachment or garnishment in all cases, where the cause of action arose out of this State, and it shall be the duty of garnishees in such cases to plead such exemption unless the defendant is actually served with process.

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 1830. Fire escapes to be erected.—All buildings of three or more stories in height, in every city of more than ten thousand inhabitants as enumerated by the last United States census, excepting private residences and store and warehouses in which not more than twenty persons are employed, shall be provided with one or more permanent metallic ladders or fire escapes, extending from the first story to the upper stories of such building, and above the roof and on the outer walls thereof, in such location, numbers and character of construction as the chief of fire department or chief fire officer of each such city may determine. The said chief of the fire department or chief fire officer shall examine the building and serve, either in person or by deputy, a notice, in writing, upon the owner, agent, lessee or occupant of such building, by leaving at his or her residence or place of business a copy of such notice, setting forth the number, kind, construction and location of the ladder or ladders required, and directing that the work shall be completed not later than thirty days from the filing of the notice.

SEC. 1831. By whom.—If the owner of the building fails to take steps looking to the compliance of the specifications of the said notice, then the agent, lessee or occupant, who is jointly liable for the violation of the provisions of this act, must have the work performed at his own expense, and for which a lien on the building and grounds is hereby declared to exist after record in the office of the county clerk.

SEC. 1832. Violations.—[Violations entail penalty of fine, $50 to $250, for each 30 days' failure to comply.]

Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 2290B. Eight-hour day.—[Limits to 8 per day "the service and employment of all laborers and mechanics" employed by the State or by any contractor or subcontractor "upon any of the public works of the Commonwealth," except in case of extraordinary emergency. Intentional violation a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.]

Contracts of employment

SECTION 2607. Specific performance required.—All persons who shall come to this State under a contract to serve another in any occupation, shall be compelled to perform the contract specifically during the time thereof, or so much of the same as shall not exceed seven years. Infants under fourteen years, under contract entered into by their guardian or father, shall serve to the age of twenty-one years, or such shorter time as the contract shall fix.

SEC. 2608. Duty of master.—A servant bound to service shall be provided by his master with a sufficiency of wholesome food, clothing, lodging, and medical attention; and, at the end of his service, the servant shall receive from the master a good full new suit of clothes, suited to the season of the year.

SEC. 2609. Contracts assignable.—The master of such servant may assign the benefit of his contract to any person whom the servant may, in the presence of a judge of a court, consent to serve, the judge attesting such consent, which must be in writing. The right of such service shall, on the death of the master, pass to his personal representative or devisee.

SEC. 2610. What contracts void.—All contracts entered into between master and servant during the period of service, shall be void, except such as are clearly beneficial to the servant.

Mine regulations

SECTION 2722. Inspector.—[This section relates to the appointment, powers and duties of the chief inspector and assistant inspector of mines of the State, and is in part superseded by chapter 25, Acts of 1918.

The inspector and his assistants may visit and inspect coal mines employing 6 or more persons inside the mine at one time, and may require changes necessary to health and safety. Failure to comply within 20 days entails liability to a fine of $50 for each day's violation; though if it seems warranted an extension not beyond 10 days longer may be allowed.]

SEC. 2723. Definitions.—[Customary usage.]

SECS. 2724 (as amended 1918, ch. 113) to 2738d. Requirements.—[Embody provisions relating to maps, ventilation, timbering, exits, the installation of electric wires, etc., blasting, explosives, safety lamps, oil, provisions for accidents, and the duties and qualifications of superintendents, foremen, fire bosses, shot firers, etc. Mine foremen and fire bosses must hold certificates granted after examination. The chief inspector may require the appointment of shot firers in mines employing ten or more men if explosive gas or coal dust exists in dangerous quantities. Penalties are provided for violation of act or of rules properly adopted.]

SEC. 2738–o. Inspection.—[Directs inspection of gaseous mines every 60 days as nearly as practicable.]

SEC. 2738–p. Life-saving apparatus.—[Provides for the purchase of a set of life-saving apparatus for the chief inspector and each assistant, a total of 6.]

SEC. 2738–q. Checkweighman.—[Requires operators to permit the employment by miners of a checkweighman where as many as 20 men are employed, if a majority of the miners engaged in digging or mining coal request it.]

Payment of wages of miners—Company stores

SECTION 2738–r1. Semimonthly pay day.—All persons, associations, companies and corporations employing the services of ten or more persons in any mining work or mining industry in this Commonwealth, shall, on or before the fifteenth and thirtieth days of each month, pay to within fifteen days of the aforesaid fifteenth and thirtieth days, respectively, each servant or employee, in lawful money of the United States, the full amount of wages due each such servant or employee rendering such service, unless prevented by an unavoidable casualty: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any servant or employee shall be absent from his place of labor, he shall be entitled to such payment at any time thereafter on demand.

SEC. 2738–s1. Coercion as to trade.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, association, company, or corporation employing others, as described in section 1, either directly or indirectly, to coerce or require any such servant or employee to deal with or purchase any article of food, clothing, or merchandise of any kind whatever, from any person, association, corporation, or company, or at any place or store whatever. And it shall be unlawful for any such employers as described in the first section to exclude from work, or to punish or blacklist any of said employees for failure to deal with any other or to purchase any article of food, clothing, or merchandise whatever from any other or at any place or store whatever.

2. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $100 are fixed for each violation.]

This act is constitutional. 58 S. W. 441.

Employment offices

SECTION 3011. License.—[License fee of $25 required for each intelligence office, employment agency, or information bureau.]

Employment on public roads

SECTION 4329 (as amended 1918, ch. 23). Rate of wages.—[Manual or day labor on the public roads shall receive "prevailing wages of the vicinity," not less than $1 nor more than $3 per day.]

CHAPTER 77.—Employment of women—Hours of labor, etc.

SECTION 4866–b. Sixty hours per week for minors.—No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed or suffered or permitted to work at any gainful occupation except domestic service and nursing, more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day.

2. Ten-hour day in certain occupations.—No female of whatever age shall be employed or suffered or permitted to work in any laundry, bakery, factory, workshop, store or mercantile, manufacturing or mechanical establishment, or hotel, restaurant, telephone exchange or telegraph office more than sixty hours in any one week nor more than ten hours in any one day.

3. Seats.—Every person, firm, or corporation that employs females shall provide seats for their use in the room where they work and shall maintain and keep them there, and shall permit the use of such by them when not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed. In stores and mercantile establishments at least one seat shall be provided for every three females employed. If the duties of the female employees, for the use of whom the seats are furnished, are to be principally performed in front of a counter, table, desk, or fixture, such seats shall be placed in front thereof. If such duties are to be principally performed behind such counter, table, desk, or fixture, such seats shall be placed behind the same. The provision of seats that fold when not in use shall not be deemed a compliance with this section.

4. Wash rooms, etc.—[Suitable toilets must be provided, separate for each sex. A dressing room shall be provided for the women when the nature of work requires any change in clothing.]

5. Time books to be kept.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing females in laundry, bakery, factory, workshop, store, or mercantile, manufacturing, or mechanical establishment, or hotel, restaurant, telephone exchange, or telegraph office shall keep a time book in which shall be correctly recorded the name of each female employee and the number of hours she is employed each day, which book shall at all times be open to the inspection of the State labor inspector and his assistants. Any such employer or agent of such employer who knowingly makes any false record in this book and any such employer who fails to keep such book or fails to produce it upon request to the State labor inspector or his assistants for inspection shall be guilty of a violation of this act.

6. Act to be posted.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing females in laundry, bakery, factory, workshop, store, or mercantile, manufacturing, or mechanical establishment, or hotel, restaurant, telephone exchange, or telegraph office shall cause to be posted and at all times keep in a conspicuous place in each workroom wherein females are employed in the establishment of such employer:

(a) A plainly printed copy of this act, and

(b) A printed notice, in a form which shall be furnished by the State labor inspector, stating the number of hours per day for each day of the work required of the females employed and the time when such work shall begin and end.

7. Violations.—[Violations of above provisions are punishable by fine, $25 to $50 for a first offense; for each subsequent offense, imprisonment 10 to 90 days, or by fine, $50 to $200, or both.]

ACTS OF 1916

Chapter 13.—Protection of employees as voters

Section 2. Coercion of voters, etc., a misdemeanor.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, person, company, or individual to coerce or direct any employee to vote for any party or person who may be a candidate for any office in this State, or for any person who may be a candidate for a nomination for any office, or to threaten to discharge such employee if he votes for any candidate; or if such employee is discharged on account of his exercise of suffrage, or to give out or circulate any statement or report that such employees are expected or have been requested or directed by such corporation, person, individual or company, or by any one acting for such, or any such, to vote for any person, group of persons, or measure, and any person, corporation, or company violating this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not to exceed and not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months or both.

Chapter 21.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

Section 1. Scope of law.—Every corporation for pecuniary profit engaged in any enterprise or business within the State of Kentucky shall, as often as semimonthly, pay to every employee engaged in its business all wages or salary earned by such employee to a day not more than eighteen (18) days prior to the date of such payment. And any employee who is absent at the time fixed for payment, or who, for any other reason, is not paid at that time, shall be paid thereafter at any time upon six days' demand, and any employee leaving his or her employment or is discharged therefrom shall be paid in full following his or her dismissal or voluntary leaving his or her employment at any time upon three days' demand. No corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall, by special contract with its employees or by any other means, secure exemption from the provisions of this act. And each and every employee of a corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall have his or her right of action against any such corporation for the full amount of his or her wages due on each regular pay day as herein provided in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

Sec. 2. Violations.—[Violations of section 1 are punishable by fine, $25 to $100, each failure to comply with same constituting a separate offense.]

ACTS OF 1918

CHAPTER 25.—Mine regulations—Department of mines

SECTION 1. Office created.—[A department of mines is established, in charge of a chief inspector appointed by the governor for a term of 4 years. He must have scientific and practical knowledge of duties, including rescue and relief work, in which he must supervise training, and disseminate information concerning mining methods and accident prevention.]

SEC. 2. Salary.—[Salary is $3,000 per annum, and expenses of travel, etc., and may have not over $1,200 for clerical assistance, in discretion of the governor.]

SEC. 3. Assistants.—[Authorizes appointment of 3 additional assistant inspectors, at salaries of $1,800 each, and expenses of travel, etc. They must be qualified by knowledge and experience of 5 years, at least 3 of which must have been in the mines.]

SEC. 4. Districts; rescue appliances.—[Chief inspector assigns districts, in each of which a rescue station with apparatus and appliances must be maintained.]

CHAPTER 52.—Employers' liability—Railroad companies

SECTION 1. Liability declared.—Every common carrier by railroad while engaged in commerce in this State shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or in case of the death of such employee, his or her personal representative for such injury or death to such employee resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, docks, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 2. Contributory negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier by railroad, or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injury to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may have been injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute, State or Federal, enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 3. Assumption of risk.—In any action brought against any common carrier by railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any employee, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute, State or Federal, enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

CHAPTER 68.—Bureau of agriculture, labor, and statistics

SECTION 2. Personnel.—In the bureau of agriculture, labor, and statistics there shall be appointed by the commissioner, with the approval of the governor as specified in section 4, a chief labor inspector, who may be either a man or a woman and four deputy labor inspectors, two of whom shall be men and two shall be women, who, with one clerical assistant, shall constitute the department of labor under the commissioner. The chief labor inspector shall receive $3,000 per annum and each deputy $1,600 per annum, payable monthly. The salary of the clerical assistant shall not exceed $1,200 per annum.

SEC. 3. Qualifications of chief labor inspector.—The chief labor inspector shall be a person with a good working knowledge of shop and factory practice, industrial sanitation, accident prevention, the general industrial development in the State, and of the labor laws of the State, and shall also be a person of executive ability and good moral character, provided said chief labor inspector shall have been a resident of the State of Kentucky for at least two years next prior to his appointment. The chief labor inspector shall under the commissioner be in complete charge of the activities of the department of labor, and together with his deputies shall inspect places of employment.

SEC. 4. Examination of applicants for inspectorships.—Every person desiring appointment either as chief or deputy labor inspector shall be required to pass a competitive written and oral examination touching his or her qualifications as set forth in section 3. The records of such examinations (including questions, answers, and marks awarded) shall be kept in the department as a matter of public record and open to the inspection of any citizen at any and all times. Such examinations shall be held by the commissioner, the State sanitary engineer, and the head of the engineering department of the University of Kentucky. The chief inspector shall be chosen from among four applicants receiving the highest rating. Any vacancy occurring in the office of chief or deputy inspectors shall be filled in the same manner as appointments are made in the first instance.

SEC. 5. Removal from office.—The chief inspector and the deputy inspectors shall be appointed for a period of four years and may be removed from office by the commissioner for neglect of duty, incompetence, gross insubordination, intoxication, or immorality: Provided, That such removal shall not take place until at least five days after a written notice specifying the charges against him or her shall be sent by registered mail to the offending inspector who may demand a public hearing of such charges. A copy of this notice shall be filed with the secretary of State and shall be a matter of public record and a record shall also be kept of the proceedings of the hearings and any party feeling aggrieved may appeal to the governor, who may reverse the findings of the commissioner on the records.

SEC. 6. Duties of department.—The department of labor shall through its inspectors visit places of employment for the purposes of (1) the investigation of the condition of employment affecting the life, health, safety, of employees, (2) the administration and enforcement of all laws of the State regulating the employment of labor, and (3) the collection of statistics pertaining thereto. Any employer shall be furnished, upon request made to the chief labor inspector, a detailed report of any inspection of that employer's place of business.

SEC. 7. Records.—Proper, complete, and permanent records shall be made of all investigations showing dates when examinations were made, the condition in which the establishment was found, and what changes were ordered. Such records shall be delivered by the chief labor inspector at the expiration of his term of office to the incoming commissioner, who shall give to the chief labor inspector a properly attested receipt therefor.

SEC. 8. Interference with inspectors.—Any employer, firm, or corporation, or officer, manager, or superintendent of any person, firm, or corporation who shall refuse or attempt to prevent the admission of any inspector authorized by this article [act] upon or within the premises or building of any establishment or place which he is required by law to inspect, at any reasonable hour, or during the working hours of the persons employed thereat or therein, or shall in any manner interfere with the performance of the official duties of such inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each offense or shall be imprisoned in jail for not more than fifty days or receive both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 9. Reports.—The department of labor shall prepare biennially for presentation to the general assembly and for public distribution a report of the activities of the department, which shall embody a complete summary of the work of the department including number of visits made, types of establishments inspected, working conditions found, number of violations of labor laws, number of prosecutions, and improvements noted.

SEC. 10. Cooperation with other departments.—The chief and deputy inspectors of the department of labor shall be furnished with a copy of all the laws and rulings of the State board of health affecting sanitary conditions in places of employment not covered by the labor laws of the State, and shall report in writing to the State, county, or municipal health authorities any violations coming under their observation while visting places of employment in the regular performance of their duty.

The chief and deputy inspectors shall be furnished with a copy of all the laws and rulings of the State fire marshal's office relating to fire hazards in places of employment and shall report in writing to the State, county, or municipal authorities any violations coming under their observation while visiting places of employment in the regular performance of their duty.

SEC. 11. Registration of factories, etc.—Every person, firm, or corporation shall within one month after he, they, or it shall begin to occupy a factory, workshop, mill, or other place of employment notify in writing the chief labor inspector, department of labor at Frankfort, of such occupancy, giving the legal title of such corporation and name of agent upon whom service of summons can be made and in case of firm, the individual names of members of the firm, and its legal title.

SEC. 12. Duties of prosecuting attorney.—The prosecuting attorney of each county and city in this State shall conduct all prosecutions for violations of the provisions of this act occurring in their respective jurisdictions.

SEC. 13. Labor disputes.—The chief and deputy labor inspectors shall not take any part, interfere, or become involved in any lockout, strike, or similar labor difficulty. Upon proof of such behavior he or she shall forfeit his or her office.

SEC. 14. Expenses.—There shall be appropriated for the expenses of the department of labor of the bureau of agriculture, labor, and statistics, including the salaries of all persons appointed under it, the sum of $15,000 per annum. All salaries, office expenses, and necessary traveling expenses incurred in the regular performance of the duties of the inspectors shall be paid out of the fund appropriated for the department upon the submission of an itemized statement of same duly certified by the chief labor inspector. The biennial reports of the department of labor, also an adequate number of pamphlets containing abstracts of the labor laws of Kentucky and such other educational material as the commissioner may deem advisable, shall be printed by the public printer under the direction of the commissioner of public printing and paid for out of the general fund provided by law for the printing for the executive departments.

SECS. 15, 16. Exemptions.—[These sections declare mine inspectors and the workmen's compensation board not to be affected by this act.]

CHAPTER 71.—Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 1. Redemption; records.—An individual, firm, partnership, or organization or corporation employing labor who may hereafter issue any script [scrip], due bills, checks, or other evidence of debt in any form for labor shall redeem same in cash or legal tender at face value at least once in each month on a regular pay day from any person or persons, firm, or corporation who may present the same for payment: Provided, That any person, firm, or corporation buying said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt which has been issued to employees for labor shall be entitled to sue the person, firm, or corporation issuing the same if payment is refused, and shall be entitled to recover face value therefor if it has been paid for in goods and merchandise in store, and if paid for in cash shall be entitled to recover the amount paid for said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt issued to employees, together with 6 per cent interest from date said script [scrip] was purchased, and in the event said amount paid for said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt issued to employees is less than the face value thereof, and that the amount paid and interest thereon is less than face value of said script [scrip], the residue of the face value thereof shall be credited on the books of the employer to the employee to whom it was issued and said employee shall be entitled to receive same on any regular pay day of said employer: And provided, That the person, firm, or corporation suing said employer to recover on said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt shall not be required to make the persons from whom said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt was purchased party or parties to any action brought to enforce collection for same. All persons, firms, and corporations purchasing script [scrip] or other evidence of debt issued to employees on account of labor shall keep an accurate record of the amount of script [scrip] or other evidence of debt purchased and this record so kept shall show the name of each person from whom script [scrip] or other evidence of debt issued to employees for labor was purchased, the amount purchased, date thereof, and amount paid in goods or in cash or other thing of value, and who issued said script [scrip] or other evidence of debt so purchased. This act shall not apply to persons, firms, or corporations employing less than twenty persons. The itemized statement from the record so kept shall be presented when payment is demanded for script [scrip] or other evidence of debt so purchased from any person, firm, or corporation and said statement shall be properly sworn to by the person presenting same or by his or its agent.

LOUISIANA

CONSTITUTION—1921

ARTICLE IV.—Labor legislation

SECTION 4. Restrictions.—The legislature shall not pass any local or special law on the following specified subjects:

* * * * * * *

Regulating labor, trade, manufacturing, or agriculture.

* * * * * * *

Granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive right, privilege, or immunity.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 7. No wage regulation.—No law shall be passed fixing the price of manual labor, but the legislature, through a commission or otherwise, may establish minimum wages for and regulate the hours and working conditions of women and girls, except those engaged in agricultural pursuits or domestic service.

ARTICLE X.—Exemption of laborers from license tax

SECTION 8. Laborers exempt from license.—[Authorizes the legislature to levy a license tax on trades, callings, etc., from which, among others, laborers and those engaged in mechanical pursuits or in operating sawmills are exempt.]

ARTICLE XI.—Suits for wages—Homesteads not exempt

SECTION 2. Exemption not applicable.—[Homestead exemptions are provided for, but they do not apply in the case of debts owing for labor, money, and material furnished for building, repairing, or improving homesteads.]

REVISED LAWS—1897

Arbitration and conciliation of labor disputes

SECTION 1. Appointment of board.—Within thirty days after the passage of this act the governor of the State, with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint five competent persons to serve as a board of arbitration and conciliation in the manner hereinafter provided. Two of them shall be employers, selected or recommended by some association or board representing employers of labor, two of them shall be employees, selected or recommended by the various labor organizations and not an employer of labor, and the fifth shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the other four: Provided, however, That if the four appointed do not agree on the fifth man at the expiration of thirty days, he shall be appointed by the governor: Provided also. That if the employers or employees fail to make their recommendation as herein provided within thirty days, then the governor shall make said appointments in accordance with the spirit and intent of this act; said appointments, if made when the senate is not in session, may be confirmed at the next ensuing session.

SEC. 3. Organization.—Each member of said board shall before entering upon the duties of his office be sworn to a faithful discharge thereof. They shall organize at once by the choice of one of their number as chairman and one of their number as secretary. The board shall, as soon as possible after its organization, establish rules of procedure.

SEC. 4. Mediation.—Whenever any controversy or difference not involving questions which may be the subject of a suit or action in any court of the State exists between an employer, whether an individual, copartnership, or corporation, and his employees, if at the time he employs not less than twenty persons in the same general line of business in any city or parish of this State, the board shall, upon application as hereinafter provided and as soon as practicable thereafter, visit the locality of the dispute and make careful inquiry into the cause thereof, hear all persons interested therein who may come before them, advise the respective parties what, if anything, ought to be done or submitted to by either or both to adjust said dispute.

SEC. 5. Decision to be published.—Such mediation having failed to bring about an adjustment of the said differences, the board shall immediately make out a written decision thereon. This decision shall at once be made public, shall be recorded upon proper books of record to be kept by the secretary of said board, and a short statement thereof published in the annual report hereinafter provided for, and the said board shall cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of the court of the city or parish where said business is carried on.

SEC. 6. Applications to board.—Said application for arbitration and conciliation to said board can be made by either or both parties to the controversy, and shall be signed in the respective instances by said employer or by a majority of the employees in the department of the business in which the controversy or difference exist[s], or the duly authorized agent of either or both parties. When an application is signed by an agent claiming to represent a majority of such employees the board shall satisfy itself that such agent is duly authorized in writing to represent such employees, but the names of the employees giving authority shall be kept secret by said board.

SEC. 7. To contain what.—Said application shall contain a concise statement of the grievances complained of and a promise to continue on in business or at work in the same manner as at the time of the application without any lockout or strike until the decision of said board if it shall be made within ten days of the date of filing said application.

SEC. 8. Hearing.—As soon as may be after the receipt of said application the secretary of said board shall cause public notice to be given of the time and place for the hearing therein, but the public notice need not be given when both parties to the controversy join in the application and present therewith a written request that no public notice be given. When such request is made notice shall be given to the parties interested in such manner as the board may order, and the board may, at any stage of the proceedings, cause public notice to be given, notwithstanding such request. Should the petitioner or petitioners fail to perform the promise made in said application, the board shall proceed no further therein until said petitioner or petitioners have complied with every order and requirement of the board.

SEC. 9. Witnesses, etc.—The board shall have power to summon as witnesses any operative in the department of business affected and any person who keeps the record of wages earned in these departments, and examine them under oath and to require the production of books and papers containing the record of wages earned or paid. Summons may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board. The board shall have the right to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of papers.

SEC. 10. Notification by mayor or judge.—Whenever it is made to appear to the mayor of a city or the judge of any district court in any parish, other than the parish of Orleans, that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or actually occurs, the mayor of such city or the judge of the district court of such parish, shall at once notify the State board of the fact. Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the State board either by the notice of the mayor of a city or the judge of the district court of the parish, as provided in the preceding part of this section or otherwise, that a lockout or strike is seriously threatened, or has actually occurred, in any city or parish of this State, involving an employer and his present or past employees, if at the time he is employing, or up to the occurrence of a strike or lockout was employing not less than twenty persons in the same general line of business in any city or parish in the State, it shall be the duty of the State board to put itself in communication as soon as may be with such employer and employees.

SEC. 11. Duty of board.—It shall be the duty of the State board in the above described cases to endeavor, by mediation or conciliation to effect an amicable settlement between them, and to endeavor to persuade them, provided a strike or lockout has not actually occurred or has [is] not then continuing to submit the matters in dispute to the State board of arbitration and conciliation; and the State board shall, whether the same be mutually submitted to them or not, investigate the cause or causes of such controversy and ascertain which party thereto is mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence or continuance of the same, and shall make and publish a report finding such cause or causes, and assigning such responsibility or blame. The board shall have the same powers for the foregoing purposes as are given it by section 9 of this act.

SEC. 12. Reports.—Said State board shall make a biennial report to the governor and legislature, and shall include therein such statements, facts and explanations as will disclose the actual workings of the board, and such suggestions as to legislation as may seem to the members of the board conducive to the relations of and disputes between employers and employees.

SEC. 13. Compensation.—The members of the State board of arbitration and conciliation hereby created shall each be paid five dollars a day for each day of actual service, and their necessary traveling and other expenses. The chairman of the board shall quarterly certify the amount due each member, and on presentation of his certificate the auditor of the State shall draw his warrant on the treasury of the State for the amount.

This statute authorizes investigation on proper application without the consent of all parties. Boards are governed by the broad rules of law and equity, and not by technical rules of law. Objections upon grounds of irregularity must be made before the board, both parties being represented, before application to the courts to correct errors. Apprehension that the conclusion and decision of the board will be erroneous is not ground for an injunction. 17 So. 418.

Labor organizations—Incorporation

SECTION 677. Who may incorporate.—Whenever any number of persons exceeding six may be desirous of forming themselves into a corporation or body politic for the preservation of life or property, or for any religious, scientific, literary or charitable purpose, and to acquire and enjoy the rights, privileges and powers of a body corporate and politic in law, it shall be lawful for such persons to prepare and sign an instrument, either in authentic form or under private signature, wherein they shall declare and specify the purposes and objects of such corporation; the name, style and title thereof; the place chosen for its domicile; the manner in which such managers and officers are to be chosen; the officer on whom citations may be served, and the length of time during which the corporation shall exist and continue. The act of incorporation shall be handed to the district attorney, in which its domicile is fixed for examination as to its legality; and should he be of opinion that the purposes and objects of the corporation, as specified in said act, are legal, and that none of the provisions therein contained are contrary to law, he shall indorse his opinion to that effect thereon. The act, together with the opinion of the district attorney, shall then be recorded in the office of the parish recorder, or other official performing the duties of parish recorder, which act, when so recorded, shall constitute the subscribers to the same, and their associates and successors, a body politic and corporate, for the purposes and objects declared and contained in the act, and shall have continuance and succession by the name, style and title as set forth in the act, a copy of which, duly certified by the officer in whose office the same is recorded, shall be full and complete evidence of the contents of the original act.

SECTION 1. Incorporation of trades-unions, etc.—Any trades-unions, Knights of Labor assemblies or lodges, Farmers Alliances or any similar organizations as now established in this State or as may hereafter be established for similar purposes, may form themselves into incorporated bodies: Provided, That no less than six members or persons comply with the requirements of section six hundred and seventy-seven of the Revised Statutes, relative to the organization of corporations for literary, scientific, religious and charitable purposes, and all acts amendatory thereof, and the provisions of section 677 * * * shall apply to and include all corporations organized under the provisions of this act.

Antitrust law—Labor organizations exempt

SECTION 8. Exemption of labor combinations.—The provisions of this act shall not * * * be so construed as to affect any combination or confederation of laborers for the purpose of procuring an increase of their wages or redress of grievances.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 902. Attempting to influence votes, etc.—Any planter, manager, overseer, or other employer of laborers in this State who shall, previous to the expiration of the term of service of any laborer in their employ, or under their control, discharge from their employ any laborer or laborers on account of their political opinions, or who shall attempt to control the suffrages or votes of such laborers by any contract or agreement whatever, entered into at any time with such laborers, shall pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the district attorney for the judicial district, or the district attorney pro tempore of the parish in which such offender resides, to institute such suit in the name of the parish of the offender's residence, and he shall be entitled to twenty-five per cent of the amount of all fines he may so recover as his fees in the case, and the balance shall be paid to the treasurer of the common school fund of such parish for the use of common schools in such parish, and upon due conviction for any such offense such offender shall be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

Suits for wages

SECTION 1. Actions against nonresidents.—In all parishes of the State it shall be lawful for mechanics, laborers, and others doing work on the plantation or plantations of the nonresident proprietors thereof to institute suit for the recovery of their wages, labor, work, or portion of the crop, as the case may be, against the nonresident proprietors of said plantation in the parish in which said labor or work was done and performed.

SEC. 2. Service of citation.—In all cases when suits are to be instituted it shall only be necessary to make service of the copy of citation and petition upon the agent, overseer, manager, or other person having control, management, or administration of said plantation, and in the employ of the said nonresident proprietor.

SECTION 1. Time of trial.—In all cases instituted before any court of this State by a laborer or laborers upon any farm or plantation for the recovery of his or their wages, it shall be legal and competent for the judge, upon application of either plaintiff or defendant, to try the suit either in chambers or in open court after three days' service of citation.

SEC. 2. Appeals.—In case of appeal from any judgment so rendered either plaintiff or defendant shall be entitled to have the case tried de novo in the appellate court, either in chambers or in open court, and all appeals in such cases shall be returnable to the appellate court within three days after rendition and signing of judgment.

SECTION 1. Venue.—Parties holding claims against any citizen of this State for labor performed, or for supplies or materials furnished, or for improvements made upon any farm or plantation, or real estate, are hereby authorized to institute suit for the recovery of such claims before any competent court having territorial jurisdiction of the property, whether the owner be domiciled or not in the parish where the property is situated.

Occupational diseases—Provisions for safety

SECTION 1. Power of State board of health.—The board of health of the State of Louisiana is hereby authorized to enact from time to time all needful rules and regulations for the better protection of the health of operatives and employees, working in manufactories, workshops, laboratories, and other places in which substances, materials, or compounds, poisonous in their nature, or otherwise injurious to the health of said operatives or employees are used, manufactured, compounded, prepared, or handled.

SEC. 2. Rules to be observed.—Said rules and regulations when so adopted by the board of health, shall be observed and complied with by the owners and proprietors of said manufactories, workshops, laboratories, or other places described in the first section of this act, as well as by all persons, superintendents, managers, foremen, lessees, or sublessees in charge of such establishments, within twenty (20) days after being served by the board of health, with a copy of said rules and regulations, and a notice to comply therewith.

SEC. 3. Violations.—Any person failing to comply with the provisions of this act, or the rules and regulations thereunder, or violating the provisions thereof, shall be fined twenty-five (25) dollars, or be imprisoned in the parish jail not more than ten days, for each and every offense.

Railroads—Telltales

SECTION 1. Bridges over railroads.—All railroads now operating in the State of Louisiana, or which may hereafter operate in said State shall, at a point not less than one hundred and fifty feet from either approach of their bridges, cause stands to be erected, and from the same cause to be hung across the entire width of their track light ropes, properly knotted and hanging so low as to absolutely touch the head or body of any train hand in ample time to notify him of his near approach to the bridge, and enable him to take the necessary precautionary means to avoid the possibility of injury.

SEC. 3. Enjoining operation.—In the event any railroad company should fail or refuse to comply with the provisions and requirements of this act, the governor shall, through the attorney general of the State, cause such company to be enjoined from operating or running any trains in this State until said provisions and requirements are complied with.

A brakeman does not assume the risk arising from a railroad company's failure to erect telltales as required by this statute. 37 So. Rep. 131.

Hours of labor on street railways

SECTION 1. Ten hours a day's work.—Ten hours labor in twenty-four shall constitute a day's labor in the operation of all street railroads owned or operated by corporations incorporated under the laws of this State, whatever motive power may be used in the operation of such railroads; the said ten hours to be embraced within twelve consecutive hours.

SEC. 2. Misdemeanor.—It shall be a misdemeanor for any officer or agent of any street railroad company to exact from any of its employees more than ten hours' labor in the twenty-four, constituting a day and embraced within twelve consecutive hours: Provided, however, That in cases of accident[,] unavoidable delay, or emergency extra labor may be permitted for extra compensation, with the consent of the employee.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations incur a penalty of not exceeding $50, or imprisonment not more than 2 months, or both. Fine to go to benefit of public schools.]

VOORHIES' REVISED CIVIL CODE OF 1870—EDITION OF 1888

Employment of labor—General provisions

ARTICLE 162. Free servants.—There is only one class of servants in this State, to wit: Free servants.

ART. 163. Definition.—Free servants are in general all free persons who let, hire or engage their services to another in this State, to be employed therein at any work, commerce or occupation whatever for the benefit of him who has contracted with them, for a certain price or retribution, or upon certain conditions.

ART. 164. Kinds of servants.—There are three kinds of free servants in this State, to wit:

1. Those who only hire out their services by the day, week, month or year, in consideration of certain wages; the rules which fix the extent and limits of those contracts are established in the title: Of Letting and Hiring.

2. Those who engage to serve for a fixed time for a certain consideration, and who are therefore considered not as having hired out but as having sold their services.

3. Apprentices, that is, those who engage to serve anyone in order to learn some art, trade or profession.

ART. 2320. Liability of employers.—Masters and employers are answerable for the damage occasioned by their servants and overseers, in the exercise of the functions in which they are employed.

Teachers and artisans are answerable for the damage caused by their scholars or apprentices, while under their superintendence.

In the above cases, responsibility only attaches, when the masters or employers, teachers and artisans, might have prevented the act which caused the damage, and have not done it.

A youth put to work at a dangerous machine without instruction has, under the above sections, an action for injuries received while so employed. 23 So. 469.

Employment of labor

ARTICLE 2673. Species of contracts.—There are two species of contracts of lease, to wit:

1. The letting out of things.

2. The letting out of labor or industry.

ART. 2675. Definition.—To let out labor or industry is a contract by which one of the parties binds himself to do something for the other, in consideration of a certain price agreed on by them both.

ART. 2745. Letting of labor.—Labor may be let out in three ways:

1. Laborers may hire their services to another person.

2. Carriers and watermen hire out their services for the conveyance either of persons or of goods and merchandise.

3. Workmen hire out their labor or industry to make buildings or other works.

ART. 2746. Contracts limited.—A man can only hire out his services for a certain limited time, or for the performance of a certain enterprise.

ART. 2747. Termination of contract.—A man is at liberty to dismiss a hired servant attached to his person or family, without assigning any reason for so doing. The servant is also free to depart without assigning any cause.

ART. 2748. Employees on farms and in factories.—Laborers, who hire themselves out to serve on plantations or to work in manufactures, have not the right of leaving the person who has hired them, nor can they be sent away by the proprietor, until the time has expired during which they had agreed to serve, unless good and just causes can be assigned.

A laborer, discharged for good cause before the expiration of his contract, is entitled to recover wages for the time served. 1 Robinson, 332.

ART. 2749. Discharge.—If, without any serious ground of complaint, a man should send away a laborer whose services he has hired for a certain time, before that time has expired, he shall be bound to pay to such laborer the whole of the salaries which he would have been entitled to receive, had the full term of his service arrived.

A laborer hired for a fixed time, discharged without serious ground of complaint before the expiration of his term, may sue at once for the amount of wages he would have received had the service continued to the end of the time agreed upon. Immediately accepting new employment does not affect this right. 1 Robinson, 319.

ART. 2750. Leaving employment.—But if, on the other hand, a laborer, after having hired out his services, should leave his employer before the time of his engagement has expired, without having any just cause of complaint against his employer, the laborer shall then forfeit all the wages that may be due to him, and shall moreover be compelled to repay all the money he has received, either as due for his wages, or in advance thereof on the running year or on the time of his engagement.

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

ARTICLE 3254. Priority of wage claims.—[Makes wages of servants rank next after funeral charges, law charges, and expenses of last illness.]

VOORHIES' CODE OF PRACTICE—THIRD EDITION

Exemption of wages from execution, etc.

ARTICLE 644. Wage exemption.—The sheriff or constable can not seize * * * wages, nor recompense for personal services, * * *

ACTS OF 1900

ACT No. 55.—Employment of women

SECTION 1. Seats to be provided.—Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation doing business in the State of Louisiana, where female labor or female clerks are employed, not to maintain seats, chairs, or benches which shall be so placed as to be accessible to said employees, for their use during the times when said employees are not actually engaged in the attention to their duties as employees of such firm, person or corporation.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment, 5 days to 6 months, in default of payment.]

ACTS OF 1904

ACT No. 165.—Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 1. Wages exempt, when.—Wages earned out of this State and payable out of this State shall be exempt from attachment of garnishment in all cases where the cause of action arose out of this State, and it shall be the duty of garnishees in such cases to plead such exemption unless the defendant is actually served with the process.

ACT No. 178.—Employment of children, etc., to support men in idleness

SECTION 1. Who are vagrants.—The several municipal corporations throughout the State shall adopt ordinances declaring vagrants, and punishing as such, * * * (all persons able to work who do not work) but who live upon the wages or personal earnings of their wives or of their minor children; * * *

ACT No. 195.—Time for meals to be allowed employees in mercantile establishments

SECTION 1. One hour to be allowed.—It shall be unlawful for any proprietor or proprietors, firm, or corporation doing business in this State, in cities of more than fifty thousand inhabitants, engaged in the retail business, or conducting retail department stores or retail establishments, not to allow their clerks at least one hour of the day, between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. for their midday meal, lunch or recreation.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Failure to comply with above provisions entails a fine, $25 to $100, and in default of payment, imprisonment, 15 days to 6 months.]

ACTS OF 1908

ACT No. 31.—Interest to be paid on employees' deposits

SECTION 1. Rate of interest required.—All corporations, firms, and individuals doing business in this State requiring of its or their employees a cash deposit as a guarantee for the faithful performance of the duties imposed upon such employees, shall pay to such employee in cash interest at the rate of not less than four per cent per annum on the cash sum so deposited.

ACT No. 155.—Bureau of labor and statistics

SECTION 1 (as amended 1914, No. 186). Commissioner to be appointed.—The governor shall, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint some suitable person who shall be designated commissioner of labor and said commissioner of labor shall appoint, with the approval of the governor, two suitable persons who shall be designated assistant commissioners of labor; said assistant commissioners shall be residents of different sections of the State from each other and from the commissioner of labor. The headquarters of such commissioner and assistant commissioners shall be fixed at such place as the governor shall designate and they shall hold their offices for a term of four (4) years. The assistant commissioners of labor shall perform their duties under the direction and orders of the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1914, No. 186). Duties.—The duties of said commissioner and said assistant commissioners shall be to visit and inspect manufacturing establishments, workshops, mills, mercantile establishments, factories, and other places where industrial work is being done for the purpose of enforcing the laws regulating or dealing with the conditions of employment of labor of any kind, and to prosecute all persons, firms, associations, or corporations violating the labor laws of the State. It shall be the duty of such commissioner and assistant commissioners to collect, assort, systematize, and present annual reports to the governor to be by him biennially transmitted to the general assembly, within ten days after the convening thereof, statistical data relating to all departments of labor in the State, especially such data as relate to the commercial, industrial, social, educational and sanitary conditions of the laboring people and to the permanent prosperity of the productive industries of the State. It shall also be the duty of said commissioner and assistant commissioners and they shall have authority to inquire into the causes of strikes, lockouts, or other disturbances of the relation of employers and employees and to report to the governor at as early a date as possible thereafter the result of such inquiry.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1914, No. 186). Powers.—The commissioner and his assistant commissioners shall have power to take and preserve evidence, examine witnesses under oath and administer same, and in the discharge of his duties may enter any public institution of the State, and at reasonable hours any factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, or other places where labor may be employed. In the city of New Orleans the mayor shall appoint a factory inspector who may be either male or female. The commissioner and each assistant commissioner shall have power to investigate all cases where violations of the laws pertaining to the conditions of employment of labor is complained of; and it is hereby made the duty of said commissioner and assistant commissioners to order the criminal prosecution in any competent court of any person, firm, association, or corporation, acting in violation of any laws of this State regulating the conditions of the employment of labor.

SEC. 4. Duty of officers.—All State, parochial, municipal, and town officers are hereby directed to furnish said commissioner, upon his request, all statistical information in reference to labor and industries, which may be in their possession as such officers.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1914, No. 186). Hindering commissioner.—Any person who shall willfully impede or prevent the commissioner or assistant commissioners in the full and free performance of his or their duties shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction of the same shall be fined not less than ten ($10) dollars, nor more than fifty ($50) dollars or be imprisoned not less than five (5) days or more than twenty-five (25) days in the parish jail, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1920, No. 144). Salaries.—The commissioner shall receive a salary of three thousand ($3,000) dollars per annum, and each assistant commissioner a salary of eighteen hundred ($1,800) dollars per annum. The commissioner shall employ a secretary who shall receive a salary of twelve hundred ($1,200) dollars per annum. The commissioner and assistant commissioners shall be allowed not to exceed six hundred ($600) dollars per annum for office maintenance and not to exceed twenty-five hundred ($2,500) dollars per annum for traveling and all other necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties. All salaries and expenses shall be payable monthly out of the general fund upon the warrant of the commissioner.

Act No. 228.—Payment of wages in scrip

Section 1. Scrip to be redeemed in cash.—Any person, firm or corporation issuing checks, punch outs, tickets, tokens, or other device, redeemable either wholly or partially in goods or merchandise at their, or any other place of business, shall, on demand of any legal holder thereof, on the next pay day of such person, firm or corporation issuing same succeeding the date of issuance of same be liable for the full face value thereof, in current money of the United States.

Sec. 2. Payable to bearer.—Any such checks, punch outs, tickets, tokens, or other device, issued by any person, firm or corporation, shall be considered and treated as payable to bearer, on demand, in current money of the United States, notwithstanding any contrary stipulation or provision which may be therein contained.

Sec. 3 (as amended 1924, No. 210). Failure to redeem.—[Failure of the party issuing such checks, tokens, etc., to redeem the same at full face value when demanded so to do by the legal holder thereof, on a regular pay day, is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, $50 to $500, and imprisonment not more than 90 days, in the discretion of the court.]

Act No. 264.—Protection of employees on buildings

Section 1 (as amended 1924, No. 25).—Safeguards.—For the safety of persons in and about the construction, repairing, alteration or removal of buildings, bridges, viaducts and other structures, all scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, ladders, supports or other mechanical contrivances erected or constructed by any person or firm in this State for use in the erection, repairing, alteration, removing or painting of any house, building, or bridge, viaduct, or other structure in cities of more than fifteen thousand inhabitants, shall be erected and constructed, placed and operated so as to give proper and adequate protection to the life and limb of any person or persons employed or engaged thereon, or passing under or by the same, and in such manner as to prevent the falling of any material that may be used or deposited thereon.

Sec. 2. Safety rail for scaffolds, etc.—In the construction or repairing, alteration or removal of any structures, that scaffolding or staging, swung or suspended from any overhead support, more than twenty feet from the ground or floor shall have where practicable, a safety rail properly bolted, secured and braced, and rising at least thirty-four (34) inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length outside and ends thereof, and properly attached thereto and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

Sec. 3 (as amended 1924, No. 25). Supports for joists.—In any house, building or structure in process of erection or construction, where the distance between the inclosing walls is more than twenty-four feet in the clear, there shall be built, kept, and maintained proper intermediate supports for the joists, which support shall be either brickwork walls, iron or steel columns, beams, trusses or girders or [of] wood, or other material of sufficient strength, and the floors in all such houses, buildings or structures in the process of erection or construction shall be designed, and constructed in such manner as to be capable of bearing in all their parts in addition to the weight of the floor construction, partitions and permanent fixtures and mechanisms that may be set upon the same, a live load of twenty-five pounds for every square foot of service [surface] in such floors, and each and every opening in such floor of any kind shall be railed all around said opening, with a substantial railing four feet in height, and it is hereby made the duty of every owner, builder, lessee, contractor or subcontractor of such house, building or construction or the superintendent or agent of either to see that all the provisions of this act are complied with.

Sec. 4. Loading capacity.—It shall be the duty of every owner of every house, building or structure (except buildings exclusively for residential purpose), now under construction or hereafter to be constructed, to affix and display conspicuously on each floor of such building during construction, a placard stating the load per square foot of the floor surface, which may with safety be applied to that particular floor during such construction, or if the strength of different parts of the floor varies, then there shall be such placards for each varying part of such floor.

It shall be unlawful to load any such floors or any part thereof to a greater extent than the load indicated on such placard and all such placards shall be verified and approved by the city engineer or inspector of buildings or other proper authority of the city charged with the enforcement of building laws.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1924, No. 25). Inspection.—Whenever it shall come to the notice of the building inspector or any officers whose duty it is to enforce this act in any city in this State of more than fifteen thousand inhabitants, charged with the duty of enforcing the building laws, that the scaffoldings, stays, hangers, blocks, pulleys, slings, braces, ladders, irons, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding, platform or other similar device, used in the construction, repairing, alteration, removing, cleaning, or painting of buildings, bridges, viaducts or other structure within said cities, are liable to prove dangerous to life and limb of any person, such local authorities shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such scaffolding, platform or device or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, iron or other parts connected therewith, and if after an examination, such scaffolding, platform or device or the slings or any parts thereof be found to be dangerous to life and limb of any person, the said local authorities shall at once notify the person responsible for the maintenance of such fact and warn him against the use, maintenance or operation thereof and require the same to be altered and reconstructed, so to avoid such danger.

Such notice may be served personally upon the one responsible for its erection or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffolding, platform or other device, or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been served or affixed, the person responsible therefor shall cease using and immediately remove such scaffolding, platform or other device or such part thereof or alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe. The officer or such local authority whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding, platform or similar device or part thereof required to be erected and maintained, by this section, shall have free access at all times during reasonable hours at any buildings or structures containing such scaffolding, platforms or other similar device or parts thereof or where they may be in use. All swinging or stationary platforms, scaffolding, or other similar devices shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent thereon or placed thereon when in use and such swinging scaffolding, platform or other similar devices shall not be so loaded or crowded as to render them unsafe or dangerous.

SEC. 6. Secondary scaffolds, etc.—Any person, firm, or corporation in this State, hiring, employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in erecting, repairing, altering or painting any water pipe, standpipe, smokestack, chimney, tower, steeple, pole, staff, dome, or cupalo [cupola], with the use of any scaffold, staging, swing hammock, support, temporary platform, or other similar contrivance, for such labor, shall keep and maintain at all times while such labor is being performed and such mechanical device in use or operation a safe and proper scaffold, stay, support, or other suitable device, not less than sixteen feet below such working scaffold, staging, swaying hammock, support or temporary platform when such work is being performed at a height of thirty-two (32) feet or more, for the purpose of protecting the person or persons performing such labor from falling in case of any accident to such working scaffold, staging, swaying hammock, support or temporary platform.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1924, No. 25). Protective floors.—All contractors and owners, lessees and subcontractors, when constructing buildings where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams or where the floors are fireproof material or brickwork, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to not less than within three tiers or beams below and on which the ironwork is being erected. If the plans or specifications do not require the filling in between the beams with brick or fireproof material, said contractor shall lay in the underflooring or a safe temporary floor, on each story as the building progresses to not less than within two stories of the floor below, to which said building has been erected and where double floors are not to be used shall keep planks over the floor, to two stories of the floor below the story where the work is being performed, and if the floor beams are not of iron or steel, the contractor for the iron or steel work in the course of construction or the owner shall throughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams, on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such places as are necessary for the proper construction of the iron or steel work, and for the raising or lowering of material to be used on said building: Provided, That all openings in said floor are railed as required by this act.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1924, No. 25). Elevator shafts.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction for the purpose of lifting material, the contractor, owner, or lessee shall cause all shafts or openings such as stairways, ladder openings, elevator opening[s] or shafts, or any other opening left in said floors to be inclosed or fenced all around on all sides by a substantial barrier or railing at least four feet in height: Provided, That any hoisting machine or engine used in such building construction shall, where practicable, be set up or placed on the ground and where it is necessary to place such hoisting machines or engines on the same floor above the ground floor, they must be properly and securely supported with a foundation capable of sustaining twice the weight of such machine or engine, and if the building in course of construction is three stories or over in height, no material needed for such construction, shall be hoisted or lifted over any public street or alley, unless such street or alley shall be barricaded from use by the public or so covered as to prevent injury to pedestrians.

SEC. 9. Signals.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus, operated or controlled by other than hand power, be used in the construction, alteration or removal of any building or other structures, a complete adequate system of communication by means of signals shall be provided and maintained by the owner, contractor or subcontractor during the use and operation of such elevating machines or hoisting apparatus in order that prompt and perfect communication may be had at all times between the operator of the engine or motive power of such elevating machine and hoisting apparatus and the employees or persons engaged thereon or in using or operating the same, and the officers of any city charged with the enforcement of the building law are hereby charged with the enforcement of this provision of this act and in case of their failure so to do, the police authorities shall pursuant to the terms of this act enforce the provisions thereof.

SEC. 10. Violations.—[Violations of above provisions are punishable by fine, $25 to $500, or imprisonment, 3 months to 2 years, or both.]

ACT NO. 271.—Preference of citizens for employment on public works

SECTION 1. Employment of citizens.—Every contractor, superintendent or duly authorized agent engaged in the construction of any State or public building or public works for the State of Louisiana, in cities whose population exceeds ten thousand (10,000) shall employ only mechanics who are citizens of the State and who have paid their poll tax for the current or next preceding year prior to engaging in the work.

SEC. 2. Where citizens are not available.—In the event mechanics, where such works or buildings are being constructed, are not available, then such contractor, superintendent or duly authorized agent, shall notify the mayor of the city wherein the work is being done, of such fact, and unless the mayor of said city shall forthwith supply such contractor, superintendent or duly authorized agent with the mechanics needed, said contractor, superintendent or duly authorized agent shall be authorized to employ mechanics who are not citizens of the State of Louisiana, to make up the deficiency: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the State of Louisiana or any parochial or municipal corporation from placing or letting any contract for the erection or construction of any public building or public work, in the open market, and soliciting bids from persons or corporations without the State of Louisiana.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not more than 60 days, or both.]

ACT NO. 297.—Railroads—Cars, etc., to be repaired within the State

SECTION 1. Use of local shops.—All railway or railroad corporations operating in the State of Louisiana, and having their repair shops within the State, as a condition precedent to exercising the right of eminent domain under the laws of the State of Louisiana, the railway or railroad corporations so operating within the State of Louisiana, shall and are hereby required to repair, renovate or rebuild in the State of Louisiana any and all defective or broken cars, coaches, locomotives or other equipment, owned or leased by said corporations in the State of Louisiana, when such rolling stock is within the State of Louisiana: Provided, Such railway shall have or be under obligations to have proper facilities in the State to do such work: And provided, This act shall not be so construed as to require any railway company to violate the safety appliance law of Congress: And provided further, That no railway company shall be required to haul such disabled equipment a greater distance for repairs at a point in Louisiana than would be necessary to reach repair shops in another State.

SEC. 2. Sending cars, etc., outside State.—All railroad corporations operating in the State of Louisiana and having their repair shops within the State shall be prohibited from sending or removing any of their cars, coaches, locomotives, or other equipment out of the State of Louisiana to be repaired, renovated, or rebuilt when the same is in a defective or broken condition and within the State.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment not more than 3 months, or both, are fixed for violations of this act.]

SEC. 106. Penalty.—Whoever violates any provision of the four preceding sections shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

CHAPTER 23.—Steam boilers—Safety provisions

SECTION 22. Safety plugs.—No person or corporation shall manufacture, sell, use, or cause to be used, except as hereinafter provided, any steam boiler in the State unless it is provided with a fusible safety plug, made of lead for boilers carrying steam pressure above fifty pounds per square inch, and of tin for boilers carrying steam pressure of fifty pounds and less per square inch, and said safety plug shall be not less than one-half inch in diameter, and shall be placed in the roof of the fire-box when the fire-box is used, and in all cases shall be placed in the part of the boiler fully exposed to the action of the fire, and as near the surface line of the water as good judgment shall dictate, excepting in cases of upright tubular boilers, when the upper tube sheet is placed above the surface line of the water, which class of boilers shall be exempted from the provisions of this section.

SEC. 23. Violation.—If any person without just and proper cause removes from the boiler the safety plug, or substitutes any material more capable of resisting the action of the fire, or if any person or corporation uses or causes to be used, for six consecutive days, or manufactures or sells a steam boiler of a class not exempted from the provisions of the preceding section, unprovided with such safety fusible plug, such offender shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars.

CHAPTER 30.—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 38 (as amended by chapter 194, Acts of 1909). Egress in case of fire.— * * * Every building in which any trade, manufacture, or business is carried on, requiring the presence of workmen above the first story, * * * shall at all times be provided with proper egresses or other means of escape from fire sufficient for the use of all persons * * * employed * * * therein. These egresses and means of escape shall be kept unobstructed, in good repair and ready for use, the sufficiency thereof shall be determined as provided in the following section.

SECS. 39, 46. Inspection.—[The duty of inspection devolves on the local authorities; if complaint is made to the State factory inspector of failure on their part to discharge their duties, he shall investigate the complaint, and, if the facts warrant, institute proceedings to enforce the law.]

CHAPTER 42.—Private employment offices

SECTION 6 (as amended 1917, ch. 139). License.—[No one may conduct an employment office without a license from the municipal authorities, for which an annual fee of $25 must be paid. The license is valid only for the place designated, but may be transferred by complying with the terms prescribed. No agency may be conducted in a building used as an inn, lodging house, or boarding house.]

SEC. 7. Bond.—[Bond in the sum of $1,000 must be provided, conditioned on compliance with the law and to protect persons claiming damages for the misconduct of the licensee.]

SEC. 8. Register.—[A correct register must be kept of all applicants for employment, of employers to whom they are sent, date, fee paid, etc.]

SEC. 9. Receipts, fees.—[Receipts must be given for all fees paid by applicants, which shall not exceed $1 if paid in advance, or $1.25 if charged to the applicant. If no position is obtained within six days, the fee paid or charged must, on demand, be repaid or canceled, as the case may be, if the applicant has broken no agreement made with the agency. The employee must be furnished an identification card. No licensee may seek to induce an employee to leave employment with a view to placement through his agency.]

SEC. 10. Acts forbidden.—[No female may be sent to any immoral resort or place of bad repute, known by the licensee to be such. Persons of questionable character are not to be permitted to frequent the agency. Employment contrary to law may not be procured for children.]

SEC. 11. Enforcement.—[Enforcement rests with the licensing officials. Licenses may be refused or revoked for cause, and revocation is good ground for a reissue to the former licensee or any one associated with him. Provision is made for hearings on complaints, but the decision of the municipal officials is final.]

SEC. 12. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines not exceeding $25, and costs.]

CHAPTER 49.—Arbitration, etc., of labor disputes—State boards

SECTION 1. State board.—The State board of arbitration and conciliation as heretofore established shall consist of three members appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, from time to time upon the expiration of the terms of the several members, for terms of three years. One member shall be an employer of labor or selected from some association representing employers of labor, and another shall be an employee or an employee selected from some bona fide trade or labor union and not an employer of labor. Vacancies occurring during a term shall be filled for the unexpired term. The board shall hold a meeting on the third Wednesday of September in each year and shall organize by choosing from its members a chairman and secretary. It shall be the duty of the board to endeavor to settle disputes, strikes, and lockouts between employers and employees. The board shall from time to time make such rules of procedure as it deems necessary, and shall annually, on or before the first day of December, make a report to the governor and council, which shall be incorporated in and printed with the biennial report of the department of labor and industry.

SEC. 2. Notice of strike; investigation.—Whenever it appears to the mayor of a city or the selectmen of a town that a strike is seriously threatened, or a strike actually occurs, he or they shall at once notify the State board of arbitration and conciliation and such notification may also be given by the employer or employees actually concerned in the strike or lockout. If, when such strike is threatened or actually occurs, it appears that as many as ten employees are directly concerned therein, the State board of arbitration and conciliation shall, as soon as may be, communicate with such employer and employees and endeavor by mediation to obtain an amicable settlement or endeavor to persuade such employer and employees to submit the matter in controversy to a local board of arbitration and conciliation or to the State board. If the matter be submitted, the board to which it is submitted shall investigate such controversy and ascertain which party is mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence of the same, and the board may make and publish a report finding such cause and assigning such responsibility or blame. The State board shall, upon request of the governor, investigate and report upon any controversy if in his opinion it threatens to affect the public welfare.

SEC. 3. Inquiry; decision.—In any controversy where not less than ten employees are directly concerned the board shall, upon application as hereinafter provided, and as soon as practicable, visit the place where the controversy exists and make careful inquiry into its cause, and the board may, with the consent of the governor, conduct such inquiry beyond the limits of the State. The board shall hear all persons interested who come before it, advise the respective parties what ought to be done or submitted to by either or both to adjust said controversy, and make a written decision thereof, which shall at once be made public, shall be open to public inspection, and shall be recorded by the secretary of the board; said decision shall for six months be binding on the parties who join in the application or until the expiration of sixty days after either party has given notice to the other in writing of his intention not to be bound thereby; such notice may be given to the employees by posting it in three conspicuous places in the shop, factory, yard, or other place where they work.

SEC. 4. Application for inquiry.—The application for such inquiry may be signed by the employer or by a majority of the employees in the department of the business in which the controversy exists or by their duly authorized agent or by both parties, and, if signed by an agent claiming to represent a majority of the employees, the board shall satisfy itself that he is duly authorized to do so. The application shall contain a statement of the matter in controversy and a promise to continue in business or at work without any strike or lockout until the decision of the board, if such decision is made within three weeks after the date of filing the application. The secretary of the board shall forthwith after such filing cause public notice to be given of the time and place of hearing on the application, unless both parties join in the application and present therewith the written request that no public notice shall be given. If such request is made, notice shall be given to the parties in such a manner as the board shall order, and the board may give public notice notwithstanding such request.

SEC. 5. Authority to summon witnesses, etc.—The board may summon as witnesses any operative or any person who keeps the record of wages earned in the department of business in which the controversy exists and may require the production of books which contain the record of wages paid. Summonses may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board. Witnesses summoned by the board shall be allowed the same fees as are paid to witnesses in the supreme judicial court: these fees together with all necessary expenses of the board shall be paid by the treasurer of State on warrants drawn by the governor and council.

SEC. 6. Local boards.—The parties to any controversy described in section three may submit such controversy to a local board of arbitration and conciliation, which may be either mutually agreed upon or may be composed of three persons, one of whom shall be designated by the employer, one by the employees or their duly authorized agent; the third, who shall be chairman, by the other two; such board shall have all the powers exercised by the State board, and its decision shall have the same effect as that of the State board. The decision of said board shall be rendered within ten days after the close of any hearing held by it and shall at once be filed with the clerk of the municipality where the controversy arose, and a copy thereof shall be filed with the secretary of the State board by the clerk of the said municipality. Each of said arbitrators shall be entitled to receive three dollars for each day of actual service, to be paid by the treasurer of State on a warrant drawn by the governor and council.

Chapter 49.—Department of labor and industry

Section 9 (as amended 1919, ch. 231). Department continued.—A State department of labor and industry shall be maintained under the direction of an officer whose title shall be commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector. He shall be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, for a term of three years, and shall hold office until his successor is appointed and qualified. He shall have an office in the State capitol. He shall appoint a deputy who shall be clerk of the department and deputy State factory inspector, and shall hold office during the pleasure of the commissioner; he shall also appoint a stenographer for the department and a woman factory inspector, and may employ special agents and such other assistants as may be required for the work of the department. The special agents and other assistants shall work under the supervision and direction of the commissioner and shall be paid for their services such compensation as he may deem proper, not exceeding five dollars a day and necessary traveling expenses. All expenses of the department shall be audited by the State auditor and shall be payable upon proper vouchers certified by the commissioner.

Sec. 10. Duties.—The department shall collect, assort, and arrange statistical details relating to all departments of labor and industrial pursuits in the State; to trade-unions and other labor organizations and their effect upon labor and capital; to the number and character of industrial accidents and their effect upon the injured, their dependent relatives, and upon the general public; to other matters relating to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions prevailing within the State, including the names of firms, companies, or corporations, where located, the kind of goods produced or manufactured, the time operated each year, the number of employees, classified according to age and sex, and the daily and average wages paid each employee, and the exploitation of such other subjects as will tend to promote the permanent prosperity of the industries of the State. The commissioner of labor and industry shall cause to be enforced all laws regulating the employment of minors and women; all laws established for the protection of health, lives, and limbs of operators in workshops and factories, on railroads, and in other places; all laws regulating the payment of wages, and all laws enacted for the protection of the working classes. He shall, on or before the first day of January, biennially, report to the governor, and may make such suggestions and recommendations as he may deem necessary for the information of the legislature. He may from time to time cause to be printed and distributed bulletins upon any subject that shall be of public interest and benefit to the State.

Sec. 11. Question blanks.—The commissioner may furnish a written or printed list of interrogatories for the purpose of gathering such facts and statistics as are contemplated herein, to any person or the proper officer of any corporation operating within the State, and may require full and complete answers thereto under oath; the commissioner shall have a seal, and may take and preserve testimony, issue subpœnas, administer oaths, and examine witnesses under oath in all matters relating to the duties herein required of said department of labor and industry; such testimony shall be taken in some suitable place in the vicinity to which the testimony is applicable. Witnesses summoned and testifying before the commissioner shall be paid, from any funds at disposal of the department, the same fees as witnesses before the supreme judicial court. Whoever, being duly summoned under the provisions of this section, shall willfully neglect or refuse to attend, or refuse to answer any question propounded to him concerning the subject of such examination as provided in this section, or whoever, being furnished by the commissioner with a written or printed list of interrogatories, shall neglect or refuse to answer and return the same under oath, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, however, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside of the county in which he resides to testify. In the report of said department no use shall be made of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this section unless by written permission, such information being confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs.

SEC. 12. Entering work places.—The commissioner, as State factory inspector, and any authorized agent of the department of labor and industry may enter any factory or mill, workshop, private works, or State institutions which have shops or factories when the same are open or in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics such as are contemplated by this section and the two preceding sections, and may examine into the methods of protection from danger to employees and the sanitary conditions in and around such buildings and places and may make a record of such inspection. Whoever shall refuse to admit or shall unreasonably delay the commissioner, or any authorized agent of the department of labor and industry, in so entering, or shall refuse to give the information so desired by said commissioner or authorized agent, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. If the commissioner as State factory inspector, or any authorized agent of the department of labor and industry, shall find upon such inspection that the heating, lighting, ventilation, or sanitary arrangement of any workshops or factories is such as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed or residing therein or that the means of egress in case of fire or other disaster are not sufficient, or that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, saws, cogs, and machinery in such workshops and factories are located or are in a condition so as to be dangerous to employees and not sufficiently guarded, or that vats, pans, or any other structures, filled with molten metal or hot liquids, are not surrounded with proper safeguards for preventing accidents or injury to those employed at or near them, he shall notify, in writing, the owner, proprietor, or agent of such workshops or factories to make, within thirty days, the alterations or additions by him deemed necessary for the safety and protection of the employees; and if such alterations or additions are not made within thirty days from the date of such written notice, or within such time as said alterations or additions can be made with proper diligence upon the part of such proprietors, owners, or agents, said proprietors, owners or agents so notified shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. All fines or penalties provided in this section and the preceding section may be recovered or enforced by complaint or indictment; and in all prosecutions under said sections, trial justices and judges of the municipal and police courts, within their counties, shall have, by complaint, original and concurrent jurisdiction with the supreme judicial court and superior courts.

SEC. 13. Terms defined.—The following terms used in the four preceding sections shall have the following meanings: The word "person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, company or association. The word "factory" means any premises where steam, water or other mechanical power is used in aid of any manufacturing process there carried on. The word "workshop" means any premises, room or place, not being a factory as above defined, wherein any manual labor is exercised by way of trade, or for the purpose of gain in or incidental to any process of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or adapting for sale any article or part of an article, and to which or over which premises, room or place the employer of the person or persons working therein has the right of access or control; provided, however, that the exercise of such manual labor in a private house, or a private room by the family dwelling therein, or by any of them, or in case a majority of persons therein employed are members of such family, shall not of itself constitute such house or room a workshop within this definition. The aforesaid terms shall have the meanings above defined for them respectively in all laws of this State relating to the employment of labor, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context.

SEC. 14. Municipal officers to furnish information.—All State, county, city and town officers are hereby directed to furnish the commissioner of labor and industry upon his request, such statistical or other information contemplated by sections ten, eleven and twelve as shall be in their possession as such officers.

Sec. 15. Reports required.—The person in charge of any factory, workshop or other industrial establishment shall report in writing to the commissioner of labor all deaths, accidents, or serious physical injuries sustained by any person therein or on the premises, within ten days after the time of the accident, death or injury, stating as fully as possible the cause of the death or the extent and cause of the injury, and the place where the injured person has been sent, with such other or further information relative thereto as may be required by said commissioner, who may investigate the causes thereof and require such precautions to be taken as will prevent the recurrence of similar happenings. No statement contained in any such report shall be admissible in evidence in any action arising out of the death or accident therein reported.

Sec. 16. Definition.—The term "serious physical injuries," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean every accident which results in the death of the employee or causes his absence from work for at least six days thereafter.

Chapter 49.—Employment of children

Section 20 (as amended 1919, ch. 190). Age.—[No children under 14 may be employed in or about any manufacturing or mechanical establishment; nor under 15 in any business whatever for hire during school hours.]

Sec. 21 (as amended 1919, ch. 190). Certificates.—[Certificates are required up to age 16 for employment in manufacturing and mechanical establishments, issued by the school authorities, showing age, the completion of the 6th grade of school work, and, in doubtful cases, a medical certificate of physical fitness for the work contemplated.]

Sec. 22. Vacation permits.—[Vacation permits, void after the first Monday in September after issue, may be granted on the same terms as above, omitting the educational requirements.]

Sec. 23 (as amended 1919, ch. 190). Inspection by commissioner.—[Within twenty-four hours after issue, a duplicate of permits, with the papers in the case, must be sent to the department of labor and industry, where the papers are inspected and returned to be held by the issuing officer during the life of the permit, and surrendered on its return and cancellation.]

Sec. 24. End of employment.—[Certificates on file with an employer are returned to the child when employment ceases, and the employer must notify the commissioner of its close.]

Secs. 25, 26. Evidence.—[Records and permits are receivable as evidence in any matter arising under the law. An inspector may demand evidence of age of an employed child apparently under 16, or require dismissal.]

Secs. 27, 28. Violations.—[Penalties run against the employers and parents or guardians for violations of the law, fines against employers ranging from $25 to $200, and against parents, etc., from $10 to $50.]

Chapter 49.—Seats for female employees

Section 32. Chairs for women or girls.—The proprietor, manager or person having charge of any mercantile establishment, store, shop, hotel, restaurant or other place where women or girls are employed as clerks or help therein in this State shall provide chairs, stools or other contrivances for the comfortable use of such female employees for the preservation of their health and for rest when not actively employed in the discharge of their respective duties. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten, nor more than one hundred dollars.

Chapter 49.—Elevator operators

Section 33. Age, etc.—No person, firm or corporation shall employ or permit any person under fifteen years of age to have the care, custody, management or operation of any elevator, or shall employ a person under eighteen years of age to have the care, custody, management or operation of any elevator running at a speed of over two hundred feet a minute. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than one hundred dollars, for each offense.

CHAPTER 49.—Weekly payment of wages—Discharge

SECTION 34. Weekly payment.—Every corporation, person or partnership, engaged in a manufacturing, mechanical, mining, quarrying, mercantile, street railway, telegraph or telephone business; in any of the building trades; upon public works, or in the construction or repair of street railroads, roads, bridges, sewers, gas, water or electric light works, pipes or lines; every incorporated express company or water company; and every steam railroad company or corporation shall pay weekly each employee engaged in his or its business the wages earned by him to within eight days of the date of said payment, but any employee, leaving his or her employment, shall be paid in full on the following regular pay day, provided, that when an employee is discharged he shall be paid the wages due him on demand; and the State, its officers, boards and commissions shall so pay every mechanic, workman and laborer who is employed by it or them, and every county and city shall so pay every employee who is eugaged in its business the wages or salary earned by him, unless such mechanic, workman, laborer or employee requests in writing to be paid in a different manner; and every town shall so pay each employee in its business if so required by him; but an employee who is absent from his regular place of labor at a time fixed for payment shall be paid thereafter on demand. The provisions of this section shall not apply to an employee engaged in cutting and hauling logs and lumber, nor the driving of same until it reaches its place of destination for sale or manufacture; nor to an employee of a cooperative corporation or association if he is a stockholder therein unless he requests such corporatiou to pay him weekly. No corporation, contractor, person or partnership shall by a special contract with an employee or by any other means exempt himself or itself from the provisions of this section. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten, nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 35. Notice of termination of employment.—Any person, firm or corporation engaged in any manufacturing or mechauical business, may contract with adult or minor employees to give one week's notice of intention on such employee's part, to quit such employment under a peualty of forfeiture of one week's wages. In such case, the employer shall be required to give a like notice of intention to discharge the employee; and on failure, shall pay to such employee, a sum equal to one week's wages. No such forfeiture shall be enforced when the leaving or discharge of the employee is for a reasonable cause: Provided, however, that the enforcement of the penalty aforesaid, shall not prevent either party from recovering damages for a breach of the contract of hire.

An employee does not incur forfeiture by leaving without notice on account of reduction of wages. Nor does an employer incur forfeiture by reducing wages without notice. 39 Atl. 280.

CHAPTER 49.—Preference of local labor, etc., on public works

SECTION 36. Preference to be given.—The State, counties, cities and towns, aud every charitable or educational institution which is supported in whole or in part by aid granted by the State or by any municipality, shall in the awarding of contracts for constructing, altering, repairing, furnishing or equipping its buildings, or public works, give preference to workmen and to bidders for such contracts who are residents of this State, provided the bids submitted by such resident bidders are equally favorable with bids submitted by contractors from without the State. * * *

CHAPTER 50.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 51. [The following sections are as renumbered 1919, ch. 238.] Liability defined.—If personal injury is caused to an employee, who, at the time of the injury, is in the exercise of due care, by reason of:

First, a defect in the condition of the ways, works, or machinery connected with or used in the business of the employer, which arose from, or had not been discovered or remedied in consequence of, the negligence of the employer or of a person in his service who had been intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works, or machinery were in proper condition; or,

Second, the negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was intrusted with and was exercising superintendence aud whose sole or principal duty was that of superiutendence, or in the absence of such superintendent, of a person acting as superinteudent with the authority or consent of such employer;

Third, the negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train upon a railroad.

The employee or his legal representatives shall, subject to the provisions of the eight following sections, have the same rights to compensation and of action against the employer as if he had not been an employee, nor in the service, nor engaged in the work, of the employer.

A car which is in use by, or which is in possession of, a railroad corporation shall be considered as a part of the ways, works, or machinery of the corporation which uses or has it in possession, within the meaning of clause one of this section, whether it is owned by such corporation or by some other company or person. One or more cars which are in motion, whether attached to an engine or not, shall constitute a train within the meaning of clause three of this section, and whoever, as a part of his duty for the time being, physically controls or directs the movements of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train shall be deemed to be a person in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train within the meaning of said clause.

SEC. 52. Action for damages for death.—If the injury described in the preceding section results in the death of the employee, and such death is not instantaneous or is preceded by conscious suffering, and if there is any person who would have been entitled to bring an action under the provisions of the following section, the legal representatives of said employee may, in the action brought under the provisions of the preceding section, recover damages for the death in addition to those for the injury.

SEC. 53. Action by widow or next of kin.—If, as the result of the negligence of an employer himself, or of a person for whose negligence an employer is liable under the provisions of section fifty-one, an employee is instantly killed, or dies without conscious suffering, his widow or, if he leaves no widow, his next of kin, who, at the time of his death, were dependent upon his wages for support, shall have a right of action for damages against the employer.

SEC. 54. Damages for death.—If, under the provisions of either of the two preceding sections, damages are awarded for the death, they shall be assessed with reference to the degree of culpability of the employer or of the person for whose negligence the employer is liable.

The amount of damages which may be awarded in an action under the provisions of section fifty-one for a personal injury to an employee, in which no damages for his death are awarded under the provisions of section fifty-two, shall not exceed four thousand dollars.

The amount of damages which may be awarded in such action, if damages for his death are awarded under the provisions of section fifty-two, shall not exceed five thousand dollars for both the injury and the death, and shall be apportioned by the jury between the legal representatives of the employee and the persons who would have been entitled, under the provisions of section fifty-three, to bring an action for his death if it had been instantaneous or without conscious suffering.

The amount of damages which may be awarded in an action brought under the provisions of section fifty-three shall not be less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars.

SEC. 55. Notice of injury; action.—No action for the recovery of damages for injury or death under the provisions of sections fifty-one to fifty-four, both inclusive, shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place, and cause of the injury is given to the employer within sixty days and the action is commenced within one year after the accident which causes the injury or death. Such notice shall be in writing, signed by the person injured, or by a person in his behalf; but if from physical or mental incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give the notice within the time provided in this section, he may give it within ten days after such incapacity has been removed, and if he dies without having given the notice and without having been for ten days at any time after his injury of sufficient capacity to give it, his executor or administrator may give such notice within sixty days after his appointment. A notice given under the provisions of this section shall not be held invalid or insufficient solely by reason of an inaccuracy in stating the time, place, or cause of the injury, if it is shown that there was no intention to mislead, and that the employer was not in fact misled thereby.

If a notice given under this section is claimed by the employer to be insufficient for any reason he shall so notify in writing the person giving it within ten days stating the insufficiency claimed to exist, and thereupon the person whose duty is to give the notice may, within thirty days, give a new notice with the same effect as if originally given.

Sec. 56. Contracts with independent contractor.—If an employer enters into a contract, written or verbal, with an independent contractor to do part of such employer's work, or if such contractor enters into a contract with a subcontractor to do all or any part of the work comprised in such contractor's contract with the employer, such contract or subcontract shall not bar the liability of the employer for injuries to the employees of such contractor or subcontractor, caused by any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant, if they are the property of the employer or are furnished by him, and if such defect arose, or had not been discovered or remedied, through the negligence of the employer or of some person intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that they were in proper condition.

Sec. 57. Knowledge of employee.—An employee or his legal representatives shall not be entitled under the provisions of sections fifty-one to fifty-four, both inclusive, to any right of action for damages against his employer if such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury, and failed within a reasonable time to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who was intrusted with general superintendence.

Sec. 58. Application limited.—The provisions of the seven preceding sections shall not apply to injuries caused to domestic servants or farm laborers by fellow employees, or to those engaged in cutting, hauling, or driving logs. Nothing in said sections shall be construed to abridge any common-law rights or remedies which the employee may have against his employer, but a judgment recovered under the provisions of said sections, or a settlement of any action commenced or claim made for death or injury, under the provisions thereof, shall be a bar to any claim made or action begun to recover for the same injury or the same death, under the provisions of the common law or under the provisions of any other statute.

Sec. 59. Waivers.—No person shall, by a special contract with his employees, exempt himself or another person from liability which he may be under to them, for injuries suffered by them in his employment and resulting from the negligence of the employer or such other person, or of a person in his employ.

Chapter 52.—Employees' deposits

Section 3. License.—[Corporations which desire to encourage thrift among their employees may procure licenses from the bank commissioner authorizing them, on a showing of solvency, etc., to receive deposits from their employees only, and pay interest thereon.]

Chapter 55.—Accidents on railroads, etc.

Section 35. Report and investigation.—[Public utilities must report to the public utilities commission of the State all accidents causing personal injury or loss of life. The former may and the latter must be investigated by recommendations in the premises as it deems just and reasonable.]

Chapter 58.—Protection of employees on street railways

Section 37. Inclosed platforms.—[Street cars in regular use for the transportation of passengers from December to March, inclusive, must have their platforms inclosed so as to protect employees from wind and weather.]

Sec. 38. Violations.—[A fine not exceeding $100 may be imposed for each day's neglect to comply with the foregoing requirements.]

Chapter 75.—Wages—Preference—Exemptions

Section 42. Insolvency.—[In paying debts of an insolvent, wages owed operatives, clerks, and servants, earned within the prior 6 months, not exceeding $50, rank next after court fees and costs and debts and taxes owed the State and the United States.]

Sec. 68. Exemptions.—[The wages due an insolvent debtor for one month preceding service of process, not exceeding $20 in amount, may not be attached for prior debts.]

CHAPTER 87.—Hours of labor

SECTION 61. Legal day's work.—In all contracts for labor ten hours of actual labor are a legal day's work, unless the contract stipulates for a longer time; but this rule does not apply to monthly labor or to agricultural employments.

CHAPTER 91.—Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 55 * * * VI (as amended 1923, ch. 125). Amount.—[Wages in the amount of $20 for the personal labor of the debtor are exempt from attachment; also all wages of the debtor's wife and minor children. If process has been served, the trustee shall nevertheless pay over to the employee the amount exempt from attachment.]

CHAPTER 114.—Assignments of wages to be recorded

SECTION 9. Recording required.—No assignment of wages is valid other than as to the parties to the assignment unless recorded by the clerk of the town or the register of deeds.

CHAPTER 117.—Department of labor and industries—Salaries

SECTION 22 (as amended 1919, ch. 231). Salary, etc.—The commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector shall receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars; the commissioner and the deputy State factory inspector shall also receive their actual traveling expenses.

CHAPTER 120.—Employment of children in mendicant occupations

SECTION 32. Prohibited.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in begging, or in illegal, immoral, or dangerous or injurious occupations.]

CHAPTER 125.—Strikes of railroad employees

SECTION 7. Delaying or abandoning trains, etc.—Any employee of a railroad corporation who, in pursuance of an agreement or combination by two or more persons to do, or procure to be done, any act in contemplation or furtherance of a dispute between such corporation and its employees, unlawfully or in violation of his duty or contract, stops or unnecessarily delays or abandons, or in any way injures a locomotive or any car or train of cars on the railroad track of such corporation, or in any way hinders or obstructs the use of any locomotive, car or train of cars on the railroad of such corporation, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the State prison or in jail not exceeding one year.

SEC. 8. Obstructing etc., trains.—Whoever, by any unlawful act, or by any willful omission or neglect, obstructs or causes to be obstructed an engine or carriage on any railroad, or aids or assists therein; or whoever, having charge of any locomotive or carriage while upon or in use on any railroad, willfully stops, leaves, or abandons the same, or renders, or aids, or assists in rendering the same unfit for or incapable of immediate use, with intent thereby to hinder, delay, or in any manner to obstruct or injure the management and operation of any railroad, or the business of any corporation operating or owning the same, or of any other corporation or person, and whoever aids or assists therein, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the State prison or in jail not exceeding two years.

SEC. 9. Gross negligence.—Whoever, having any management of, or control, either alone or with others, over any railroad locomotive, car, or train while it is used for the carriage of persons or property, or is at any time guilty of gross carelessness or neglect thereon, or in relation to the management or control thereof; or maliciously stops or delays the same, in violation of the rules and regulations then in force for the operation thereof; or abstracts therefrom the tools or appliances pertaining thereto, with intent thereby maliciously to delay the same, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the State prison or in jail not exceeding three years.

SEC. 10. Intimidation, bribery, etc.—Whoever, alone, or in pursuance of furtherance of any agreement or combination with others, to do, or procure to be done, any act in comtemplation or furtherance of a dispute or controversy between a gas, telegraph, telephone, electric light, electric power, or railroad corporation and its employees or workmen, wrongfully and without legal authority, uses violence towards, or intimidates any person, in any way or by any means, with intent thereby to compel such person against his will to do, or abstain from doing, any act which he has a legal right to do or abstain from doing; or, on the premises of such corporation, by bribery, or in any manner or by any means, induces, or endeavors, or attempts to induce, such person to leave the employment and service of such corporation with intent thereby to further the objects of such combination or agreement; or in any way interferes with such person while in the performance of his duty; or threatens or persistently follows such person in a disorderly manner, or injures or threatens to injure his property with either of said intents, shall be punished by fine not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Sec. 11. Refusing to move cars of another road.—Any person in the employment of a railroad corporation, who, in furtherance of the interests of either party to a dispute between another railroad corporation and its employees, refuses to aid in moving the cars of such other corporation, or trains in whole or in part made up of the cars of such other corporation, over the tracks of the corporation employing him; or refuses to aid in loading or discharging such cars, in violation of his duty as such employee, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the State prison or in jail not exceeding one year.

Chapter 128.—Intimidation of employees

Section 25. Preventing employment.—Any employer, employee, or other person, who by threats of injury, intimidation, or force, alone or in combination with others, prevents any person from entering into, continuing in, or leaving the employment of any person, firm, or corporation, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Hours of labor of women and children

(P. 1650. Acts of 1915, ch. 350)

Section 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 198). Work time.—No female shall be employed in any workshop, factory, manufacturing or mechanical establishment or laundry more than nine hours in any one day; except when a different apportionment of the hours of labor is made for the sole purpose of making a shorter day's work for one day of the week; and in no case shall the hours of labor exceed fifty-four in a week. And no minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed in any of the said establishments or occupations more than eight hours in any one day.

Sec. 2 (as amended 1919, ch. 191). Night work.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in or in connection with any of the establishments or occupations named in section one of this act, or in any bowling alley or pool room, before the hour of six-thirty o'clock in the morning or after the hour of six o'clock in the evening of any one day.

Sec. 3. Hours of labor in mercantile establishments, offices, etc.—No male minor under sixteen years of age and no female shall be employed in any telephone exchange employing more than three operators or in any mercantile establishment, store, restaurant, telegraph office, or by any express or transportation company in the State of Maine more than fifty-four hours in any one week. The provisions of this section shall not apply between the seventeenth day of December and the twenty-fourth day of December, both inclusive, and shall not apply during the eight days prior to Easter Sunday to persons employed in millinery shops or stores. In cases of emergency, in which there is danger to property, life, public safety or public health, and in cases of extraordinary public requirement the provisions of this act shall not apply to employers [employees] engaged in public service.

Sec. 4. Time for meals.—No female shall, except in cases of emergency or extraordinary public requirement as provided in section three of this act, be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously at one time in any establishment or occupation named in sections one and three of this act in which three or more such females are employed without an interval of at least one hour; except that such female may be so employed for not more than six and one-half hours continuously at one time if such employment ends not later than half-past one o'clock in the afternoon and if she is then dismissed for the remainder of the day.

SEC. 5. Law to be posted.—Every employer except those hereinafter designated, shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room in any establishment or place of occupation named in sections one and three of this act in which females or male minors under sixteen years of age are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours such females or male minors are required or permitted to work on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and ending, and the recess allowed for meals: Provided, however, That every employer engaged in furnishing public service or in any other kind of business in respect to which the State department of labor and industry shall find that public necessity or convenience requires the employment of women or male minors as aforesaid by shifts during different periods or parts of the day shall post in a conspicuous place in every room in which such presons are employed, a printed notice stating separately the hours of employment for each shift or hour of duty, and the amount of time allowed for meals. The printed form of such notice shall be furnished by the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector.

The employment of any such female or male minor for a longer time in any day than that stated in the printed notice, or, in case the hours named in such notice are less than as provided in sections one and three of this act, the employment of any such female or male minor for a longer time in any day than as provided in sections one and three of this act shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section except in cases of emergency or extraordinary public requirement as provided in section three of this act, and in such cases no employment in excess of the hours authorized under the provisions of this act shall be considered as legalized until a written report of the day and hour of its occurrence and its duration is sent to the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector. Whenever the nature of the business makes it impracticable to fix the recess allowed for meals at the same time for all females or male minors employed, the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector may issue a permit dispensing with the posting of the hours when the recess allowed for meals begins and ends, and requiring only the posting of the total number of hours which females or male minors are required or permitted to work on each day of the week, and the hours of beginning and stopping such work. Such permit shall be kept by such employer upon such premises, and exhibited to the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector, his deputy, or any authorized agent of the labor department, who is hereby authorized to enforce this act.

SEC. 6. Records.—Every employer shall keep a time book or record for every female and every male minor under sixteen years of age employed in any establishment or occupation named in sections one and three of this act, stating the number of hours worked by each female and each male minor under sixteen years of age on each day of the week. Such time book or record shall be open at all reasonable hours to the inspection of the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector, his deputy, or any authorized agent of the labor department. Any employer who fails to keep such record as required by this section or makes any false entry therein, or refuses to exhibit such time book or record, or makes any false statement to the commissioner of labor and industry and State factory inspector, his deputy or any authorized agent of the labor department, in reply to any question put in carrying out the provisions of this act shall be liable for a violation thereof.

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of fine, $25 to $50 for first offense; $50 to $200 for second offense; for third and subsequent offenses, $250 to $500.]

SEC. 8. Canneries, etc.—Nothing in the seven preceding sections shall apply to any manufacturing establishment or business the materials and products of which are perishable and require immediate labor thereon to prevent decay thereof or damage thereto.

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 149.—Inspection of steam vessels—Masters, etc., to be licensed

SECTIONS 1–13. Inspection, safety provisions; licenses.—[This act gives the public utilities commission jurisdiction over vessels on the inland waters of the State engaged in the transportion of persons and property. Such vessels must be inspected and certified annually, the boiler and its equipments tested, proper steam pressure determined, etc. A life preserver for each passenger and member of the crew must be provided. Masters, pilots, engineers, and operators must be examined and receive licenses renewable annually.]

MARYLAND

PUBLIC GENERAL LAWS—CODE OF 1911, 1914

ARTICLE 7.—Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 1. Investigations.—Whenever any controversy shall arise between any corporation incorporated by this State in which this State may be interested as a stockholder or creditor, and any person in the employment or service of such corporation, which, in the opinion of the board of public works, shall tend to impair the usefulness or prosperity of such corporation, the said board of public works shall have power to demand and receive a statement of the grounds of said controversy from the parties to the same; and if, in their judgment, there shall be occasion so to do, they shall have the right to propose to the parties to said controversy, or to any of them, that the same shall be settled by arbitration; and if the opposing parties to said controversy shall consent and agree to said arbitration, it shall be the duty of the said board of public works to provide in due form for the submission of the said controversy to arbitration, in such manner that the same may be finally settled and determined; but if the said corporation, or the said person in its employment or service, so engaged in controversy with the said corporation, shall refuse to submit to such arbitration, it shall be the duty of the said board of public works to examine into and ascertain the cause of said controversy, and to report the same to the next general assembly.

SEC. 2. Scope of act.—All subjects of dispute arising between corporations, and any person in their employment or service, and all subjects of dispute between employers and employees in any trade or manufacture may be settled and adjusted in the manner hereafter mentioned.

SEC. 3. Either party may demand arbitration.—Whenever such subjects of dispute shall arise as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for either party to the same to demand and have an arbitration or reference thereof in manner following, that is to say—where the party complaining and the party complained of shall come before, or agree, by any writing under their hands, to abide by the determination of any judge or justice of the peace, it shall and may be lawful for such judge or justice of the peace to hear and finally determine in a summary manner the matter in dispute between such parties; but if such parties shall not come before, or so agree to abide by the determination of such judge or justice of the peace, but shall agree to submit their said cause of dispute to arbitrators, appointed under the provisions of this article, then it shall be lawful for any such judge or justice of the peace, and such judge or justice of the peace is hereby required, on complaint made before him, and proof that such agreement for arbitration had been entered into, to appoint arbitrators for settling the matters in dispute; and such judge or justice of the peace shall then and there propose not less than two nor more than four persons, one-half of whom shall be employers and the other half employees, acceptable to the parties to the dispute, respectively, who, together with said judge or justice of the peace, shall have full power finally to hear and determine such dispute.

SEC. 4. Mutual agreement.—In all such cases of dispute as aforesaid, as in all other cases, if the parties mutually agree that the matter in dispute shall be arbitrated and determined in a mode different from the one hereby prescribed, such agreement shall be valid, and the award and determination thereon by either mode of arbitration shall be final and conclusive between the parties.

SEC. 5. Third parties may act.—It shall be lawful in all cases for any employer or employee, by writing under his hand, to authorize any person to act for him in submitting to arbitration and attending the same.

SEC. 6. Determination of dispute.—Every determination of dispute by any judge or justice of the peace shall be given as a judgment of the court over which said judge presides, and of the justice of the peace determining the same; and the said judge or justice of the peace shall award execution thereon as upon verdict, confession, or nonsuit; and every award made by arbitrators appointed by any judge or justice of the peace under the provisions of this article shall be returned by said arbitrators to the judge of justice of the peace by whom they were appointed; and said judge or justice of the peace shall enter the same as an amicable action between the parties to the same in the court presided over by said judge or justice of the peace, with the same effect as if said action had been regularly commenced in said court by due process of law, and shall thereupon become a judgment of said court, and execution thereon shall be awarded as upon verdict, confession, or nonsuit; and in all proceedings under this article, whether before a judge or justice of the peace, or arbitrators, costs shall be taxed as are now allowed by law in similar proceedings, and the same shall be paid equally by the parties to the dispute; such award shall remain four days in court during its sitting, after the return thereof, before any judgment shall be entered thereon; and if it shall appear to the court within that time that the same was obtained by fraud or malpractice in or by surprise, imposition, or deception of the arbitrators, or without due notice to the parties or their attorneys, the court may set aside such award and refuse to give judgment thereon.

ARTICLE 9.—Exemption of wages from attachment

SECTION 33. One hundred dollars exempt.—No attachments of the wages or hire of any laborer or employee, in the hands of the employer, whether private individuals or bodies corporate, shall affect any salary or wages of the debtor which are not actually due at the date of the attachment; and the sum of one hundred dollars of such wages or hire due to any laborer or employee by any employer or corporation shall always be exempt from attachment by any process whatever.

SEC. 34. Nonresidents.—The wages or hire of any person or persons, not residing in this State, shall be subject to attachment upon judgment, warrant, or upon two non ests, in the same manner and to no larger extent than the wages or hire of any person or persons, resident in this State.

ARTICLE 23.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 123. Wages to be paid, when.—* * * Every association or corporation doing business in the State of Maryland employing wageworkers, whether skilled or ordinary laborers, engaged in manual or clerical work, in the business of mining, manufacturing, operating a steam or electric railroad, street railway, telegraph, telephone, or express company, shall make payment in lawful money of the United States semimonthly to said employees, laborers, and wageworkers, or to their authorized agents, at their respective places of employment, at intervals of not more than sixteen days and not more [less] than fourteen days. In case any said corporations or associations doing business as aforesaid, or any of their officers, shall refuse to make payment at the times above set forth to their wageworkers, laborers, or other employees the wages due them or any of them, said association, corporation, or officer so refusing shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be liable to indictment therefor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars for each offense.

ARTICLE 23.—Company stores

SECTION 311. Company stores forbidden to certain corporations.—No railroad or mining company formed or organized under any of the provisions of this article, or which has organized under any existing laws, charter, or act of the general assembly of this State, shall own, conduct, or carry on any store, or have any interest in any store, or receive any portion of the profits thereof; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the employees of any corporation from forming cooperative stores.

ARTICLE 23.—Forced contributions from railroad employees

SECTION 315. Withholding wages.—It shall not be lawful for any railroad company doing business in this State to withhold any part of the wages of its employees for the benefit of any relief association or the members thereof. Any railroad company violating the provisions of this section shall upon conviction be fined not less than fifty ($50) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars for each and every offense.

ARTICLE 23.—Days of rest for railroad employees
